Item 4: Advisory Business

Firm Description and Types of Advisory Services

Capital Square, LLC is a Registered Investment Advisor that provides investment advice to individuals, trusts, and estates. Capital Square was founded on November 2016.

Principal Owners

There are two equal partners that own Capital Square as follows:

Notley Maddox – Managing Partner and Chief Compliance Officer - 50% owner

Stacy Eaton – Secretary - 50% owner

Types of Advisory Services

Capital Square offers the following types of advisory services: financial planning, discretionary and non-discretionary portfolio management and investment advice for individuals and/or businesses.

Capital Square also provides continuous advice to clients regarding investment of client funds based on the individual needs of the client through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client's particular circumstances are established. Capital Square will manage advisory accounts on a discretionary and non-discretionary basis. Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the client (i.e., speculation, growth, income, growth and income, etc.).

Capital Square will create a portfolio consisting of one or all of the following: individual equities, bonds, other investment products, no-load or load-waived mutual funds. Capital Square will allocate the client's assets among various investments taking into consideration the overall management style and objectives stated by the client. Mutual funds will be selected on the basis of any or all of the following factors: the fund's performance history, industry sector in which the fund invests, the track record of the fund manager, fund's investment objective, fund's management style, and the fund's management fee structure. Portfolio weighting will be determined by the client's objectives and individual needs. Clients can place investment restrictions on the types of investments if they so choose. The client maintains individual ownership of all securities in their account. Capital Square does not commingle any funds with clients.

When appropriate, Capital Square may recommend the use of margin transactions or option transactions. Because these investment strategies involve a certain degree of additional risk, they are only recommended when consistent with the client objectives and risk tolerance.

Financial Planning

Capital Square also provides financial planning for clients and non-clients through our Investment Supervisory Services.

Financial planning may address any or all of the following areas:

Personal: family records, budgeting, personal liability, estate information and financial goals.

Education: college planning, private school planning.

Death and Disability: cash needs at death, income needs for surviving spouse, estate planning and disability income needs.

Retirement: retirement goals and strategies

Estates: trusts, wills, estate tax, powers of attorney

Insurance: review existing policies, structure new policies.

Financial planning clients may receive a written report, providing a detailed financial plan designed to achieve their stated goals and objectives.

Capital Square gathers required information through in-depth personal interviews. Information gathered includes client's current financial states, future goals and risk tolerances. Related documents include a questionnaire completed by the client, tax returns, investment statements, wills and trusts. After careful analysis and review a written report is provided with recommendations provided in the plan. Capital Square suggests that the client work closely with their attorney and accountant. Capital Square does not give legal or tax advice. Implementation of the plan recommendations is solely the client's responsibility.

Financial planning recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker dealer or insurance company.

Tailored Relationships

Capital Square tailors advisory services to the individual needs of the client. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities. All limitations and restrictions placed on accounts must be delivered to Capital Square in writing.

Wrap Fee Programs

Capital Square does not participate in a wrap fee program.

Client Assets

As of March 2017, Capital Square manages approximately $169 million in assets; approximately $168.5 million is managed on a discretionary basis, and approximately $0.5 is managed on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

Capital Square bases its fees on either a percentage of assets under management or on a flat fee arrangement. Capital Square's fees are negotiable. We are able to deduct our fees on a quarterly basis in most cases and the fee is charged in advance of the quarter. Capital Square is only compensated for managing accounts directly by the client and our incentive is to grow and protect assets since our fee is based on the balance of the client's account. The arrangement shall be based upon either: (1) a percentage (%) of the market value of the Assets under management based upon the market value of the Assets on the last business day of the previous quarter, or (2) a specific dollar amount, but at no time will the fee charged exceed 2% of all Assets under management on an annual basis. In either case, the annual fee shall be prorated and paid quarterly, in advance. No increase in the annual fee percentage shall be effective without prior written notification to the CLIENT

Commented [FE1]: Need to get the language from contract

Financial Planning

Financial planning may be included within the advisory fees or if separate fees are charged, it will be in one of two ways. Capital Square will be compensated on either the firm's hourly rate, which may range between $75 and $250, or a fixed amount, which may range between $250 and $3000, depending on the scope and complexity of the financial plan. Generally, Capital Square requires that the client pay financial planning fees in arrears on completion of the service. In either case, services to be provided, the applicable fee, and fee paying arrangements are agreed upon in advance of services provided and are set forth in the executed financial planning agreement.

