Item 4: Services, Fees and Compensation

A. Service.

1. Description of Wrap Fee Program.

As discussed in this Wrap Fee Program Brochure, Sacks & Associates, LLC (“Sacks”, the “Firm”, or the “Company”) offers discretionary investment management services on a wrap fee basis. The wrap fee program (the “Program”) is designed so as to bundle investment advisory, brokerage and custody services into one single fee that a client will incur.

Sacks is the sponsor of and portfolio manager (the “Portfolio Manager”) in the Program. As Portfolio Manager, Sacks provides discretionary investment management services to Program clients for a single annual fee (the “Program Fee”). The Program Fee includes charges and fees relative to (a) execution of client securities transactions, (b) custody, (c) investment management, and (d) reporting on the client’s account, but does not include those items described in Section 4.B.5 or compensation associated with the activities indicated in Section 4.C.1 and 4.D.1 below. The Program does not include separate financial planning or consulting services.

2. Sacks’s Investment Management Services Under the Program.

As discussed below in this Wrap Fee Program Brochure, the Company offers discretionary investment management services and financial and retirement planning as part of its discretionary investment management service platform. On a limited basis the Firm may also offer non-discretionary investment management services.

The Company’s investment management services are defined as giving ongoing and continuous investment advice to a client based on the client’s investment objectives and financial situation. During a series of personal meetings with the client, the Company, in conjunction with the client, will ascertain the client’s financial situation, risk tolerance, and investment objectives, developing a retirement plan that will establish general parameters for the Company’s investment management services. After the client agrees with the proposed retirement plan, the Firm will implement the retirement plan over a series of meetings between the Firm and the client. After implementation of the retirement plan, the Firm will monitor the allocations within the client’s account on an ongoing basis.

The Company provides investment advice primarily with respect to various equity securities (such as exchange-listed, securities traded over-the-counter, and foreign issuers), exchange traded funds, warrants, corporate debt securities, certificates of deposit, and mutual fund shares. Although the Company’s investment advice is typically limited to those investment categories, the Company may provide advice with respect to other investment opportunities in response to a client request or where the Company determines that it would be in the interests of the client to pursue those other investment opportunities.

Where the Firm provides non-discretionary investment management services, the Firm would not be authorized to implement its recommendations for the client's account without prior authorization from the client; provided, however, that if the client accepts those recommendations, then the Company will have the obligation to so implement such recommendation unless otherwise agreed upon by the client and the Company.

During the process of developing the client's retirement plan, the Company engages in financial and retirement planning, which includes considerations among the areas of insurance planning (including life insurance and annuities), investment and estate planning. These financial and retirement planning services are considered to be elements of the Company's investment management process. If requested by the client, the Company may assist the client with the implementation of various elements of the Company's services. The Company may also recommend the services of other professionals if asked by the client. The client is under no obligation to engage the services of any such recommended professional, and retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any recommendation from the Company.

3. Methods of Analysis; Investment Strategies.

Sacks utilizes fundamental, technical and charting methods of securities analysis. Sacks utilizes a primary investment strategy of long term purchases which are typically those purchases of securities that are held for at least a year. Long term purchases involve various risks, including the loss of principal due to market events.

4. Statements Concerning Risk

Each client should understand that investing in securities involves risk of loss that they should be prepared to bear. Different types of investments involve varying degrees of risk, and it should not be assumed that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy (including the investments and/or investment strategies recommended or undertaken by Sacks) will be profitable or equal any specific performance level(s). However, every method of analysis has its own inherent risks. To perform an accurate market analysis Sacks must have access to current/new market information. Since Sacks has no control over the dissemination rate of market information, certain analyses may be compiled with outdated market information, severely limiting the value of Sacks's analysis. Furthermore, an accurate market analysis can only produce a forecast of the direction of market values. There can be no assurances that a forecasted change in market value will materialize into actionable and/or profitable investment opportunities.

5. Custodian Under the Program

The client's assets are maintained with a qualified custodian. Sacks shall generally recommend that TD Ameritrade ("Ameritrade") serve as the custodian for client investment management assets within the Program. Each client will receive account statements directly from the broker on at least a quarterly basis. Each client should carefully review those statements. In the event that a client also receives an account statement from Sacks, each client is urged to compare the account statement they receive from the qualified custodian with the account statement they receive from Sacks, and to rely solely on the account statement received from the qualified custodian.

