Types of Advisory Services

PCJ provides investment advice and management on a discretionary basis. The firm provides professional management of financial assets for a variety of clients which currently and in the future may include pension fund sponsors, capital accumulation plans (defined contribution pension, group RRSPs and DPSPs), corporation, foundations, mutual funds and individual investors.

As of December 31, 2016, PCJ manages approximately US $2.4 billion. in assets under management. All assets are managed on a discretionary basis.

PCJ also offers its asset management services to separately managed account platforms (“SMA”) which are operated by a financial institution or dealer. In these instances, PCJ provides a portfolio model to the client on a regular basis and is not responsible for the execution of trades or the ongoing monitoring of the underlying portfolios. As a result, these assets are not included in the regulatory assets under management.

Tailored Relationships

The goals and objectives for each client are documented in our client relationship management system. Investment policy statements are created that reflect the stated goals and objective. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

Agreements may not be assigned, other than in some cases to an affiliate of PCJ, without client consent.

Types of Agreements

The following agreements define the typical client relationships.

Investment Management Agreement or Managed Account Agreement

An Investment Management Agreement or Managed Account Agreement is executed between PCJ and its clients. The annual fee for an Investment Management Agreement or Managed Account Agreement is negotiable, and depends on the investment mandate for which PCJ is retained.

Termination of Agreement

A Client may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying PCJ in writing. If the client made an advance payment, PCJ will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

PCJ may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying the client in writing. If the client made an advance payment, PCJ will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

5. Fees and Compensation

Description

PCJ bases its fees on a percentage of assets under management. All client contracts include a fee schedule agreed to by the client and PCJ. Clients are charged according to the standard fee schedules for standard client mandates. Clients with different mandates may have a different fee schedule. Fees are negotiable, but are subject to contractual restrictions on PCJ from existing clients.

Fee Billing

Investment management fees are typically billed quarterly, in arrears. In a limited number of cases, clients are billed monthly. In a limited number of cases, clients are billed in advance. Payment in full is expected within 30 days of receipt of the invoice. Fees may be deducted from a client's account if the client has provided written instruction to their custodian to accept invoices directly from PCJ.

Other Fees

Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of certain securities and pooled fund units. Transactions are also subject to normal brokerage commissions.

Past Due Accounts

PCJ will charge interest on overdue accounts at a rate of 2% per month (24% per annum).

6. Performance-Based Fees

Performance-Based Fees

PCJ has a performance based fee schedule with some clients. This schedule incorporates a base fee percentage, plus a periodic adjustment based on positive performance in excess of the benchmark. The performance fee is negotiated with the client and set out in the Managed Account Agreement entered into with the client.

7. Types of Clients

Description

PCJ generally provides investment advice to pension and profit sharing plans, trusts and endowments, financial institutions, investment companies, trusts, limited partnerships, estates and charitable organizations, corporations or business entities.

Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

There is no minimum annual fee charged.

The minimum account size for clients managed on a segregated basis is $5,000,000.

PCJ has the discretion to waive the account minimum.

8. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods may include fundamental analysis, technical analysis, cyclical analysis and quantitative analysis.

The main sources of information include database providers of global economic, market and security specific data, financial newspapers and magazines, inspections of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, annual reports, corporate rating services, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and other regulators and stock exchanges, and company press releases. Portfolio managers may also carry out corporate interviews, and attend conferences and seminars.

Investment Strategies

PCJ uses an integrated investment approach based on company research, sector trends, economic and liquidity and risk analysis. Investment strategy is set in line with the investment policy of the client as established in the client's Investment Management Agreement (IMA) or Managed Account Agreement (MAA). The portfolio managers, all based in Toronto, take a team-based approach to the management of all accounts. Individual members of the team are responsible for designated investment sectors. Decisions on investment style and strategy are taken collectively for all accounts with similar mandates to ensure they are managed consistently and in line with the individual client investment objectives and restrictions.

PCJ employs a growth/core-oriented investment approach to Canadian equity management. Portfolios are concentrated and actively managed.

The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time. Each client executes an Investment Policy Statement that documents their objectives and their desired investment strategy.

Other strategies may include long-term purchases and short-term purchases.

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry.

- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Risk levels associated with all exposures are consistently measured and monitored, and maintained within bands that reflect clients' risk tolerance levels.

11. Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

The directors, officers and employees of PCJ have committed to a Code of Ethics that is available for review by clients and prospective clients upon request. The firm will provide a copy of the Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

PCJ and its directors, officers and employees may buy or sell securities that are also held by clients in accordance with the personal trading policy of PCJ. Directors, officers and employees may not trade their own securities ahead of client trades. Directors, officers and employees comply with the provisions of the PCJ Policies and Procedures Manual.

Personal Trading

The Chief Compliance Officer of PCJ is Heiki Altosaar. He reviews all trades by directors, officers and employees each quarter. His trades are reviewed by the Board of Directors. The personal trading reviews ensure that the personal trading of directors, officers and employees does not affect the markets, and that clients of the firm receive preferential treatment. Since most trades by directors, officers and employees are small, the trades do not affect the securities markets.

Gifts and Entertainment

In general, personnel should not accept any gift or gratuity of more than minimal value from anyone doing business with PCJ or any of the affiliates or associates of PCJ. This standard does not preclude customary, ordinary, business-related entertainment. In keeping with the duty of loyalty to clients, this restriction preserves independence and objectivity when making decisions that affect their investment portfolio. Specific guidelines are as follows:

- Personal gifts are discouraged and may not be accepted if an individual gift or a series of gifts over the course of a year exceed C$100 in value.
- Entertainment, including business meals, should not be repetitive or extravagant. To the extent the market value of entertainment is expected to exceed C$250, the employee should seek permission from a director of the firm. In certain cases, the employee will be required to make some form of reimbursement to the hosting company.
- Tickets to events are only considered “entertainment” if a representative from the hosting firm accompanies the PCJ employee. Otherwise, the ticket is considered a gift and is subject to the dollar limit on gifts. As a general matter, tickets given as “gifts” are discouraged.