Other Fees

Capital Square's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which shall be incurred by the client. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual fund and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Performance figures quoted by mutual fund companies in various publications are after, or net, of their fees.

Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to Capital Square's fee and Capital Square shall and will not receive any portion of these commissions, fees and costs.

Conflicts of Interest

Capital Square does not believe that it has any conflicts of interest related to fees and compensation, either with the Client/Firm or Partner/Firm. Capital Square strives to maintain the utmost integrity with its clients, avoiding any conflicts of interest. Our clients are free to choose any qualified custodian.

Termination of Agreements

A client agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of written notice. Upon termination of any account, any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable. The client has the right to terminate an agreement without penalty within five business days after entering into the agreement.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

Neither Capital Square nor any of its supervised persons (employees) accepts performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Capital Square does not use a performance-based fees structure because of the potential conflict of interest. Performance-based compensation may create an incentive for the advisor to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to the client.

Item 7: Types of Clients

Types of Clients

As described in Item 4 above, Capital Square generally provides investment advice to individuals, trusts, and estates.

Account Minimums

At this time, Capital Square does not have a minimum account value to open or maintain an agreement.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Method of Analysis

Capital Square may use any of the following investment strategies to implement investment advice: Long term purchases (securities held at least one year); trading (securities sold within 30 days); margin transactions; option writing, including covered options, uncovered options or spreading strategies.

Capital Square also may use financial newspapers, magazines, inspection of corporate activities, research material prepared by others, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and company press releases. Other sources of information that Capital Square may use include information from financial service companies, financial journal and government sources, Morningstar Principia mutual fund information, Morningstar Principia stock information and the internet.

Investment Strategies

The primary investment strategy used with client accounts is specific based upon the stated objectives of the client during consultations. Asset allocations using a core approach with mutual funds, exchange traded funds, individual equities and fixed income may be employed. The client may change their objectives at any time. Strategies may include long-term purchases, short-term purchases, trading, margin transactions and option writing (including covered option, uncovered options or spreading strategies).

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors may face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.

- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

Legal and Disciplinary

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of Capital Square, LLC or the integrity of Capital Square's management. Capital Square has no information to disclose applicable to this Item.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Financial Industry Activities – Broker-Dealer

Capital Square is not registered as a broker-dealer, and none of its associated persons are registered representatives of a broker-dealer.

Financial Industry Activities – Commodities

Neither Capital Square nor any of its associated persons is registered as (or associated with) a futures commodity merchant, commodity pool operator or a commodity trading advisor.

Accountant or Accounting Firm

Capital Square has no affiliation with an accountant or an accounting firm.

Insurance

Investment Adviser Representatives (IARs) of Capital Square may be appointed with several insurance companies and may be able to receive separate compensation for transactions implemented through various insurance companies. Clients are not obligated to use any company for insurance products purchased and may work with any insurance agent they choose. Insurance compensation will be separate and distinct from financial fees charged by Capital Square; IARs typically spend less than 10% of their time on insurance sales.

Other Investment Advisors

Capital Square does not recommend or select other investment advisors for its clients.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

Capital Square employees must comply with a Code of Ethics and Statement for Insider Trading. The Code describes the Firm's high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code's key provisions include:

- Statement of General Principles
- Policy on and reporting of Personal Securities Transactions
- A prohibition on Insider Trading,
- Restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts
- Procedures to detect and deter misconduct and violations.
- Requirement to maintain confidentiality of client information,

The Chief Compliance Officer reviews all employee trades each quarter. These reviews ensure that personal trading does not affect the markets, and that clients of the Firm receive preferential treatment. Since most employee trades are mutual funds, exchange-traded fund trades and small equity trades, these trades do not affect the securities markets.

All employees of Capital Square must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics at least annually.

Clients and prospective clients can obtain a copy of Capital Square's Code of Ethics by contacting Notley Maddox, Member and Chief Compliance Officer, at 423-877-6708.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions – Personal Securities Transactions

Capital Square and its employees may buy or sell securities identical to those recommended to clients for their personal accounts. These trades may not occur ahead of client trades. Employees are required to put the best interests of the client first. Employees must comply with a Code of Ethics and Statement for Insider Trading. The Code, described above, contains provisions reasonably necessary to deter misconduct and conflicts of interest and to detect any violation.

