

Resourceful Freelance Finance Writer available to create and/or edit articles for your blog or newsletter

Currently writing and publishing financial analysis and investment advice. I possess the knowledge and obvious passion for trading and I am an experienced trader familiar with technical and fundamental analysis. My unique background is the key to understanding what information is most valuable to your readers and how to make it enjoyable to read.

- Investors, traders and casual news readers will find the writings witty and interesting
- Motivated self-starter, determined to add value to your publication
- Will generate story lines, or use predetermined ideas
- In-depth knowledge of financial markets, investing and business
- Daily, weekly, or monthly content
- Always meet deadlines

Click the link below for background information and writing sample

<http://investorreport.blogspot.com/>

Disclosure

Nella Investment Advisers (Advisor) is not a securities brokerage firm, has a pending Registered Investment Advisor (RIA) application with the SEC, and is a private firm established to provide investment services including technical and fundamental analysis, trade evaluation and execution.

Advisor is not affiliated with any brokerage firm or investment company.

Compensation

- Nella Investment Advisers only charges a flat fee for each article that is published
- The Advisor does NOT receive any other commissions or fees
- The Advisor is not related to any brokerage firm or investment company