Material Changes

AP Wealth Management has not experienced any material changes since the filing of our last annual updating amendment in March 15, 2017.

ITEM 4 - Advisory Business

Form ADV Part 2A, Item 4

AP Wealth Management provides financial planning and investment management services. The firm was formed effective January 1, 2011 and began operating under the new name on May 9, 2011. AP Wealth Management, LLC is equally owned by Eugene Francis McManus, John Parker Rhodes and William Patrick Fair.

AP Wealth Management provides financial planning services for high net worth individuals and families through our Lifetime Financial Solution process. We analyze all aspects of a client's financial situation and provide recommendations and solutions that enable our clients to meet their financial goals. Upon engagement we begin an extensive interview process with the client to understand their current situation, inventory their assets and liabilities, and learn about their attitudes and goals. Over the course of data gathering and several meetings an online portal is developed that aggregates their financial plan, their assets and liabilities and their documents. The initial fee (usually between $5000 and $12000 depending upon the complexity of the case) provides for 12 months of consultation and advice. After 12 months there is an annual fee (usually between $1000 and $3000) to retain AP Wealth for consultation and for AP Wealth to continue to maintain the client's web portal.

The firm provides investment advisory services for high net worth individuals, families, and also institutions such as charitable organizations, churches, schools, etc. We manage accounts on a discretionary basis utilizing open end mutual funds, closed end funds, exchange traded funds (ETFs), individual stocks and individual bonds, structured notes, and non-publicly traded REITS. These accounts are custodied at Charles Schwab Institutional.

We create a risk/reward profile for each client in order to construct or recommend portfolios that will be suitable for our clients. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

AP Wealth Management also develops model portfolios for inclusion in business' 401k/profit sharing plans. We charge an advisory fee based on the assets in the plan for this service. This accounts for our non-discretionary assets under management.

The firm also develops financial strategies and provides financial management services for startup and micro businesses. We are compensated by negotiated flat fees for these services.

The firm does not participate in wrap fee programs by providing portfolio management services.

The firm manages $135,512,674 on a discretionary basis and $1,568,154 on a non-discretionary basis. These figures are as of February 28, 2018.

ITEM 5 - Fees and Compensation

Form ADV Part 2A, Item 5

Financial Planning services are provided on a fee for engagement basis. The base fee is $5000 and may be more depending on the complexity of the client's financial matters. After the initial 12 month engagement period, the annual ongoing engagement fee is one half of the initial engagement fee. We also may consider engagements on an hourly basis at the rate of $250 per hour. If the client or AP Wealth Management terminates the contract, the client will be refunded any prepaid fees. This will be calculated as follows: Amount of prepaid fee minus (hours spent by APWM multiplied by $250 per hour).

Investment advisory fees are based on assets under management. The fees are billed quarterly in advance. Fee schedule for discretionary accounts managed by AP Wealth Management:

First	$1,000,000	1.45%
Next	$1,500,000	1.25%
Next	$2,500,000	1.00%
Above	$5,000,000	0.75%

These fee schedules as well as our fees for advising on non-discretionary assets are negotiable.

We deduct fees from clients' assets. Fees are billed and deducted quarterly. Fees for accounts managed by AP Wealth Management are billed for the upcoming calendar quarter based on the account value at the end of the most recent calendar quarter.

The calendar quarter in which an account is funded is billed in arrears based on the initial amount funded and prorated for the portion of the quarter in which the account was funded. Additional contributions to accounts are initially billed in this same manner.

Open end mutual funds, exchange traded funds, and closed end funds all have management and operational expenses which the client will bear. Some mutual fund purchases incur transaction charges of up to $30 which the client will bear. Securities purchases will incur transaction charges up to $20. Some accounts, particularly retirement accounts, may be charged annual custodial fees. AP Wealth Management, LLC does not participate in any of these charges or fees.

Terminated accounts will have unearned fees rebated based on the following formula: Number of days left in quarter / 92 times Amount billed for the quarter.

We also generate revenue from the sale of life insurance, long term care insurance and disability insurance.

The principals of AP Wealth Management also own Augusta Capital Investors, LLC, a registered investment adviser. Augusta Capital Investors, LLC is the general partner of The Augusta Fund, a private equity partnership. We may recommend that clients that are "qualified investors" make an investment in The Augusta Fund.

The ability to receive compensation in different manners may present a conflict of interest and provides an incentive to recommend investment products based on compensation received, rather than on a client's needs. We address this conflict by clearly explaining the costs of our recommendations, explaining the costs of alternative recommendations, and taking our fiduciary responsibility to act in the client's best interest very seriously.

Clients have the option to purchase investment products that the firm recommends through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with AP Wealth Management, LLC.

Clients may bear the cost of commissions or markups for the purchase of certain securities. AP Wealth Management does not reduce our advisory fees to offset commissions or markups, nor do we receive any revenue from these charges in fee based accounts.

ITEM 6 - Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Form ADV Part 2A, Item 6

AP Wealth Management does not accept performance-based fees.

ITEM 7 - Types of Clients

Form ADV Part 2A, Item 7

The firm primarily provides financial planning and investment advice to high net worth individuals and families. The minimum investment relationship is $1,000,000 in assets. Exceptions to this minimum may be made on a case by case basis.

