Financial Planning Services

The financial planning services described in this Brochure are an investment advisory service provided by Thrivent to you through Thrivent investment advisor representatives ("Investment Advisor Representative"). Investment Advisor Representatives may work with you individually or among a team or in partnership with other Investment Advisor Representatives, financial representatives and/or support staff. If your Investment Advisor Representative works among a team of other financial representatives and support staff, you should be aware that these individuals will have access to the information that you provide to develop your Financial Plan. Financial planning services are currently available to clients through a limited number of Investment Advisor Representatives. Please note that Thrivent may make these financial planning services available to other Thrivent clients based on eligibility requirements and other factors. For further information please contact Thrivent or your Investment Advisor Representative.

As part of the planning process your Investment Advisor Representative will use the information you provide and any supporting policies, guidelines or restrictions to help you determine appropriate planning strategies (the "Financial Plan"). If you elect to receive financial planning services from Thrivent, you must enter into an investment advisory agreement with us (the "Agreement"), which sets forth the terms and conditions of the financial planning services and delivery of your Financial Plan. Please note, upon the completion of the financial planning services and the delivery of your Financial Plan, your Agreement will terminate and Thrivent and your Investment Advisor Representative will no longer be acting as your investment adviser with respect to financial planning services.

The financial planning services are intended to allow you and your Investment Advisor Representative to view your personal financial position holistically and to plan financial strategies designed to help you meet your future financial goals, to the extent possible, given your current wealth, projected earnings and liabilities, as well as other applicable information. The advice and recommendations we provide in your Financial Plan are both generally focused on your long range financial planning needs and not short-term market activity or fluctuations.

We and your Investment Advisor Representative generally will provide you, as part of the Financial Plan, with recommendations regarding securities, including stocks, bonds, mutual funds and variable annuities, life and other insurance products as well as other financial products and/or services, some of which are issued and/or advised by us and/or one or more of our affiliates (collectively, "Products and Services"). We and/or our affiliates earn advisory, distribution and other fees in connection with those products issued and/or advised by us and/or one or more of our affiliates. Generally, it is more profitable for us if you purchase products that are underwritten and advised by Thrivent and its affiliates. You have the option but no obligation to implement all or any portion of the Financial Plan through us. Any implementation of your Financial Plan will be done separate from the terms of your Agreement and the financial planning services. To the extent that you do implement in whole or in part the Financial Plan by executing transactions through Thrivent as a broker-dealer, a potential conflict of interest may arise between your interest and the interest of Thrivent. If you purchase one or more of these products and services, you will be charged fees that are separate from and in addition to the financial planning fee ("Planning Fee"). Please see "Fees and Compensation" below for further information.

Any product implemented through Thrivent is subject to a suitability review conducted by Thrivent's Suitability Department. Factors that are considered as part of this review are client age, financial status, tax status, current securities holdings, investment objectives, and risk tolerance. The Suitability Department will make a suitability determination related to the suitability of the products or services being recommended through a financial plan are suitable for the client at time of sale.

Thrivent Investment Advisor Representatives also receive training as it relates to offering financial planning. Components of that training focus on determining who is suitable for a financial planning relationship, pricing of the service, fiduciary responsibilities, and how to properly construct an objective financial plan. In addition, the training includes information about an adviser's fiduciary duties to clients, including placing the clients interest before their own and disclosing all conflicts of interest.

Financial plans also receive ongoing review from Financial Planning Specialists and Advanced Retirement Specialists at Thrivent.

Neither the Financial Plan, nor any recommendation or advice that we provide in connection with the Financial Plan, constitutes accounting, legal or tax advice. Please consult with your accountant or legal and tax advisors for advice regarding accounting issues and any legal or tax implications of receiving financial planning services and implementing any recommendation or advice you receive in connection with the Financial Plan.

The advice and recommendations given and the actions taken with respect to each client's Financial Plan may differ from the recommendations and other advice that you receive in connection with financial planning services, even if such clients are similarly situated.

