Types of Portfolio Management Services

Crowell Weedon Asset Management Program Description

Crowell Weedon Asset Management is a fee-only investment advisory program sponsored by Crowell Weedon & Co. ("CWCO-IA"). The program provides individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, and business entities the ability to receive discretionary portfolio management and trade in individual debt and equity securities, mutual funds, index funds, exchange traded funds, options, and other eligible securities. These securities are collectively referred to as "Eligible Securities". Eligible securities do not include separate brokerage commissions or transaction charges. The program has four separate strategies for which each may have several models based on the investors' time horizon, risk tolerance, income needs and tax situation. The four strategies are: CWAM – Montecito Investment Portfolios (Balanced Asset Allocation), CWAM – Foundations (Flexible Total Return), CWAM – Eagle (Equity Option Income), and CWAM – DS Portfolios (Balanced Portfolios).

CWAM - Montecito Investment Portfolios

Montecito investment Portfolios is a fee-only investment advisory program introduced through CWCO-IA. The mission of Montecito Investment Portfolios is to provide diversified, disciplined, long-termed investment solutions, and service and guidance to help our clients. Assets are generally allocated amongst ownership of corporate stock, income securities, and income producing real estate, and asset based securities. Using these asset classes and rebalancing to a client's allocation range generally creates a strategy for clients to endure change over economic cycles. Additionally, over the long term, rebalancing helps provide the discipline for assets to be purchased at lows vs. highs; and usually reduces the overall volatility of a portfolio. Eligible securities include individual debt and equity securities, mutual funds, index funds, exchange-traded funds, master limited partnerships, and other eligible securities the manager deems appropriate. Options and futures are prohibited.

CWAM - Foundations Portfolio

Foundations is a fee-only investment advisory program introduced through CWCO-IA, and is designed to be the foundation of a long-term investor's core assets. It is appropriate for both private investors and fiduciaries, and can be tailored to meet the needs of either taxable or non-taxable accounts. Four alternative strategic asset allocation models are structured according to a client's primary goals: Capital Preservation, Income with Growth, Growth with Income, or Capital Appreciation. Foundations uses an investment process that seeks to actively align the portfolio with long-term client goals while adjusting for risks and opportunities in the shorter-term. An appropriate investment posture is generally different in each of the four distinct phases of the economic cycle: Early Growth, Mature, Early Decline, and Recession. Portfolio Managers seek to navigate the economic cycle by tactically adjusting the asset allocation within permitted ranges and selecting securities based upon fundamentals, valuation and market conditions. A Foundations Portfolio invests in four distinct asset classes: stocks, debt securities, cash equivalents, and shares representing hard assets. Foundations portfolios may hold individual securities, exchange-traded funds, and/or mutual funds at net asset value.

CWAM - Eagle Portfolio

Eagle Portfolio is a fee-only investment advisory program introduced through CWCO-IA. The Eagle Investment program employs a standardized portfolio approach, utilizing equity securities and a covered call writing strategy. The program focuses on "high quality stocks" that pay dividends and sell call options. The investor receives income in the form of dividends, and cash flow is increased through premiums received from selling "covered calls". Investors best suited for this program are neutral to moderately bullish on the stock market, willingly limit upside potential in exchange for increasing cash flow, and would like to be paid for assuming the obligation of selling a particular stock at a specified price in the future. Acceptable asset classes of investment vehicles include: common stock, convertible stock, preferred stock, American Depositary Receipts, covered-call options contracts, partnerships, municipal debt, treasury and government agency debt, investment-grade corporate debt, ETNs, ETFs, Mutual funds and money market funds.

Eagle Portfolio Managers

Sean Casey was born in 1962. Mr. Casey has been employed by Crowell, Weedon & Co since 1990. Mr. Casey is a member of the Investment Policy Committee of CWCO-IA. Mr. Casey attended Montana State University and received his Bachelor of Arts in Speech in 1988.

Assets under Management

As of April 30, 2013, CWAM manages assets below:

Strategy	Assets Under Management	Total # of Accounts
Montecito	$31,925,949	49
Foundations	$39,342,638	69
Eagle	$26,449,091	74
Total	$97,717,678	192

Wrap Fees charged

CWAM annual management fee schedule for accounts range from 0.25% to 3.00% of the account's value. Initial Investment amounts will vary depending upon the strategy you select. Account Fees are negotiable and subject to discounts on an Advisor-by-Advisor or account-by-account basis.

The Wrap Fee schedule below details the Annual Maximum Fee the client is paying for the services of their IAR, custody, trading, supervision, documentation, statements and custody as the "Annual Maximum Fee". The IAR will share in a percentage of that fee based on amount of gross revenue they generate for the firm. The CWAM Investment Manager compensation is listed separately as "CWAM". The Investment Managers receive 60% of the CWAM Fee and CWCO-IA receives 40% of the CWAM Fee. The maximum total fee that you the client will be charged is listed in the column "Total Maximum Wrap Fee".