ITEM 8 - Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Form ADV Part 2A, Item 8

We use an asset allocation approach to investing. We categorize investments in four categories: relative return, Attain, opportunistic and Protect. We match a client's risk profile with the allocation among the categories. For example, a very conservative client will have most of their investments in the protect category. An aggressive client would have most of their assets invested in the strategic and relative return categories.

We use open end mutual funds, exchange traded funds, closed end funds, individual equities and individual fixed income securities to implement our strategies. There is risk of loss to the client, up to the full amount of the investment, in any of these types of investments. None of these investments is FDIC insured or guaranteed in any manner. There are no guarantees that investment objectives will be met.

Material risks in our investment strategies:

Equity Risk. Equity prices can fall rapidly in response to developments affecting a specific company or industry, or to changing economic, political or market conditions.

Fixed-Income Risk. When we invest your assets in fixed-income securities, the value of your investment will fluctuate with changes in interest rates, as well as other factors. Defaults by fixed income issuers may also harm performance.

Structured Note Risk. Investment in some types of structured notes can result in the loss of up to 100% of principal. The notes may or may not pay interest. Liquidity is limited and sometimes there is no secondary market for a note. The quality of the note is linked to the credit worthiness of the issuer.

Junk Bond Risk. Lower-quality bonds, known as "high yield" or "junk" bonds, present greater risk than bonds of higher quality, including an increased risk of default. An economic downturn or period of rising interest rates could adversely affect the market for these bonds and reduce liquidity in these bonds. Junk bond issuers are more sensitive to economic conditions than high quality issuers and more likely to seek bankruptcy protection which may delay resolution of bond holder claims and may eliminate liquidity.

Foreign Risk. Foreign markets can be more volatile than the U.S. market due to increased risks of adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments and can perform differently from the U.S. market.

Emerging Markets Risk. Funds that we invest client money in may invest in emerging market countries that may have relatively unstable governments, weaker economies, and less- developed legal systems, which do not protect securities holders. Emerging market economies may be based on only a few industries and security issuers may be more susceptible to economic weakness and more likely to default.

Commodity-Linked Derivative Risk. When the Fund invests in commodities through funds that invest in commodity-linked derivative instruments the Fund is exposed to risks affecting a particular industry or commodity, such as drought, floods, and adverse regulatory developments. Commodity-linked derivatives may also have leverage risk, which amplifies the effect of a small movement in commodity prices on the Fund.

Management Risk. The Adviser's dependence on multi-asset diversification and judgments about the attractiveness, value and potential appreciation of particular Asset Classes in which we invest will in some cases prove to be incorrect and have negative impacts on performance.

Portfolio Turnover Risk. As to the portion of the portfolio invested in ETFs and closed-end investment companies, turnover may result in higher brokerage commissions, dealer mark- ups and other transaction costs.

Small and Mid-Capitalization Issuer Risk. Investments in securities of small- and mid- capitalization companies may be more vulnerable than larger, more established organizations to adverse business or economic developments. These companies often have narrower markets, fewer products, or services to offer and more limited managerial and financial resources than do larger, more established companies.

Underlying Fund Costs and Risks. Each mutual fund (open end or closed end) and Exchange traded fund is subject to specific risks, depending on its investments. Underlying Funds are also subject to investment advisory and other expenses, which are borne by the client. As a result, your overall cost of investing in funds rather than the underlying stocks, bonds and other basic assets will be higher than the cost of investing directly in them.

AP Wealth Management recommends a number of types of securities, but open end mutual funds and exchange traded funds make up the majority of our holdings. These funds are invested in stocks, bonds and other types of securities. They use varying strategies to attempt to meet their objectives. The investor is subject to risk of loss of all of their capital in any of these investments; whether due to market-related losses or fraud committed by the investment companies. Accounts are protected by the SIPC to mitigate losses due to fraud or theft.

The firm has a code of ethics that centers on our role as a fiduciary for our clients. We will disclose fully any conflicts we might have with clients, we will seek the best execution for client market transactions, and we will have a reasonable basis for all recommendations made to clients. We have policies and procedures to help ensure that we do not act in a manner contrary to our clients' best interests. The code of ethics is available upon request.

We do not engage in the practice of recommending, or buying or selling for client accounts, securities in which we or a related person has a material financial interest.

The advisors at AP Wealth Management may take positions in their own accounts in securities that are the same as, similar to, or the opposite of those that may be recommended to our advisory clients, due to personal similarities or differences in investment goals and risk tolerances. Our positions are of a modest scale and in securities that are widely traded, such that any insider information we may glean from clients would have no effect on the market prices for his or her own investments. If we believe there is any risk that our own investment interests may be deemed to create a possible conflict with the impartiality of the advice and recommendations that we give to clients, we will divulge information on those investment positions to any affected client.

The advisors at AP Wealth Management will not purchase securities for their own accounts within 3 business days prior to buying or selling the same securities in client accounts. This prevents us from buying a security ahead of a client and then investing client money in the same security in the hopes of increasing the price of the security for our benefit.
