Item 4 ADVISORY BUSINESS

A. Center Street Advisors (“CSA”) was established in September 2013. CSA provides financial planning services and refers clients to third-party investment advisers (the “Manager”) in accordance with a Solicitor's Agreement in place with the respective Manager. CSA is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Center Street Holdings, Inc. Jack R. Thacker owns 51% of Center Street Holdings, Inc. and Producers Equity Group, Inc., owns 49%. Producers Equity Group is owned by the following: Rettich Family Partnership, 89.62%; Paradigm Partners, 5.81%; Mark Peterson, 3.02%; and Jeremy Rettich, 1.55%.

B. Types of Advisory Services Offered:

CSA offers two types of advisory services: Investment account management through a Solicitors Agreement with third-party managers; and financial planning services performed by an Investment Advisor Representative of CSA, (herein referred to as the “Advisor”). The client is under no obligation to act upon the Advisor's recommendation, if the client elects to act on any of the recommendations; the client is under no obligation to effect the transaction through in the investment advisor.

THIRD-PARTY INVESTMENT ACCOUNT MANAGEMENT

CSA assists clients in selecting a Manager. Upon selection of a Manager, the Advisor assists clients with completing all documents and paperwork required by the Manager.

Clients are required to enter into a discretionary agreement with the Manager. Clients should refer to each Manager's Firm Brochure or other disclosure document for a full description of the services offered.

CSA will receive a referral fee from each Manager, ranging between .5% and 3% of client assets under management. Referral fees are also based on the type of services offered by the Manager and the investment model chosen by the client. Clients may go directly to the Manager without having a contractual arrangement with CSA. Clients should refer to Item 14, Client Referrals and Other Compensation, for additional information.

FINANCIAL PLANNING SERVICES

CSA offers financial planning services and advice to clients. Financial planning may consist of a number of services, depending on the client's needs. The planning process evaluates a client's current financial situation and proposes an action plan to help move towards setting and achieving the client's financial goals. Each Advisor will have conversations with the client and review documents, such as income tax returns and current investments, to determine a client's current financial situation and long term financial goals. Clients may retain CSA to prepare a full financial plan, or to only give advice about a particular area of concern

CSA may provide education services to clients about general investment principles. Education presentations will not take into account the individual circumstances of each client.

C. Restrictions Imposed by Clients

The client is under no obligation to accept any recommendation in the Financial Plan, and is free to impose restrictions on investing in certain types of securities in the Plan.

D. CSA does not participate in any Wrap Fee programs.

E. CSA does not manage client assets.

Item 5 FEES AND COMPENSATION

A. FINANCIAL PLANNING SERVICES

A comprehensive Financial Plan is developed through consultations with clients for an hourly fee of either $100-300 or a fixed fee ranging from $300-$5000 depending on complexity and unique client needs. The fee ranges depending on the complexity of the service provided by CSA, and could be higher for a more senior Advisor or the fee could be lower for services that are purely administrative.

These financial planning services may include advice and assessments concerning investments, insurance needs, retirement planning, cash flow management, debt consolidation, capital needs, educational planning, estate planning, and business planning, tailored to the needs of the client as a result of a review of the client's risk profile, investment goals, and investment objectives.

The fixed fee might be a more cost effective rate; based on the number of hours to develop a complex and intricate plan rather than being charged an hourly rate service.

Lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources.

All financial planning fees are negotiable.

Educational seminars are offered for a fee of up to $100. This fee is established prior to the seminar and is negotiable prior to the seminar. Seminars serve as a way to provide information on financial and lifestyle issues for current and prospective clients.

THIRD-PARTY INVESTMENT ACCOUNT MANAGEMENT

Through a Solicitor's Agreement, CSA receives compensation from the Managers that CSA refers clients to. This fee is based on a percentage of the assets under management by the Manager. The relationship between CSA and the Manager will be disclosed to the client in writing prior to commencement of the services. CSA and the Manager enter into a written agreement pursuant to which the Manager will compensate CSA for introducing or referring the client to the Manager. There is no differential in the fees charged to the client by the Manager attributable to the agreement between CSA and the Manager. Accordingly, the Manager will not charge the client any additional fees or expenses as a result of the referral activities of CSA. Clients should refer to Item 14, Client Referrals and Other Compensation, for additional information.

