ITEM 4 ADVISORY BUSINESS

A. General Description of Advisory Firm

Polaris Greystone Financial Group, LLC (the “Adviser” or “Polaris Greystone” or “we”), a limited liability company formed under the laws of the State of Delaware, was formed on June 9, 2011 as Polaris Wealth Advisers, LLC. The Adviser’s principal place of business is in San Rafael, California. The Adviser is currently principally-owned by Polaris Equity Management, Inc., whose sole shareholder is Jeffrey J. Powell, and Moss Equity Management, LLC, whose sole member is Todd R. Moss. Todd R. Moss is the sole owner of Greystone Financial Group, Inc., (“Greystone Financial”) a federally registered investment adviser.

B. Description of Advisory Services (including any specializations)

The Adviser provides wealth management services to its clients. Our offering includes and integrates investment management (both discretionary and non-discretionary) and financial planning.

Financial Planning

We offer general financial planning and consultative services as an integral part of our management services described below. Financial planning will typically involve developing a plan to use a variety of advisory services to manage the client’s financial resources based upon an analysis of such client individual needs. Financial planning can simplify the client’s situation and help determine financial alternatives by: (1) defining and narrowing such client’s objectives and investment options; (2) identifying the areas of greatest concern; (3) creating a unique picture of such client’s overall financial situation, and (4) by providing an effective way for us to address such client’s unique financial needs and objectives.

We utilize in-depth personal meetings with clients, and their professional advisors if required, to determine the client’s investment goals and objectives. These services are rendered in accordance with personal circumstances as determined in these meetings, and will generally include the client’s current financial situation, age, family position, level of investment experience, risk tolerance, earning capacity, tax situation and goals and objectives.

Our financial planning and consulting services include, but are not limited, to:

- General Financial Planning
- Educational Fund Planning
- Retirement Planning
- Estate Planning
- Corporate Retirement Planning
- Investment Planning
- Individual Tax Planning
- Risk Management
- Business Planning
- Business Succession Planning

We may also use financial planning software that incorporates actual historical data for specific asset classification to determine a historical, statistical analysis of your current portfolio. A client questionnaire is utilized to gather information prior to any recommendation of management services. Once we review and analyze the information you provide to us, we may deliver a written plan to the client, designed to help the client achieve his or her stated financial goals and objectives.

Financial plans are based on the client financial situation at the time we present the plan to the client, and on the financial information the client provide to us. The client must promptly notify us if his or her financial situation, goals, objectives, or needs change. The client is under no obligation to act on our financial planning recommendations.

As part of our financial planning/consulting services, we may introduce the client to, or utilize, various third party service providers. Complete and full disclosure of any relationship between Polaris Greystone and third parties, including any shared fee arrangement, will be provided to the client when recommending a third party.

Management Services

We offer specific recommendations regarding investing in Polaris Greystone's strategies as well as general recommendations in such areas as clients' overall investment mix, retirement planning, estate planning, education planning, and insurance planning. Polaris Greystone does not provide tax or legal advice or services.

Our investment management services are based upon our clients' stated objectives and risk tolerance. Clients are matched to a particular Polaris Greystone strategy. These include diversified exchange-traded fund ("ETF") strategies and stock strategies.

In addition to the strategies we manage, Polaris Greystone may provide investment management services by allocating and reallocating assets in 529 plans, 401(k) plans, and variable annuity investments, or may provide guidance regarding such allocations, consistent with the portfolio allocation chosen by the client. The investment choices available may be limited by the specific offerings of each plan or product.

We also offer discretionary investment management services including investment strategies utilizing various third party service providers to facilitate different strategies.

Ameritrade ASA Accounts

We recommend an internet asset allocation service through a subadviser, Amerivest Investment Management, LLC, an investment adviser registered with the SEC ("Amerivest"), and an affiliate of TD Ameritrade, Inc. ("TD Ameritrade"). Amerivest provides us a tool in making investment decisions for our clients that have established Ameritrade ASA Accounts ("ASA Accounts"). The service provides asset allocation recommendations, generally in the form of ETFs that are based upon the application of Amerivest's computer-based models to specific categories of information that we provide to Amerivest regarding our client. This information may not include all of the client's individual financial circumstances that we consider when making investment decisions for the client and the service recommendations may not be consistent with the client's financial situation or goals, including those which may have been provided to TD Ameritrade. Polaris Greystone makes the final investment decisions and suitability determinations with respect to investments for the client's accounts and neither Amerivest nor TD Ameritrade assumes any responsibility for our investment decisions or the suitability of the investments for our clients.

Investment Management as a 3(38) Fiduciary Manager for Qualified Plans

We provide, on a discretionary basis, investment management services to qualified retirement plans which are subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (“ERISA”). As part of our services to qualified plans, we will act as a fiduciary of the plan under Section 3(21)(A)(ii) and as an investment manager under Section 3(38) of ERISA. As a 3(38) investment manager, the client gives us discretionary authority to manage the plan’s assets. This means the client shifts his or her fiduciary responsibility to us for the selection of the plan’s investments.

For all qualified plan clients, we will review the plan’s investment objectives, risk tolerance and goals with the fiduciary to develop an appropriate investment policy statement (“IPS”) or we will review and amend the plan’s existing IPS. The IPS will be based upon modern portfolio theory and will incorporate considerations such as employee and participant demographics, nature of asset class categories, any limits or investment return objectives for the asset class categories set forth in the IPS including the designated investment alternatives. The client’s IPS may place restrictions on the types of investments the plan may invest assets in. Under our investment management agreement, we will have limited discretionary authority to manage the plan’s assets in accordance with the IPS. We will select, monitor, remove, and replace the plan’s designated investment alternatives, including a qualified default investment alternative as defined in ERISA 404(c)(5) and DOL Regulation 2550.404c5 (the “Designated Investment Alternatives”) consistent with the IPS. The designated investment alternatives will comprise the plan’s core investment menu. As a 3(38) investment manager, we will retain full discretionary authority to make changes to the designated investment alternatives without prior consultation with the client. We continually monitor the performance of all investment options.

