FIRM AND PRINCIPAL OWNERS

Merion Realty Partners, LLC is a Delaware limited liability company. Merion Realty Partners, LLC is sometimes called the “Firm” in this brochure. The Firm was formed in August 2010 and has just recently begun operations. The Firm is a newly formed adviser relying on SEC Rule 203A-2(d) because we expect to be eligible for registration with the SEC within 120 days with over $150 million in assets under management (regulatory capital). Once we begin operating as an investment adviser, we will amend this Form.

Merion Realty Partners, LLC was formed by the real estate professionals of CMS Fund Advisers, LLC (“CMS”), an advisory affiliate, as a planned reorganization of CMS’s real estate business to a separate investment platform. The Firm is primarily owned and controlled by the former CMS real estate professionals.

For purposes of this Part 2 Form, an advisory affiliate or a related person of the Firm is considered to be a person or entity that controls the Firm, is controlled by the Firm or is under common control with the Firm.

The Firm has five members or owners: Richard T. Aljian, David A. Clapper, William A. Landman, Richard A. Mitchell and Mainline Investment Partners, LLC (“Mainline”). Mainline is owned by three individuals: William A. Landman, Richard A. Mitchell and David Clapper. These persons’ ownership interests are not equal. Merion Realty Partners, LLC is managed by a board of managers composed of the four individuals who are its ultimate owners. Additionally, there are four other individuals who hold executive officer positions for the Firm: Richard A. Kwait, Joseph Martell, David R. Rodgers and Jeffrey R. Shumaker,

The Firm has no subsidiaries.

The principal office and place of business for Merion Realty Partners, LLC and CMS Fund Advisers, LLC and certain other related persons is 308 E. Lancaster Avenue, Wynnewood, Pennsylvania. Please see item number 10 for more information about financial industry activities and affiliations.

The Firm’s investment policies will be set by its Investment Committee or similarly named group. The members of the Firm’s Investment Committee will initially be Richard T. Aljian, David Clapper, William A. Landman and Richard A. Mitchell. Additional information is included in brochure supplements with respect to (i) each person who formulates investment advice for a client and has direct client contact, and (ii) each person who has discretionary authority over a client’s assets even if that person has no direct client contact.

We have prepared brochure supplements for Mr. Aljian and Mr. Landman. As described below, the Firm's clients are expected to be investment funds and other similar entities that we advise.

INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES

The Firm's main business will be to provide investment advice to various real estate investment funds (either directly or through a sub-advisory relationship with CMS Fund Advisers, LLC) which are called our clients. Some of our clients will be limited partnerships or limited liability companies that are related to us because there is common ownership and/or control between the Firm and the general partners or managers of those investment funds. Other clients may be related to CMS Fund Advisers, LLC, an advisory affiliate. Some of our clients may be funds of funds meaning that they invest in other investment funds that may or may not be related to us. All of our clients are expected to be closed-end (meaning they do not accept additional capital after a stated offering period) investment funds with capital committed by investors that is drawn down and contributed over time to purchase investment securities or real estate and pay expenses. Our clients are not expected to offer redemption rights or liquidity to their investors. Once we are operating as an investment adviser, Item 7 will provide a complete list of active affiliated investment funds that are clients.

Our advice is considered to be investment supervisory services because we will be providing continuous advice based on the individual needs of each client. We look for investments that meet the stated objectives, strategy and investment guidelines of each client. We will usually only recommend that a client buy a security if that type of security and the amount to be invested in that security meets the client's objectives, strategy and investment guidelines as stated in the client's offering memorandum and partnership agreement or joint venture or other agreement negotiated directly with an investor. We will supervise the entire investment process and monitor the performance of each investment security held by our clients. We make recommendations to buy, hold and sell investment securities. However, we do not make the final investment decisions. In other words, we do not have investment discretion. The final investment decisions are made by the general partners or managers of the various investment funds that are our clients. As stated above, there may be common ownership and/or control between the Firm or CMS and most of those general partners or managers.

We primarily provide advice with respect to real estate assets, equity securities and debt securities in private companies and limited partnerships. Typically such equity and debt securities are directly or indirectly secured by real estate. We may also offer advice with respect to the investment funds that directly or indirectly invest in real estate. Occasionally we may offer advice with respect to a wide variety of other securities, including any type of private or public stock or equity interests, investment company securities, warrants, corporate debt securities, municipal securities and options contracts.