The Code is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of Capital Square will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of Capital Square's clients. Nonetheless, because the Code in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code, and to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between Capital Square and its clients.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions – Financial Interest

Neither Capital Square nor its employees recommend to clients or buy or sell for client accounts, securities in which they have a material financial interest.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions – Principal/Agency Cross

Capital Square does not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits

Capital Square does not receive formal soft dollar benefits other than execution from broker/dealers in connection with client securities transactions.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

Capital Square does not receive client referrals from broker/dealers.

Directed Brokerage

Clients may come to Capital Square with an existing brokerage relationship and direct Capital Square to execute their trades through that broker/dealer. Clients normally negotiate their commission rate directly with their broker. Capital Square will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker/dealers and as a result, clients could pay higher commissions, incur other transaction costs, greater spreads or receive less favorable net prices on transactions for the client's portfolio than would otherwise be the case.

If the client requests Capital Square to arrange for the execution of securities brokerage transactions for the client's account, Capital Square shall direct such transactions through broker/dealers that Capital Square reasonably believes will provide best execution. Capital Square shall periodically and systematically review its policies and procedures regarding recommending broker/dealers to its clients in light of its duty to obtain best execution.

Capital Square generally recommends Raymond James Financial Services, a widely recognized broker/dealer. The primary factors considered in Capital Square's decision to recommend Raymond James include financial strength and the quality of the products and services it offers its clients. Client are free to select any broker they wish, and are so informed. Capital Square is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Raymond James.

With respect to any brokerage commissions charged by executing brokers, for investment advisory portfolios, Capital Square will review the commission charges to ensure they are reasonable within the current marketplace. The amount of commission paid for by each client for a transaction placed by Capital Square may be higher than the cost if executed by an alternative broker/dealer. In such cases, Capital Square will use its best efforts to determine that the higher commissions are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services provided by the executing broker/dealer viewed in terms of either a particular transaction or Capital Square's overall responsibilities to its other clients.

Directed Brokerage – Other Economic Benefits

Capital Square may have the opportunity to receive traditional "non-cash benefits" from Raymond James, such as customized statements; receipt of duplicate client confirmations and bundled duplicate statements; access to a trading desk servicing Raymond James advisors exclusively; access to block trading which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts; ability to have investment advisory fees deducted directly from client accounts; access to an electronic communication network for client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds which generally require significantly high minimum initial investments or those that are otherwise only generally available to institutional investors; reporting features; receipt of industry communications and perhaps discounts on business-related products.

Trade Aggregation

At the sole discretion of the Firm, aggregate purchases or sales of the same security, instrument or obligation may be transacted on the same day for multiple accounts of one or more of the Firm's clients. Although such aggregations potentially could be either advantageous or disadvantageous to any one or more particular accounts, orders for the same security entered on behalf of more than one client will be generally be aggregated (i.e., block trading) subject to the aggregation being in the best interest of all participating clients. If the order is filled at different prices during the day, the prices are averaged for the day so that all participating accounts receive the same price. If an order has not been filled completely so that there are not enough shares to allocate among all clients equally, shares will be allocated in good faith. All clients participating in each aggregated order shall receive the average price and subject to minimum ticket charges and pay a pro-rata portion of the commissions.

Capital Square will always put the client first in any block trading situation.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Reviews

Notley Maddox, Mark Massey, Stacy Eaton, Jeff Shelton, Suzanne Burrell and Sam Simpson are Portfolio Managers. Each portfolio manager has the responsibility to manage the portfolio in accordance with the clients' investment objective and constraints. This management process includes on-going oversight of the portfolio's investments, buying and selling securities and communication with clients.

Investment management accounts are generally reviewed formally each quarter and frequently monitored and reviewed. Reviews could also occur at the time of new deposits, material changes in client's financial information, changes in economic cycles, at Capital Square's discretion, or as often as the client may direct. Reviews entail analyzing securities, sensitivity to overall markets, economic changes, investment results and asset allocation, etc., to ensure the investment strategy and expectations are structured to continue to meet clients' objectives, goals, objectives or financial situation as such changes may require a review of the portfolio and make recommendations for changes.

Reports

Clients receive detailed monthly or quarterly statements of account activity, holdings and values, as well as confirmations of purchases and sales from qualified, independent custodians. Capital Square recommends that clients review their statements carefully and at a minimum quarterly.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Other Compensation

Capital Square does not receive from any person, company, broker/dealer, open-ended investment company or any other entity referral fees for directing clients or directed brokerage accounts or directed trades.