Before the development of your Financial Plan, you will discuss your personal financial circumstances and objectives with your Investment Advisor Representative and your Investment Advisor Representative will capture personal financial and related data including details of your financial situation. This data will include, among other details, assets currently held with Thrivent and/or its affiliates as well as assets held with other financial institutions. You will likely need to provide us source documents to complete the questionnaire. We will be relying in part on the data you provide; therefore, completeness and accuracy of the information is very important. Based on the data and other information you provide we will develop and provide you with a written Financial Plan that is intended to address financial strategies and other recommendations for how you choose to structure your overall portfolio and financial situation in an effort intended to help you to achieve the goals you have identified. The Financial Plan will include a summary of discussions with your Investment Advisor Representative regarding one or more of the financial planning topics identified below and indicated on the Agreement, including your personal financial goals and objectives, the Goal Assumptions and the Core Assumptions currently being used, and the analysis that has been completed along with supporting documentation and written recommendations.

Because the Financial Plan we provide you will be based on information you provide to Thrivent, it is essential that you provide us with complete, accurate and current information about you, your financial goals and needs, financial assets (including investment accounts, brokerage accounts, retirement accounts, employer retirement plans or other assets you have with Thrivent or other financial institutions), liabilities, cash flow, tax situation, investment objectives, risk tolerance and other aspects of your financial situation. Your Investment Advisor Representative may also request copies of relevant documentation, such as tax returns, life insurance contracts, health insurance plan documents, employee benefit statements, and mortgages and other loan documents.

You are responsible for promptly informing us of any changes to the information you have provided to us. We and your Investment Advisor Representative rely on the information you provide to us, including any updates to such information, in connection with preparing reports or summaries and making recommendations in connection with the Financial Plan. We are not in a position to and will not independently verify any information you provide to us, even if the information relates to assets you hold with us. The utility and applicability of any reports, summaries or recommendations we provide is dependent upon the accuracy, completeness and timeliness of the information you provide.

Although we will factor into our analysis the assets you hold through accounts at Thrivent and elsewhere, we will not be acting as your investment adviser or broker with respect to those accounts held at other financial institutions by virtue of our evaluating your holdings in preparing any report or summary or making any recommendations. If you provide the applicable information to do so, your Investment Advisor Representative will complete and deliver the Financial Plan no later than 120 days from the date you sign the Agreement. In certain instances, completion and delivery of the Financial Plan may extend beyond that 120-day period, if mutually agreed upon by you and your Investment Advisor Representative. In these instances, you will be sent written documentation regarding the circumstances of the extension and the terms you and your Investment Advisor Representative have mutually agreed upon regarding the completion and delivery of your Financial Plan. Please refer to the "Fees and Compensation" below regarding fees paid for the Financial Plan and termination of the Agreement, respectively.

Every financial planning relationship will address the financial foundations ("Financial Foundations") of your situation. The purpose of this is to better understand your current financial situation. Financial Foundations include the following:

- Review of your financial position. This may include a review and analysis of assets, liabilities, income and expenses. It typically includes a statement of your net worth and cash flow based on your current financial situation.
- Review of your protection needs. This topic is intended to prepare you for the unexpected needs or impact on cash flow or net worth in the event of premature death, disability, long-term care, or other circumstances specific to your personal financial situation.
- Review of your basic estate planning documents. This topic will include a review of your wills, trusts, power of attorney, health care directives and beneficiaries. It is intended to help you keep these documents current to help ensure your legacy is maintained.

