Up to $350,000 minimum fee to cover the whole set up

HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s fees will be agreed upon in advance with the client and will vary depending upon the nature of the work performed. Fees are generally based on a percentage of assets or a fixed fee.

Fee schedules and terms are negotiable except in certain circumstances.

Deduction of Fees

Generally, unless otherwise specified by the client, fees are charged monthly, quarterly or annually in arrears. Fees are calculated based on the account's average market value for the period. Average market value for the period is the average of the market values, or as of the first day of the period and the last day of each month within the period, as stated on the client's custodian statement. Fees for the initial billing, at the inception of the account, are prorated accordingly. If, during a period, the client makes a contribution to or withdrawal from the portfolio, fees will be pro-rated accordingly. The value of securities in the client account is equal to the market value of the securities or in the absence of a market value, the fair market value as determined in good faith by the custodian.

In the event the client terminates an account, any fees owed to HSBC Global Asset Management (France) will be pro-rated accordingly. Any fees that may have been prepaid previously by the client shall be refunded on a pro-rata basis based upon the number of calendar days remaining after the termination date in the period as to which fees may have been prepaid. The client or HSBC Global Asset Management (France) generally may terminate an investment advisory agreement at such time as mutually agreed upon in writing by HSBC Global Asset Management (France) and the client.

Other Fees and Expenses

Clients will pay brokerage and custody fees, see "Brokerage Practices."

Clients may elect to have their idle cash balances swept into money market funds including funds that are managed by HSBC Global Asset Management (France) or an affiliated company. In the cases where a money market fund is managed by HSBC Global Asset Management (France), HSBC Global Asset Management (France) may receive a management fee for its advisory services.

As with all mutual funds, clients, through their investment in the money market fund are charged their pro-rata share of the fund's fees and expenses. Since clients pay HSBC Global Asset Management (France) a management fee based upon the client's total portfolio, inclusive of client cash balances, clients may in some cases pay two fees on the same assets to HSBC Global Asset Management (France) or an affiliated company.

In addition, HSBC Global Asset Management (France), in its capacity as investment adviser, may invest client assets in mutual funds other than money market funds, advised by an affiliated company. Clients are given an appropriate fee adjustment for any holdings in the affiliated mutual funds that are not money market investments. The client is responsible for all other expenses and fees associated with an investment in the funds.

These fees and expenses may include but are not limited to, advisory and custodial fees, and any sales load incurred with the purchase or sale of the funds. Expenses and fees vary with each fund. The client should read the fund's prospectus for a complete description of the fund's fee structure.

PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT [Item 6]

HSBC Global Asset Management (France) charges performance fees based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the assets in one Multi Fixed Income Strategy as disclosed above.

HSBC Global Asset Management (France) manages only one account using the Multi Fixed Income Strategy, and consequently there are no potential conflicts of interest between an account that is charged a performance-based fee and an account that is charged another type of fee.

TYPES OF CLIENTS [Item 7]

HSBC Global Asset Management (France) provides investment advice to banks and thrift institutions, investment companies, pension and profit sharing plan, corporations, business entities and others not mentioned here. Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS [Item 8]

General Description

The decisional framework of investment process is the Tactical Asset Allocation Committee which holds weekly meetings and is chaired by the Chief Investment Officer ("CIO"). Members of the Research, Financial Engineering, Fund managers (Equity, Fixed-Income, Absolute Return and Guaranteed & Structured) and Dealing teams attend committee meetings.

HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s approach to portfolio management is rigorous and consistent and integrates risk management principles at each stage of the process. The investment philosophy and process rest on three pillars: valuation methods, optimization and disciplined portfolio implementation. As a result, portfolios are explicitly built taking into account the trade-off between expected return and risk levels.

Prior to the actual portfolio implementation, portfolios are designed taking into account risk estimates. HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s in-house optimizer is based on a forward-looking approach to risk. The rationale underlying our approach is that one should use risk forecasts rather than past volatility and correlation to build portfolios. HSBC Global Asset Management (France) has designed a risk model aimed at eliminating as much as possible the unstable sources of correlation from its forecast. Our optimization process puts more emphasis on the stability of the risk forecasts rather than on an uncertain accuracy. Our optimization tools use constant risk aversion parameters rather than constant limits of tracking error. The rationale behind this definition is that the magnitudes of the investment opportunities fluctuate over time, and therefore, the risk should be taken according to these opportunities. The output of this model is an optimal allocation that is transmitted to the Fund managers prior to the Tactical Asset Allocation Committee.