If elected by the plan fiduciary, we may offer investment advice (“Advice Services”) to plan participants as an additional service under our agreement, subject to the terms and conditions set for in the Participant Advice Supplement. Advice Services will be available to plan participants in two ways: (a) by telephone service and (b) in person. Our representatives will gather information concerning plan participant’s time horizon, risk tolerance, and investment goals. Our representatives will review the information provided and invest, on a discretionary basis, the participant’s account in accordance with his or her objectives. Advice Services are provided only to those participants who elect to meet with our representatives and accept our services.

From time to time, Polaris Greystone may enter into sub-advisory agreements with other registered investment advisers. Such sub-advisory agreements will normally be established so that Polaris Greystone can provide investment management services to another adviser’s clients. Under these arrangements, Polaris Greystone will act as the sub-adviser. Polaris Greystone will offer the same selection of investment strategies to advisers as is offered to its own clients. The adviser will determine the suitability of Polaris Greystone’s strategies for its clients. Polaris Greystone will have full discretion to manage the adviser’s clients’ accounts. When such sub-advisory agreements are made, the sub-advisory arrangement will be disclosed by the adviser to its clients by delivery of the Form ADV Part 2A for the adviser and for Polaris Greystone.

C. Availability of Tailored Services for Individual Clients

The Adviser will provide advice to client accounts based on each client’s specific wealth management and financial planning goals, investment objectives, and strategies. The Adviser will also tailor its advisory services by adhering to the investment restrictions imposed by clients.

The Adviser’s authority may be subject to conditions imposed by the client, examples of which may include where: 1) the client restricts or prohibits transactions in securities of a specific industry, and/or

2) the client directs that transactions be effected through specific brokers and dealers. The latter restriction may be conditioned by the client on the broker or dealer being competitive as to price and execution for each transaction, or offering a specified level of commission discount or may be subject to varying degrees of restrictions such as an instruction to utilize the broker or dealer: a) whether or not competitive, and b) where the specified levels of commission discounts are less favorable than might otherwise be obtained by the Adviser.

D. Wrap Fee Programs

Previously, we offered discretionary management services through a wrap fee program where clients were charged one all-inclusive fee for such services. We no longer offer this program to new clients.

E. Client Assets under Management

As of October 31, 2016 the Adviser had approximately $1,003,727,000 in assets under management. As of that date, the Adviser managed approximately $972,519,700 on a discretionary basis and approximately $31,207,300 on a non-discretionary basis.

ITEM 5 FEES AND COMPENSATION

A. Advisory Fees and Compensation

The Adviser will charge each client an investment management fee (the “Management Fee”) based on the value of the client’s assets under management, generally in accordance with one of the following schedules.

Account Value (Retail)	Annual Management Fee Rate
The first $500,000	1.500%
The next $500,000	1.250%
The next $4,000,000	1.000%
The next $5,000,000	0.900%
The next $10,000,000	0.800%
Amounts over $20,000,000	0.700%

Account Value (Institutional)	Annual Management Fee Rate
$0 to $499,999	1.250%
$500,000 to $999,999	1.150%
$1,000,000 to $2,499,999	1.000%
$2,500,000 to $4,999,999	0.900%
$5,000,000 to $9,999,999	0.800%
$10,000,000 or greater	0.700%

The above fee schedules will apply to both discretionary and non-discretionary advisory accounts. Certain clients of Greystone Financial Group, Inc. that assigned their investment management agreements from Greystone Financial Group, Inc. to Polaris Greystone may have the below fee schedule for annuity accounts:

ANNUITY MANAGEMENT FEES
Value of Account	Annualized Rate
First $2,000,000	1.25%
Over $2,000,000	1.00%

In addition, some clients may have different fees for services that are no longer offered.

The Adviser will generally require a minimum of $500,000 of assets under management for a separately managed account but may waive this minimum in its sole and absolute discretion.

For existing accounts, Management Fees will be charged each quarter in advance based on the total market value of the assets in the client account (including net unrealized appreciation or depreciation of investments and cash, cash equivalents and accrued interest) on the last day of the previous quarter. If a new client account is established during a quarter or a client makes an addition to its account during a quarter, the Management Fee will be charged as of the effective date of the investment management agreement or the date of the additional contribution based on the value of the assets as of the applicable date and will be prorated for the number of days remaining in the quarter. Management Fees may be negotiable in the sole and absolute discretion of the Adviser.

Polaris Greystone also offers sub-advisory services to other registered investment advisers. In return for its sub-advisory services, Polaris Greystone will receive a portion of the advisory fees paid to the adviser. The fee schedules may vary by adviser. Polaris Greystone will maintain executed agreements for these arrangements on file.

B. Payment of Fees

The Adviser will deduct the Management Fee quarterly from client accounts by instructing the client's custodian.

C. Other Fees and Expenses

In addition to paying Management Fees, client accounts will also be subject to other investment expenses such as custodial charges, brokerage fees, commissions and related costs; interest expenses; taxes, duties and other governmental charges; transfer and registration fees or similar expenses; costs associated with foreign exchange transactions; other portfolio expenses; and costs, expenses and fees (including, investment advisory and other fees charged by investment advisers with, or funds in, which the client's account invests) associated with products or services that may be necessary or incidental to such investments or accounts. Client assets may be invested in mutual funds, ETFs, or other registered investment companies. In these cases, the client will bear its pro rata share of the investment management fee and other fees of the fund, which are in addition to the investment Management Fee paid to the Adviser.

All fees paid to the Adviser for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and ETFs to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each mutual fund's and ETF's prospectus and may include a management fee, distribution fee (i.e., Rule 12b-1 fee), sales charge and other fund expenses. A client could invest in a mutual fund or an ETF directly, without the services of the Adviser. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by the Adviser which are intended, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund(s) or ETF(s) are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, each client should review both the fees charged by the mutual funds and the ETFs and the fees charged by the Adviser to fully understand the total amount of fees paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

The Adviser generally limits its utilization of mutual funds in its investment strategies. To the extent a client's assets are invested in a mutual fund, however, the Adviser would not receive any 12b-1 fees from that mutual fund. Clients should also understand that while the Adviser does not receive 12b-1 fees, a 12b-1 fee may still be paid to a mutual fund distributor. These 12b-1 fees could increase overall expenses to the client.

Please refer to Item 12 in this brochure for a discussion of Polaris Greystone's brokerage practices, including factors that we consider when selecting brokers and dealers for client transactions.