Portfolio Value	Annual Maximum Fee	CWAM	Total Maximum Wrap Fee
First - $250,000	2.50%	0.50%	3.00%
Next - $250,000	2.25%	0.50%	2.75%
Next - $500,000	2.00%	0.50%	2.50%
Next - $1,000,000	1.75%	0.50%	2.25%
Next - $3,000,000	1.50%	0.50%	2.00%
Over - $5,000,000	Negotiable	Negotiable	Negotiable

(Active accounts and accounts for the Eagle strategy that are established at, or below, $250,000 of assets, will be assessed an additional $15.00 per trade fee. CWCO's IAR and CWAM Mangers do not receive any portion of this fee.)

The annual management fee is assessed quarterly in advance, and is usually based on the closing value of the assets in your managed account at the end of the previous quarter. No portion of the Management Fee is based on a sharing of capital gains or capital appreciation of the Assets and no increase in the Quarterly Management Fee will be initiated without prior written notification to you.

Generally, when you execute CWCO's Management Agreement, you are authorizing CWCO-IA to invoice the Custodian for the Management Fee and direct and authorize the Custodian to deduct the amount stated in the Management Agreement directly from your Account. You also direct and authorize CWCO-IA to instruct the Custodian to send you a statement, at least quarterly, indicating all activity in your Account including the Management Fee paid from the Account. It is your responsibility to verify the accuracy of the calculation of the Management Fee. Neither CWCO-IA nor the Custodian will determine whether the Management Fee is accurate or was properly calculated.

Unless you provide otherwise in your advisory agreement, all fees owed to CWCO-IA in connection with a managed account are automatically debited from your managed account or, at your direction, from another one of your accounts held by CWCO-IA. All checks are to be made payable to Crowell, Weedon & Co.

You may make additions to and withdrawals from your CW Account at any time, providing sufficient funds are available and subject to CWCO's right to terminate the account if it falls below the minimum portfolio requirement of $75,000.00. If Assets are deposited into the Account after the inception of the quarter that exceed $40,000.00, the Management Fee payable on the additional Assets will also be prorated based on the number of days remaining in the quarter and deducted from the Account. You may withdraw Assets from your CW Account after providing CWCO with notice. All withdrawals are subject to customary securities settlement procedures. For partial withdrawals in excess of $40,000.00, within a billing period, CWCO will credit any unearned Management Fee to the next quarter's Fee. Deposits or withdrawals for less than the amounts stated above will not be prorated for purposes of calculating your quarterly management fee.

If a managed account is opened or closed during a month prior to the end of the billing period, the management fee will be pro-rated based on the number of days remaining in the quarter and deducted from the Account, unless the executed management agreement specifies otherwise. These fees are automatically deducted from your managed account by CWCO-IA or the clearing party that provides custody and clearing services for the managed account. Where there is not enough cash or funds in a managed account to pay the management fee, the account will be rebalanced to generate a sufficient level of cash or funds to meet this expense, or in some cases, you may be billed directly for the management fee.

CWAM Investment Management Services are available to unaffiliated Registered Investment Advisory firms where due diligence has been performed and annual reviews are conducted. In such a situation where CWAM managers are hired for their portfolio management services solely and no CWCO-IA IAR is involved and the custody of funds is away from CWCO-BD, the following maximum fee schedule is employed:

Portfolio Value	CWAM
First - $1,000,000	0.75%
Next - $9,000,000	0.50%
Over - $10,000,000	Negotiable

Relative Cost of the Program

The CWAM Wrap Fee Program may cost you more than purchasing all of the bundled services separately. , Depending upon the level of the single fee charged under a wrap program, you should consider if the package of services is right for you. Based upon the amount of portfolio activity in the account and the value of custodial and portfolio monitoring services, the single fee may be higher or lower than the total cost of bundled services you receive if you were to pay for each service separately. Those bundled services include, but are not limited to, Investment Management, Custody, Transactions, Monitors, Monthly Statements, Advice and Counsel, and Investment Advisor Representative services. For those clients who have access to other resources we have made the Investment Management portion of the CWAM program available unbundled.

Additional Fees

In addition to the Fees described above you may also incur certain charges imposed by unaffiliated third parties. Such charges include, but are not limited to, custodial fees, brokerage commissions, transaction fees, charges imposed directly by a mutual fund, index fund, or exchange traded fund which are disclosed in the fund's prospectus (e.g., fund management fees and other fund expenses), certain deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer fees and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions.

Other fees that you may be charged may consist of custody and clearing fees, reporting fees, outside money manager fees, on-going mutual fund fees and expenses imposed by the mutual fund company. Additional fees other than those described above may apply depending on the products and services used.

Some mutual fund companies offer Advisor Class shares that do not carry 12b-1 fees. Whenever possible, CWCO will try to place "non-fee" Advisor Class shares into your account. For those fund companies that do not offer Advisor Class shares, it is the general policy of CWCO not to pay 12b-1 fees to its Investment Advisor Representatives.

Managed accounts may include traditional open-end actively managed mutual funds that are either no-load or load-waived funds. Exchange Traded Funds ("ETFs") — managed accounts may be comprised of ETFs that are exchange traded index mutual funds. Other managed account types may implement active sector and tactical asset management techniques utilizing short selling, leveraging and rotation among asset classes or sectors, and derivative strategies. As previously mentioned CWCO-BD is a registered broker-dealer and is a member of Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA"), and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC"). Transactions are executed by CWCO-BD or the broker-dealer you selected by the qualified custodian, depending on where the assets are maintained. Clearing firm fees and execution charges vary among firms and you may pay higher or lower execution costs depending upon the fee schedule of each clearing entity or qualified custodian.

