4 Advisory Business

Compass Asset Management LLC is the name under which William L. Matthes and Carolyn A. Matthes and their associates conduct business as Investment Advisers to individuals, corporations and pension plans. The firm’s principal Adviser and Owners are William L. Matthes and Carolyn A. Matthes. Trades are executed through a registered broker-dealer which the advisor may select at his discretion. Compass Asset Management. LLC was formed in February, 1997.

The investment advisory services provided by Compass Asset Management, LLC generally include: listed and over-the-counter securities, corporate, municipal and government bonds including agencies, mortgaged backed securities, mutual funds, certificates of deposit and exchange traded/index funds.

An investment policy statement developed with the client's participation determines the asset allocation of accounts and portfolio aggressiveness. All clients are required to develop a written investment policy statement. The policy statement summarizes the client's assets, goals and desired asset allocation. It then specifically describes the style of asset management to be used, prohibited transactions if any and criteria to be used in evaluating account performance. Compass Asset Management LLC generally requires total assets of at least $50,000 to open a managed account.

Mr. Matthes is the primary investment advisor. Mrs. Matthes assists with portfolio management, conducts client communications and supervises business operations. From time to time other investment advisors may be added of equally high caliber and strong credentials.

5 Clients

Compass Asset Management LLC's clients are:

Individuals	11-25%
High Net Worth Individuals	51-75%
Pension/Profit Sharing Plans	11-25%

As of the first quarter of 2015, Compass Asset Management's accounts totalled $248 million with another $79 million in accounts for which Mr. Matthes acts as Advisor for Westport Resources and $15 million in brokerage accounts which are unmanaged assets.

6 Fees

Most clients pay a quarterly fee based on assets under management with all transaction costs being borne by the manager. We believe that this a preferred management style for most clients because it collapses all expenses into one, predictable fee.

FEE SCHEDULE

ASSETS	EQUITY	FIXED INCOME	ETFs & MUTUAL FUNDS
$50-100,000	1.5%	.75%	.75%
$100-500,000	1.25%	.75%	.75%
$500-1,000,000	1.15%	.60%	.60%
$1,000,000+	1.00%	.50%	.50%

All fees are negotiable and there are no minimum fees. Fees are paid quarterly in advance. Initial fees will be prorated to cover that part of the quarter before the account was under management. Thereafter the fee will be based on the account value at the last business day before the beginning of the new quarter. Upon termination of the account, management fees will be credited back to the client's account based on the days remaining in the quarter divided by 90.

The same investment styles are available on a fee only basis where the client is responsible for the transaction fees. For some clients that total cost may be less depending on the size of the account, frequency of trading, investment style and where the client prefers to custody the assets and select a broker.

We also offer a flat fee advisory service in which the client pays the commissions and we charge a flat fee for investment advice. These are typically accounts with very low turnover and a large percentage of fixed income investments, that do not require the degree of portfolio management we provide other managed accounts.

On occasion, advisers associated with Compass Asset Management LLC may act as the broker for security transactions through their association as brokers with Westport Resources Investment Services, which is a registered broker-dealer. Where the Investment Adviser absorbs the cost of all transactions it is possible that a conflict of interest could arise in which the Adviser may be hesitant to conduct trades that could be in the clients best interest because of the cost of the trades to the adviser. In the case of accounts managed on an Investment Adviser fee plus commission basis, where the Adviser or related party acts as broker on a transaction, the Adviser may not benefit directly from a transaction recommended by the Adviser. The transaction charge from the broker-dealer/clearing firm is generally expressed as a single “ticket charge” plus exchange fees or handling cost.