In addition to the Financial Foundations, you and your Investment Advisor Representative may determine to address additional financial planning topics. You will mutually agree on these financial planning topics and will be set forth on a schedule to the Agreement which is part of the Agreement. These topics may include, but are not limited to, one, several or all of the following:

- Investment Planning
- Retirement Planning (Accumulation, Distribution)
- Income Tax Planning
- Accumulation Goal Planning (Future Purchase, Education)
- Estate Planning
- Advanced Estate Planning
- Business Valuation and Continuation Planning

- Stock Options Analysis
- Special Needs

Investment Planning

The Investment Planning topic may provide a personalized portfolio analysis based on your current portfolio assets including asset classification, historical return, efficiency and risk. The analysis is based on your risk tolerance, time horizon, investment objectives and other applicable factors. The Investment Planning topic may include tax sensitive portfolio modeling and separate recommendations for taxable and tax-deferred portfolios. This planning topic may also provide a comparison of current and proposed investment scenarios. If 50% or more of your investable assets are currently held in an investment advisory account with Thrivent, then Investment Planning cannot be individually selected and must be accompanied by at least one other financial topic.

Retirement Planning (Accumulation, Distribution)

The Retirement Planning topic is designed to create strategies intended to optimize your assets pre and post-retirement. This area may identify annual and monthly savings needed for retirement to help you fund your retirement as well as identify potential savings and investment strategies to help you meet your retirement needs. It may include a customized cash flow analysis for each year of retirement including an analysis of an increase or decrease in expenses or earnings, and/or the impact of a significant expense. This financial planning topic may calculate estimated tax rates, the potential effect of tax bracket changes over time, the potential impact of required minimum distributions, strategies for withdrawals of pensions or qualified plans and IRAs, maximizing social security benefits, spending or liquidating certain assets in retirement and the laddering of assets.

Income Tax Planning

The Income Tax Planning topic is designed to illustrate tax implications on savings and withdrawals based upon an average tax rate. This planning topic may provide detailed tax analysis based upon actual tax rates using state specific income tax projections, calculations of Alternative Minimum Tax, itemized deductions and if applicable, the phase-out of itemized deductions and unused charitable deductions. This financial planning topic may also analyze various strategies that are intended to facilitate tax-efficient withdrawals from tax-deferred accounts and minimizing the taxation of social security income. This planning topic does not provide tax or legal advice. As noted below, Thrivent and your Investment Advisor Representative do not, nor does the Financial Plan, provide tax or legal advice.

Accumulation Goal Planning

The Accumulation Goal Planning topic seeks to identify annual and monthly savings needed for various goals such as making a large purchase (e.g., a second home) and/or educational expenses or other income sufficiency needs. This planning topic may also analyze the approach to different personal financial choices that affect such things as spending less for the accumulation goal, saving more for the accumulation goal and adjusting the timing of the accumulation goal. This may include an analysis of your current financial position relative to a level of income sufficiency intended to assess decisions about various other accumulation goals you have identified. This financial planning topic may also include a detailed analysis of multiple goals.

Estate Planning

The Estate Planning topic illustrates the size of your estate and estimates of estate settlement costs, including estate taxes, income taxes at death and the amount passing to heirs. Estate planning may include analysis and advice regarding alternatives intended to help you preserve and transfer wealth, including gifting techniques to reduce estate and income taxes, credit shelter trusts and irrevocable life insurance trusts. Depending upon your personalized needs, you may need more advanced estate planning and your analysis may include additional illustrations of estimated federal estate taxes, state death taxes and taxes on income with respect to a decedent and the amount passing to heirs. Further advanced analysis and advice may include analysis of advanced gifting techniques.

Advanced Estate Planning

The Advanced Estate Planning topic provides an analysis that seeks to help high net worth individuals implement strategies to address complex estate goals and needs for estates with a value exceeding $5 million. This topic may include a review of an existing estate plan, estimates of federal and state estate taxes, costs of estate settlement and income in respect of a decedent (IRD) or gift taxes. The topic may provide for alternating dates of death or order of death among spouses; adjusting the size of the estate through gifting; alternatives for preserving and transferring wealth, including charitable gifting and charitable trusts and use of various grantor trusts, such as revocable or irrevocable trusts. This topic may also take into consideration various entities such as a family limited partnership, unique situations such as a non-citizen spouse, a second family or passing along a business.