Compensation to person's recommending the program

CWCO-IA IARs are compensated for recommending and providing ongoing client relationship services based on the schedule of fees outlined above. The IAR may receive more compensation by recommending this program to you than they would receive if you participated in other programs offered by CWCO-IA or if you paid separately for investment advise, brokerage, and other services. Therefore, the IAR may have a financial incentive to recommend the CWAM program over other programs and services. However, you should consider that the additional cost for the CWAM program provides you with more comprehensive portfolio management services.

Item 5 Account Requirements and Types of Clients

Account Size and Minimums

Strategy	Minimum Account Size
Montecito	$ 250,000
Foundations	$ 250,000
Eagle	$ 100,000

As a condition for participating in the Program, CWCO-IA generally imposes a minimum account value of $250,000.00 for Montecito and Foundations Accounts and $100,000 for Eagle Accounts. Program accounts are charged a maximum all inclusive annual wrap fee of 3.00% (with Eagle accounts that are established at, or below $250,000 also assessed a $15 per transaction charge) based on the asset value of the account; and debited quarterly. This minimum fee may have the effect of making the Program impractical for persons with Accounts less than stated minimums under the Firm's management in the Program. However, the Firm may, in its sole discretion, accept Clients into the Program with smaller Accounts based upon certain criteria, including anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, portfolio composition, related accounts, and pre-existing relationships.

CWCO-IA shall only accept Clients into the Program with less than the minimum Account if the Firm believes the smaller Account size will not cause a substantial increase of investment risk beyond the Client's stated risk tolerance. The Firm may aggregate the portfolios of family members to meet the minimum Account size.

Types of clients

Clients include individuals, pension and profit-sharing plans, self-directed IRA's, 401(k) plans and participants, 403(b)(7) plans and participants, trusts, charitable remainder trusts (CRTs), estates, and not-for-profit organizations.

Item 6 CWAM Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

Selection process and basis for recommendation

All CWAM Portfolio Managers have been approved for managing discretionary accounts. CWCO-IA Investment Advisor Representatives will meet the following requirements before they are authorized to manage any discretionary accounts:

- Financial Advisor must submit application for discretionary approval to the Investment Policy Committee
- Financial Advisor must have been in the business for a minimum of 5 years
- Financial Advisor must have a certain minimum assets under management
- Financial Advisor's disciplinary history will be reviewed

Additional qualifications as outlined on the application for discretionary management are carefully reviewed by the IPC. After the Financial Advisor has been approved for discretionary management, should he/she thereafter desire to become a CWAM Portfolio manager, further applications and a detail due diligence review of the Financial Advisor will apply. Conditions to be considered for review and approval include:

- Investment strategy
- Assets under management
- Investment experience
- Disciplinary history
- Performance

Once a Portfolio Manager has been approved to have a portfolio strategy within CWAM, the information on their strategy is made available to all of the CWCO-IA IARs. Each of those IARs in consultations with their clients, and after gathering the profile information required to open an account with CWCO-IA, will determine if their clients needs are met by the CWAM manager or another related manager. If the CWAM manager is a complimentary fit for the client then the IAR will recommend placement of funds with the CWAM manager.

Standards for portfolio manager performance and Reviews of Performance

The IPC, or its designee, will periodically review each CWAM Strategy. This may be done through a sample review of accounts to verify adherence to the defined standards.

CWCO-IA has access to independent performance reports in accordance to industry standards. These reports are reviewed periodically by the IAR's designated supervisor.

Absence of 3rd party review of performance

The periodic review of the performance reports by the designated supervisor does not ensure a comprehensive review of all portfolio managers' activity. Each client has a responsibility to review their account to determine if the manager is performing in accordance with the Investment Policy Statement and adhering with the chosen strategy and model allocation.

Related Person Conflicts of Interest

All of the managers within the CWAM program are related persons and their selection criteria is outlined above in Item 6. While the CWCO-IA has other wrap fee managers who are independent 3rd party managers, in the CWAM program all of the related persons portfolio managers are employed by CWCO-IA. The related persons Portfolio managers are reviewed and approved for CWAM management by the IPC. Some CWAM Portfolio Managers are also members of the IPC. The review and approval of proposed CWAM managers is not voted on by existing CWAM managers that are members of the IPC. Therefore, several of the related persons portfolio managers who serve on the Investment Policy Committee, that have a direct conflict, are required to recuse themselves from any decisions that impact their strategy or the CWAM program in general.

Regarding discretionary accounts, clients have the ability to place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments that may be purchased. Thereafter, CWCO and its Investment Adviser Representative will make account decisions that are consistent with the client's investment objectives and risk tolerance. A non-discretionary account requires CWCO to obtain client authorization before it makes any investment decisions. The investment management and supervisory services that clients receive depends on the client's individual financial and personal needs, investment objectives, risk tolerance, and time horizon.