6. Broker-Dealer Under the Program

(a) Selection Criteria. In placing orders for the purchase and sale of securities and selecting brokers to effect these transactions, the Company will utilize broker-dealers that it reasonably believes will provide “best execution”. In seeking “best execution”, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible commission cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution. The Company will seek prompt execution of orders at the most favorable prices reasonably obtainable under the circumstances. In doing so, the Company will consider a number of factors including, without limitation, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. The Company will weigh the amount of the broker’s compensation against the other criteria it considers in selecting the broker to execute client securities transactions to determine whether the broker’s compensation is reasonable in light of those other factors. Accordingly, although the Company will seek competitive commission rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for account transactions.

(b) Discretionary Authority. It is expected that the majority of the activities of the Company will involve individual investment advice provided to individual clients. Except in limited circumstances, this advice will be discretionary, which means that Sacks will be authorized to determine the securities and the amount of such securities to be bought or sold for the client’s account(s). Nonetheless, Sacks, in response to a client request, or where it determines necessary, will communicate its investment recommendations and advice to its clients prior to seeking the implement of that recommendation and/or advice. Each client may request reasonable limitations be placed on Sacks’ discretionary authority, such as securities-based limitations. Any such limitations shall be presented to the Company for consideration in writing, and clients may change/amend those limitations, in writing, as the client requires.

The client’s written agreement with the Company may grant discretionary authority to the Company. The client’s written agreement with the custodian also grants a limited power of attorney to the Company relative to transactions in the client’s custodial account.

(c) Where Sacks does not have discretionary investment management authority, Sacks may still have discretionary trading authority under the client’s agreement with the client’s account custodian.

(d) Research and other soft dollar benefits. Although not a material consideration when determining whether to recommend that a client utilize the services of a particular broker-dealer/custodian, the Company may take into consideration the investment research services that are available from a broker-dealer when determining whether to execute through that broker-dealer. The Firm participates in the TD Ameritrade Institutional program. TD Ameritrade Institutional is a division of TD Ameritrade, Inc. (“TD Ameritrade”) member FINRA/SIPC/NFA. TD Ameritrade is an SEC-registered broker-dealer independent of and unaffiliated with the Firm. TD Ameritrade and the Firm are separate and unaffiliated. TD Ameritrade offers services to independently registered investment advisors which include custody of securities, trade execution, and clearance and settlement of transactions

("Institutional Program"). The Firm receives some benefits from TD Ameritrade through its participation in the Institutional Program.

The Firm may recommend TD Ameritrade to clients for custody and brokerage services. The Company receives economic benefits ("Program Benefits") through its participation in the Institutional Program, which may include investment research and support services and/or products other than execution from the broker in connection with client securities transactions. The Firm, through its participation in the Institutional Program, may receive discounts on compliance, marketing, technology, and practice management products or services provided to the Firm by third party vendors. These benefits received by the Firm, or its associated persons, do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade.

Commissions, rates and fees applicable to your account may be based on the scope and nature of the business that the Firm transacts with you, including the current and future expected amount of the Firm's assets custodied with TD Ameritrade. The Program Benefits are provided to all advisers, including the Firm, that participate in the Institutional Program. These benefits include various technological tools, items, and products that assist the Firm in managing and servicing its clients' accounts. The Firm's receipt of Program Benefits does not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions it directs to TD Ameritrade, but the Firm's receipt of Program Benefits creates potential conflicts of interest between the Firm and its clients (for example, the receipt of Program Benefits by the Firm may indirectly influence the Firm's recommendation of TD Ameritrade's custodial and brokerage services).

However, the Company anticipates that the Company's ability to obtain investment research services from the broker as a result of the Company executing client securities transactions through such broker will be utilized primarily to benefit client portfolios. Such research generally will be used to service all of the Company's clients, but brokerage commissions paid by a client may be used to pay for research that is not used in managing the client's account, and may in fact benefit a client who did not pay for the use of that research.