Business Valuation and Continuation Planning

The Business Valuation and Continuation Planning topic provides an estimated weighted average for the value of your business using up to four methods. This planning topic is intended for a business owner to help in his or her evaluation of estate planning and buy-sell agreements. The valuation is not an appraisal and should not be used for tax or lending purposes. This planning topic may include analysis of the options for funding buy-sell agreements, illustrating potential methods for funding the replacement value of key employees and providing incentives for key employees.

Stock Options Analysis

The Stock Options planning topic includes analysis and advice regarding multiple strategies for your consideration regarding exercising employment based non-qualified options and incentive stock options. This planning topic may provide a stock option portfolio analysis intended to help you determine the appropriate time to exercise options given risk and reward considerations, and illustrating the after-tax effects of exercise and sell strategies while considering tax and cash flow efficiency.

Special Needs

The Special Needs planning topic may be appropriate for clients who have a child or family member with a chronic illness, physical or mental disability or other special needs. This planning topic may include analysis and advice regarding estate planning considerations, durable powers of attorney, health care directives, a letter of intent, guardianship, budgeting and the use of life insurance as a funding vehicle for trusts. This planning topic seeks to frame the discussion between your family members, your Investment Advisor Representative (with your consent and as applicable) and other professionals or involved persons, especially primary care providers. The Special Needs planning topic cannot be individually selected; it must be accompanied by at least one other related financial planning topic.

Item 5 - Fees and Compensation

You will be charged a Planning Fee for the development of your Financial Plan and your Planning Fee may be negotiable. The Planning Fee will vary based on your personal financial situation and other factors, including but not limited to: (i) the scope of the topics you and your Investment Advisor Representative have mutually agreed to address in your Financial Plan, (ii) the complexity of your financial situation and related analysis, (iii) the experience level and credentials of your Investment Advisor Representative, (iv) current fees for any existing investment advisory accounts or certain other investment advisory services provided by Thrivent, (v) advanced planning needs; and (vi) other factors. You should discuss with your Investment Advisor Representative the amount of the Planning Fee you will pay and that will be indicated on your Agreement within the minimum and maximum amounts.

Planning Fees

Basic	$ 300 - $ 1,200
Moderate	$ 800 - $ 2,500
Advanced	$ 1,500 - $10,000

The Basic complexity fee range is intended for a client whose financial situation complexity is considered to be straightforward. Generally, in these instances, the level of income and net worth are at a point where potential financial solutions and strategies are limited. The potential solutions and strategies are generally less complex to analyze, therefore making it less complex to arrive at recommended strategies.

The Moderate complexity fee range is intended for a client whose financial situation complexity is considered to be average. Generally, in these instances, the level of income and net worth are at a point where potential financial solutions and strategies, though may potentially include many, are not considered advanced thus making it less complex than an advanced case to analyze and arrive at recommended strategies.

The Advanced complexity fee range is intended for a client whose financial situation complexity is considered to be complex. Generally, in these instances, the level of income and net worth are at a point where potential financial solutions and strategies, are greater in number and tend to be more complex, making the analysis and recommended strategies more difficult.

If you contract for one or more of the Advanced Planning Analysis you will be charged a separate fee, in addition to the Planning Fee, for the creation of these Financial Plans. The fees charged for each of these Advanced Planning areas are as follows:

A.	Business Valuation and Continuation Plan	$3000 to $7500
B.	Advanced Estate Plan	$3000 to $7500
C.	Stock Options	$1500 to $3500
D.	Special Needs	$500 to $1000

The minimum Planning Fee is $300 and the maximum Planning Fee will generally not exceed $10,000. Under certain circumstances however, the maximum Planning Fee may exceed the $10,000 maximum amount. In these instances, an additional review of the proposed Planning Fee by Thrivent corporate personnel responsible for the management of financial planning services or their designees will be provided.

Payment of one half of your Planning Fee is due at the time you sign your Financial Planning Agreement with the other half due prior to, or upon receipt of your Financial Plan. The payment of your entire Planning Fee is due prior to your receipt of your Financial Plan. If you decide to terminate your Financial Planning Agreement prior to the receipt of your Financial Plan, you will receive a full refund of your Planning Fee. Your Planning Fee may be higher or lower than fees that other Thrivent clients pay when receiving financial planning services.

