Fees and Compensation

A. The following types of fees will be assessed:

Asset Management – Fees are charged in advance and are based primarily on asset size and the level of complexity of the services provided. In individual cases, Water Dog Asset Management, LLC has the sole discretion to negotiate fees that are lower than the standard fee shown or to waive fees. Fees are not based on the share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds. Comparable services for lower fees may be available from other sources. Fees for the initial quarter will be prorated based upon the number of calendar days in the calendar quarter that the advisory agreement is in effect. Fees are based on the market value of the assets on the last business day of the previous quarter. Annual fees range from .50% - 1.00% depending on the amount of assets under management (“AUM”) – See chart below. Consulting services are included in these fees for asset management services.

Fee Schedule for Asset Management:

Total Account Value	Maximum Annual Advisory Fee
Under $1,000,000	1.00%
$1,000,001 - $2,000,000	0.75%
$2,000,001 - $5,000,000	0.50%
$5,000,000 or more	Negotiable

B. As authorized in the client agreement, the account custodian withdraws Water Dog Asset Management, LLC’s advisory fees directly from the clients’ accounts according to the custodian’s policies, practices, and procedures. The custodial statement includes the amount of any fees paid to Water Dog Asset Management, LLC for advisory services. You should carefully review the statement from your custodian/broker-dealer's statement and verify the calculation of fees. Your custodian/broker-dealer does not verify the accuracy of fees calculations.

Fees are charged on a quarterly basis, meaning that advisory fees for a quarter are charged on the last day of the quarter. There will never be an instance where more than $500 will be required or solicited, six or more months in advance. Clients may terminate investment advisory services obtained from Water Dog Asset Management, LLC, without penalty, upon written notice within five (5) business days after entering into the advisory agreement with Water Dog Asset Management, LLC. The client is responsible for any fees and charges incurred by the client from third parties as a result of maintaining the account such as transaction fees for any securities transactions executed and account maintenance or custodial fees. Thereafter, the client may terminate advisory services upon written notice delivered to and received by Water Dog Asset Management, LLC. Clients who terminate investment advisory services during a quarter are charged a prorated advisory fee based on the date of Water Dog Asset Management, LLC's receipt of client's written notice to terminate. Any earned but unpaid fees are immediately due and payable.

C. Additional Fees and Expenses

In addition to advisory fees paid to Water Dog Asset Management, LLC as explained above, clients may pay custodial service, account maintenance, transaction, and other fees associated with maintaining the account. These fees vary by broker and/or custodian. Clients should ask Water Dog Asset Management, LLC for details on transaction fees or other custodial fees specific to their account, as these fees are not included in the annual advisory fee. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC does not share any portion of such fees. Additionally, for any mutual funds purchased, the client may pay their proportionate share of the funds' distribution, internal management, investment advisory and administrative fees. Such fees are not shared with Water Dog Asset Management, LLC and are compensation to the fund manager. Clients are urged to read the mutual fund prospectus prior to investing.

Mutual fund companies impose internal fees and expenses on clients. These fees are in addition to the costs associated with the investment advisory services as described above. Complete details of such internal expenses are specified and disclosed in each mutual fund company's prospectus. Clients are strongly advised to review the prospectus(es) prior to investing in such securities.

Mutual funds purchased or sold in broker-dealer accounts may generate transaction fees that would not exist if the purchase or sale were made directly with the mutual fund company. Mutual funds held in broker-dealer accounts also charge management fees. These mutual fund management fees may be more or less than the mutual fund management fees charged if the client held the mutual fund directly with the mutual fund company.

Clients may purchase shares of mutual funds directly from the mutual fund issuer, its principal underwriter, or a distributor without purchasing the services of Water Dog Asset Management, LLC or paying the advisory fee on such shares (but subject to any applicable sales charges). Certain mutual funds are offered to the public without a sales charge. In the case of mutual funds offered with a sales charge, the prevailing sales charge (as described in the mutual fund prospectus) may be more or less than the applicable advisory fee. However, clients would not receive Water Dog Asset Management, LLC's assistance in developing an investment strategy, selecting securities, monitoring performance of the account, and making changes as necessary.

D. Clients who wish to terminate the investment advisory agreement may do so with written notice. The client may obtain a refund of a pre-paid fee if the advisory contract is terminated before the end of the billing period by contacting Keith Gliner at (303) 521-1562. Upon receipt of written notification, any earned fee will immediately become due and payable. A client may terminate an advisory agreement without being assessed any fees or expenses within five (5) days of its signing.

E. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC nor its representatives receive any compensation other than the advisory fee as stated above.