Employees are required to report all entertainment they have been a party to, which is paid for by anyone doing business with PCJ or any of the affiliates of PCJ.

12. Brokerage Practices

Selecting Brokerage Firms

PCJ acts in good faith and with due diligence in its choice and use of brokers. PCJ does not have any affiliation with product sales firms. Specific custodian recommendations are made to clients based on their need for such services. PCJ recommends custodians based on the proven integrity and financial responsibility of the firm.

PCJ:

- Selects brokers and dealers taking all factors into consideration.
- Does not use brokerage from other clients to pay for individual client-directed obligations. Clients invested in PCJ's pooled funds may not direct soft dollar commissions.

PCJ does not receive fees or commissions for any of these arrangements.

Best Execution

PCJ has written policies for best execution in its portfolios. In buying and selling securities, PCJ will always seek the best price and terms of execution available, taking into account such factors as price (including the applicable brokerage commission or dealer spread), size of order, difficulty of execution and operational facilities of the firm involved, and the firm's risk in positioning a block of securities.

Soft Dollars

Some of the commissions are used to purchase research services in accordance with the Soft dollar Policy.

Under certain circumstances consistent with applicable law and regulation PCJ may select dealers that furnish PCJ with proprietary brokerage and research services in connection with commissions paid on transactions it places for client accounts. In such circumstances, PCJ may cause client accounts to pay brokers a commission in excess of the amount of commission another broker would have charged for the same transactions absent the research and brokerage services. PCJ will do so only where it makes a determination in good faith that such commission is reasonable in relation to the brokerage and research services provided by such broker.

Soft dollars will not be used in trades where the transacting broker or dealer is acting on a principal basis.

All soft dollar payments directed by PCJ are for the purchase of research products or services that directly assist in the investment decision-making process. Research services will only be purchased with brokerage from clients who benefit from the research in question. The availability of these proprietary and third party research and brokerage services may create a conflict between the interests of the client in obtaining the lowest cost execution and PCJ's interest in obtaining such services. When client brokerage commissions are used to obtain such research PCJ receives a benefit because it does not have to produce or pay for the research, products or services.

In order to execute client-directed business, PCJ must have a letter of authority on file from the directing client. Notwithstanding the letter of direction, PCJ's duty is still to obtain the best possible execution value.

Clients directing their brokerage may limit PCJ's ability to negotiate commission rates. Therefore, such accounts may be paying higher brokerage costs than non-directed accounts.

PCJ allocates, on a best efforts basis, up to 25% of the commission generated by each client to client-directed obligations.

On a quarterly basis, PCJ reports to each client the commissions generated on a broker-by-broker basis, as well as descriptions and amounts used for any research services or client-directed brokerage arrangements.

PCJ's soft dollar policies and procedures are in compliance with CFA Institute Soft Dollar Standards and the provisions of Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

Trade Allocations

Each account with a similar mandate is managed in line with similar models. All transactions are allocated on a pro rata basis at an average price after transaction costs (subject to practical constraints, e.g. transaction costs vs. transaction size, odd lots, etc.) in order to achieve the target model weight for the specific security in each account. Allocations are reviewed and approved by a senior portfolio manager.

13. Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

PCJ conducts the following periodic reviews:

- Weekly reviews of models by the Investment Team and formal review of each asset model and discussion of strategy.
- -Continual monitoring of investment returns and extensive analysis of performance attribution.
- -The weekly review and a client guideline database monitors performance objectives, benchmarks and asset mix guidelines.
- -Daily constraint monitoring with automated reports showing any violation with respect to client mandates.

Reviewers:

- The Investment Team is collectively responsible for all accounts with the assistance of sub-advisors.

Review Triggers

Other conditions that may trigger a review are changes in the tax laws, new investment information, and changes in a client's own situation.

Regular Reports

Reports to clients are reviewed by the client servicing manager responsible for the account. Client servicing managers are members of the firm's Investment Committee. The nature and frequency of regular reports to clients is as follows:

- Client Meetings - designated portfolio manager meets with client on a regular basis and reviews past economic and financial market developments.
- Quarterly Reports - performance, portfolio statements and commentary are sent within 4 weeks of quarter-end.

14. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As part of its partnership with the Connor, Clark & Lunn Financial Group LP (CCLFG), PCJ has access to, and utilizes, the resources of the CCLFG Institutional Sales Team. CCLFG will provide certain services and introduce prospective investment management clients, to PCJ. In the event a new client retains PCJ as a result of the efforts of the CCLFG Institutional Sales Team, PCJ will pay a cash referral to CCLFG where permissible under applicable law. If the new client becomes an investor in any private fund offered by PCJ, any transaction-based payments will be made through Foreside Fund Services, LLC ("Foreside").

PCJ, at its expense, pays Foreside, an unaffiliated FINRA registered broker-dealer, a fee for certain distribution-related services for the PCJ Absolute Return Fund LP. Employees or officers of PCJ may serve as registered representatives of Foreside to facilitate the distribution of Fund interests to investors.

Referred clients will not be charged any amount for the cost of obtaining the account in addition to the fee charged by PCJ for advisory services. Additionally, a referred client will not be charged an amount in excess of PCJ's standard advisory fees solely because of the agreement.

Loss of Key Personnel

The investment professionals at PCJ work in an integrated team environment using highly structured investment processes. As a result, the loss of any individual team member would have little material impact on investment strategies and outcomes. The team takes responsibility for ensuring that important functions and expertise are protected and shared.

20. Information Security Program