If, for any reason, you are unsatisfied with your Financial Plan, you may contact us within 30 days of receipt of the completed Financial Plan and Thrivent will promptly refund your Planning Fee. This request must be in writing and made in accordance with the terms of your Agreement. A refund may also be available if it is determined that Thrivent and your Investment Advisor Representative do not fulfill their obligations within the time period specified for Financial Plan delivery as described above in "Financial Planning Services" above. The payment of any refund will depend upon the specific circumstances of the situation and should first be discussed with your Investment Advisor Representative. A refund may also be available due to changes in your particular circumstances, including but not limited to, your notification to us of your divorce if you have formerly entered into an Agreement with your spouse but prior to your receipt of your Financial Plan. Please see "Termination and Modification of the Service" below for further information.

In addition, we may change or modify the fees for the financial planning services. We will provide you with at least 45 days' prior notice to changing or modifying any fee in accordance with the terms of the Agreement.

You have the option, but no obligation to implement all or any portion of your Financial Plan through Thrivent, as a broker-dealer. Your Financial Plan may be implemented through other financial representatives and firms unaffiliated with Thrivent. You will have the sole responsibility for determining whether and how to implement through or make changes to any Products and Services.

Compensation for the sale of securities and other products

In connection with implementation of your Financial Plan, in Thrivent's broker-dealer capacity, we generally will recommend Products and Services to you that are issued and/or advised by us and/or one or more of our affiliates. These Products and Services may include mutual funds, insurance products and variable annuities. We and/or our affiliates earn advisory, distribution and other fees in connection with these products. Generally, it is more profitable for us if you purchase products that are underwritten and advised by Thrivent and its affiliates. As a result, we have a conflict of interest with you when we recommend products to you that are advised, distributed or issued by us or our affiliates. Although we will only recommend products to you that we believe are suitable for you, in light of the potential conflict of interest, you should carefully evaluate each product and recommendation.

You will be charged the normal account and transactional fees with respect to any Thrivent accounts you maintain and the sales load and other charges with respect to any Products and Services you select in connection with implementing any recommendations and advice in your Financial Plan. Your Planning Fee is in addition to any fees and charges associated with any Products and Services you elect to implement as a result of the Financial Plan. For example, if you purchase a Thrivent Mutual Fund as a result of implementing a recommendation of your Financial Plan, you will pay a certain percentage of the amount you are investing as a commission. This amount is in addition to your Planning Fee. Thrivent does not reduce the Planning Fee to offset any commissions, markups or other sales related charges.

In addition, sales charges or loads, commissions or markups/mark downs and ongoing service fees (including 12b-1 fees and shareholder service fees) may be paid to Thrivent by funds, distributors, insurance underwriters or agents or selling agents of investment products, and/or by investors upon their purchase of such products. To the extent that products include sales loads and additional marketing fees, such as Rule 12b-1 fees or trailing commissions, such as those paid in connection with insurance products, Thrivent generally will retain those fees (except in respect of Retirement Accounts, as described below). As a result, it may be more profitable for us if you elect to invest in a product that pays us an additional fee.

Generally, Investment Advisor Representatives that provide financial planning services are compensated on a commission and/or percentage of fees basis for the sale of products and services you pay to Thrivent. As a result, they have an incentive to recommend such products and services in developing your Financial Plan. For further information on this conflict of interest, see Financial Planning Services above. They also have the opportunity to earn certain non-cash compensation. For example, non-cash compensation may include, but is not limited to, qualification towards attendance at a field conference based on the sale of products and services.

Certain Investment Advisor Representatives offering financial planning services are employees of Thrivent and an affiliate and are paid a salary and have an opportunity to earn a bonus. Investment Advisor Representatives may also earn non-cash compensation such as qualification for attendance at a field conference. The bonus and non-cash compensation are based on the overall revenue of each branch office.