Principal Owners

CWCO is a wholly owned subsidiary of D.A. Davidson and D.A. Davidson is a wholly owned subsidiary of Davidson Companies, a financial services holding company. Within the next six to nine months CWCO will be merged with and into D. A. Davidson and CWCO will become a division of D.A. Davidson.

Types of Advisory Services

CWCO-IA offers a variety of investment management programs, which include customized portfolios, Advisor as manager programs, internal asset management programs, outside third party platform providers, separately managed asset programs, and mutual fund fee-based programs. Generally, investment management programs are for investors with a medium to long-term time horizon; however, various programs may be appropriate for certain investors with a short-term time horizon. Different time horizons may exist within a single portfolio.

With the assistance of your Investment Adviser representative (IAR), you will select an appropriate program based upon your individual needs. These include, but are not limited to, financial and personal needs, investment objectives, risk tolerance, and time horizon.

Minimum Account Size: Generally, the type of managed program will determine the initial and on-going account balance requirements. For internally managed programs, CWCO-IA may permit you to invest less than the program's initial investment amount or allow you to aggregate multiple account balances to meet the minimum investment amount if CWCO-IA believes that, based on information you provide to your IAR, investing a lower amount is appropriate for you or you have established additional managed accounts with CWCO-IA or the IAR.

Advisor as Manager program

The Advisor as Manager program is an investment management plan that enables CWCO-IA's IAR to continuously and actively manage your account in accordance with your investment policy statement or selected investment strategy. CWCO-IA's IARs may, at your direction, be granted discretion over your account. Funds and securities may be held at CWCO-BD, Pershing, Schwab, TD Ameritrade, or the qualified custodian of an outside third party manager.

Crowell Weedon Advisor Accounts:

- ❖ CW Portfolio Advisor and CW FundPort Advisor – Portfolio Advisor accounts are generally comprised of equity and fixed income investments. FundPort portfolios are primarily designed for mutual fund investing, although these portfolios may also contain ETFs. There are no ticket charges or over-limit trading charges for CW Portfolio Advisor, CW Fixed Income Advisor or CW FundPort Advisor. However, the CW Portfolio Advisor and CW FundPort Advisor portfolios have been designed for long-term investment accounts, not for actively traded accounts. Certain account activity may require the conversion to CW Portfolio AdvisorPlus at the sole and absolute discretion of CWCO. Within 5 business days, CWCO will provide you with written notice within 5-business days prior to converting your account.
- ❖ CW Portfolio AdvisorPlus - The CW Portfolio AdvisorPlus has been designed for accounts with more activity but may also be used for inactive accounts. In addition to the Management Fee, if CWCO-BD is either the Broker-Dealer or Custodian for your Account, you will also be assessed a $15.00 per trade transaction fee which is intended to offset the total costs associated with completing transactions and managing the level of your activity. If you select another Broker-Dealer or Custodian, the transaction fees, if any, will be determined by the other Broker-Dealer and/or Custodian.

- ❖ CW Asset Manager – These types of accounts are used when a CWCO IAR refers the management of your account to another CWCO money manager. You may be charged an additional 0.50% management fee for the Asset Manager's services. The management fee will be divided between the Investment Advisor Representative and the Asset Manager in accordance with the applicable fee and compensation schedules. (Please see page 3 for additional information on CW Asset Manager programs).

Third party Platform Providers:

Outside third party platform providers may include separately managed assets, UMAs and/or mutual fund fee-based programs. These programs are selected through a detailed review process by Executives of the outside third party platform providers. Outside third party platform providers may select funds and programs using a screening process that looks at various investment criteria, including risk-adjusted performance, management continuity, portfolio composition, investment style, expense structure, turnover rate, asset growth rate, asset allocation and various risk measurements. CWCO-IA currently uses Envestnet, and Lockwood Advisors as Third Party Platform providers. CWCO also uses Schwab Institutional. Outside third party platform providers, managers, and consultants are not affiliated with CWCO-IA.

	Assets Under Management	Total# of Accounts
Discretionary	530,395,775	1,334

Performance-Based Fees and Side by Side Management

No portion of the Management Fee is based on a sharing of capital gains or capital appreciation of your assets.

CWCO does not use a performance-based fee structure because of the potential conflict of interest. Performance-based compensation may create an incentive for the Investment Advisor to recommend investments that may carry a higher degree of risk to you.

(Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss)

Securities analysis may include charting, fundamental, technical, cyclical, and quantitative methodologies.

Fundamental analysis generally involves assessing a company's or security's value based on factors such as sales, assets, markets, management, products and services, earnings, and financial structure.

Technical analysis generally involves studying trends and movements in a security's price, trading volume, and other market-related factors in an attempt to discern patterns.

Cyclical analysis generally involves studying the investments sensitive to business cycles and whose performance is strongly tied to the overall economy. For example, cyclical companies tend to make products or provide services that are in lower demand during downturns in the economy and higher demand during upswings. Examples include the automobile, steel, and housing industries. The stock price of a cyclical company will often rise just before an economic upturn begins, and fall just before a downturn begins. Investors in cyclical stocks try to make the largest gains by buying the stock at the bottom of a business cycle, just before a turnaround begins.

Quantitative analysis generally seeks to understand behavior by using complex mathematical and statistical modeling, measurement and research. By assigning a numerical value to variables, quantitative analysts try to replicate reality mathematically.