Please refer to Item 12 "Brokerage Practices" of this brochure for additional information.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies, and Risk of Loss

A. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC's methods of analysis and investment strategies incorporate the client's needs and investment objectives, time horizon, and risk tolerance. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC is not bound to a specific investment strategy for the management of investment portfolios, but rather consider the risk tolerance levels pre-determined gathered at the account opening, as well as on an on-going basis. Examples of methodologies that our investment strategies may incorporate include:

Asset Allocation – Asset Allocation is a broad term used to define the process of selecting a mix of asset classes and the efficient allocation of capital to those assets by matching rates of return to a specified and quantifiable tolerance for risk.

Dollar-Cost Averaging – Dollar-cost averaging is the technique of buying a fixed dollar amount of securities at regularly scheduled intervals, regardless of the price per share. This will gradually, over time, decrease the average share price of the security. Dollar-cost averaging lessens the risk of investing a large amount in a single investment at the wrong time.

Technical Analysis – involves studying past price patterns and trends in the financial markets to predict the direction of both the overall market and specific stocks.

Long-Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period of time, generally greater than one year.

Short-Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that they will be sold within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities' short term price fluctuations.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Although we manage your portfolio with strategies and in a manner consistent with your risk tolerances, there can be no guarantee that our efforts will be successful. You should be prepared to bear the risk of loss.

B. Our strategies and investments may have unique and significant tax implications. Regardless of your account size or other factors, we strongly recommend that you continuously consult with a tax professional prior to and throughout the investing of your assets.

All investments involve the risk of loss, including (among other things) loss of principal, a reduction in earnings (including interest, dividends, and other distributions), and the loss of future earnings. These risks include market risk, interest rate risk, issuer risk, and general economic risk. Regardless of the methods of analysis or strategies suggested for your particular investment goals, you should carefully consider these risks, as they all bear risks.

C. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC does not recommend a particular type of security, but rather we make our recommendations based on the clients' goals and investment objectives. All investments are subject to an inherent risk of loss. The value of securities in the portfolio can increase and decrease in a moment's notice. Accordingly, clients can lose money-including principal. The stock market is subject to significant fluctuations in value as a result of political, economic, and market developments. If the stock market declines in value, the portfolio is likely to decline in value. Because of changes in the financial condition or prospects of specific companies, the individual stocks selected by Water Dog Asset Management, LLC may decline in value, causing the account to decline in value. Additional information regarding risks of specific types of securities are as follows:

Mutual Funds (Open-end Investment Company)

A mutual fund is a company that pools money from many investors and invests the money in stocks, bonds, short-term money-market instruments, other securities or assets, or some combination of these investments. The combined holdings the mutual fund owns are known as its portfolio. Each share represents an investor's proportionate ownership of the fund's holdings and the income those holdings generate. The price that investors pay for mutual fund shares is the fund's per share net asset value (NAV) plus any shareholder fees that the fund imposes at the time of purchase (such as sales loads). Some of the risks of mutual funds include having to pay taxes on any capital gains distribution the investor receives even if the fund goes on to perform poorly after the investor buys shares or lack of real-time prices, as mutual funds typically only calculate their NAV once every business day, typically after the major U.S. exchanges close. When it comes to investing in mutual funds, investors have literally thousands of choices. Each type has different features and different risks and rewards. Generally, the higher the potential return, the higher the risk of loss.

Bonds and Bond Funds

Bond funds generally have higher risks than money market funds, largely because they typically pursue strategies aimed at producing higher yields. Unlike money market funds, the SEC's rules do not restrict bond funds to high-quality or short-term investments. Because there are many different types of bonds, bond funds can vary dramatically in their risks and rewards. Some of the risks associated with bond funds include credit risk, interest rate risk, and prepayment risk. Additionally, these risks also apply to individual stocks, including concentration risks and lack of diversification.

Stocks and Stock Funds

Although a stock's or stock fund's value can rise and fall quickly (and dramatically) over the short term, historically stocks have performed better over the long term than other types of investments—including corporate bonds, government bonds, and treasury securities. Overall "market risk" poses the greatest potential danger for investors in stock funds. Stock prices can fluctuate for a broad range of reasons—such as the overall strength of the economy or demand for particular products or services. Additionally, these risks also apply to individual stocks, including concentration risks and lack of diversification.

Annuities

Like other investments, an annuity's rate of return is not guaranteed and can fluctuate. It fluctuates with the stock, bond, and money market subaccounts that are chosen as investment options. There is no guarantee that an investor will earn money on the investment, and there is the risk of loss. Overall "liquidity risk" is a consideration prior to investing in an annuity. Most annuities are considered long-term investments, and there could be penalties and charges for withdrawing money prior to a specific time, therefore it is typically not considered a liquid investment.