Item 6 - Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Thrivent does not charge performance based fees to its financial planning clients nor is such type of fee charges for any other services offered by Thrivent. Therefore, this disclosure item is not applicable.

Item 7 - Types of Clients

As an investment adviser, Thrivent provides investment management and advisory services to individuals, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations, and other business entities.

The suitability of a financial planning relationship is determined on a case by case basis given that each client situation is different. Generally, there are several factors that are considered in determining the appropriateness of a fee-based financial planning relationship. These factors include, among others, net worth, current and potential income sources, investable assets, estate planning needs, complexity of the financial plan and the areas of financial planning topics to be covered.

Item 8 - Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Thrivent's representatives may rely on a number of tools to assist in the financial planning process, including asset allocation and various types of software. Thrivent's financial planning services are generally designed with a view to long-term investment. Representatives provide financial planning services concerning various types of securities, investment and insurance products. You should be aware that investing in securities, investment and insurance products involves inherent risks including the possible loss of the total principal amount invested. Clients should carefully review all agreement and product offering documents to better understand the risks associated with each security, investment and insurance product.

As part of the financial planning process, based on the financial planning topics you select, certain assumptions regarding your current personal goals and objectives will be utilized such as your ongoing expenses, desired retirement age, and the number of years until your children enter college ("Goal Assumptions"). Additionally, during the financial planning process, certain general assumptions relating to the market and interest and other rates will also be utilized, including but not limited to, rates of investment performance, inflation rates and tax rates ("Core Assumptions"). The Financial Plan contains projections, such as the likelihood of various investment outcomes or the performance of investment products and services, and is based on the "Goal Assumptions" and the "Core Assumptions" (as these terms are defined immediately above). These projections are hypothetical economic scenarios and do not reflect actual investment results or guarantee future results. Your investment results and the actual rates of return you will experience may vary from such projections and are not guaranteed.

Various tools and projections used in the planning process do not make fixed assumptions about general economic conditions and market events, including future performance of the equity markets, inflation rates or interest rates. Instead, various tools and projections provide you and your Investment Advisor Representative the opportunity to evaluate various planning choices and scenarios, applicable to the financial topics you have selected, by modeling varying potential outcomes regarding such markets and rates. Actual results will depend upon a number of factors outside of our control, such as inflation, interest rates, and creditworthiness of entities and/or securities you invest in, your own financial needs, changes in regulation and the range of financial instruments available in the marketplace. Because we rely on certain Goal Assumptions and Core Assumptions and on the information you provide, if the information you provide is not accurate and/or the Goal Assumptions and the Core Assumptions are not realized, the reports, recommendations or advice we deliver may not be useful or appropriate.

In addition, the same methodologies may produce different results over time as additional historical data becomes available or if our assumptions or methodologies are modified. We also provide model or other asset allocation and portfolio construction strategies that can produce different results because they use different methodologies and goals, and because those services may be targeted to a specific group of individuals with different economic situations and goals. Other Thrivent programs and services may use similar or the same tools, projections and client materials than those provided as part of these financial planning services. We may charge fees for such other services that may be higher or lower than your Planning Fee. Please see the disclosure brochures and other materials related to those other services for further information relating to those services, including fees. You should carefully evaluate with your Investment Advisor Representative whether these financial planning services are appropriate for you given your particular financial planning needs and goals.

The assumptions used in the Financial Plan are based on the information you provide and reviewed by you and your Investment Advisor Representative. Items such as investment results, cash inflows and outflows, and taxes cannot be accurately predicted in the future so your actual results will vary from what is illustrated. Assumptions must be reconsidered on a frequent basis to ensure the results are adjusted accordingly.

The results presented in the Financial Plan are not predictions of actual results. Actual results may vary to a material degree due to external factors beyond the scope and control of the Financial Plan. Historical data is used to produce future assumptions used in the Financial Plan, such as rates of return. Past performance is not a guarantee or predictor of future performance.