Clients should refer to each Manager's Firm Brochure or other disclosure document for specific information regarding fees, billing practices, minimum required investments and termination of advisory agreements.

B. All financial planning fees are agreed upon prior to the Financial Planning Agreement being signed by the client. Clients are billed directly for these services after the Financial Plan is completed, however, should the client terminate the Agreement prior to completion of the Plan, services provided through the termination date must be paid upon receipt of the invoice. Client will receive the completed plan, based on fees being paid in full, on the agreed upon date or date of termination. If client has decided to terminate the contract before the plan is complete, client will receive the partially completed plan based on the amount of fees paid to Advisor.

The client's Investment Advisory Agreement with CSA is non-transferable without client's written approval and may be terminated by either party upon 30-days written notice.

C. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, and other third parties such as fees charged by Managers, custodians, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of, and in addition to, CSA's fee. Clients should refer to Item 12. Brokerage Practices, for additional information.

D. One-third of the fee for a fixed-fee plan may be payable prior to initiating the plan, with the remainder due upon completion. Clients pay a portion of the fee in advance of the provision of any services and will pay the balance upon completion of the agreed upon services. If any fees are paid in advance, clients have five business days after signing an agreement with CSA to terminate the agreement without penalty. If a client terminates the agreement after the first five business days, client will either receive a refund or a portion of the fee paid; or be charged a portion or all of the balance of the fee due, depending on the value of services provided by CSA before notice of termination was received.

E. This section contains information concerning possible conflicts of interest that clients should be aware of on a continuing basis. CSA's Advisors may also be registered representatives of Center Street Securities, Inc., a broker-dealer registered with FINRA ("Center Street Securities"), and sell insurance products on behalf of Center Street Insurance and Thacker & Associates, each affiliates of CSA, or other insurance company where an Advisor is licensed to sell insurance products. As such, these individuals may be engaged in the purchase and sale of securities and insurance products and may receive compensation in the form of commissions through Center Street Securities, Center Street Insurance and Thacker & Associates.

1. Financial planning recommendations and Manager recommendations may include products offered by Center Street Securities, Center Street Insurance, Thacker & Associates, or other insurance company where an Advisor is licensed to sell insurance products. If a client or Manager requests that an Advisor execute transactions in their separate capacity as registered representatives or insurance agents, these individuals will earn commissions, including asset based charges or service fees from the sale of mutual funds, which are separate and distinct from the fees charged by CSA for advisory services. Clients are advised that because of these compensation arrangements, a conflict of interest may exist in connection with the recommendation of a particular investment recommendation for a client's account because this gives the Advisor an incentive to recommend investment products based on compensation received, rather than on the client's needs. This conflict is disclosed to clients in the Financial Planning Agreement, and is disclosed to clients at the time of engagement. CSA has adopted policies and procedures to address the conflicts presented by these relationships. For example, as part of the CSA's fiduciary duty to its clients, CSA and its representatives will endeavor at all times to put the interest of its Clients first.
2. Clients are not obligated to use Center Street Securities, Inc., Center Street Insurance, or Thacker & Associates for the execution of any services recommended by CSA. The choice of broker/dealer and insurance company is completely at the discretion of the client.
3. With respect to CSA's compensation for financial planning services, should a client engage Center Street Securities, Center Street Insurance, Thacker & Associates, or another insurance company where an Advisor is licensed to sell insurance products, for implementation of the recommendations made within the plan, it is possible that more than 50% of the revenue derived from Clients results in commissions and other compensation for the sale of investment products recommended to clients. However, as CSA also receives referral fees, commissions do not provide the Firm's primary revenue.
4. If the client chooses to have Center Street Securities, Center Street Insurance or Thacker & Associates, or another insurance company where an Advisor is licensed to sell insurance products, implement the financial plan's recommendations, CSA may reduce the financial planning fee.