Except as indicated above, the Company's clients do not pay more for investment transactions effected and/or assets maintained at a particular broker-dealer or custodian as a result of this arrangement. Further, and except as indicated above, there is no corresponding commitment made by the Company any other any entity to invest any specific amount or percentage of client assets in any specific mutual funds, securities, or other investment products as result of the above arrangement.

The foregoing represents a conflict of interest. When the Company uses client brokerage commissions to obtain research or other products or services, the Company receives a benefit because the Company does not have to produce or pay for the research, products or services. The Company has an incentive to select or recommend a broker-dealer based on the Company's interest in receiving the research or other products of services, rather than on the client's interest in receiving most favorable execution. It is possible that clients may pay higher commission costs due to the Company's use of that research, or those products or services. The Firm's receipt of any of the foregoing items does not diminish the Firm's duty to act in the best interests of its clients, including to seek best execution of trades for client accounts.

During this fiscal year, the Company anticipates acquiring products and services with client brokerage commissions consistent with the above disclosure. Nonetheless, we anticipate that the products and services the Firm will receive will generally be available to other investment advisers in a similar position as the Firm. We do not believe that the receipt of the items mentioned in Section 4.A.6 compromise our ability to service our clients in an unbiased manner and will not prevent use from changing the broker-dealer/custodian if we believe that a different broker-dealer/custodian would provide better execution and custodial services taking into consideration all of the direct and indirect benefits to the client from use that custodian.

Please also see the discussion within Item 14 to this Wrap Fee Program Brochure.

(e) Aggregation. Transactions for each client account generally will be effected independently, unless Sacks decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. Sacks may (but is not obligated to) combine or "batch" such orders to obtain "best execution", to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among Sacks's clients differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will be averaged as to price and will be allocated among Sacks's clients in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client account on any given day. To the extent that Sacks determines to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which Sacks's principals and/or associated persons may invest, Sacks shall generally do so in accordance with the parameters set forth in SEC No-Action Letter, SMC Capital, Incorporated. Sacks shall not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of the aggregation. In the event that the Firm elects not to aggregate or batch client securities transactions when it has the opportunity to do so, the client may receive a higher price per transaction than if the Firm had aggregated the subject transaction.

B. Fees and Compensation.

1. Program Fee

The Program Fee shall vary depending upon the market value of the assets under management within the Program and is generally between 1.25% and .75% based on the following schedule:

Account Size	Annual Fee	Portion of Program Fee Payable to Sacks as Portfolio Manager
Up to $1,000,000	1.25%	1.25%
$1,000,000 up to $2,000,000	1.00%	1.00%
$2,000,000 up to $4,000,000	0.90%	0.90%
$4,000,000 up to $5,000,000	0.80%	0.80%
Above $5,000,000	0.75%	0.75%

Sacks may deviate from this fee schedule based upon certain criteria (i.e. anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, type of services required, account composition, negotiations with client, etc.).

2. Program Fee Calculation.

The Program Fee shall be calculated as described in Section 4.B.1 above.

3. Performance Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management.

No portion of the Program fee shall be based on a share of capital gains upon or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds within a client's account. Sacks does not engage in side-by-side management.

4. Program Fee Payment

The Program Fee shall be payable quarterly, in advance, at the end of each calendar quarter based upon the quarter end market value of the assets in the clients' account as of the last business day of the previous quarter. For clients with multiple accounts, the Company, in its sole discretion, may combine the amount of assets in more than one account in determining the fee to be charged to that client for services on the client's total amount of assets. The Program Fee shall be deducted from the client's custodial account. Both Sacks's servicing agreement and the custodial/ clearing agreement may authorize the custodian to debit the account for the amount of the Program Fee and to directly remit that Program Fee to Sacks in compliance with regulatory procedures. In the event of termination of the Company's services before the end of a billing period for which the Firm received a pre-paid fee, the Firm shall pro-rate its fee through the date of termination and promptly return any unearned portion of that pre-paid fee to the client.

5. Charges Not Included in Program Fee.

The Program Fee does not include (a) transaction charges resulting from trades effected through a broker-dealer other than TD Ameritrade, (b) transfer taxes, (c) odd lot differentials, (d) exchange fees, (e) interests charges, (f) American Depository Receipt agency processing fees, (g) fees and expenses imposed directly by mutual funds held in or for the client's account, and (h) any charges, taxes or other fees mandated by any governmental entity. The client will incur such additional charges and fees in addition to the Program Fee.

