12	under Rule 205-1, under the Investment Advisors Act of 1940, prescribing certain requirements which must be satisfied in connection with Applicant's receipt of Performance-Based compensation.
12 A(1) (2)	Investment or Brokerage Discretion Applicant has the authority to determine without specific client consent, the securities to be bought and sold. Generally, there are no restrictions or limitations on the adviser's authority. Subject to the allocation guidelines referred to in item #9, generally there are no pre-determined quantitative limitations as to the amount of securities to be bought or sold.
12 A(3) (4)	Most of the brokerage transactions are executed by other brokers and dealers selected by Applicant on the basis of a variety of factors, including the following: the ability to achieve prompt and reliable executions at favorable prices; the operational efficiency with which transactions are affected; with other brokers satisfying Applicant's other selection criteria. Research and related services furnished by brokers may include written information and analyses concerning specific securities, companies or sectors; market, financial and economic studies and forecasts; statistics and pricing or appraisal services, as well as discussions with research personnel, along with hardware, software, data bases and other news, technical and financial data services and equipment utilized in the investment management process. Subject to seeking best execution, Applicant also may consider referrals of potential clients as a factor in the selection of brokers. Applicant may pay a broker a commission in excess of that which another broker might have charged for effecting the same transaction, in recognition of the value of research services provided by the broker. Research services provided by broker-dealers executing transactions for a particular client may be utilized by Applicant in connection with its investment advisory services for accounts other than or in addition to the account which paid the commission. In addition, research services provided by broker-dealers executing equity trades may be used by Applicant in connection with its fixed income research services. Applicant receives soft dollar credits from equity trades which will be applied to both equity and fixed research services received. The Applicant receives soft dollar credits from certain brokers with respect to OTC agency transactions. As a result of these soft dollar credits, research products and services for which Applicant would otherwise pay are being paid for by such brokers. In situations where a client has instructed DAM to direct their brokerage to a brokerage firm or individual broker, no attempt will be made to negotiate commissions on behalf of the client. As a result, on some transactions the client may pay materially disparate commissions depending on their commission arrangement with their broker, the number of shares traded, and the market for the security, as compared to other clients who do not have directed brokerage arrangements. Furthermore, clients who instruct DAM to direct brokerage, restrict DAM's ability to aggregate that client's brokerage with other clients' brokerage to obtain volume discounts. As a result, clients who have directed brokerage arrangements may pay higher commission rates and/or may not receive best execution on their transactions.