The Financial Plan also does not consider the selection of individual securities; the Financial Plan generally will provide you with model portfolios. The results contained do not constitute an actual offer to buy, sell, or recommend a particular investment or product. All investments involve some degree of risk. The illustrations are not indicative of this future performance of actual investments, which will fluctuate over time and may lose value.

If you decide to implement your Financial Plan through Thrivent or elsewhere, you should be aware that investing in securities involves risks, including the possible loss of principal. Individual prospectuses for applicable securities, including mutual funds held in an account, contain more complete information on the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of the investment company, which investors should read and consider before investing. To obtain prospectuses, contact your financial representative or call 800-THRIVENT (800-847-4836).

Thrivent recommends you periodically update your Financial Plan. Any update must be mutually agreed upon by you and your Investment Advisor Representative. However, your Investment Advisor Representative has no obligation to contact you outside the terms of your Agreement. If you and your Investment Advisor Representative decide that an update to your Financial Plan is necessary, you will sign a new Agreement and the Planning Fee will be based on the fee schedule above and may be negotiable.

Item 9 -Disciplinary Information

There are currently no legal or disciplinary events to disclose related to the adviser or its management's integrity.

Thrivent Financial Bank (the "Bank") is a wholly owned subsidiary of Thrivent Financial and an affiliate of Thrivent. The Bank is a federal savings bank with its main office in Appleton, Wisconsin. Please see your tax or legal adviser or your accountant, as applicable, for any questions relating to tax planning, tax preparation services, legal issues or accounting questions.

Upon the completion of the financial planning services and the delivery of your Financial Plan, this Agreement will terminate and Thrivent and your Investment Advisor Representative will no longer be acting as your investment adviser. Thrivent is dually registered as an investment adviser and broker-dealer. You have the option, but no obligation to implement all or any portion of your Financial Plan through Thrivent, as a broker-dealer. You will have the sole responsibility for determining whether and how to implement through or make changes to any Products and Services.

In connection with implementation of your Financial Plan, in Thrivent's broker-dealer capacity, we generally will recommend Products and Services to you that are issued and/or advised by us and/or one or more of our affiliates. These Products and Services may include mutual funds, insurance products and variable annuities. We and/or our affiliates earn advisory, distribution and other fees in connection with these products. Generally, it is more profitable for us if you purchase products that are underwritten and advised by Thrivent and its affiliates. As a result, we have a conflict of interest with you when we recommend products to you that are advised, distributed or issued by us or our affiliates. Although we will only recommend products to you that we believe are suitable for you, in light of the potential conflict of interest, you should carefully evaluate each product and recommendation.

Thrivent receives additional compensation, sometimes referred to as "revenue sharing," from affiliates of certain mutual funds providers. This compensation may be based on sales volume or assets under management and is paid by the investment adviser or distributor of the mutual fund out of its own resources. These additional payments are intended to compensate Thrivent for facilitating the distribution of the mutual funds by providing product sponsors access to financial representatives, including through training sessions and educational programs, marketing and sales support. This additional compensation is not paid to any Investment Advisor Representative. Please note, however, that these payments may present a potential conflict of interest because Thrivent's receipt of additional compensation gives it a financial incentive to include mutual funds for which the firm receives revenue sharing payments. For further details on these financial arrangements, including a full list of providers, please see our website (www.thrivent.com).

To the extent that your account is a plan subject to the provisions of Title I, Part 4 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, a tax qualified plan of self-employed persons, or an individual retirement account or other plan, within the meaning of section 4975(e) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (together, "Retirement Accounts"), we will rebate sales loads, Rule 12b-1 fees and similar marketing fees related to mutual funds advised by Thrivent or its affiliates or by unaffiliated third parties against the investment advisory account fees payable with respect to the Retirement Account. In addition, to the extent you, on behalf of a Retirement Account, elect to invest in a mutual fund that is advised by us or one of our affiliates, we will also retain your pro rata share of the advisory fees paid by the mutual fund to us or our affiliate and apply those amounts to offset the investment advisory account fees payable by you.