6. Disclosures Concerning the Program Fee.

Participation in the Program may cost a client more or less than purchasing each or any collection of the services included in the Program separately. In addition, the Program Fee may be higher or lower than the fee(s) charged by sponsors of other comparable wrap fee programs.

Sacks receives compensation as a result of a client's participation in the Program. The amount of Sacks's compensation may be more than what Sacks would receive if the client participated in Sacks's programs or paid separately for investment advice, brokerage, and other services. In other words, depending upon the percentage Program Fee charged by Sacks, the amount of portfolio activity in the client's account, and the value of custodial and other services provided, the Program Fee may or may not exceed the aggregate cost of such services if they were to be provided separately and/or if Sacks were to negotiate transaction fees and seek best price and execution of transactions for the client's account. Therefore, Sacks may have a financial incentive to recommend the Program over other programs or services.

C. Compensation for the Sale of Insurance Products and Annuities

1. Certain of the Company's personnel are also licensed insurance producers/agents with several insurance companies in various states. In such capacity, each such personnel may recommend the purchase of certain insurance or annuity products where they will receive a share of revenue derived from the sale of such insurance or annuity products. For further discussion concerning these activities, see Item 9.B of this Wrap Fee Program Brochure.

2. The activity disclosed in Item 4.C.1 above represent a conflict of interest and gives the Company personnel engaging in such insurance activities an incentive to recommend the purchase of insurance or annuity products for a client account based on their ability to receive compensation from such a purchase, rather than based on a client's needs. However, the Firm addresses this conflict by (a) requiring that any such transaction be on commercially reasonable terms that are generally consistent with industry standards, and (b) neither requiring nor expecting that a client will purchase any such insurance or annuity products from or through Firm personnel. In addition, any such Firm personnel must maintain compliance with applicable rules and regulations that govern the sale of such insurance or annuity products.

3. Clients have the option to purchase investment or annuity products that the Company recommends through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with the Company.

4. The Company's advisory fee is in addition to any commission that Company personnel may receive and the Company will not reduce its advisory fee to offset such commission. The Company does not charge advisory fees on the value of the insurance or annuity contract after it has been purchased by Firm personnel.

D. Registered Representatives.

1. Certain of the Firm's personnel are also registered representatives of Mutual Securities, Inc., an SEC registered, FINRA member broker-dealer, under which capacities they may engage in securities and variable insurance transactions on a commission basis, including the sale of 529 educational savings plans. This practice presents a conflict of interest and gives the person an incentive to recommend securities and variable insurance products based on the compensation received by them, rather than on a client's needs.

2. The Firm addresses conflicts arising from the activities disclosed in Item 4.D.1 by (a) requiring that any such transaction be on commercially reasonable terms that are generally consistent with industry standards, and (b) neither requiring nor expecting that a client will purchase any securities or variable insurance products from or through Firm personnel. In addition, any such Firm personnel must maintain compliance with applicable rules and regulations that govern the sale of such securities and variable insurance products.

3. Clients have the option to purchase securities or variable insurance products that the Company recommends through other brokers that are not affiliated with the Company.

4. The Company's advisory fee is in addition to any commission that Company personnel may receive and the Company will not reduce its advisory fee to offset such commission. The Company does not charge advisory fees on the value of the securities or variable insurance products (or 529 educational savings plans) after such products have been purchased by Firm personnel.

E. Miscellaneous

In connection with the provision of the Company's services, (1) the Company tailors its advisory services to the client's individual needs, (2) clients may impose reasonable restrictions on the Company's services, which may include restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities, (3) the client retains absolute discretion over all implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any recommendation from the Company, (4) the Company is authorized to rely on any and all information that is provided to the Company by the client or any of the client's other professionals (such as the client's attorney or accountant), and shall not be required to independently verify any such information, (5) each client is responsible to promptly notify the Company if there is ever any change in their financial situation or investment objectives so that the Company is positioned to review, evaluate and possibly revise its previous recommendations and/or services, and (6) with respect to the Program Fee, neither Sacks, nor its representatives will receive as compensation for their services, any compensation from the sale of securities or other investment products.