D. Prepayment of Fees

Clients will be required to pay Management Fees to the Adviser quarterly in advance. Upon the termination of a client account during a calendar quarter, the Management Fee will be prorated for the days remaining in that calendar quarter and any prepaid, unearned fees will be refunded to the relevant client.

The Client Agreement may be terminated by the Adviser or the client at any time, for any reason, upon written notice. Termination will be effective upon receipt of notice, although transactions in process will be completed in the normal course of business.

E. Additional Compensation

The Adviser does not accept compensation for the sale of securities or other investment products, including asset-based sales charges or service fees from the sales of mutual funds.

ITEM 6 PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

The Adviser currently does not charge performance-based fees (i.e., fees based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

ITEM 7 TYPES OF CLIENTS

The Adviser's clients will consist of individuals and institutions with separately managed accounts. The Adviser will generally require a minimum of $500,000 of assets under management for a separately managed account but may waive this minimum in its sole and absolute discretion. If the account size falls below the minimum requirement due to market fluctuations only, a client will not be required to invest additional funds with the Adviser to meet the minimum account size.

ITEM 8 METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

A. Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Polaris Greystone employs a top-down, quantitatively-driven investment selection process that focuses on the following methods to evaluate the overall financial market, market sectors and various types of securities:

Technical Analysis. This can be used to identify nonrandom price patterns and trends in financial markets. We will use moving averages, support and resistance lines, stochastic statistics, relative strength, and other factors to better understand the momentum (positive or negative) of a particular market, segment of a market (sector or industry), or of a specific stock.

Macro-Economic Analysis. This can be used to understand how the overall economy affects the capital markets. We will assess whether the economy is in a period of growth or recession; how the economy is affecting consumer behavior; and indicators that the economy is changing directions.

Sentiment Evaluations. This can be used to understand the basic investor psychology. Typically, we find that it is best to follow investor sentiment until it reaches an extreme and reverses, at which point we would typically take a contrary position. When the bullish sentiment reading has risen to high levels, it has frequently coincided with an intermediate-term peak in stock prices. Conversely, when most investors have been bearish, stock prices have been typically near a bottom.

Asset Allocation Analysis. Our equity strategy focuses on a broad range of equity investment styles, including growth, core, and value, as well as portfolios designed to be "style-neutral". We assess what areas of the market are in favor and adjust our allocations accordingly.

Fundamental Research. Also known as basic or pure research, this analysis is conducted to understand the health or valuations of the individual companies within our investment universe. We rate the companies based on a combination of their attributes.

Polaris Greystone conducts its own research and receives research from third parties.

All investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal, and clients should be prepared to bear that loss.

B. Material Risks (Including Significant, or Unusual Risks) Relating to Investment Strategies

Issuer-Specific Changes. Changes in the financial condition of an issuer or counterparty, changes in specific economic or political conditions that affect a particular type of security or issuer, and changes in general economic or political conditions can increase the risk of default by an issuer or counterparty, which can affect a security's or instrument's value. The value of securities of smaller, less well-known issuers can be more volatile than that of larger issuers. Smaller issuers can have more limited product lines, markets, or financial resources.

Relative Value Risk. In the event that the perceived mispricing's underlying the Adviser's relative value trading positions were to fail to converge toward, or were to diverge further from, relationships expected by the Adviser, client accounts may incur a loss.

Frequent Trading. The Adviser's strategy may involve frequent trading which will result in significantly higher commissions and charges to client accounts due to increased brokerage, which will offset client profits.

C. Risks Associated with Types of Securities that are Primarily Recommended

Equity Securities. The value of equity securities fluctuates in response to issuer, political, market, and economic developments. Fluctuations can be dramatic over the short as well as long term, and different parts of the market and different types of equity securities can react differently to these developments. For example, large cap stocks can react differently from small cap stocks, and "growth" stocks can react differently from "value" stocks. Issuer, political, or economic developments can affect a single issuer, issuers within an industry or economic sector or geographic region, or the market as a whole. Changes in the financial condition of a single issuer can impact the market as a whole. Terrorism and related geopolitical risks have led, and may in the future lead, to increased short-term market volatility and may have adverse long-term effects on world economies and markets generally.

Fixed-Income and Debt Securities. Investment in fixed-income and debt securities such as bonds, notes and asset-backed securities, subject a client's portfolios to the risk that the value of these securities overall will decline because of rising interest rates. Similarly, portfolios that hold such securities are subject to the risk that the portfolio's income will decline because of falling interest rates. Investments in these types of securities will also be subject to the credit risk created when a debt issuer fails to pay interest and principal in a timely manner, or that negative perceptions of the issuer's ability to make such payments will cause the price of that debt to decline. Lastly, investments in debt securities will also subject the investments to the risk that the securities may fluctuate more in price, and are less liquid than higher-rated securities because issuers of such lower-rated debt securities are not as strong financially, and are more likely to encounter financial difficulties and be more vulnerable to adverse changes in the economy.

Exchange Traded Funds. Because ETFs are, by definition, portfolios of securities, the Adviser believes that the unsystematic risk associated with investments in ETFs is generally very low relative to investments in ordinary securities of individual issuers. However, there are events that can trigger sharp and sometimes adverse price movements in ETFs that are not related to movements of the market in general. Not limited to, but among these, are surprise dividends, changes to regular dividend amounts, announcements of rights offerings and possible surprise revisions to net asset values of the ETF. The Adviser may invest in small and/or unseasoned ETFs with small market capitalization. While smaller ETFs generally have potential for rapid growth, they often involve higher risks because they may lack the management experience, financial resources, product diversification, and competitive strength of larger ETFs. In addition, in many instances, the frequency and volume of their trading may be substantially less than is typical of larger ETFs. As a result, the securities of smaller ETFs may be subject to wider price fluctuations.

Mutual Funds & Variable Insurance Products. To the extent permitted, we may invest client assets in securities of investment companies (mutual funds) and variable insurance products. These investments may be made as an efficient means of implementing a client's investment strategies and/or managing uninvested cash. These other mutual funds and variable insurance products are managed independently of a client's account and incur additional fees and/or expenses which would, therefore, be borne directly by the client's account in connection with any such investment. These investments are subject to the same risks as the underlying investment company or variable insurance product.

ITEM 9 DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

Not applicable.

ITEM 10 OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS

A. Broker-Dealer Registration Status

Not applicable.

B. Commodities-Related Registration Status

Not applicable.