Compensation – Client Referrals – Solicitation Arrangement

Capital Square currently has no solicitor agreements. If we do sign any agreements in the future, under such agreements, Capital Square enters into written arrangements to pay a percentage of the advisory fee as referral fees to individuals who recommend clients to Capital Square. There is a written agreement between Capital Square and each solicitor which clearly defines the duties and responsibilities of the solicitor under this arrangement. In addition, each solicitor would be required to provide a written disclosure document, which explains to the prospective client the terms under which the solicitor is working with us and the fact that the solicitor is being compensated for the referral activities. The solicitor would also be required to furnish a copy of Capital Square's written disclosure document (this document) to the prospective client and obtain a written acknowledgement from the client that both the solicitor's and Capital Square's disclosure documents have been received. Fees charged to clients that would be the product of a referral from a solicitor are the same as those not referred from a solicitor.

Item 15: Custody

Custody – Fee Debiting

Clients may authorize Capital Square (in the client agreement) to debit fees directly from the client's account at the broker/dealer, bank or other qualified custodian. Client investment assets will be held with a custodian agreed upon by the client and Capital Square. The custodian sends a statement to the client, at least quarterly, indicating all amounts disbursed from the account including the amount of the advisory fees paid directly to Capital Square.

While Capital Square will assist clients in establishing and maintaining accounts at the custodian, Capital Square shall have no responsibility or liability with respect to custodial arrangements or the acts, omissions or other conduct of the custodian.

Custody – Trusteeship/Executor

It is the policy of Capital Square and its related persons not to act as trustee or executor for any clients, other than immediate family.

Custody – Check Signing

It is the policy of Capital Square and its related persons not to have check writing ability on any account of any client.

Custody – Account Statements

As described above, clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker/dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. Clients are urged to carefully review their statements.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

Discretionary Authority for Trading and Limited Power of Attorney

Through the investment management agreement, Capital Square may accept limited power of attorney to act on a discretionary basis on behalf of clients. A limited power of attorney allows Capital Square to execute trades on behalf of its clients.

When such limited powers exist between Capital Square and the client, Capital Square has the authority to determine, without obtaining specific client consent, both the amount and type of security to be bought to satisfy client account objectives. Additionally, Capital Square may accept any reasonable limitation or restriction to such authority on the account placed by the client. All limitations and restrictions placed on accounts must be given to Capital Square in writing.

Non-Discretionary Authority

Capital Square consults with the client prior to each trade to obtain concurrence if a blanket trading authorization has not been given.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

Capital Square does not have any authority to and does not vote proxies on behalf of its clients. Capital Square also does not render advice to or take any actions on behalf of clients with respect to any legal proceedings, including bankruptcies and shareholder litigation.

Clients may contact Notley Maddox, Member and Chief Compliance Officer, at 423-877-6708 for information about proxy voting.

Item 18: Financial Information

Capital Square has no financial commitments that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy.

Capital Square is not required to provide a balance sheet. Capital Square does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per client and six months or more in advance.

Other Business Activities

Disclosure on Outside Business Activities is provided in Form ADV Part 2A Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations. These Outside Business Activities do not create a material conflict of interest with clients.

Investment Adviser Representatives (IARs) of Capital Square may be appointed with several insurance companies and may be able to receive separate compensation for transactions implemented through various insurance companies. Clients are not obligated to use any company for insurance products purchased and may work with any insurance agent they choose. Insurance compensation will be separate and distinct from financial fees charges by Capital Square; IARs typically spend less than 10% of their time on insurance sales.

Additional Compensation

No supervised person receives any economic benefit outside of regular salaries related to amount of sales, client referrals or new accounts.

Supervision

Notley Maddox, Member and Chief Compliance Officer, supervises all persons named in this Form ADV Part 2 Investment Advisor Brochure Supplement. He can be reached at 423-877-6708.

Supervision is accomplished through several different methods. Capital Square holds regular investment and ad hoc meeting. Compliance and supervision are discussed and evaluated during these meetings and what each person can do to create and maintain a culture of compliance. The Chief Compliance Officer has access to all client reports and files, client and personal trading records, statements, emails and other electronic records kept by the custodian. Investment advice given to clients must meet the stated investment objectives of the client.