Risk Management is a key component of HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s investment philosophy and process. On an ongoing basis, HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s investment process incorporates the systematic monitoring of portfolio exposures, absolute or relative risk levels, as well as a strict control of operational risk. In practice, all teams contribute to risk assessment: from asset allocation analysis and decision (Research and Asset Management) to implementation (Asset management and Trading) and controls (Asset Management, Middle Office, and Investment Risk).

The Middle Office is specifically in charge of post market monitoring of all transactions implemented.

The dedicated Investment Risk Team is responsible for monitoring investment risk independently from the portfolio managers. The team reports to the Head of Investment Risk, indirectly to the Chief Risk Officer and functionally to the HSBC Global Asset Management Global Chief Risk Officer, all senior executives with no direct nor indirect reporting links to the Chief Investment Officer. Under the governance of HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s Risk Committee, the Investment Risk team defines risk policies and controls, selects appropriate risk measures (e.g., modified duration, tracking-error, Value-at-Risk, stress testing), implements market risk controls and analysis of the risk over all client accounts, and, when appropriate, conducts stress scenarios. They communicate the result of their control assessment and the potential risk that the portfolio managers could face to Senior Management.

In order to ensure that internal guidelines and risk policies are well implemented, the Investment Risk team collaborates on a daily basis with the investment teams. They are in constant contact with portfolio managers and traders in order to assist in managing the risk in their portfolios, keeping a clear view on the market configuration and potential risks that could arise.

HSBC Global Asset Management (France) offers U.S. clients two strategies:

Global inflation-linked bond strategy seeks to outperform the Barclays World Government Inflation-Linked Bond index through active allocation among the global developed inflation-linked bond markets. The portfolios invest only in sovereign inflation-linked bonds issued by the Euro zone, Australia, Canada, Sweden, UK, US, and

Japan and are hedged against currency risk. The Global Inflation-Linked Bond portfolios offer a daily liquidity.

Multi fixed income strategy is an absolute return strategy that aims to outperform a Customized Benchmark constituted as follows:

- 50% JPM Global Gov't bond index (JPM GBI Global) split into 25% 10yr+ index (currency hedged to USD) and 25% 7-10yr index (currency hedged to USD). The resulting index targets approximately 10 years of nominal interest rate duration.
- 50% Barclays inflation-indexed bond index split into 25% US 10yr+ index, 25% Euro Gov't 10yr+ index (currency hedged to USD). The resulting index targets approximately 15 years of real interest rate duration.

The strategy invests in fixed income assets. The portfolios pursue a strategy that exploits the potential of uncorrelated sources of performance. The strategy combines different strategies across three asset classes: Nominal government bonds, Inflation-linked bonds, Currency.

The Multi fixed-income strategy delivers daily liquidity.

Material Risks for Significant Investment Strategies [Item 8.B.]

Investing in securities involves risk that clients should be prepared to bear. Set out below are material risks for HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s fixed income strategies and how HSBC Global Asset Management (France) seeks to mitigate those risks.

Performance Risk

Definition: the risk that the portfolio doesn't reach its performance and/or risk target.

HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s investment risk program is designed to manage this risk. It involves both ex-post and ex-ante risk monitoring. Alert levels on ex-post risk indicators (e.g. volatility, tracking-error) identify if performance risk require specific action to be taken. Prior to this, alerts and limits on ex-ante risk indicators observe a posteriori this kind of risk.

Market Risk

Definition: risk brought about by changes in market prices (interest rates, stocks, foreign exchange rate, inflation, volatility, correlations, etc.)

The main risk faced by HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s investment strategies is market risk. We seek to mitigate this risk using the following techniques:

- Portfolios are explicitly built taking into account the trade-off between expected returns and risk levels
- In-house optimization tools based on a forward-looking approach to risk
- Consistent allocation decisions through the investment strategies and time
- Portfolio exposures are controlled on a daily basis
- Portfolio investment risks are frequently monitored and controlled

Credit Risk

Definition: the risk of loss of principal or loss of a financial reward stemming from a borrower's failure to repay a loan or otherwise meet a contractual obligation. Credit risk arises when a borrower is expecting to use future cash flows to pay a current debt. Investors are compensated for assuming credit risk by way of interest payments from the borrower or issuer of a debt obligation.

For HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s strategies, credit risk is limited as corporate long bond picking isn't a source of alpha generation. This is also the case for monetary part of the absolute return portfolios (e.g. Multi Fixed-Income Strategy). Cash is invested on commercial paper (< 3 months), mostly (>50%) on governmental investments and the rest in the most secured highly rated corporate papers (e.g. A1/P1).

Model Risk

Definition: the risk of financial loss linked to the use of an inappropriate or incorrect model for the valuation (mark-to-model) or the calculation of risk indicators.