C. Material Relationship or Arrangements with Industry Participants

In October 2015, Polaris Wealth Advisers, LLC combined with Greystone Financial Group, Inc., and began operating as Polaris Greystone Financial Group, LLC. As part of Polaris Greystone's combination with Greystone Financial, Greystone Financial transferred its 50% ownership in Greystone Retirement Group, LLC to Polaris Greystone, making Greystone Retirement Group a related person of Polaris Greystone. Thereafter, Greystone Retirement Group began operating as Polaris Greystone Advisory Group, LLC. Polaris Greystone Advisory Group is a joint venture between Polaris Greystone and South Padre Ventures 2 LLC, with each firm owning 50%. It was formed to provide investment advisory services to trustees of qualified retirement plans and the plan's participants. Polaris Greystone Advisory Group is a federally registered investment adviser.

Greystone Investment Group, LLC, a related person under common control and ownership with Polaris Greystone, is the Manager of Greystone Capital II, LLC. Greystone Capital II, LLC is a private pooled investment vehicle which makes private equity investments. Greystone Investment Group, LLC receives compensation for acting as Manager of Greystone Capital II, LLC and such compensation is separate and apart from the fees charged by us for investment management services.

D. Material Relationships or Arrangements with Industry Participants and Material Conflicts of Interest Relating to Other Investment Advisers

As noted in Item 4 above, Polaris Greystone is currently principally-owned by Polaris Equity Management, Inc., whose sole shareholder is Jeffrey J. Powell, and Moss Equity Management, LLC, whose sole member is Todd R. Moss, who is currently also the sole member of Greystone Financial, a federally registered investment adviser.

As noted in Item 10 above, Polaris Greystone owns 50% of Polaris Greystone Advisory Group, a federally registered investment adviser.

ITEM 11 CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

A. Code of Ethics

The Adviser has adopted a Code of Ethics (the “Code”) that obligates the Adviser and its related persons to put the interests of the Adviser’s clients before their own interests and to act honestly and fairly in all respects in their dealings with clients. All of the Adviser’s personnel will be required to comply with applicable federal securities laws. Clients or prospective clients may obtain a copy of the Code by contacting Angela Crescenzo (Chief Compliance Officer) by telephone at (415) 263-5600 or by email at acrescenzo@polarisgreystone.com. See below for further provisions of the Code as they relate to the pre-clearing and reporting of securities transactions by related persons.

The Adviser, in the course of its investment management and other activities (e.g., board or creditor committee service), may come into possession of confidential or material nonpublic information about issuers, including issuers in which the Adviser or its related persons have invested or seek to invest on behalf of clients. The Adviser is prohibited from improperly disclosing or using such information for its own benefit or for the benefit of any other person, regardless of whether such other person is a client. The Adviser maintains and will enforce written policies and procedures that prohibit the communication of such information to persons who do not have a legitimate need to know such information and to assure that the Adviser is meeting its obligations to clients and remains in compliance with applicable law. In certain circumstances, the Adviser may possess certain confidential or material, nonpublic information that, if disclosed, might be material to a decision to buy, sell or hold a security, but the Adviser will be prohibited from communicating such information to the client or using such information for the client’s benefit. In such circumstances, the Adviser will have no responsibility or liability to the client for not disclosing such information to the client (or the fact that the Adviser possesses such information), or not using such information for the client’s benefit, as a result of following the Adviser’s policies and procedures designed to provide reasonable assurances that it is complying with applicable law.

B. Client Transactions in Securities where Adviser has a Material Financial Interest

Not applicable.

C. Investing in Securities Recommended to Clients

The Adviser and/or its Employees (as defined below) and/or Employee relatives may invest in the same securities that we recommend to clients. This could be viewed as presenting a potential conflict of interest.

The Adviser recognizes that the personal investment transactions of members and employees of the Adviser demand the application of a high code of ethics and require that all such transactions be carried out in a way that does not endanger the interest of any client. At the same time, the Adviser believes that if investment goals are similar for clients and for members and employees of the Adviser, it is logical that there be a common ownership of some securities. However, it is the express policy of the Adviser that no Employee may purchase or sell any security prior to a transaction being implemented for a client account, thereby preventing such Employee from benefiting from transactions placed on behalf of the Adviser's advisory clients. In order to address conflicts of interest, the Adviser has adopted a set of procedures with respect to transactions effected by its officers and employees (hereafter, "Employees") for their "personal accounts."

In order to monitor compliance with its personal trading policy, the Adviser has implemented a quarterly securities transaction reporting system for all of its Employees. (For purposes of the policy, an Employee's "personal account" generally includes any account (a) in the name of the Employee, his/her spouse, his/her minor children or other dependents residing in the same household, (b) for which the Employee is a trustee or executor, or (c) which the Employee controls, including the Adviser's client accounts which the Employee controls and in which the Employee or a member of his/her household has a direct or indirect beneficial interest.) The procedures adopted by the Adviser include the following, among other things:

1. Employees may not buy or sell securities for their personal portfolio(s) where his or her decision is substantially derived, in whole or in part, by reason of his or her employment at the Adviser, unless the information is also available to the investing public on reasonable inquiry. No Employee shall prefer his or her own interest to that of clients.
2. The Adviser will generally be granted discretionary authority over clients' accounts. However, the Adviser recognizes that each client has the ability to limit, in writing, the Adviser's discretionary authority over the client's account and, in that situation, may decline to accept any advice given by the Adviser.
3. The Adviser requires that all Employees must act in accordance with all applicable federal and state regulations governing registered investment advisory practices.
4. Any individual not in observance of any of the above may be subject to termination.

From time to time, trading by the Adviser and its Employees (and certain of their relatives) in particular securities may be restricted in recognition of impending investment decisions on behalf of clients. If transaction orders for a client and the Adviser (and/or its Employees and certain of their relatives) are not aggregated, the transaction orders for the Adviser (and/or its Employees and relatives) will be the last orders filled.

D. Conflicts of Interest Created by Contemporaneous Trading

See Item 11.C above.

