Item 4 – Advisory Business

RB Investments, LLC (“RB Investments,” “us” or “we”) is an investment adviser registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission since June 2015. We are a limited liability company organized under the laws of Delaware since January 2015. Our principal owner is Montage Investments, LLC (“Montage Investments”). Montage Investments is a registered investment adviser. Montage Investments is wholly-owned by Mariner Holdings, LLC, an independent financial services firm. The Bicknell Family Holding Company, LLC is the manager of Mariner Holdings. Martin Bicknell is the elected manager of the Bicknell Family Holding Company, LLC. Our minority owners are DDTJ Holdings, LLC, Tanner Davis and David Schulz. DDTJ Holdings is controlled by David Schulz and David and Sheila Abitz Revocable Trust dated October 11, 2014 with David Abitz as trustee.

We provide investment management services to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, state and municipal government agencies and corporations and other business entities. We offer fixed income product types, generally for non-discretionary management services, including strategies that use taxable and/or tax-exempt fixed income securities.

Prior to engaging us, the client will be required to enter into one or more written agreements setting forth the terms, conditions, and objectives under which we will render our services (the Agreement). Additionally, we may only implement our investment recommendations after the client has arranged for and furnished all information and authorization regarding accounts with appropriate financial institutions. Our clients are advised to promptly notify us if there are ever any changes in their financial situation or investment objectives or if they wish to impose any reasonable restrictions upon our advisory services.

Our assets under management as of March 22, 2016 are $0.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

All fees are subject to negotiation and all fee arrangements will comply with Section 205 of the Advisers Act.

The specific manner in which we charge fees is established in the Agreement. In exchange for our investment management services, we charge an annual fee determined based on a number of factors, including the market value of the assets under management and the services provided. We may negotiate our advisory fees and reserve the right to waive fees in whole or in part in our sole discretion for marketing or promotional reasons for varying periods of time. Such waivers may be extended to our employees and our family members.

Fees are calculated by applying the agreed upon fee schedule to the value of a Client's portfolio on the last day of the previous calendar quarter. Periods of less than one quarter will be prorated. Fees are paid quarterly in advance or in arrears, as negotiated with the Client, based on the value of the account(s) at the close of the applicable billing period, and such fees are generally debited by the Client's custodian from the account. IRA and retirement plan Clients may be offered the option of receiving a direct bill rather than having fees deducted from their portfolio.

The client may make additions to and withdrawals from the account at any time, subject to our right to terminate an account. Clients may withdraw account assets on notice to us, subject to the usual and customary securities settlement procedures. However, we design our portfolios as long-term investments and asset withdrawals may impair the achievement of a client's investment objectives.

Additions may be in cash or securities provided that we reserve the right to liquidate any transferred securities, or decline to accept particular securities into a client's account. We may consult with our clients about the options and ramifications of transferring securities. However, clients are advised that when transferred securities are liquidated, they are subject to transaction fees, fees assessed at the mutual fund level (i.e. contingent deferred sales charge) and/or tax ramifications.

Our fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which shall be incurred by the client. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment managers and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to our fee, and we shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

Item 12 further describes the factors that we consider in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7 – Types of Clients

We generally provide investment advice to the following types of clients:

- Individuals (including high net worth individuals)
- Pension and profit sharing plans
- Trusts, estates, or charitable organizations
- State or municipal government entities
- Insurance companies
- Corporations or business entities other than those listed above

We do not impose a minimum portfolio size or minimum annual fee.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

We utilize a long term strategy when providing and implementing our advice. However, should a client's situation or the basis for making an investment change, there may be occasions where we may utilize a short term strategy and securities are held less than one year.

Our primary investment objective is capital preservation. Secondary objectives include providing a steady, tax-efficient revenue stream and the potential for capital appreciation. We do not use leverage, sell securities short, make loans, or engage in currency speculation.

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear, including loss of your original principal. Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results, therefore, you should not assume that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy will be profitable. We do not provide any representation or guarantee that your goals will be achieved. Depending on the different types of investments, there may be varying degrees of risk:

- Default/Credit Risk – The risk of loss due to a debt issuer's non-payment of promised interest or principal payments when due, or a loss in price value due to changes in the market's perception of an issuer's creditworthiness. This is an unsystematic risk that can be reduced through diversification.
- Price/Interest Rate Risk – The risk of a rise in market interest rates, eroding the price value of fixed-rate bond holdings. This risk increases as portfolio duration (price sensitivity) increases.
- Reinvestment Risk – The opposite of price risk. The risk of falling interest rates during a period of reinvestment need, resulting in lower returns. This risk increases as portfolio duration (price sensitivity) decreases.
- Call/Option Risk – Similar to reinvestment risk, the risk of bonds being called or prepayments increasing if interest rates fall, lowering achievable reinvestment returns.
- Management Risk – The risk that the investment strategies, research and analysis, and security selection of the investment manager do not produce the expected returns.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of us or the integrity of our management. We have no information applicable to this Item.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