In addition to standard checking put in place for avoiding valuation risk, HSBC Global Asset Management (France) has put in place specific actions to constantly manage the risk linked to the models driving its investment decisions :

- Investment research team frequently updates model results
- HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s investment process allows for a "Judgmental Overlay" in which fund managers can propose to modify model recommendations:
 - o active positions derived from risk-adjusted expected returns may be altered
 - o model proposed allocation can only be reduced or neutralized, never reversed
- Performance attribution monitors the results of investment decisions and evaluates risk-adjusted returns

- The model committee (CIO, R&D and management teams)
 - o quarterly checks for potential dysfunctions in the models
 - o annually review of the explanatory variables (existing and new)
 - o re-estimates annually coefficients

Liquidity Risk

Definition:

- Asset liquidity risk : to be unable to sell an asset at its price.
- Funding liquidity risk : risk that a portfolio fail to pay (redemptions, margin calls, etc.)

HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s strategies look for generating alpha through tactical asset allocation on the most liquid markets and not through investing in more illiquid markets or "niches".

HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s strategies systematically implement Efficient Portfolio Management (EPM), favoring liquid derivatives (primarily futures) that reduce trading costs

HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s strategies are designed to deliver daily NAV.

The Investment Risk team is regularly checking independently from fund managers funding liquidity risk.

Counterparty Risk

Definition: the risk of loss in a fund brought about by a default of the company with which the fund is contractually involved (through IRS for example).

OTC instruments are marked to market under established Collateral Swap Agreements.

HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s Risk Committee sets the counterparty policy, reports and approves all counterparties in accordance with MIFID requirements

Details on market risk for Multi fixed income strategy

Because this strategy could lead to arbitrage between assets for different asset classes. As a result, HSBC Global Asset Management (France)'s Investment Risk team calculates daily VaR (Value at Risk) accordingly to the following calculation standards:

- unilateral confidence interval of 99;

- holding period equivalent to 1 day;
- effective observation period of more than 250 days;
- daily data up-date; and
- quarterly backtesting.
- Internal Model approach

Ex-ante VaR is used to check the global risk of the sub-funds based on a short term risk model designed and estimated internally.

The purpose of the following is to sum up the main information concerning the methodology, results and use of this risk model.

- Methodology

The ex-ante portfolio risk measures are calculated using a parametrical method that is based on current exposures to risk factors and estimated covariance matrix.

- Exposures to risk factors

Each asset of the portfolio is valued through the central valuation tool RiskWatch. It computes exposures to interest rates, inflation, credit, and foreign exchange rates.

The next step is the mapping of individual assets on the risk factors. It allows to pass from weights on assets to exposures to risk factors:

Each interest rate asset is mapped on a two-factors (shift and twist) yield curve model by country.

- Ex-Ante Covariance Matrix

The risk measure is designed to give to the Investment Risk team of HSBC Global Asset Management (France) the ability to alert in case of excessive short term risk into the sub-funds. Consequently, as opposed to the risk model used for pre-allocation process, which aims to anticipate at best the risk of the markets at the horizon of the positions, the model used for controlling risk tries to give the best instantaneous picture of risk. That's the reason why daily data are used to estimate the covariance matrix of the risk factors (D+1 for Asia-Pacific prices). This also answers to the objective of computing a VaR with a 1-day horizon to match with the liquidity of the strategy.

Portfolio risk measures

Ex-ante volatility is calculated on a daily basis using the exposure to risk factors and the covariance matrix. It allows to monitor the active risk compared to targets and limits.

Ex-ante Value-at-Risk 99% 1-day gives on a daily basis an estimate of the loss the strategy could face given current positions and market risks.

Adequacy of the methodology to the strategies

This model represents more precisely the reality of market risks. Above all, the use of statistical inference (maximum likelihood function) ensures that this approach portrays more efficiently the complexity of market risks' reality.

The risk model covers all the current market risk factors faced by the Multi Fixed-Income Strategy. Note that no specific (idiosyncratic) risk is taken into account as the strategy doesn't include bond picking.

Backtest program

On a quarterly basis, the model is backtested so that the VaR 99% 1-day calculated numbers are compared to the next day's return of the portfolio to deduce the number of exceptions that allows to validate the model.

Details on market risk for Global inflation-linked bond

This strategy allows for arbitrage between international inflation yield curves and is monitored daily by the Investment Risk team. This monitoring is the same than the Multi Fixed-Income Strategy, entailing a daily update of assets and risk factors exposures and of the results of an internal short-term risk model.