We may also apply our proprietary research and analytics, portfolio diagnostics and risk management to the development of investment portfolios and solutions to achieve your objectives.

CWCO-IA does not represent, warrant or imply that the services or methods of analysis used by CWCO-IA can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate you from losses due to market corrections, crashes, or extraordinary events. No guarantees can be offered that your goals or objectives will be achieved. Further, no promises or assumptions can be made that the advisory services offered by CWCO-IA will provide a better return than other investment strategies. Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. Past performances of any recommended managers or funds or securities, or the success of a manager is no guarantee of future success. There can be no assurance that you will not incur losses. The following risk factors are not intended to be a full or complete listing of all the risks involved in investing, and you should engage in your own evaluation of such risks.

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, the face value on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline. Similarly, equities may also suffer from a rising interest rates. Therefore, in real terms, your portfolio may not keep up with the rate of inflation.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events that may cause prices to fall.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk. Investments made in foreign countries may depreciate if the corresponding value of the country's currency goes down.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of potential profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many individuals are interested in buying or selling a standard asset or product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Voting Client Securities

Unless we agree otherwise in writing, CWCO-IA is precluded from and you are responsible for directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities you beneficially own are voted. You authorize and direct us to instruct the Custodian to forward to you copies of all proxies and shareholder communications relating to the Assets.

Therefore, CWCO-IA will not vote proxies or act on any other corporate actions requiring shareholder actions. You, including a “named fiduciary” under ERISA, specifically reserves the right to vote your own proxies or to take shareholder action with respect to other corporate actions requiring shareholder actions or designate a third party to vote on your behalf. You may also designate a third party to vote proxies on your behalf. The account Custodian will forward proxies and corporate actions to your address of record or to your designee.

Proxy voting policies and procedures are available upon written request to the address on Form ADV, Part 2, and Page 1.

Item 9 Additional Information

Disciplinary Information

In the past, CWCO-IA has entered into certain settlements with our regulators and other third parties and have been subject to adverse legal and disciplinary events. Below are summaries of certain events that may be material to your decision of whether to retain us for your investment advisory needs. Please note that the disclosures discuss disciplinary events associated with CWCO's broker dealer activities and do not specifically relate to the firm's investment advisory business. In addition to the descriptions below, you can find additional information regarding these settlements in Part 1 of CWCO's Form ADV at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov.

On May 30, 2012, FINRA imposed a censure and $40,000 fine on CWCO for failing to require three individuals in supervisory capacities with respect to the firm securities business obtain the Series 24 as required by NASD Membership and Registration Rule 1022. As a condition of the sanction, CWCO fulfilled its obligation to:

- (a) Ensure that all the firm's employees are properly registered;
- (b) Ensure that the unregistered individuals mentioned above do not act in a supervisory capacity until they obtain a Series 24 license;
- (c) Revise the firm's written supervisory procedures to clearly designate the individuals responsible for supervision and how often such steps should be taken

On May 30, 2008, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA), censured and fined CWCO $25,000 for violating the Securities Exchange Act and NASD rules. Between November 2004 and December 2005, CWCO was the subject of findings from four separate examinations conducted by the NYSE Division of Member Firm regulation. In the 2004 Sales Practice Unit ("SPRU") examination, the firm was found to have failed to have promptly filed a Form RE-3 with the NYSE on two separate occasions in connection with the misappropriation of funds by firm employees. In the 2004 and 2005 financial and operation examinations, the firm was found to have a business continuity plan that failed to meet the required elements. In the 2004 and 2005 SPRU examinations, the firm was found to have failed to properly complete its handwritten order tickets.

On May 21, 2007, the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) issued an order censuring and fining CWCO $225,000 for violating NYSE Rule 401(A) in that it did not at all times adhere to the principles of good business practice in the conduct of its business affairs, by:

- (a) Failing to timely deliver prospectuses in connection with certain sales of registered securities in violation of Section 5(B)(2) of the Securities Act of 1933.
- (b) Failing to disclose to customers that its Registered Representatives were given opportunities to attend Sales Conferences at resort locations, and to receive increased commission compensation from the firm, with respect to customer transactions in certain investment products.
- (c) Violating NYSE Rule 100(B) in that it failed to deliver product descriptions in connection with the sales of certain Exchange Traded Funds.

Violated NYSE Rule 342 by failing to have policies and procedures in place reasonably designed to:

- (a) Cause prospectuses or product descriptions to be delivered to customers in connection with certain sales of registered securities, as required.
- (b) Cause disclosure to customers that its registered representatives were given opportunities to attend sales conferences at resort locations, and transactions in certain investment products.