We currently do not participate in wrap fee programs.

The amount of client assets we expect to manage on a non-discretionary basis within 120 days of registration is over $150 million.

ADVISORY FEES

The Firm expects to charge its clients annual advisory fees that range from 0.25% to 2.0% of an asset fee base. The asset fee base for an initial period of years (usually 3 to 5) is equal to the client's full committed capital regardless of how much has been contributed by investors. After the initial period of years (usually 3 to 5), the asset fee base will usually change to equal the amount of the client's capital which is invested, subject to certain caveats. The Firm may be granted a direct or indirect interest in capital accounts (at no charge) in client funds as an indirect payment of advisory services. The Firm also may receive fixed annual advisory fees. The specific fee charged depends upon the type and complexity of services to be provided. In most cases, there is no independent person who negotiates the Firm's advisory fees. However, the specific fee arrangements, exact fee start date, exact calculation of the asset fee base, and other types of fees and expenses paid by each client are described in the client's offering memorandum or joint venture or other agreement negotiated directly with an investor. Therefore, each investor typically knows what the fees are prior to deciding to make an investment in that client.

As mentioned before, some of the Firm's clients may be funds of funds that invest in other clients of the Firm. The specifics of the Firm's advisory fees may not be fully known or disclosed to investors at the time of the offering of interests in a client that is a fund of funds. The unknown specifics may include the fee percentage, the asset fee base and the fee start date. We always attempt to charge fees that are fair and reasonable in amount based on the type and complexity of the services provided. We expect to select a fee start date that is not earlier than (i) when we started performing advisory services, (ii) when the client's first investment was made, or (iii) when sub-advisory or other consulting fees are due.

OTHER COMPENSATION

If other types of fees and expenses are paid by a client, they will be described in the client's offering memorandum or joint venture or other agreement negotiated directly with an investor if known.

Some of the other types of fees and expenses that usually will be paid by a client are: auditing fees and costs; custodial fees and costs; banking fees and costs; franchise taxes and entity formation and maintenance fees; securities and "blue sky" filing fees; an allocable portion of the costs (including third party service fees) related to recording, managing and reporting of accounting, tax and financial information, investor subscription processing, cash calls and distributions; fees and costs related to asset management information technology and software; fees and costs related to anti-money laundering and other regulatory compliance; expenses related to roadshows and offering related activities; postage and travel expenses.

The client also will reimburse the Firm or an affiliate for the services performed by the Firm's attorneys and accounting professionals directly to the client (whether the services relate to general administrative matters or the business operations of the client). These will be paid only if the client would otherwise have engaged outside professionals to perform the services. The fees will be charged at rates customarily charged by outside attorneys or accounting professionals.

BILLING PROCEDURES

We anticipate charging advisory fees monthly in advance, but sometimes we may charge fees quarterly or semi-annually in advance. If the fee start date is not the first of a month, the first billing period may include a partial month. If an advisory contract with a client is terminated before the end of a billing period, the Firm will refund any overpayment of fees to the client. The overpayment of fees will be calculated based on the number of full months remaining in a billing period after the contract was terminated. No refund will be given for a partial month.

Under most advisory contracts with Firm clients, after an initial period of years (usually 3 to 5), we can collect advisory fees only out of cash available for distribution and not out of capital contributions made by investors to the client. If cash is not available to pay advisory fees in the period earned, payment of those fees will be deferred. We will then collect the deferred fees when cash becomes available before cash distributions are made to investors, unless we waive payment of those fees. If a client does not deploy all of the capital originally committed by investors, advisory fees that we have already earned will not be refunded.

The Firm will calculate the advisory fees and send a bill to the client. The client then pays the fees owed to the Firm. Because the Firm and the client are usually related to one another, there will likely be no independent person who reviews the calculation of advisory fees. However, some clients have their financial statements audited by an independent certified public accounting firm. The funds and securities of most clients will be held by a qualified custodian which sends quarterly account statements to the clients' investors. Those statements show the advisory fee payments.

Investors who are related to the Firm or an affiliate may receive up to a 100% discount or rebate on their share of capital contributions and/or distributions that are used to pay advisory fees. These discounts, if applicable, are disclosed in detail in the applicable client's offering memorandum and limited partnership agreement or joint venture or other agreement negotiated directly with an investor.