The only difference is the existence of a reference for this strategy. As a consequence, the performance, the exposure and the global risk of the strategy is monitored relatively to this benchmark and not in absolute terms. Then the Relative VaR 99% 1-day number is monitored as the global risk measure.

HSBC Global Asset Management (France) do not recommend primarily a particular type of security.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions (Item 11B)

Management of potential and actual conflicts of interest

In accordance with the HSBC Group Standards Manual and applicable regulations issued by AMF (French Financial Monetary Authority - Autorité des Marchés Financiers), the French securities regulator, HSBC Global Asset Management (France) has established procedures and policies that are designed to identify the circumstances which may give rise to a conflict of interest entailing a material risk of damage to the interests of one or more clients, or to the Group's reputation.

Internal procedures and in particular the Conflicts of Interest Policy have been established specifying procedures to be followed and measures to be adopted in order to manage conflicts effectively. HSBC Global Asset Management (France) maintains a register of identified and potential circumstances that give rise to a conflict of interest. In addition, a Conflicts of Interest Committee has been established. The Committee may meet when potential or actual conflicts are identified and at a minimum on an annual basis to review such conflicts.

In the circumstances where the procedures and controls implemented by HSBC Global Asset Management (France) may not be sufficient to ensure that a potential conflict of interest does not damage a client's interests, the company may consider it appropriate to disclose the potential conflict to the client and obtain the client's formal consent to proceed.

Furthermore, HSBC Global Asset Management (France) may decline to act in any circumstance where there is residual risk of damage to the interests of any client.

As for the example provided above, please find below two processes in place to manage such a conflicts of interest:

- A control is performed by the internal Risk Management department on account invested in securities.
- A specific validation and monitoring process has been implemented in relation to external mandates/directorships.

Participation or Interest in Personal Trading –Client Recommendations (Item 11 C)

Policy regarding personal account trading

The policy implemented to address the conflicts that arise in connection with personal trading is outlined in the Code of Ethics. According to the Code of Ethics of HSBC Global Asset Management (France), the employees are not permitted to effect personal transactions based on inside information about an issuer or an issuer's plans or operations on their own account or on behalf of anyone that they have family ties or close ties with or where they have a significant interest in the result of the transaction.

In the context of their personal transactions, employees must refrain from:

- performing transactions that might lead to conflicts of interest with customers or the company;

- initiating transactions that might affect their reputation or the HSBC group's reputation or interests;
- performing transactions that they are not permitted to perform on their own account or on behalf of anyone that they have family ties or close ties with or where they have a significant interest in the result of the transaction, or arranging for such parties to perform such transactions;

Written approval must be documented prior to the purchase or sale of any private placement by any Access Person.

Certain employees have a specific ethical status in respect of personal transactions because of their duties within the company. This disqualification also applies to the direct line managers of such employees. Waiver applications may be made to the Local Compliance Officer in exceptional situations.

Highly sensitive staff must obtain authorisation from the Local Compliance Officer before dealing on a market and therefore transmitting an order for a financial instrument on their own account or on behalf of anyone that they have family ties or close ties with or where they have a significant interest in the result of the transaction. Once the employee has executed the personal account transaction, the Local Compliance Officer must be informed immediately.

BROKERAGE PRACTICES [Item 12]

Broker-Dealer Selection (Item 12 A)

HSBC Global Asset Management (France) has set up all reasonable steps to provide the best possible result (“Best Execution”), when HSBC Global Asset Management (France) transmits for execution with intermediaries, orders arising out of its fund managers’ decisions to trade financial instruments on their clients’ accounts.

This policy is directed at the following clients:

- Eligible counterparties
- Professional clients

All of the orders placed by HSBC Global Asset Management (France) are routed to the HSBC Global Asset Management Financial Services (“HFS”- a fully owned subsidiary of HSBC Global Asset Management (France)) trading desk.

The HFS trading desk is divided into two parts: Equities and Bonds. HFS has implemented strict processes for selecting and assessing its service providers and brokers by way of a dedicated procedure.

This procedure details, in particular, the process for selection and approval of brokers, formalizes and describes the follow-up steps and checks duly performed. The deals with the brokers are strictly carried out in the interest of the clients or the funds.

HSBC Global Asset Management (France) adopts and follows the HFS selection procedure in sending via HFS their orders to brokers for execution. HSBC Global Asset Management (France) establishes and implements a policy that, for each class of instruments, selects the intermediaries with which the orders are transmitted for execution via an internal selection procedure and an appropriate organisation.