On April 15, 2002, the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) issued an order censuring and fining CWC0 $55,000 for:

- (a) Violating Rule 345(A) in that the firm permitted registered persons who had not complied with their continuing education requirement to perform their duties;
- (b) Violating Rule 401 in that the firm failed to adhere to the principles of good business practice by failing to conduct any formal analysis or review of data with respect to its obligation to provide best executions for its customers orders;
- (c) Violating Rule 346.16 in that the firm failed to implement reasonable supervisory procedures to review the outgoing correspondence of producing Branch Managers.
- (d) Violating Rule 342 in that the firm failed to provide reasonable supervision and a separate system of follow-up review to assure that continuing education and best execution requirements were complied with.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Broker-Dealer:

Crowell, Weedon & Co. is dually registered as a broker-dealer and investment advisor. As such, most, if not all of the IARs are licensed to sell securities in their capacity as Registered Representatives or Registered Principals ("RR") of CWC0-BD. As Registered Representatives, they may receive commission compensation for selling securities. This is a conflict of interest. They may also sell mutual funds and receive 12(b)-1 fees in addition to commissions. (12(b)-1 fees, named after a section of the Investment Company Act of 1940, are annual marketing or distribution fees and considered an operational or administrative expense). The fees are included as a part of the mutual fund's total expense ratio and are paid from the mutual fund's assets. Therefore, the fees come indirectly from your account assets at the mutual fund company. Every mutual fund prospectus includes a description of the fund's fees and expenses.

To reduce this conflict of interest, the arrangement mentioned above is generally not applicable in investment management accounts. IARs are not paid 12b-1 fees on managed accounts. Further, IARs may either charge a quarterly management fee or commissions, but not both. Additionally, IARs are obligated to recommend mutual funds and other investments that are in your best interest and not based on compensation that they or CWC0-BD may receive from making the mutual fund or securities recommendation.

Also, If CWCO-BD executes your securities transactions, or securities execution is through the broker-dealer who has custody of your managed account, CWCO-BD may benefit from this activity including, but not limited to, the offset of any fees or commissions earned against certain minimum annual financial requirements CWCO-BD has with these firms in the normal course of business.

In the process of acting in the best interest of our clients, CWCO-BD will occasionally conduct principal trades in commission accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where CWCO-BD, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to you. The conflict of interest with principal trading is that by buying securities from or selling securities to you to/from CWCO's inventory account, your IAR may be tempted to make investment decisions for you that are based, not on what is in your best interest, but on the compensation to be received by him/her/CWCO. To lessen this conflict, CWCO will not conduct principal trading in your management (fee-based) accounts. However, during the normal securities clearing process, trading in advisory accounts will, occasionally, be held intra-day in internal inventory accounts to facilitate clearing. Should such transactions occur, they are purely incidental and not designed to benefit CWCO or its employees.

Additionally, CWCO will not conduct agency cross transactions in your advisory account. An agency cross transaction is defined as a transaction in which an IAR of CWCO acts as broker for both you, an advisory client, and for another person on the other side of the transaction. It is CWCO-IA's policy that the firm will not cross trades between your account and other clients' accounts.

Further, transactions in your investment management accounts may be executed through various broker-dealers. If you are a Financial Planning client, you may elect to implement recommended transactions through CWCO-BD or an alternate broker-dealer of your choice. CWCO-IA does not direct brokerage transactions for financial planning investment purchases, this authority remains with you.

Insurance Agency:

Some IARs may also be licensed life agents or are agents and/or brokers for various insurance companies. Crowell, Weedon & Co. is under common ownership with its insurance company and registered investment advisor. If you purchase insurance products (including variable and fixed annuities), your IAR, in the capacity as a life agent, will receive separate and customary commission compensation for insurance sales. This conflict may be reduced by not including the value of the insurance assets in the quarterly computation for managed fees.

Other Investment Adviser

Both Blake Todd and Jarrett Perez are dually employed with CWCO and Two Oaks Investment Management, LLC. Two Oaks is an investment advisor registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") and is a Limited Liability Company ("LLC") formed under the laws of the State of California. Two Oaks is an advisor to the Two Oaks Diversified Income Fund Class A and C. The funds are a part of the Northern Lights Fund Trust II, an open-end management investment company, which Two Oaks has an Investment Advisory Agreement with.

Mr. Todd and Mr. Perez are the Funds' portfolio managers and the Managing Members and owners of Two Oaks Investment Management, LLC. Blake Todd is a general Partner of Crowell Weedon & Co. Crowell Weedon does not maintain an ownership interest in Two Oaks. In their capacity as Financial Advisers to CWCO clients, Mr. Todd and Mr. Perez are presented with some conflicts of interest. Among those conflicts of interest are the following and how they are managed:

- As Registered Representatives of CWCO, Mr. Todd and Mr. Perez may direct trades for the fund through CWCO and CWCO may profit from that trading activity. To eliminate this conflict of interest, Two Oaks mutual funds trades are not directed through CWCO.
- Mr. Todd and Mr. Perez could place shares of the Mutual Fund, Two Oaks in discretionary accounts that they manage and get paid a management fee for such discretionary account management, and also receive a fund Advisory fee on the same moneys. To remove this conflict of interest for Mr. Todd's and Mr. Perez's discretionary accounts at CWCO, these accounts are prohibited from owning any shares in the Two Oaks Mutual Fund.
- In their capacity of advising clients on the placement of their investments Mr. Todd and Mr. Perez are compensated as the broker of record and receive any sales commission for the placement of moneys into the Two Oaks Mutual Fund. As such, they may also receive any ongoing 12b1 servicing fees for those clients they are the broker of record for. To address this conflict of interest all clients are informed of the dual role Blake Todd and Jarrett Perez maintain and how they are compensated prior to their purchase of fund shares. Clients could also choose to invest in shares of the fund through another broker to remove this potential conflict of interest. For both Blake Todd and Jarrett Perez over 50% of their compensation comes from the commission and fees that their individual clients pay to them.
- Crowell, Weedon & Co.'s Montecito Investment Portfolios AND the Northern Lights Two Oaks Diversified Growth and Income Fund are not affiliated entities or investments.