With respect to Proxy matters, each client maintains exclusive responsibility for: (1) directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by the client shall be voted, and (2) making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other type events pertaining to the client's investment assets. Clients will receive their proxies or other solicitations directly from their custodian. The Company generally does not advise clients on questions regarding a particular solicitation.

With respect to trade errors, In the event of a trade error resulting from a client's account transactions, Sacks shall reimburse accounts for Sacks's trade errors.

Item 5: Account Requirements and Types of Clients

A. Account Requirements.

1. Advisory Agreement. Each client will be required to sign a servicing agreement with Sacks that sets forth the terms and conditions of their relationship with Sacks. The servicing agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of prior written notice. Upon termination of a client account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded, and any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable.

B. Types of Clients

1. The firm's client base is comprised of individuals, high net worth individuals, corporations and other business entities.

Item 6: Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

A. Sacks as Portfolio Manager in Program

Sacks acts as the Portfolio Manager for the Program. Inasmuch as the execution costs for transactions effected in the client account will be paid by Sacks, a potential conflict of interest arises in that Sacks may have a disincentive to trade securities in the client account. In addition, as described in Section 5 above, the amount of compensation received by Sacks as a result of the client's participation in the Program may be more than what Sacks would receive if the client paid separately for investment advice, brokerage and other services.

Please also see Section 4 of this Wrap Fee Program Brochure that describes Sacks's advisory business, performance based fees and side-by-side management, methods of analysis, investment strategies and risk of loss, and voting client securities.

Item 7: Client Information Provided to Portfolio Managers

Since Sacks is the Program Portfolio Manager, it receives and reviews information from the client directly.

Item 8: Client Contact with Portfolio Managers

Each client is free to have reasonable access to the Program's Portfolio Manager.

Item 9: Additional Information

A. Disciplinary Information

Sacks does not have any information that is disclosable under this Item 9.

B. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

1. Other Registrations.

(a) Certain of the Firm's personnel (including the Firm's sole Member and Chief Compliance Officer Neil Sacks) are also licensed insurance producers/agents with various insurance companies in various states. In such capacity, each such individual may recommend the purchase of certain insurance or annuity products where they will receive a share of revenue derived from the sale of such insurance or annuity products. This activity represents a conflict of interest and gives Firm personnel an incentive to recommend the purchase of insurance or annuity products for a client account based on their ability to receive compensation from such a purchase, rather than based on a client's needs. However, the Firm seeks to address this conflict by (a) requiring that any such transaction will be on commercially reasonable terms that are generally consistent with industry standards, and (b) neither requiring nor expecting that a client will purchase any such insurance or annuity products from or through Firm personnel. In addition, Firm personnel must comply with applicable rules and regulations that govern the sale of such products. Clients have the option to purchase investment products that the Firm recommends through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with the Firm.

(b) Certain of the Firm's personnel (including the Firm's sole Member and Chief Compliance Officer Neil Sacks) are registered representatives of Mutual Securities, Inc. Although this does not constitute a significant portion of the time of any Company personnel, such personnel may be engaged in their separate capacities as registered representatives of Mutual Securities, Inc. to render securities brokerage services and variable insurance transactions under an arrangement with Mutual Securities, Inc. Commissions on the sales of securities and variable insurance products are charged by Mutual Securities, Inc., and a portion of those commissions may be payable to Firm personnel who maintain appropriate registrations with Mutual Securities, Inc. Similarly, as mentioned previously within this Wrap Fee Program Brochure, Firm personnel may receive commissions from the sale of 529 educational savings plans. These activities and their resulting compensation presents a conflict of interest in the sense that Firm personnel who may receive such commission compensation have an incentive to implement transactions based on the potential for them to receive such commission compensation rather than based on the client's need to implement such transactions for the client's best interest. Notwithstanding, the client is under no obligation to implement any product transactions through Firm personnel, through Mutual Securities, Inc., or through any other entity given that the Firm's management services are non-discretionary in nature, and then upon acceptance of any recommendation from the Firm (provided, however, that if the client accepts the Firm's recommendation and requests the Firm to implement the recommendation, the Firm has an obligation to so implement such recommendation), the client is not obligated to execute or implement any transaction through any Firm personnel, or through any particular broker-dealer, including any broker-dealer with which any Firm personnel maintains a registration or any other relationship.