Item 6: *Performance Based Fees and Side-by-Side ManagementPERFORMANCE BASED COMPENSATION

The general partners or managers of most of our clients may receive a share of the profits generated by the client. This share of profits is often referred to as a carried interest. Because of our relationship with the general partners or managers of our clients, the carried interest may be considered performance based compensation that benefits the Firm. A carried interest may give the Firm or the client's general partner or manager an incentive to take more risk or make more speculative investments than would otherwise be the case. In addition, the likelihood of earning a carried interest may give the Firm an incentive to favor one client over another in allocating investment opportunities or making buy, hold or sell recommendations. We address these potential conflicts of interest by (i) recognizing our fiduciary duty owed to each client, and (ii) reviewing each client's objective, strategy and investment guidelines against our recommendations.

TYPES OF CLIENTS

Please refer to Item 4 above.

The Firm's advisory clients generally will be real estate investment funds. Some of our clients are limited partnerships or limited liability companies that are related to us because there is common ownership and/or control between the Firm or an advisory affiliate and the general partners or managers of those clients. Some of our clients are funds of funds meaning that they invest in other investment funds that may or may not be related to us. All of our clients are expected to be closed-end (meaning they do not accept additional capital after a stated offering period) investment funds with capital committed by investors that is drawn down and contributed over time to purchase investment securities or assets that are not securities and pay expenses. Most of our clients do not offer redemption rights or liquidity to their investors. Our clients' investors are expected to be institutions or high net worth individuals (including trusts and other family investment entities created by those individuals). We do not expect to manage separate advisory accounts for individual or institutional investors.

Once we begin operations as an investment adviser, the Firm anticipates it will act as a sub-adviser to various related real estate-oriented private funds that are advised by CMS Fund Advisers, LLC. Investor consent will be obtained to delegate certain advisory responsibilities to the Firm.

METHOD OF ANALYSIS AND INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The Firm will advise its clients primarily about making investments in real estate. Each client will have a specific strategy and investment focus that is described in the client's offering memorandum or joint venture or other agreement negotiated directly with an investor. Some clients may have strategies similar to other clients. The client's offering memorandum and/or limited partnership or operating agreement, joint venture or other agreement negotiated directly with an investor may include specific guidelines or restrictions on investments. The Firm's role is to (i) find investment opportunities that fit the client's specific strategy, (ii) diligently investigate each investment's benefits and risks (called due diligence), (iii) make recommendations to each client whether to buy, hold or sell an investment, and (iv) monitor the performance of investments made. The Firm will review its recommendations against any specific guidelines or restrictions on the client's investments.

The Firm does not make the final investment decisions. The final investment decisions are made by the general partners or managers of the various investment funds that are our clients. As stated elsewhere in this brochure, there may be common ownership or control between the Firm or an advisory affiliate and some of those general partners or managers.

DUE DILIGENCE

Professional employees of the Firm or its affiliates perform due diligence on each investment opportunity. Due diligence will vary depending on the type of investment but will usually include some or all of the following:

- Review of real estate title, zoning and survey
- Review of real estate environmental and engineering conditions
- On-site visits to company headquarters and/or real estate
- Review, preparation and/or analysis of business plan
- Review and negotiation of legal documents relevant to the security to be held
- Review of insurance coverage
- Review of historical financial information
- Research and analysis of market information
- Research and review of competition
- Review, preparation and/or analysis of financial projections
- Interviews and background checks of company management and joint venture partners
- Lien searches of company assets and real estate
- Review of material contracts and other company data

The above is not an exhaustive list, nor does every item on the list apply to all investment opportunities. Our professional employees use their experience and expertise to review each investment opportunity in a diligent way. For certain items on the list that require special expertise, third party consultants may be engaged on behalf of the client to research and prepare reports. Our employees then review and analyze those third party reports. In addition, legal counsel is engaged on behalf of each client to prepare or review and negotiate legal documents with reasonable and customary provisions to protect the interests of the client. The client pays the fees and costs of third party consultants and legal counsel.

RISK OF LOSS AND RISK FACTORS

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients and investors should be prepared to bear. There can be no possibility of profit without risk of loss, including the risk of loss of one's entire investment.