ITEM 12 BROKERAGE PRACTICES

A. Factors Considered in Selecting or Recommending Broker-Dealers for Client Transactions

The Adviser will generally seek “best execution” in light of the circumstances involved in a particular transaction. The Adviser considers a number of factors in selecting a broker-dealer to execute transactions (or series of transactions) and determining the reasonableness of the broker-dealer’s compensation. Such factors include net price, reputation, financial strength and stability, efficiency of execution and error resolution, and offering to the Adviser on-line access to computerized data regarding a client’s accounts. In selecting a broker-dealer to execute transactions (or series of transactions) and determining the reasonableness of the broker-dealer’s compensation, the Adviser need not solicit competitive bids and does not have an obligation to seek the lowest available commission cost. It is not the Adviser’s practice to negotiate “execution only” commission rates, thus a client may be deemed to be paying for research, brokerage or other services provided by a broker-dealer which are included in the commission rate.

The Adviser currently has arrangements with TD Ameritrade Institutional and Schwab Institutional whereby the Adviser would suggest to its clients that either TD Ameritrade Institutional or Schwab Institutional serves as the custodian to their accounts. TD Ameritrade Institutional is a division of TD Ameritrade, Inc., member FINRA/SIPC/NFA. TD Ameritrade is an independent SEC-registered broker-dealer. Schwab Institutional is a division of Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., member SIPC (“Schwab”). Schwab is an independent SEC-registered broker-dealer and investment adviser. The Adviser is separate and unaffiliated with either TD Ameritrade or Schwab and therefore is independently owned and operated. The duty of best execution is not eliminated by the foregoing arrangements the Adviser currently has with TD Ameritrade and Schwab.

In selecting TD Ameritrade as the broker and custodian for certain of our current and future client accounts, we also consider our agreement with TD Ameritrade’s affiliate, Amerivest, dated October 22, 2015 (the “Agreement”). TD Ameritrade will not charge commissions on transactions in ETFs in our clients’ ASA Accounts, including transactions to liquidate positions transferred into such accounts. For reasons described in Item 14 below, the Adviser’s various dealings with TD Ameritrade may give rise to potential conflicts between itself and its clients when recommending that such clients use TD Ameritrade as the custodian to their accounts.

As described in Item 4.B above, we offer portfolio management services utilizing Amerivest, an internet asset allocation service, as a sub-adviser. We pay Amerivest an annual sub-advisory fee, payable quarterly, for this service. The fee is based on the amount of our client assets that we place or commit to place in the service, net of withdrawals. Client assets that are “plan assets” (subject to Title I of ERISA or of a plan as defined in Section 4975 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended) will be excluded from the determination of the level of client assets in the service for the purpose of the fee computation.

The basic fee we pay for the Amerivest service is 30 basis points per year for each client account. There is a $25,000 minimum asset requirement per client account. The basic fees are reduced when we place or commit to place more client assets in the service. The basic fee is reduced for all client accounts when we place or commit to place $1 million or more of our client assets in the service and is reduced further when we place or commit to place $5 million or more of our client assets in the service. If we place or commit to place $1 million to $4,999,999.99 of our client assets in the service, we will have the annual fee reduced to 25 basis points. If we commit to place such amount, but in fact do not within ninety (90) days, we will be charged at the basic rate. Similarly, if we place or commit to place $5 million or more of client assets in the service, we will have the annual fee reduced to 20 basis points. If we commit to place such amount, but in fact do not within ninety (90) days, we will be charged at the rate applicable to $1 million or more if that level is reached or, if not, at the basic rate. The actual amount we pay will be based on the market value of client assets in the service on the last day of each calendar quarter multiplied by one fourth of the applicable fees.

We determine the amount of the investment management fees we charge to our clients. We may include the amount of fees we pay to Amerivest for the service in the fees we charge and may or may not pass on to clients any fee reduction we receive in connection with the service. Although we currently believe that the TD Ameritrade custody and brokerage services and the Amerivest sub-advisory service are competitive in the marketplace for similar services offered by other broker-dealers, custodians, and advisers, the agreement with Amerivest and its fee structure may affect our independent judgment in selecting or maintaining TD Ameritrade as the broker or custodian for our client accounts and Amerivest as a sub-adviser.

1. Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits

The Adviser has no formal soft dollar arrangements and does not use soft dollars to acquire any research services. The Adviser participates in the TD Ameritrade Institutional and Schwab Advisor Services programs for investment advisors. Both TD Ameritrade and Schwab offer services to independently registered investment advisers which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions. Please see the disclosure under Item 14 below for additional information regarding TD Ameritrade.

2. Brokerage for Client Referrals

In selecting or recommending broker-dealers, the Adviser may consider whether the Adviser or a related person receives client referrals from a broker-dealer or third party. The Adviser may have an incentive to select or recommend a broker-dealer based on its interests to receive client referrals rather than on the client's interests to receive most favorable execution. To address this conflict of interest, the Adviser will seek to execute client trades through broker-dealers that refer clients to the Adviser where the Adviser believes that client trades with such broker-dealers are otherwise consistent with seeking best execution. See Item 14.B below for a discussion of the Adviser's client referral arrangement with TD Ameritrade.

3. Directed Brokerage

A client may instruct the Adviser to execute any or all securities transactions for their account with or through one or more brokers designated by the client.

When a client directs the Adviser to use a specified broker-dealer to execute all or a portion of the client's securities transactions, the Adviser treats the client direction as a decision by the client to retain, to the extent of the direction, the discretion the Adviser would otherwise have in selecting broker-dealers to effect transactions and in negotiating commissions for the client's account. Although the Adviser attempts to effect such transactions in a manner consistent with its policy of seeking best execution, there may be occasions where it is unable to do so, in which case the Adviser will continue to comply with the client's instructions. Transactions in the same security for accounts that have directed the use of the same broker will be aggregated. When the directed broker-dealer is unable to execute a trade, the Adviser will select broker-dealers other than the directed broker-dealer to effect client securities transactions. A client who directs the Adviser to use a particular broker-dealer to effect transactions should consider whether such direction may result in certain costs or disadvantages to the client. Such costs may include higher brokerage commissions (because the Adviser may not be able to aggregate orders to reduce transaction costs), less favorable execution of transactions, and the potential of exclusion from the client's portfolio of certain foreign ordinary shares and/or small capitalization or illiquid securities due to the inability of the particular broker-dealer in question to provide adequate price and execution of all types of securities transactions. By permitting a client to direct the Adviser to execute the client's trades through a specified broker-dealer, the Adviser will make no attempt to negotiate commissions on behalf of the client and, as a result, in some transactions such clients may pay materially disparate commissions depending on their commission arrangement with the specified broker-dealer and upon other factors such as number of shares, round and odd lots and the market for the security. The commissions charged to clients that direct the Adviser to execute the client's trades through a specified broker-dealer may in some transactions be materially different than those of clients who do not direct the execution of their trades. Clients that direct the Adviser to execute trades through a specified broker-dealer may also lose the ability to negotiate volume commission discounts on batched transactions that may otherwise be available to other clients of the Adviser, and this may cost such clients more money. Not all advisers require clients to direct the adviser to execute client trades with a specific broker-dealer.