Form ADV, Part 2A, Item 12

Brokerage Practices

A1. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC recommends broker-dealers based on the broker's services. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC recommends brokerage and custodial services of TD Ameritrade Institutional, a division of TD Ameritrade, Inc. Member FINRA/SIPC ("TD Ameritrade"), for which we have an existing relationship. Our relationship with TD Ameritrade may include benefits provided to our firm, including research, market information, and administrative services that help our firm manage your account(s). In considering which independent qualified custodian will be the best fit for Water Dog Asset Management, LLC's business model, we evaluate the following factors, which is not an all-inclusive list:

- Financial strength
- Reputation
- Reporting capabilities
- Execution capabilities
- Pricing, and
- Types and quality of research

While you are free to choose any broker-dealer or other service provider, we recommend that you establish an account with a brokerage firm with which we have an existing relationship. Such relationships may include benefits provided to our firm, including research, market information, and administrative services that help our firm manage your account(s). We believe that recommended broker-dealers provide quality execution services for our clients at competitive prices. Price is not the sole factor we consider in evaluating best execution. We also consider the quality of the brokerage services provided by the recommended broker-dealers, including the value of research provided, the firm's reputation, execution capabilities, commission rates, and responsiveness to our clients and our firm.

You may direct us in writing to use a particular broker-dealer to execute some or all of the transactions for your account. If you do so, you are responsible for negotiating the terms and arrangements for the account with that broker-dealer. We may not be able to negotiate commissions, obtain volume discounts, or best execution. In addition, under these circumstances a difference in commission charges may exist between the commissions charged to clients who direct us to use a particular broker or dealer and other clients who do not direct us to use a particular broker or dealer.

A2. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC does not combine multiple orders for shares of the same securities purchased for advisory accounts we manage (the practice of combining multiple orders for shares of the same securities is commonly referred to as “block trading”). Water Dog Asset Management, LLC gives each client individualized services based on the customer’s financial goals and risk tolerance. Based on the differing needs of every client, Water Dog Asset Management, LLC does not find that it is common practice for different clients to benefit from the same trades at the exact same time. By not aggregating orders, clients may incur a higher charge than with a firm that does aggregate orders due to larger volume discounts.

B1. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC does not have any soft dollar arrangements.

B2. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC does not receive client referrals from broker-dealers in exchange for cash or other compensation, such as brokerage services or research.

Form ADV, Part 2A, Item 13

Review of Accounts

A. Client accounts are reviewed at least quarterly by Keith Gliner, Principal Executive Officer of the firm. Keith Gliner reviews clients’ accounts with regards to their investment policies and risk tolerance levels. All accounts at Water Dog Asset Management, LLC are assigned to this reviewer.

B. Reviews may be triggered by material market, economic or political events, or by changes in client's financial situations (such as retirement, termination of employment, physical move, or inheritance).

C. Each client will receive at least quarterly a written report that details the clients’ account which may come from the custodian.

Form ADV, Part 2A, Item 14

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Water Dog Asset Management, LLC does not compensate any individual or firm for client referrals.

Custody

Any investment advisor having custody or access to customer funds or securities must comply with certain rules and regulations designed to protect the clients’ assets. Rule 206(4)-2 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 details strict requirements governing investment advisors that have “custody” over client securities or funds. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC meets the definition of having custody due to the following circumstances:

- Water Dog Asset Management, LLC directly debits fees from client accounts

Water Dog Asset Management, LLC does not have physical custody of any client funds and/or securities, and does not take custody of client accounts at any time. Client funds and securities will be held with a bank, broker dealer, or other independent qualified custodian. You will receive account statements from the independent, qualified custodian holding your funds at least quarterly. The account statement from your custodian will indicate the amount of advisory fees deducted from your account(s) each billing cycle. Clients should carefully review statements received from the custodian. Water Dog Asset Management, LLC also sends quarterly invoices detailing the manner and amount of advisory fees to all clients.

Investment Discretion

Before Water Dog Asset Management, LLC can buy or sell securities on your behalf, you must first sign our discretionary management agreement, a limited power of attorney, and/or trading authorization forms. By choosing to do so, you may grant the firm discretion over the selection and amount of securities to be purchased or sold for your account(s) without obtaining your consent or approval prior to each transaction. Clients may impose limitations on discretionary authority for investing in certain securities or types of securities (such as a product type, specific companies, specific sectors, etc.), as well as other limitations as expressed by the client. Limitations on discretionary authority are required to be provided to the IAR in writing. Please refer to the “Advisory Business” section of this Brochure for more information on our discretionary management services.

Voting Client Securities

We do not vote proxies on behalf of your advisory accounts. At your request, we may offer you advice regarding corporate actions and the exercise of your proxy voting rights. If you own shares of common stock or mutual funds, you are responsible for exercising your right to vote as a shareholder.

In most cases, you will receive proxy materials directly from the account custodian. However, in the event we were to receive any written or electronic proxy materials, we would forward them directly to you by mail, unless you have authorized our firm to contact you by electronic mail, in which case, we would forward any electronic solicitation to vote proxies.

A written copy of the proxy policies and procedures are available upon request.