Other Industry Activities

CWCO-BD is a member of FINRA, as well as MSRB and SIPC. Additionally, Crowell, Weedon & Co. is registered with the California Department of Insurance as an insurance agency. Crowell, Weedon & Co. in these multiple capacities is actively engaged in selling securities, mutual funds, insurance products, investment advice, investment management services, exchange floor activities, exchange commission activities, broker or dealer making inter-dealer markets in corporate securities and Over-The-Counter ("OTC") securities, or other incidental activities. Crowell, Weedon & Co. may sell securities or insurance products to its investment management clients who elect to implement investment advice through CWCO-IA and IARs.

Additionally, some employees of CWCO-BD may engage in CPA services. These activities may pose a conflict of interest to CWCO-IA clients. Dual compensation conflicts will be disclosed to such clients.

The principal Partners of CWCO-IA are responsible for managing its broker-dealer activities and may spend a majority of their time engaged in these other related business activities.

Code of Ethics and Participation or Interest in Client Transaction and Personal Trading

As a federally registered Investment Adviser regulated by the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, CWCO-IA has adopted a Code of Ethics for all access persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. CWCO-IA and its employees have a fiduciary responsibility to you whereby it must put your interests above its own. CWCO and its IAR's responsibilities to you are based on ethical principles of openness, integrity, honesty and trust. At all times, CWCO and its IARs must live up to the firm's motto: "Built on integrity. Grown on Trust". The Code of Ethics includes standards of conduct expected of CWCO's access persons and addresses conflicts that arise from personal securities trading by advisory personnel, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and restrictions on political contributions and outside business activities, among other things. All access persons at CWCO-IA must affirmatively acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

CWCO-IA anticipates that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with your investment objectives, it will cause accounts over which CWCO-IA has management authority to effect, and will recommend to investment advisory clients or prospective clients, the purchase or sale of securities in which CWCO-IA, its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position of interest. CWCO-IA's access persons are required to follow CWCO-IA's Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, CWCO-IA's access persons may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for you.

CWCO-BD maintains inventory accounts in which the RRs buy and sell securities. At various times, these inventory accounts may be buying or selling securities that are also being recommended to you. This maintenance of inventory accounts is normal and customary and no disclosure is made regarding the account positions. To remove this conflict of interest, inventory accounts and the individuals responsible for the accounts are not allowed to access any information associated with recommendations being made to you. Any contemporaneous transactions are unintentional and not a result of a deliberate conflict of interest.

Periodically, CWCO-IA's access persons may invest in the same securities that they recommend to you. On such occasions, all access persons are required to follow CWCO-IA's Code of Ethics and policies and procedures on personal trading. Subject to satisfying these policies and applicable laws, access persons of CWCO-IA may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for you.

The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of CWCO-IA will not interfere with (i) making decisions in your best interest (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Certain diversified products such as mutual funds and ETFs have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with your best interest. In addition, the Code restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as you do, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from your market activity in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between you and CWCO-IA.

Certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with you on an aggregated basis when consistent with CWCO-IA's obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the affiliated and your accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. CWCO-IA will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation. Partial execution of block trades will be allocated proportionally among all clients and employees will not receive partial allocations until all clients' orders are filled. No client is systematically advantaged or disadvantaged by the bunched trading.

It is CWCO-IA's policy that the firm will not conduct principal or agency cross securities transactions in your accounts.

Political Contributions

It is against Crowell, Weedon & Co.'s Code of Ethics for any employee to make any political contribution to influence government entities, officials or candidates, to hire or retain CWCO-IA as an investment adviser. In addition, neither Crowell, Weedon & Co. nor its IARs may make political contributions with the intent to indirectly influence a desired result that would be otherwise directly prohibited. If contributions are made to influence a government entity or official, CWCO-IA may be required to forego fees for certain accounts where the contributions were made during or within the 2 years before their employment with CWCO-IA.

You may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting Audrey Maxwell at (213) 620-1850 or by e-mail request at amaxwell@crowellweedon.com.

Review of accounts

IARs periodically review your accounts. They will also regularly keep you informed as to the investment policy and strategy used to seek achievement of your investment objectives. IARs should review your current account strategy and status with you on no less than an annual basis.

Branch Managers, or their designees, will make reasonable efforts to thoroughly review your account activity to determine whether recommended securities are in your best interest. Additionally, at least annually, the Chief Compliance Officer, or his designee, will review a random sample of discretionary investment advisory accounts using your Investment Policy Statement (IPS) and/or account information, as a benchmark to assess appropriateness of the activity and positions. Through telephone calls and in-person meetings, your IAR will regularly keep you informed as to the investment policy and strategy being used to seek achievement of your investment objectives.