If the Adviser believes, in its exclusive discretion, that it cannot satisfy its fiduciary duty of best execution by executing a transaction for a client account with a broker designated by the client, the Adviser may execute that transaction with a different broker-dealer. Any client providing instructions to the Adviser regarding direction of brokerage transactions must notify the Adviser in writing if the client desires the Adviser to cease executing transactions with or through any such broker-dealer.

B. Trade Allocation and Order Aggregation

1. Trade Allocation

In general, all accounts that participate in a block transaction will participate on a pro rata or other objective basis, as described below. Adjustments in the number of securities acquired for or sold by a particular account may be made in order to meet certain requirements or (e.g., to maintain round lots, to fill to specific percentages, or to avoid crossing certain ownership thresholds). The standard initial allocation methodologies are as follows:

- Pro rata allocation will generally consist of a weighted allocation based on account size whereby each account will receive a portion of the order based on the account's current market value (measured on all assets under the Adviser's management) relative to other accounts participating in the transaction. If no other allocation method is selected, allocation will be effected on a pro rata basis.
- Percentage allocation formulas can be used in place of a pro rata allocation. In a percentage allocation, each client receives or achieves a specifically sized position – e.g., buying or selling to result in a 1% position (or a 5% industry or sector position) based on the current market value of the client's account or that portion of the account under the particular model.
- Other objective allocation methodologies are permissible provided they are employed with general consistency and operate fairly (e.g., doubling up on the size of positions taken for certain accounts).
- Standard allocation methods may be modified when common sense dictates that strict adherence to the usual allocation is impractical or leads to inefficient or undesirable results.

2. Order Aggregation

The Adviser will frequently purchase or sell the same security for many clients contemporaneously (or near the same time) and using the same executing broker. It will be the Adviser's practice, where possible, to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of the same security submitted contemporaneously (or near the same time) for execution using the same executing broker. The Adviser will also aggregate in the same transaction, the same securities for accounts where the Adviser has brokerage discretion. Such aggregation may enable the Adviser to obtain for clients a more favorable price or a better commission rate based upon the volume of a particular transaction. However, in cases where the client has negotiated the commission rate directly with the broker, the Adviser will not be able to obtain more favorable commission rates based on an aggregated trade. In such cases, the client will be precluded from receiving the benefit of any possible commission discounts that might otherwise be available as a result of the aggregated trade.

As discussed in Item 12.A above, Polaris Greystone may have the client's custodian execute most trades for the client's account(s). This execution process may not allow for trade aggregation, and clients may receive different pricing for the same security trading on the same day. In addition, in cases where trading or investment restrictions are placed on a client's account, the Adviser may be precluded from aggregating that client's transaction with others. In such a case, the client may pay a higher commission rate and/or receive less favorable prices than clients who are able to participate in an aggregated order.

When an aggregated order is completely filled, the Adviser allocates the securities purchased or proceeds of sale pro rata among the participating accounts, based on the purchase or sale order. Adjustments or changes may be made under certain circumstances, such as to avoid odd lots or excessively small allocations. If the order at a particular broker is filled at several different prices, through multiple trades, generally all such participating accounts will receive the average price and pay the average commission, subject to odd lots, rounding, and market practice. If an aggregated order is only partially filled, the Adviser's procedures provide that the securities or proceeds are to be allocated in a manner deemed fair and equitable to clients. Depending on the investment strategy pursued and the type of security, this may result in a pro rata allocation to all participating clients. The Adviser and its related persons may also participate in an aggregate order.

Trade Error Policy

If it appears that a trade error has occurred, the Adviser will review the relevant facts and circumstances to determine an appropriate course of action. To the extent that trade errors and breaches of investment guidelines and restrictions occur, the Adviser's error correction procedure is to ensure that clients are treated fairly and, following error correction, are in the same position they would have been if the error had not occurred and in such a manner that the client incurs no loss. The Adviser will have discretion to resolve a particular error in any appropriate manner that is consistent with the above stated policy. A trade error will not benefit the Adviser in any way.

The gains and losses are reconciled according to the policy of the applicable account custodian. If a trade error results in a loss, the Adviser will reimburse the client, unless the executing broker's policy is to absorb de minimus losses (e.g., under $100). If a trade error results in a gain, the client will retain the gain unless the executing broker's policy is to donate gains to charity.

ITEM 13 REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

A. Frequency and Nature of Review

Jeffrey J. Powell, Managing Partner, will review securities in client accounts on a periodic basis, generally no less frequently than weekly. A review of individual client accounts and a re-evaluation of client wealth management or financial planning goals and objectives will be conducted on an annual basis. More frequent reviews of client accounts may be triggered by changes in variables such as market, political, or economic circumstances, or a change in the client's individual circumstances.

B. Factors Prompting a Non-Periodic Review of Accounts

Significant market events affecting the prices of one or more securities in client accounts, changes in the wealth management or financial planning goals, investment objectives or guidelines of a particular client, or specific arrangements with particular clients may trigger reviews of client accounts on other than a periodic basis.

C. Content and Frequency of Regular Account Report

Each client that is a separate account will receive quarterly statements and trade confirmations from the client's broker-dealer and will receive quarterly reports from the Adviser. The reports may include a summary of assets, realized and unrealized capital gains and losses, performance measured against an appropriate index, and anticipated and actual income generated by the portfolio. Such reports may be delivered electronically to the client in accordance with the client's agreement with the Adviser.

ITEM 14 CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

A. Economic Benefits Received from Non-Clients for Providing Services to Clients

As disclosed under Item 12 above, Adviser participates in TD Ameritrade's institutional customer program and the Adviser may recommend TD Ameritrade to clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between the Adviser's participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its clients, although they receive economic benefits through participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors.