Item 6 PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

CSA is not compensated on the basis of a share of capital gains upon, or capital appreciation of, the funds or any portion of the funds of the client.

Item 7 TYPES OF CLIENTS

CSA provides investment advice and prepares financial plans for individuals (including high net worth individuals), trusts, estates, and charitable organizations.

CSA's cumulative household minimum account size is $50,000. However, based on facts and circumstances, CSA may at its sole discretion, accept accounts with a lower value.

Item 8 METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

Methods of Analysis

CSA may use charting, fundamental, technical and cyclical analysis in creating a financial plan for clients. The main sources of information used by CSA in its analysis are: financial newspapers and magazines, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings made with the SEC, and company press releases. The following definitions are intended to educate clients about the various types of analysis that CSA may use:

Charting - Stock chart training is an important skill to learn whether you are investing for retirement or learning to trade the stock market. Stock charts are one of the core market knowledge skills. Stock charts provide a window on the market that reveals how stock prices fluctuate over time.

Fundamental analysis allows CSA to determine a company's business history by analyzing its financial performance against appropriate indices, peer investments, management consistency and tenure, competitive advantages, and its competitors and markets. It also may focus on the overall state of the economy, interest rates, production, earnings, and management. Fundamental analysis is based on historical information that may change when major changes occur at a company, such as an executive retiring or terminating, or with fluctuations in the economy.

Technical analysis attempts to identify price patterns and trends in financial markets and attempts to make use of those patterns. Although various methods and tools are used, the study of price charts is a primary indicator that helps determine the price direction of a security as the analyst seeks to forecast price movements. However, it is important to remember that stock prices fluctuate so that it is not possible to forecast a definite price of a security.

Cyclical Analysis is a method used to determine targets. When using cyclical analysis to determine intermediate term price projections, analysts usually focus on the cycle that has an average time duration of 20 weeks. In theory, a stock's price would go up for 10 weeks and then decline for 10 weeks completing the 20-week cycle. Analysts construct a half cycle which is simply a 10-week simple moving average. When the moving average turns up, the analyst will note the closing price for the stock, count back 5 weeks and note the stock's closing price, then take the difference between the two closes and add it to the most recent close. That is the preliminary target that should be achieved over the next 5 weeks. Conversely, when the 10-week moving average turns down, the analyst will note the closing price for the stock, count back 5 weeks and note the closing price, then take the difference between the two closes and subtract it from the most recent close. That is the preliminary target that should be achieved.

Third-Party Investment Manager Analysis allows CSA to examine the experience, expertise, investment philosophies, and past performance of independent third-party investment managers in an attempt to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We review the manager's underlying holdings, strategies, concentrations and leverage as part of our overall periodic risk assessment. Additionally, as part of our due-diligence process, we survey the manager's compliance and business enterprise risks.

A risk of investing with a third-party manager who has been successful in the past is that he/she may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in a third-party manager's portfolio, there is also a risk that a manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the portfolio, making it a less suitable investment for our clients. Moreover, as we do not control the manager's daily business and compliance operations, we may be unaware of the lack of internal controls necessary to prevent business, regulatory or reputational deficiencies.

Investment Strategies

CSA does not specialize in using one particular type of investment strategy, but rather when creating a financial plan for clients, uses different strategies designed to comply with the financial and personal history and investment objective of the client. Strategies used may include long-term purchases of securities (those held at least one year) as well as short-term purchases of securities (those that are sold within a year). Clients may accept or reject all of our financial plan investment recommendations.

Risk of Loss: No investment can be made without some risk of loss. The most conservative investments risk the loss of purchasing power with virtually any amount of inflation. Most of the investments recommended will carry market risk of varying degrees. There can be no guarantee of a positive outcome of any kind and neither principal nor a return of any kind is guaranteed.

Clients should refer to each Manager's Firm Brochure or other disclosure document for a full description of their methods of analysis, investment strategies and risk of loss.