Brokers are selected on the basis of the following criteria:

- First, the place of execution at which the intermediary selected performs its executions:
 - Regulated market
 - Multilateral trading facility
 - Systematic internaliser
 - Market maker
 - Other supplier of liquidity
 - Entity that performs similar tasks in a country that is not party to the European Economic Area agreement

- Second, the following criteria:
 - Price related to execution
 - Cost of transaction
 - Speed of execution and settlement
 - Likelihood of execution and settlement
 - Size of the order
 - Nature and difficulty of the order
 - Any other consideration relevant to the execution of the order (i.e. expertise in particular markets).

- And for the following financial instruments:
 - Shares, trackers and related securities
 - Fixed interest products
 - Listed derivatives
 - OTC derivatives.

As part of the process and procedure, HFS maintains an approved broker list. Broker approval is based upon a review of a broker's financial condition, credit worthiness, execution capabilities, and other factors believed to be relevant.

The direction of transactions to brokers may also be based on the quality and amount of the research and research related services that they provide to HFS and indirectly to clients (see. Item 12.A.1.)

Although it is not the current practice to do so, affiliated broker-dealers may be used to effect securities transactions on behalf of clients to the extent permitted by law.

HFS will monitor the effectiveness of its in-house selection policy and, in particular, the quality of execution of the intermediaries that are selected under that policy. HFS reserves the right to amend the policy as necessary.

HFS will review its policy at least annually. Where a material change has occurred in the policy, the company will review the policy to continue to deliver the best possible results for its clients and funds that it manages.

Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits (Item 12 A.1)

In accordance with French regulation, HSBC Global Asset Management (France) cannot participate in or apply any soft dollar arrangements.

Nonetheless, HFS does enter into Commission Sharing Agreements (CSAs) with a number of counterparties on behalf of certain funds (excluding amongst the funds domiciled in the United States), in accordance with the guidance and regulation issued respectively by the French Asset Management Association ('AFG') and French Financial Monetary Authority ('AMF').

As per the Provisions in the Code of Ethics for Collective Investment Schemes and Individual Investment Management Mandates issued by the AFG, fund managers "may use investment decision and execution support services provided by intermediaries [...] provided that such services concern financial analysis only and are intended to help the manager make and execute its investment decisions.

The use of such services must never lead the manager to deviate from its obligation to act in the investors' best interest, particularly with regard to the selection of intermediaries and the best execution obligation. Such services exclude goods and services corresponding to resources that managers are required to have under the terms of the regulations in force".

HFS may obtain through CSAs-research and advisory services with financial analysis, economic and political analysis, portfolio analysis including valuation and performance measurement, market analysis, data and quotation services.

Brokerage for Client Referrals (Item 12 A.2)

Not applicable to HSBC Global Asset Management (France)

Directed Brokerage (Item 12.A.3)

When the orders are executed, HFS takes all reasonable steps to obtain the best possible type of execution for its clients in terms of price, cost, speed, likelihood of performance and settlement, size, nature of the order, or any other considerations concerning execution of the order. Nevertheless, whenever the clients have given specific instructions to use a specific broker, HFS carries out the order on that basis. HSBC Global Asset Management (France) will under such circumstances not be able to guarantee the application of its selection policy.

In terms of brokerage allocation, procedures have been adopted in order to reasonably ensure that transactions in the same security are fair and equitable to all client types with no group being favoured or disfavoured over any other group.

Aggregation of Trades (Item 12.B)

HSBC Global Asset Management (France) may follow the practice of grouping orders of various clients for execution in order to get the benefit of lower commission rates. In certain cases, where the aggregate order may be executed in a series of transactions at various prices, each participating client's proportionate share of such order will reflect the average price paid or received with respect to the total order.

When HSBC Global Asset Management (France) or its related persons determine that it would be appropriate for one or more of its clients to participate in an investment opportunity, HFS seeks to execute orders for all of the participating clients on an equitable basis.

Similarly, if an order on behalf of more than one client cannot be fully executed under prevailing market conditions, HSBC Global Asset Management (France) generally will allocate the securities traded among the different clients pro rata based on each such Fund's capital available for investment or, if for any reason this would not result in a position size that is economically reasonable, by any other basis which it considers equitable. In these circumstances, each client would pay, in connection with the acquisition of securities by more than one client, the average price per unit acquired, which may be higher or lower than if it had acted alone, and it may otherwise not be able to execute an investment decision as effectively as it could have if it had acted alone.

Instances also may arise where HSBC Global Asset Management (France) determines an investment opportunity to be suitable for more than one client, but the market is too illiquid to enable each client to participate to the extent advisable. In the above situations, or in other situations in which conflicts arise, HFS will endeavor to allocate investment opportunities fairly.