These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving adviser participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products and/or services provided to the Adviser by third party vendors (i.e., the fees paid by the Adviser to these third party vendors with respect to these products and/or services would generally have been higher had they not participated in the program). TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by the Adviser's related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit the Adviser but may not benefit client accounts. These products or services may assist the Adviser in managing and administering client accounts, including accounts not maintained at

TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help the Adviser manage its business enterprise. The benefits received by the Adviser (or its related persons) through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, the Adviser endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by the Adviser (or its related persons) in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the Adviser's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

The Adviser will also receive from TD Ameritrade, pursuant to a separate agreement ("Additional Services Addendum"), certain additional benefits ("Additional Services") that may or may not be offered to any other independent investment advisers participating in the Program. Specifically, the Additional Services will include an annual payment by TD Ameritrade to cover expenses associated with Ned Davis Research, a third-party research firm, and Orion Advisor Services, a third-party portfolio accounting provider. TD Ameritrade will provide the Additional Services in its sole discretion and at its own expense, and the Adviser will not pay any fees to TD Ameritrade for the Additional Services.

The Adviser's receipt of Additional Services raises potential conflicts of interest. In providing Additional Services to the Adviser, TD Ameritrade most likely considers the amount and profitability to TD Ameritrade of the assets in, and trades placed for, the Adviser's client accounts maintained with TD Ameritrade. TD Ameritrade has the right to terminate the Additional Services Agreement, in its sole discretion, provided certain conditions are met. Consequently, in order to continue to obtain the Additional Services from TD Ameritrade, the Adviser may have an incentive to recommend to its clients that the assets under management by the Adviser be held in custody with TD Ameritrade and to place transactions for client accounts with TD Ameritrade. The Adviser's receipt of Additional Services does not diminish its duty to act in the best interests of its clients, including seeking best execution of trades for client accounts.

In addition, TD Ameritrade may sponsor seminars attended by its clients and may ask the Adviser to present at such seminars. With respect to the TD Ameritrade seminars in which the Adviser is a presenter, the Adviser will generally pay for all the expenses associated with such seminars (e.g., location rental fees), and TD Ameritrade will pay for any expenses it may incur relating to the seminars, including, but not limited to, costs and expenses associated notifying its clients of the seminars (e.g., mailing-related expenses).

The Adviser serves on the TD Ameritrade Institutional President's Council ("Council"). The Panel consists of independent investment advisers that advise TD Ameritrade Institutional ("TDA Institutional") on issues relevant to the independent advisor community. The Council meets in person on average 1-2 times per year and conducts periodic conference calls on an as needed basis. At times, Council members are provided confidential information about TDA Institutional initiatives. Council members are required to sign confidentiality agreements. TD Ameritrade does not compensate Council members. However, TD Ameritrade pays or reimburses the Adviser for the travel, lodging and meal expenses the Adviser incurs in attending Council meetings. The benefits received by the Adviser or its personnel by serving on the Council do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by the Adviser or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the Adviser's recommendation of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

These arrangements with TD Ameritrade may pose a conflict of interest in that they may create an incentive for the Adviser to recommend to its clients the services of TD Ameritrade, which may include custodial and brokerage services.

B. Compensation to Non-Supervised Persons for Client Referrals

TD Ameritrade AdvisorDirect

The Adviser will receive client referrals from TD Ameritrade through participation in the TD Ameritrade AdvisorDirect Program (the “Service”), a referral program established by TD Ameritrade. The Service is designed to help TD Ameritrade’s brokerage customers and other investors, seeking fee-based personal investment management services or financial planning services, to find independent investment advisors to manage their assets for which TD Ameritrade provides custodial and/or brokerage services. Pursuant to the terms of participation in the Service, the Adviser will pay on-going fees to TD Ameritrade in connection with successful client referrals to it, with such fees not to exceed twenty-five percent (25%) of the advisory fees paid to the Adviser by clients referred to the Adviser as a result of its participation in the Service (the “Referral Fees”). The Adviser will also pay TD Ameritrade the Referral Fees on any advisory fees received by the Adviser from any of a referred client’s family members, including a spouse, child or any other immediate family member who resides with the referred client and hired the Adviser on the recommendation of such referred client. With respect to these clients, the Adviser will not charge any fees or costs higher than the Adviser’s standard fee schedule offered to other advisory clients or otherwise pass Referral Fees paid to TD Ameritrade to its clients. For information regarding additional or other fees paid directly or indirectly to TD Ameritrade, please refer to the TD Ameritrade AdvisorDirect Disclosure and Acknowledgement Form, which is available from the Adviser upon request.

Clients should be aware that in addition to meeting the minimum eligibility criteria for selection for participation in the Service, the Adviser may have been selected by TD Ameritrade based on the amount and profitability to TD Ameritrade of the assets in, and trades placed for, the Adviser’s clients’ accounts maintained at TD Ameritrade. Consequently, in order to obtain client referrals from TD Ameritrade, the Adviser may have an incentive to (i) recommend to clients that client assets under the Adviser’s management should be held in custody with TD Ameritrade and (ii) place transactions for client accounts with TD Ameritrade. Clients should also be aware that pursuant to the terms of its participation in the Service, the Adviser agreed not to solicit clients referred through the Service to transfer their brokerage accounts from TD Ameritrade or establish brokerage or custody accounts at other custodians other than when the Adviser’s fiduciary duties require it to recommend other broker-dealers or custodians to such clients. The Adviser’s participation in the Service does not diminish its duty to seek best execution of trades for client accounts. Participation in the Service may pose a potential conflict of interest between the Adviser and certain of its clients in that it may create an incentive for the Adviser to recommend TD Ameritrade to provide those clients with custody and brokerage services.

Other Third Party Solicitors

The Adviser may from time to time also engage other solicitors to whom it pays referral fees for the referral of their clients to the firm. In such cases, this practice will be disclosed in writing to the client, and the Adviser will comply with the other requirements of Rule 206(4)-3 under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (the “Advisers Act”), and applicable state and federal laws.

Employees

New business brought to the Adviser by an Employee may increase the Employee’s total compensation. A portion of the compensation we pay to our sales employees is based upon a percentage of new assets brought to our firm. If one of our sales employees refers a client to us, they will disclose to such client their affiliation with our firm at the time of the solicitation or referral. However, we do not employ individuals whose sole compensation is based upon the amount of business brought to us. Certain professionals who are our associated persons are eligible to receive a bonus based on the revenue collected. This additional compensation is paid by us out of our own assets, and is not directly paid by the client.