Triggering events such as your financial status, employment status, income change, or change in investment objective, time horizon or risk tolerance may warrant additional reviews of your account. The primary focus of this review is to monitor the account to ensure it is consistent with your investment objective, investment strategy, asset allocation, and proper fee deduction per the executed agreement. There is no specific review date. CWAM managed accounts receive written confirmations of transactions and quarterly and/or monthly statements containing account information such as monthly activity, account value, transactions, and other relevant account information from the clearing firm, product sponsor, or account custodian. You may contact your IAR or send an e-mail to info@crowellweedon.com to request secure electronic access to account statements and information.

CWCO-IA utilizes pricing information provided by independent resources in compiling and reporting managed account holdings information and valuations. There may be significant variance between the holdings and performance of the investment management accounts that are managed by CWCO-IA or other registered firms.

Although not every IAR or outside third party manager provides an annual review to every client, CWCO-IA encourages you to request such a review to discuss such account information such as account performance, changes in your investment objectives, goals, and financial situation, retirement planning, information gathering for client's tax advisor or estate planning advisor, and any other questions you may have concerning your managed account or financial plan.

CWCO-IA, through designated personnel, will perform periodic reviews of the outside third party platform providers to determine their continued participation in CWCO-IA's CWAM investment advisory program. The criteria that may be used may include, but is not limited to, regulatory findings, news wire information, as well as financial stability, assets under management, and compliance with regulatory rules and regulations.

The accuracy of the information obtained from outside third party platform providers, and other resources, will be relied upon by CWCO-IA, but cannot be guaranteed by CWCO-IA.

Correction and Error policy

As in any business, operational mistakes will happen despite the good intentions of employees and the controls in place. CWCO-IA endeavors to correct these mistakes in a timely manner with no financial loss or harm to you. Errors and their corrections will be reviewed on a facts and circumstances basis.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

CWCO-BD and IAR/RRs may receive from product sponsors marketing and sales training support, including reimbursement for expenses related to client seminars, advertising materials, and due diligence or educational seminars, including reimbursement for travel expenses, meals and lodging. This may be a conflict of interest but CWCO's IARs strive to uphold the firm's ethical principles of conduct.

CWCO-IA does not currently have any arrangements whereby we compensate any person, such as solicitors, other than its supervised persons, for client referrals. However, the firm has written policies and procedures in place should we decide to engage in this activity. We will make disclosure to you about this activity should we engage in it in the future.

Some IARs may belong to referral clubs that provide client leads for various professional services including financial planning and investment advice. Monthly dues are generally assessed but are not directly attributable to specific client referrals

Financial Information

This item is not applicable to this brochure. CWCO-IA is required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about the firm's financial condition.

CWCO-IA does not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance. Therefore, we are not required to include a balance sheet of our most recent fiscal year. CWCO-IA has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to you, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

Crowell, Weedon & Co. may disclose personal information about you in order to provide you with the financial services that you have requested from us. For instance, your name, address and account activity are disclosed to the vendor who prepares and mails your monthly statements. If you order checks from us, we would also disclose your information to the vendor who prints those checks. However, such companies are required to protect your personal information just as carefully as we do.

We may also share your personal information when permitted, or when required to do so by law. For example, we may provide information to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) under various tax reporting regulations. In addition, we may share your personal information with other parties under court order or if responding to a subpoena. We will also disclose your information when you direct us to do so and have given us your consent.

Crowell, Weedon & Co. does not sell your personal information to third-party marketers or to anyone else for any purpose.

Information disclosure & opt outs:

The federal law allows you to “opt out” of the sharing of your personal information with affiliated and non-affiliated companies in some circumstances. Since we do not currently share your information with any affiliates or any other party that would trigger the provision, you do not need to consider opting out. Should we ever be in a situation where disclosure of your personal information could trigger the opt out provision, you will be notified in advance and given an opportunity to opt out of such disclosure.

Protecting your personal information:

Our employees are educated to protect your personal information and respect its confidential nature. Access to customer information is restricted to only those employees who need to have it in order to provide the services you have requested. We conduct regular reviews of our business practices and procedures, including information gathering and confidentiality standards, to further ensure the protection of your personal information.

Business Continuity Summary

Crowell, Weedon & Co. has established a Business Continuity Plan (BCP) to provide for critical business functions if it experiences any significant business disruptions, such as a power outage, natural disasters, or other significant events. Crowell, Weedon & Co. has back-up technology systems operating in different cities that are designed to take over critical operations should there be a disruption at our primary location. This will allow Crowell, Weedon & Co. to continue critical business operations within a few minutes of most disruptions. For the most severe events, Crowell, Weedon & Co.'s recovery plan is designed to have most business operations available within 24 to 48 hours. Crowell, Weedon & Co.'s recovery plan assumes that the government agencies and market systems are operating and that the Firm's back-up systems are available. No BCP can eliminate all risk resulting from a significant business disruption, but we review, update and test the BCP at least annually or as needed to protect our clients.

You may obtain a current summary of the BCP by visiting the web site, www.crowellweedon.com or by writing to Crowell, Weedon & Co., Attn: Business Continuity Plan, 624 S. Grand Avenue, Suite 2510, Los Angeles CA 90017.