The Adviser may have a conflict of interest in fee plus commission based account management because the Adviser may indirectly benefit from lower overall commissions due to the additional volume added by at cost transactions. Also, the Adviser may, in his or her dual capacity as Broker and Adviser, benefit from mutual fund or money market commissions, which are normally associated with the investment. It is not believed that this presents a serious conflict of interest since the amount of these commissions will be relatively small and this practice is fully disclosed to the client. Money market commission participation will be disclosed to each client in the Investment Advisor Agreement. Mutual fund commission participation will be disclosed in the Investment Advisor Agreement. If the Investment Adviser recommends any mutual fund to a client which carries a sales charge to the client in addition to the Advisers management fee, the Adviser will disclose the commission for that fund in writing to the client in a separate disclosure letter which will be dated on the day it is mailed to the client and a copy kept in the clients permanent file. This does not apply to Exchange Traded Mutual Funds (ETF's) or Index Funds since there are no inherent sales charges.

7. Performance Based Fees

Compass Asset Management LLC does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of assets of a client).

8. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss:

Compass Asset Management LLC generally relies on fundamental research which is available from corporate publications and annual reports, publications, newsletters, brokerage reports, electronic dissemination through Reuters, Standards and Poor's and Value Line. Compass will on occasion use technical charting to help in its buy-sell decisions. Charting services are purchased as part of its vendor supplied quote and information services.

Investment strategies range from conservative to aggressive depending on the requirements of the client which are detailed in a written investment policy statement. These strategies are generally concentrated in listed equities and liquid fixed income securities, but may at times involve some small, illiquid stocks and lower quality, illiquid bonds if approved by the client in advance and judged to be suitable to the client's risk tolerance and objectives. Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Compass offers a flexible investment style of equity management to meet the needs of a wide range of clients. Generally portfolios consist of large to medium capitalization companies, selling at reasonable valuations, diversified by industry group which Compass believes offers the opportunity for long term capital appreciation. In general, we prefer companies believed to be selling at a discount to their historic valuations,

Fixed income accounts are managed for taxable and tax free income. Compass generally diversifies fixed income accounts by maturity and avoids concentration in one maturity year which could lead to reinvestment risk or volatility from an excessively long maturity schedule. Municipal bonds of the state of residence of the client are used when appropriate for taxable accounts. Tax free accounts generally concentrate on corporate bonds which will be blended with government, agency and mortgage backed securities as their relative yields present investment opportunities. Where appropriate, bonds of less than investment grade may be used as stipulated in the client's investment policy statement.

Exchange Traded/Index Funds are managed by the Adviser on a fee for service basis using a variety of investment styles. For aggressive investors willing to take on the added risk associated with sector funds, the Adviser uses a variety of funds, selected on the basis of their emerging technical strength and short term relative performance. For less aggressive investors, the Adviser uses a balanced portfolio of funds selected on the basis of their long term past performance, diversified by investment sector, with periodic rebalancing.

10. Disciplinary Information:

Registered Investment Advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of Compass Asset Management, LLC. Compass Asset Management LLC has no legal or disciplinary events.

Registered Investment Advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of each person providing investment advice.

There are none.

11. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Compass Asset Management LLC is a fully independent investment adviser solely operated by William Matthes and Carolyn Matthes. They and their associates are registered representatives of Westport Resources Investment Services Inc, a registered broker-dealer. Additionally, some of the accounts managed by Compass Asset Management LLC are held in accounts with Westport Resources and transactions conducted with brokers also associated with Compass Asset Management as investment advisors.

William Matthes, Carolyn Matthes and all other licensed brokers of Compass Securities are currently associated with Westport Resources Investment Services in addition to their activities with Compass Asset Management. Westport Resources Investment Services has no direct interest in Compass Asset Management, but is responsible for supervision of its investment advisory and brokerage operations as required by NASD policy. Mr. Matthes acts as sub-advisor for Westport Resources for which he is compensated by Westport based on a percentage of assets under management.

12 Code of Ethics

Compass Asset Management, LLC has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, rumor mongering, restrictions of acceptance of significant gifts, and personal trading procedures, among other things.

Compass Asset Management LLC maintains a written “Code of Ethics” and will provide copies upon request.