ITEM 15 CUSTODY

As discussed in Item 10 above, Greystone Investment Group, LLC, a related person under common control and ownership with our firm, is the Manager of Greystone Capital II, LLC. As Manager of the Greystone Capital II, LLC, Greystone Investment Group, LLC has custody of the vehicle's assets. An independent accountant conducts the annual surprise exam of Greystone Capital II, LLC.

For investment advisory and management services, we directly debit your account(s) for the payment of our Management Fee. This ability to deduct our Management Fees from your accounts causes us to exercise limited custody over your funds or securities. We do not have physical custody of any of your funds and/or securities. Your funds and securities will be held with a bank, broker-dealer, or other independent, qualified custodian. You will receive account statements from the independent, qualified custodian(s) holding your funds and securities at least quarterly. The account statements from your custodian(s) will indicate the amount of our Management Fees deducted from your account(s) each billing period. You should carefully review account statements for accuracy. You should compare our reports with the statements from your account custodian(s) to reconcile the information reflected on each statement. If you have a question regarding your account statement or if you did not receive a statement from your custodian, please contact us at 800-268-9046.

ITEM 16 INVESTMENT DISCRETION

The Adviser will provide investment advisory services on a discretionary basis to clients. Please see Item 4 above for a description of limitations clients may place on the Adviser's discretionary authority.

Prior to assuming full discretion in managing a client's assets, the Adviser will enter into an investment management agreement or other agreement that sets forth the scope of the Adviser's discretion.

Unless otherwise instructed or directed by a discretionary client, the Adviser will have the authority to determine (i) the securities to be purchased and sold for the client account (subject to restrictions on its activities set forth in the applicable investment management agreement and any written investment guidelines) and (ii) the amount of securities to be purchased or sold for the client account. Because of the differences in client investment objectives and strategies, risk tolerances, tax status and other criteria, there may be differences among clients in invested positions and securities held. The Adviser will submit an allocation statement to the Adviser's trading desk describing the allocation of securities to (or from) client accounts for each trade/order submitted. The Adviser may consider the following factors, among others, in allocating securities among clients: (i) client investment objectives and strategies; (ii) client risk profiles; (iii) tax status and restrictions placed on a client's portfolio by the client or by applicable law; (iv) size of the client account; (v) nature and liquidity of the security to be allocated; (vi) size of available position; (vii) current market conditions; and (viii) account liquidity, account requirements for liquidity and timing of cash flows.

Although it is the Adviser's policy to allocate investment opportunities to eligible client accounts on a pro rata basis (based on the value of the assets of each participating account relative to value of the assets of all participating accounts), these factors may lead the Adviser to allocate securities to client accounts in varying amounts. Even client accounts that are typically managed on a pari passu basis may from time to time receive differing allocations of securities based on total assets of each account eligible to invest in the particular investment type (e.g., equities) divided by the total assets of all accounts eligible to invest in the particular investment.

The Adviser may effect cross transactions between discretionary client accounts, except as otherwise noted below. Cross transactions enable the Adviser to effect a trade between two clients for the same security at a set price, thereby possibly avoiding an unfavorable price movement that may be created through entrance into the market and saving commission costs for both accounts. Cross transactions include rebalancing transactions that are undertaken so that, after withdrawals or contributions have occurred, the portfolio compositions of similarly managed accounts remain substantially similar. The Adviser has a potentially conflicting division of loyalties and responsibilities regarding both parties to cross transactions. Cross transactions between client accounts are not permitted if they would constitute principal trades or trades for which the Adviser is compensated as a broker unless client consent has been obtained based upon written disclosure to the client of the capacity in which the Adviser will act. In addition, cross transactions are not permitted for benefit plan or other similar accounts that are subject to ERISA.

ITEM 17 VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Presently, the Adviser does not vote proxies for any client accounts. The client retains the right and responsibility to vote proxies. Clients will receive their proxies or other solicitations directly from their custodian.

ITEM 18 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

The Adviser is required in this section to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about our financial condition. We have no financial commitment that impairs our ability to meet contractual commitments to clients, and have not been the subject of bankruptcy proceedings.

PRIVACY POLICY

Maintaining the confidentiality of client personal financial information is very important to the Adviser. To provide clients with superior service, the Adviser may collect several types of nonpublic personal information about its clients, including:

- Information from forms that clients may fill out and send to the Adviser in connection with a new account application for separately managed accounts (such as name, address, and social security number).
- Information a client may give the Adviser orally.
- Information about the amount clients have invested (such as initial investment and any additions to and withdrawals from a capital account).
- Information about any bank account clients may use for transfers between accounts.

The Adviser does not sell or disclose client personal information to anyone except as permitted or required by law. The Adviser may share this information with the Adviser's legal counsel as it deems appropriate and with regulators. Finally, the Adviser may disclose information about clients at the client's request (for example, by sending duplicate account statements to someone designated by the client), or as otherwise permitted or required by law.

Within the Adviser, access to information about clients is restricted to those employees who need to know the information to service client accounts. The Adviser employees are trained to follow our procedures to protect client privacy and are instructed to access information about clients only when they have a business reason to obtain it.

The Adviser reserves the right to change its privacy policy in the future, but the Adviser will not disclose client nonpublic personal information as required or permitted by law without giving the client an opportunity to instruct the Adviser not to.

Anti-Money Laundering Policy

The Adviser maintains policies designed to detect and report any activities that raise suspicions of money laundering activities, and may modify these policies from time to time. In that regard, the Adviser requires prospective clients to provide such information as the Adviser deems necessary for the Adviser to comply with applicable legal or regulatory requirements, including, without limitation, anti-money laundering requirements, and the Adviser may disclose information respecting clients and investors to governmental and/or regulatory or self-regulatory authorities to the extent that the Adviser deems required by applicable law or regulation and the Adviser may file reports with such authorities as the Adviser deems required by applicable law or regulation. If required by applicable law, regulation or interpretation thereof, the Adviser may suspend all activity with respect to a client's or investor's account, including suspending the client's to withdraw funds or assets from the account pending the Adviser's receipt of instructions regarding the account from the appropriate governmental or regulatory authority