We have adopted a code of ethics that sets forth the standards of conduct expected of our associated persons and requires compliance with applicable securities laws (“Code of Ethics”). In accordance with Section 204A of the Advisers Act, the Code of Ethics contains written policies reasonably designed to prevent the unlawful use of material non-public information by us or any of our associated persons. The Code of Ethics also requires that certain of our personnel (“access persons”) report their personal securities holdings and transactions and obtain pre-approval of certain investments such as initial public offerings and limited offerings. No access person may themselves purchase or sell, directly or indirectly, any security in which the access person or an affiliate account has, or by reason of the transaction acquires, any direct or indirect beneficial ownership if the access person knows or reasonably should know that the security, at the time of the purchase or sale (i) is being considered for purchase or sale on behalf of any client account; or (ii) is being actively purchased or sold on behalf any client account.

If an access person is aware that the Firm is purchasing/selling or considering for purchase/sale any security on behalf of a client, no Access Person may themselves effect a transaction in that security prior to the completion of the purchase or until a decision has been made not to purchase/sell such security. This does not include transactions for accounts that are executed as part of a block trade within a managed strategy or for accounts over which the access person has no direct or indirect influence or control. These requirements are not applicable to: (i) direct obligations of the Government of the United States; (ii) money market instruments, bankers’ acceptances, bank certificates of deposit, commercial paper, repurchase agreements and other high quality short-term debt instruments, including repurchase agreements; (iii) shares issued by money market funds; (iv) shares issued by other mutual funds that are not advised or sub-advised by the firm or its affiliates; and (v) shares issued by unit investment trusts that are invested exclusively in one or more mutual funds, none of which are funds advised or sub-advised by the firm or its affiliates.

Generally, we do not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an adviser, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to any advisory client. A principal transaction may also be deemed to have occurred if a security is crossed between an affiliated hedge fund and another client account. An agency cross transaction is generally defined as a transaction where a person acts as an investment adviser in relation to a transaction in which the investment adviser, or any person controlled by or under common control with the investment adviser, acts as broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction. Agency cross transactions may arise where an adviser is dually registered as a broker-dealer or has an affiliated broker-dealer.

Cross transactions between client accounts are permitted only when it is determined to be in the best interest of both clients, when protocols are followed to ensure fair pricing to both the buyer and the seller, and when best execution policies and procedures are followed. Cross transactions are transactions where an adviser arranges a cross trade between two of its discretionary client accounts (e.g. one account sells and the other purchases a security) and does not receive any compensation, directly or indirectly, for effecting the transaction (i.e. receives only its customary advisor fee). Cross transactions may only be effected through an unaffiliated broker-dealer. We have adopted cross transaction policies and procedures to address potential or perceived conflicts of interest and ensure said cross transactions are in the best interest of both clients.

No supervised person may trade, either personally or on behalf of others, while in the possession of material, nonpublic information, nor may any personnel of RB Investments communicate material, nonpublic information to others in violation of the law. Furthermore, all access persons are required to submit information to the Chief Compliance Officer detailing all outside business activities. The Chief Compliance Officer will review and approve these activities on a case by case basis.

Our clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting us at (913) 647-9700 or compliance@mariner-holdings.com.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

When we have been delegated with the discretion to choose which broker-dealers to execute securities transactions with on behalf of our clients, we strive to attain the best execution levels for our clients given prevailing market conditions.

When multiple broker-dealers with which RB Investments trades make a market in a particular security, we execute with the firm that provides the best bid or offer. We also continually monitor the market, adding additional broker-dealer sales coverage where we see value for our clients.

Our commissions shall comply with our duty to obtain best execution. However, a client may pay a commission that is higher than another qualified broker-dealer might charge to effect the same transaction where we determine, in good faith, that the commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution. Consistent with the foregoing, while we will seek competitive rates, we may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client transactions.

Factors we consider when adding broker-dealer sales coverage include:

- Attractiveness of bids and offers
- Suitable bond inventory offered and new issue market participation
- Willingness to execute odd lots
- Promptness of execution
- Creditworthiness and business reputation
- Ability and willingness to correct errors

For municipal bond purchases, where multiple offers for the same bond are rare, we consider the following factors in trying to achieve best execution for our clients:

- State tax treatment (if applicable)
- Credit quality and bond type (general obligation, housing, etc.)
- Bond structure (final maturity, coupon, call features, etc.)
- Offering level versus generic MMD AAA scale
- Offering level versus similar state, maturity, quality and bond type offerings
- Trade date history (MSRB transaction data) for the bond offered, or similar offerings
- Third party pricing service evaluation levels
- Levels on recent new issues of similar state, quality, maturity and type

If the client requests to arrange for the execution of securities brokerage transactions for the client's account, we shall direct such transactions through broker-dealers that we reasonably believe will provide best execution. Transactions may be cleared through other broker-dealers with whom we and the Financial Institution(s) have entered into agreements for prime brokerage clearing services. We shall periodically and systematically review our policies and procedures regarding recommending broker-dealers to our client in light of our duty to obtain best execution.