The types of securities we recommend to our clients are illiquid and speculative. There is no guaranty that our recommendations will turn out to be profitable to our clients or their investors. Our clients may not be able to sell or liquidate recommended securities or assets if our clients need capital for other purposes. Most of our clients will not offer redemption rights or other liquidity options to their investors.

There are certain risk factors that may apply generally to the types of investment securities we recommend to our clients. There are also numerous risk factors that may apply to the specific investment program or strategy to be followed by a particular client. These general and specific risks are described in the offering memorandum of the particular client, or joint venture or other agreement negotiated directly with an investor. Some of the risk factors that apply generally to our clients are summarized below.

Illiquid Securities. Almost all of the investments made by the Firm's clients will be private securities or assets for which there is no public market. As a result, these securities are illiquid and are subject to sale restrictions due to securities laws or contractual obligations. In addition, these investments may take several years to mature. During the investment holding period, there may be no cash distributions to the client's investors. These limitations on sale could make it difficult to sell an investment or reduce the amount of sale proceeds.

Unidentified Investments - Blind Pool. In most cases, the Firm's clients are blind pools – meaning that the investments are not fully identified at the time of the client's equity offering. As a result, a prospective investor considering an investment in the client will not know or be able to evaluate all investments to be made by the client prior to making an investment decision. Rather, the prospective investor must rely upon the ability of the client's general partner or manager, based upon advice provided by the Firm, to select appropriate investments on behalf of the client.

General Investment Risks. Any investment in equity securities is subject to risks. These risks include fluctuations in value due to issuer, political, market and economic developments. Fluctuations can be dramatic over the short or long term. Different parts of the market and different types of equity securities can react differently to these developments. These developments can affect a single issuer, many issuers within an industry or economic sector or geographic region, or the market as a whole. Recently, terrorism, political and regulatory developments, and economic developments (caused by natural disasters, for instance) have increased short-term market fluctuations and may have long-term effects on world economies and markets generally.

General Risks of Investing in Real Estate. An investment in real estate is subject to various risks. These risks usually relate to expenses being higher than expected, cash flow being less than expected, or both. If cash flow is insufficient to pay all expenses, the investment could suffer losses. Mortgage financing or other debt can increase these risks and result in an investment being lost through foreclosure. Adverse changes in local, regional, national and international economic conditions can negatively affect real estate values. For example, high unemployment rates, declines in population, and tenant bankruptcies can adversely impact real estate income. Similarly, high real estate taxes, insurance costs, increases in interest rates and high fuel and heating costs due to rising crude oil prices result in higher operating costs. Other risks include zoning laws and other government rules and fiscal policies and changes in such laws, rules and policies; environmental claims; and uninsured losses and other risks that are beyond the control of the Firm or its clients.

General Risks Associated with Debt Markets. The types of investments made by the Firm's clients can be affected by the debt markets. The value and marketability of real estate investments may depend upon the availability and cost of credit to finance operations or acquisitions. Current conditions in the debt markets include reduced credit availability and increased debt costs for many market participants. These conditions, which increase the cost and reduce the availability of debt, may continue or worsen in the future. Continued and future disruptions in the debt markets could have an adverse impact on investment values and on acquisition and exit opportunities.

Item 9: *Disciplinary InformationDISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

In connection with a routine SEC examination of a predecessor of CMS Fund Advisers, LLC (an advisory affiliate of the Firm, "CMS") during 2000, the SEC noted certain deficiencies in CMS's custody procedures. In February 2002, the SEC staff accepted the Firm's proposal to rectify CMS's non-compliance by (1) completing a custody verification for 2001 by March 31, 2002; (2) completing a surprise custody verification for 2002 during 2002 following the completion of the 2001 verification; and (3) completing annual surprise custody verifications for each subsequent year in the corresponding calendar year in accordance with the custody rule. CMS also represented that it had engaged one accounting firm to complete all of the required verifications. Each verification, once completed, discovered no discrepancies in CMS's records of investor assets.