2. Other Financial Industry Activities.

See the discussion in Item 9.B.1 ("Other Registrations") of this Wrap Fee Program Brochure discussing the registrations held by certain Firm personnel. When Firm personnel act in the capacity of insurance producers/agents, or registered representatives, they will engage in other financial industry activities that are commensurate with such other registrations.

3. Other Financial Industry Affiliations.

Please see the response in this Wrap Fee Program Brochure to Item 9.B.1 above ("Other Registrations").

C. Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading.

1. Sacks maintains an investment policy relative to personal securities transactions. This investment policy is part of Sacks's overall Code of Ethics, which serves to establish a standard of business conduct for all of Sacks's representatives that is based upon fundamental principles of openness, integrity, honesty and trust, a copy of which is available upon request.

In accordance with Section 204A of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, Sacks also maintains and enforces written policies reasonably designed to prevent the misuse of material non-public information by Sacks or any person associated with Sacks.

2. Neither Sacks nor any related person of Sacks recommends, buys, or sells for client accounts, securities in which Sacks or any related person of Sacks has a material financial interest.

3. Sacks and/or representatives of Sacks may buy or sell securities that are also recommended to clients. This practice may create a situation where Sacks and/or representatives of Sacks are in a position to materially benefit from the sale or purchase of those securities. Therefore, this situation creates a potential conflict of interest. Practices such as "scalping" (i.e., a practice whereby the owner of shares of a security recommends that security for investment and then immediately sells it at a profit upon the rise in the market price which follows the recommendation) could take place if Sacks did not have adequate policies in place to detect such activities. In addition, this requirement can help detect insider trading, "front-running" (i.e., personal trades executed prior to those of Sacks's clients) and other potentially abusive practices.

Sacks has a personal securities transaction policy in place to monitor the personal securities transactions and securities holdings of each of Sacks's "Access Persons". Sacks's securities transaction policy requires that an Access Person of Sacks must provide the Chief Compliance Officer or his/her designee with a written report of their current securities holdings within ten (10) days after becoming an Access Person. Additionally, each Access Person must provide the Chief Compliance Officer or his/her designee with a written report of the Access Person's current securities holdings at least once each twelve (12) month period thereafter on a date Sacks selects; provided, however that at any time that Sacks has only one Access Person, he or she shall not be required to submit any securities report described above.

4. Sacks and/or representatives of Sacks may buy or sell securities, at or around the same time as those securities are recommended to clients. This practice creates a situation where Sacks and/or representatives of Sacks are in a position to materially benefit from the sale or purchase of those securities. Therefore, this situation creates a potential conflict of interest. As indicated above, Sacks has a personal securities transaction policy in place to monitor the personal securities transaction and securities holdings of each of Sacks's Access Persons.

D. Review of Accounts; Reporting

1. Account Reviews.

The Company will review accounts periodically. Each client account will be monitored by that client's adviser, and reviewed whenever significant economic events, changes in market conditions or important new developments concerning a security affect any individual account. If warranted, Firm personnel will take appropriate action consistent with the goals and objectives of each account.

2. Account Reports.

Clients will receive a written retirement plan from the Firm and confirmations of all transactions from broker-dealers on a monthly basis for securities transactions. In addition, the Firm will provide a net worth statement to each client.

E. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

1. Research and Other Benefits. See the discussion in this Wrap Program Brochure to benefits received by the Company from the broker in connection with execution of client securities transactions. As disclosed under Section 4.A.6(c) above, the Firm participates in TD Ameritrade's institutional customer program and may recommend TD Ameritrade to clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between the Firm's participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its clients, although the Firm receives economic benefits through its participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors. These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving Firm participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to the Firm by third party vendors. TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by the Firm's related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit the Firm but may not benefit its client accounts. These products or services may assist the Firm in managing and administering client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help the Firm manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by the Firm or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, the Firm endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by the Firm or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the Firm's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services..

F. Financial Information

1. Sacks does not solicit fees of more than $1,200, per client, six months or more in advance.
2. Sacks is unaware of any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet its contractual commitments relating to its discretionary authority over certain client accounts.
3. Sacks has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition.