13 Brokerage Practices

Except in unusual circumstances, where a service is required outside of their competence, or when the client has specifically directed the Adviser to use another brokerage firm, client accounts are custodied at Pershing, LLC or Pershing Advisors Solutions. Some accounts may have trades directed to Westport Resources Investment Services as fully disclosed in this document and the Investment Advisory Agreement. Others may have their accounts custodied at Pershing Advisors Solutions and not use Westport Resources as the broker dealer. Both accounts custodied at PAS and Pershing LLC will have the benefit of the best possible order execution available to the Investment Advisor at that time.

14 Review of Accounts

All accounts are reviewed by Compass Asset Management, LLC at least quarterly. This review includes, but is not limited to performance relative to an appropriate index, risk exposure relative to the client’s stated risk tolerance and investment objectives, and asset allocation relative to the client’s stated investment objectives.

All clients receive monthly account statements of their positions and account balances. Statements are prepared by an independent custodian; Pershing Adviser Services/Pershing LLC. Most clients receive quarterly, and on demand, performance reports which include: inception to date, quarterly and initiation to date performance relative to an appropriate index. Clients on flat fee agreement receive performance reports upon request and not included in Compass’s performance reporting.

Compass Asset Management LLC provides quarterly reports which are prepared by its staff using the third party software. Generally, the reports are not audited by a third party and are intended as an informational supplement to the client's monthly, independently prepared account statement from the custodian. Compass will arrange for a third party audit of the performance reports and separately bill the client at cost for this service. Compass will also provide the raw data necessary for the client's agent to perform an independent audit at no charge to the client. All clients are encouraged to personally contact their advisor as often as they would like to.

Other reports are available from software resources which may be helpful to the client and the advisor in understanding the client's asset positioning. The scope of additional reporting will vary depending on the client's requests, complexity of the account and any restrictions placed on the account.

15 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Compass Asset Management LLC does not directly or indirectly compensate any person for client referrals.

16 Custody

Most client funds and securities are held at Pershing Advisor Solutions or Pershing LLC via Westprot Resources Investment Services. Clients receive monthly statements from Pershing Advisor Services or Pershing, LLC and should carefully review those statements. Compass Asset Management LLC urges clients to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statement we may provide you. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on certain accounting procedures, reporting dates or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

All trades will be directed to a registered broker-dealer deemed appropriate by the Advisor unless the client directs us otherwise. It is believed that this will be in the best interest of the clients because it allows the advisor to offer the lowest cost brokerage service available to the advisor, while offering a system of order execution and account management that is familiar to the advisor and uniform for all advisory clients.

17 Investment Discretion

Compass Asset Management LLC receives discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold. However, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account. When selecting securities and determining amounts, Compass Asset Management LLC observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to Compass Asset Management LLC in writing.

18 Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, Compass Asset Management LLC does not vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in client portfolios. Compass Asset Management LLC may provide advice to clients regarding the clients' voting of proxies.

19 Agency Crosses In accordance with rule 206(3)-2 of the Investment Advisor Act, when the advisor believes that it is in the best interest of the client to buy or sell a security in a client's account where the other party is another advisory client or a client of the related broker-dealer, the advisor may conduct an "agency cross" transaction. All clients are required to provide the advisor with written permission to perform "agency crosses". Each cross will be approved by the client in writing prior to settlement and each confirmation of a cross will advise the client that this power can be rescinded at any time. Prior approval will be included in each client's investment advisory agreement if applicable. Each transaction will be preceded by a written statement of the terms of the proposed transaction to the managed account customer which must be returned and kept in the agency cross file of the manager. However, generally, these transactions will occur in relatively illiquid fixed income securities where the cost of the transaction, if it occurred through another dealer, would both reduce the price available to the seller and increase the price available to the buyer due to the high "markup" or "spread" common to certain less liquid securities. An agency cross can also be beneficial to both clients when dealing with very short term securities and odd lots when the percentage markup from a dealer transaction can significantly alter the yield to both buyer and seller.