Pursuant to the SEC Administrative Proceeding Release No. IA-2430 dated September 15, 2005, the SEC alleged that CMS violated Section 206(4) of the Investment Advisers Act and SEC Rule 206(4)-2 relating to custody of client funds and securities. The alleged violations were: (a) CMS failed to timely complete custody verifications; (b) CMS failed to timely engage an auditing firm for the 2002, 2003 and 2004 custody verifications, or provide a specific deadline to the auditor; (c) CMS chose to prioritize other business matters ahead of the verifications with the full knowledge that it would continue to operate in violation of the custody rule; and (d) in 2000 and 2001, CMS had custody of client funds and securities but did not perform its annual surprise custody verifications as required by the custody rule.

CMS Fund Advisers, Inc. was censured, ordered to cease and desist from committing or causing any violations and any future violations of Section 206(4) of the Investment Advisers Act and SEC Rule 206(4)-2, and ordered to pay a civil money penalty in the amount of $115,000. In addition, the SEC instituted separate proceedings against CMS's Chief Financial Officer at the time the violations occurred. See SEC Administrative Proceeding Release No. IA-2429.

CODE OF ETHICS

The Firm has adopted a Code of Ethics that sets forth certain standards of conduct with respect to important matters. The Code of Ethics applies to all members of the Firm's investment committee and employees that have access to nonpublic information about our clients and their securities or asset holdings (collectively, called access persons). All access persons must sign the Code of Ethics when hired, and then annually thereafter.

The Code of Ethics addresses the Firm's ethical standards in the following areas:

- Fiduciary duties
- Compliance with securities laws
- Compliance with Firm supervisory policies and procedures
- Insider trading and handling of nonpublic information regarding Firm clients and their investments
- Requirements of access persons to report securities holdings, transactions, board affiliations and outside business activities
- Requirements of access persons to obtain prior approval of certain investments and outside business activities
- Confidentiality requirements
- Restrictions on accepting gifts or gratuities from clients or on making or accepting loans to or from clients

These matters are designed to detect and prevent violations of the Firm's fiduciary duties to clients and securities laws. Upon request, a copy of our Code of Ethics will be provided to any client or investor, or to any prospective client or investor.

CERTAIN CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

The Firm is related to persons that are in the advisory business, broker-dealer business, insurance business, real estate management and other businesses. The Firm is also related to its clients. As a result of these relationships, various conflicts of interest arise from time to time. The Firm attempts to resolve conflicts of interest in a fair and equitable way to all parties consistent with its fiduciary duties. However, it is not always possible to be fair to all parties when a conflict arises. This section describes certain conflicts of interest that may arise.

The firm is expected to act as a sub-adviser for certain real estate investment funds that are advised by CMS Fund Advisers, LLC, an advisory affiliate.

Transactions between the Firm's clients may create conflicts of interest. Set forth below are examples of transactions between the Firm's clients that may occur:

- (i) Two or more clients may invest in the same transaction if the investment is appropriate for both clients. If the transaction is entered into at the same time and on the same terms, the conflict is minimized. However, if one client purchases at a different time and/or on different terms, the conflict is heightened.
- (ii) One client may sell an investment to, or purchase an investment from, another client.
- (iii) One client may make a loan to, or acquire debt or preferred equity securities, in an investment entity in which another client holds common equity.
- (iv) One client may have a contractual relationship with another client, such as landlord/tenant, lender/borrower, customer/supplier, and other relationships.
- (v) One client may invest in another client.

In rare instances, the Firm may buy securities for itself from, or sell securities it owns to, a client. It is also possible that the Firm (or a related party) may have a direct or indirect interest in an investment that a client buys or sells.

In all cases, the Firm will attempt to structure the transaction so that it is fair to all clients involved in the transaction and is on terms that are comparable to an arms' length transaction between unrelated parties. In many cases, the Firm will obtain an independent third party valuation of the security involved in the transaction. When conflicts of interest arise, it may not be possible to be fair to all clients involved in all cases. A transaction structure, performance or outcome may turn out to be more favorable to one client over another.

CMS Investment Resources, LLC (a party related to the Firm) may act as a broker or agent for compensation in buying or selling securities for or among Firm clients. In such cases, the commissions or other compensation charged are comparable to the commissions and other compensation that would be charged by independent third parties.

Merion Realty Services, LLC (a party related to the Firm) or an affiliate may manage real estate properties that are held as investments by Firm clients. Merion Realty Services LLC receives management fees for its services. In such cases, the management fees charged are comparable to the fees that would be charged by independent third parties.