Transactions for each client generally will be effected independently, unless we decide to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. We may (but are not obligated to) combine or “batch” such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among our clients difference in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will generally be averaged as to price and allocated among our clients pro rata to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client on any given day. To the extent that we determine to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which our Advisory Affiliate(s) may invest, we shall generally do so in accordance with applicable rules promulgated under the Advisers Act and no-action guidance provided by the staff of the SEC.

We shall not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of the aggregation. In the event that we determine that a prorated allocation is not appropriate under the particular circumstances, the allocation will be made based upon other relevant factors, which may include: (i) when only a small percentage of the order is executed, shares may be allocated to the account with the smallest order or the smallest position or to an account that is out of line with respect to security or sector weightings relative to the other portfolios, with similar mandates; (ii) allocations may be given to one account when one account has limitations in its investment guidelines which prohibit it from purchasing other securities which are expected to produce similar investment results and can be purchased by other accounts; (iii) if an account reaches an investment guideline limit and cannot participate in an allocation, shares may be reallocated to other accounts (this may be due to unforeseen changes in an account's assets after an order is placed); (iv) with respect to sale allocations, allocations may be given to accounts low in cash; (v) in cases when a pro rata allocation of a potential execution would result in a de minimus allocation in one or more actions, the Registrant may exclude the account(s) from the allocation; the transactions may be executed on a pro rata basis among the remaining accounts; or (vi) in cases where a small proportion of an order is executed in all accounts, share may be allocated to one or more accounts on a random basis.

Consistent with obtaining best execution, brokerage transactions may be directed to certain broker-dealers in return for investment research products and/or services which assist us in our investment decision-making process. Such research generally will be used to service all our clients, but brokerage commissions paid by one client may be used to pay for research that is not used in managing that client's portfolio. The receipt of investment research products and/or services, as well as the allocation of the benefit of such investment research products and/or services, poses a conflict of interest.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

For investment advisory clients, we monitor portfolios as part of an ongoing process while regular account reviews are conducted on at least a quarterly basis. We shall contact ongoing investment advisory clients at least annually to review our previous services and/or recommendations and to discuss the impact resulting from any changes in the client's financial situation and/or investment objectives. Unless otherwise agreed, clients are provided with transaction confirmation notices and monthly account statements directly from the custodian for the client accounts.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

If a client is introduced to us, we may pay that introducer a referral fee in accordance with the requirements of Rule 206(4)-3 of the Advisers Act and any corresponding state securities law requirements. Any such referral fee shall be paid solely from our investment management fee, and shall not result in any additional charge to the client. If the client is introduced to RB Investments by an unaffiliated solicitor, the client will be given, prior to or at the time of entering into any advisory contract with the client, (1) a copy of our written disclosure statement which meets the requirements of Rule 204-3 of the Advisers Act, and (2) a copy of the solicitor's disclosure statement containing the terms and conditions of the solicitation arrangement including compensation. Any affiliated solicitor of ours shall disclose the nature of his/her relationship to prospective clients at the time of the solicitation and will provide all prospective clients with a copy of our written disclosure statement at the time of the solicitation.

We may have clients that are also clients of Mariner Wealth Advisors or other related persons. These clients, as clients of our related person(s), are solicited by our related persons (but not by us) to invest in investment-related limited partnerships or limited liability companies for which one of our related persons serves as the general partner or manager. Clients are advised that a conflict of interest exists to the extent a related person recommends our services.

Item 15 – Custody

RB Investments is deemed to have custody of client funds and securities under Rule 206(4)-2 due to its ability to deduct fees from client accounts. Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. We urge clients to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that we may provide to clients. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

We generally manage client accounts on a non-discretionary basis in accordance with the client's investment management agreement. In these non-discretionary relationships, each client must approve the recommendation before a specific trade may be placed. In the event we enter into a discretionary agreement with a client, we usually receive discretionary authority from the client at the outset of the advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account.

When selecting securities and determining amounts, we observe the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which we advise.

Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to us in writing.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

RB Investments may vote proxies on behalf of its clients. When RB Investments accepts such responsibility, it will only cast proxy votes in a manner consistent with the best interest of its clients. Absent special circumstances, which are fully-described in RB Investments' Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures, all proxies will be voted consistent with guidelines established and described in the Firm's Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures, as they may be amended from time-to-time. At any time, clients may contact RB Investments to request information about how RB Investments voted proxies for that client's securities or to get a copy of RB Investments' Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about our financial condition. We have no financial commitment that impairs our ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients and have not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