It is also possible that a third party who controls or is otherwise related to an investment made by a Firm client (for example, a joint venture partner with whom a Firm client invests in a particular project) may also (i) invest as a limited partner in other Firm clients, (ii) purchase insurance products from Capital Management Systems, LLC or CMS Investment Resources, LLC, and/or (iii) have other business relationships with the Firm or its related parties. In these cases, the Firm and/or its related parties may receive direct or indirect compensation.

Investors in Firm clients may purchase insurance or other products from CMS Investment Resources, LLC, Capital Management Systems, LLC or other parties related to the Firm, and the Firm or a related party may receive compensation in connection with the sale of those products.

Conflicts of interest that are applicable to a particular client and are known at the time of the offering of interests in the client are disclosed in the client's offering memorandum or joint venture or other agreement negotiated directly with an investor.

In accordance with securities laws, the Firm may be required to obtain the consent of its clients in connection with transactions in which it or a related party acts as a principal or broker. In those cases, the Firm intends to solicit the consent of investors that hold interests in the applicable client in accordance with the terms of the relevant client's partnership agreement or other governing document and law.

Item 12: Brokerage PracticesBROKERAGE PRACTICES

The Firm or related persons may recommend or select brokers to clients for the purpose of selling public securities owned by such clients. This is expected to occur very infrequently because clients typically hold private securities. The broker is selected based upon its knowledge of and access to the relevant market, recommendations received from third parties with knowledge of the security being traded, and commissions proposed to be charged.

The Firm does not participate in soft-dollar arrangements. A soft dollar arrangement is one where higher commissions may be charged in exchange for products, research or services other than services directly related to the trade itself.

REVIEW OF CLIENT ACCOUNTS

The Firm periodically reviews the investments made by its clients and provides ongoing advice and recommendations to clients on whether to hold or sell those investments. These reviews and services usually occur during Firm Investment Committee meetings or during asset class subcommittee meetings.

The Firm is primarily responsible for valuations of each client's security holdings. Valuations are updated on a quarterly basis; full valuation reviews are done on a semi-annual basis. The Firm determines the valuation of each security in accordance with its valuation procedures. Valuation procedures have been adopted for each different type of security and are updated as necessary.

In most cases a Report Card is generated for investors on a quarterly basis for each investor who utilizes the private side of a web-based investor access portal, whereas other investors receive a Report Card upon meeting with sales representative or whenever requested.

In some instances reporting will be provided to certain investors on a negotiated basis and schedule.

CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

The Firm does not receive economic benefits from any party who is not a client for providing investment advice or other advisory services to our clients.

If the Firm compensates a person who is not related to the Firm for referring clients, such arrangements are disclosed in the applicable client offering memorandum or otherwise in writing to the client and investors.

CUSTODY

The Firm will be considered to have custody of client funds and securities to the extent it is related to the general partners or managers of its clients.

The Firm expects to contract with BNY Mellon Investment Servicing Trust Company to act as the Firm's qualified custodian.

The qualified custodian's address is 8800 Tinicum Boulevard, Third Floor, Philadelphia, PA 19153.

Except for clients which send audited financial statement to their investors within the time period required by SEC rules, the qualified custodian sends quarterly account statement directly to investors of each client of the Firm. Investors should carefully review those statements. If an investor also receives an account statement from the Firm, such as a Report Card, the investor is urged to compare the account statements received from the qualified custodian to the account statements received from the Firm.

At the present time, the Firm does not accept discretionary authority.

PROXY POLICY

The Firm's policy is to vote client securities in the best interests of the client's investors. Because client securities typically are privately held equity interests, voting rights are usually specified in the partnership agreement or other document governing the securities. Therefore, votes are usually cast directly at a meeting or by written consent and not by proxy. The Firm or the client's general partner will vote any securities or proxy in a manner consistent with the investment objectives of the client, typically to maximize investment returns within the guidelines established by the client, and subject to any investment restrictions and other constraints set forth in the client's offering memorandum or partnership agreement or joint venture or other agreement negotiated directly with an investor. The Firm's proxy voting policies and procedures are designed to comply with the requirements of Rule 206(4)-6 under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. Such policies and procedures are reviewed periodically and may be amended from time to time. Upon written request by any investor, a copy of the full policy and procedures on proxy voting will be provided as well as a proxy voting record for any specific proxies voted on behalf of a client in which that investor purchased securities.
