Item 4 Advisory Business

Vantage Consulting Group, Inc. (Vantage) is an SEC-registered investment adviser with its principal place of business located in Virginia Beach, Virginia. Vantage has been conducting business since 1985. Mark T. Finn serves as the firm's Chairman, CEO and CCO. He is the firm's majority shareholder.

As used in this brochure, the words "Vantage", "we," "our," and "us" refer to Vantage Consulting Group, Inc. and BV Partners, LLC, New Ventures Select Partners, LLC, Pacific Management, LLC, New Ventures III Manager, LLC, Vantage Analytics, LLC and New Ventures aS Manager, LLC.

Vantage Consulting Group, Inc. offers the following advisory services to clients:

INDIVIDUAL PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

Vantage provides continuous advice to a client or making investments for a client based on the individual needs of the client. During our data-gathering process, Vantage determines the client's individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs. We review and discuss a client's prior investment history, and where appropriate family composition and background. Through personal discussions and correspondence with clients, goals and objectives based on the client's particular circumstances are established. Together we develop a client's personal investment policy and create and manage a portfolio based on that policy.

Vantage manages advisory accounts on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. Account supervision is guided by the client's stated objectives (i.e., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations.

Clients may impose reasonable restrictions on investing in certain securities, types of securities, or industry sectors.

Our investment recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker-dealer, insurance company, fund manager, or investment advisor or manager, and will generally include advice regarding the following securities:

- Exchange-listed securities
- Securities traded over-the-counter
- Foreign issuers
- Warrants
- Corporate debt securities (other than commercial paper)
- Commercial paper
- Municipal securities
- Mutual fund shares
- United States governmental securities
- Options contracts on securities
- Options contracts on commodities
- Futures contracts on tangibles
- Futures contracts on intangibles
- Interests in partnerships investing in real estate
- Interests in partnerships investing in oil and gas interests
- Interests in partnerships investing in private equity
- Alternative investments
- Other

Because some types of investments involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be implemented/recommended when consistent with the client's stated investment objectives, tolerance for risk, liquidity and suitability.

MANAGER OF MANAGERS PROGRAM (MOM)

Vantage offers advisory management services to clients through our Manager of Managers Program ("MOM") on a discretionary basis. We provide the client with an asset allocation strategy developed through personal discussions and correspondence whereby the client's goals and objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance and liquidity needs are established. The asset allocation strategy is then drafted into the client's Investment Policy Statement.

Vantage performs management searches of various investment advisers (including partnerships, funds, and commodity pools/advisers). Based on the client's individual circumstances and needs (as exhibited in the client's Investment Policy Statement) we determine which investment adviser's ("adviser" or "asset manager") portfolio management style is appropriate for the client. Factors considered in making this determination include account size, risk tolerance, the opinion of each client and the investment philosophy of the selected asset manager. MOM clients should refer to selected asset managers' Firm Brochures or other disclosure document for a full description of the services they provide. Meetings with clients to review the account are on a regular basis (typically annually or quarterly) or as determined by the client. After an adviser is hired by the Vantage client, the adviser creates and manages the client's portfolio based on the client's individual needs in accordance with the guidelines or IPS.

On an ongoing basis, Vantage monitors the performance of the asset manager(s). If it is determined that a particular adviser is not providing sufficient management services to the client, or is not managing the client's portfolio in a manner consistent with that client's Investment Policy Statement, we will recommend and implement appropriate asset manager or program changes.

Periodically and as necessary, Vantage meets with the clients to review and update Investment Policy Statements. Vantage requests clients provide prompt notification of material changes in the client's personal and/or financial situation in order to determine whether a review and/or revision of the Investment Policy Statement is warranted.

PENSION CONSULTING SERVICES

Vantage provides several discretionary and non-discretionary advisory services separately or in combination. While the primary clients for these services will be pension, profit sharing and 401(k) plans, we offer similar services, where appropriate, to individuals and trusts, estates and charitable organizations. Pension Consulting Services are comprised of four distinct services. Clients may choose to use any or all of these services.

Investment Policy Statement Preparation (hereinafter referred to as "IPS"):

Vantage will meet with the client representatives (in person or over the telephone) to determine an appropriate investment strategy that reflects the plan sponsor's stated investment objectives for management of the overall plan. Typically, Vantage will then draft a written IPS detailing the objectives, including a plan to achieve the goals. The IPS may also list the criteria for selection of investment vehicles as well as the procedures and timing for monitoring of investment performance.

Selection of Investment Vehicles:

Vantage will assist plan sponsors in constructing appropriate asset allocations. We will review various investments best suited for ERISA accounts including mutual funds (both indexed and managed) to determine appropriate investments to implement the client's IPS. The number of investments to be recommended may be determined by the client, based on the IPS.

Monitoring of Investment Performance:

Vantage will continuously monitor and regularly report on client investments based on the procedures and schedules outlined in the IPS. Unless also serving as a Manager of Managers, Vantage will not have the discretionary authority to purchase or sell the investments for the account. Vantage will supervise the client's portfolio and make recommendations to the client as market factors and the client's needs dictate.

Employee Communications:

For pension, profit sharing and 401(k) plan clients wherein there are individual accounts with plan participants exercising control over assets in their own account ("self-directed plans"), Vantage may provide educational support designed for the plan participants. The nature of the topics to be covered will be determined by Vantage and the client under the guidelines established in ERISA Section 404(c). The educational support will NOT provide plan participants with individualized, tailored investment advice or individualized, tailored asset allocation recommendations.

SELECTION AND MONITORING OF THIRD-PARTY MONEY MANAGERS

Vantage offers advisory management services to our clients through our Selection and Monitoring of Third-Party Money Managers.

Vantage provides the client with an asset allocation strategy developed through personal discussions and correspondence whereby goals and objectives based on the client's particular circumstances are established. This asset allocation strategy is drafted into the client's Investment Policy Statement ("IPS").

Based on the client's individual circumstances and needs (as exhibited in the client's IPS), Vantage performs management searches of various investment advisers to identify the portfolio management style appropriate for the client. Factors considered in making this determination include account size, risk tolerance, the opinion of each client and the investment philosophy of the selected adviser. The selected adviser's Firm Brochure or other disclosure document is reviewed for understanding of the services offered. Vantage meets with clients to review their account at least annually or as requested by the client. After an adviser is hired by the Vantage client, the adviser creates and manages the client's portfolio based on the client's individual needs in accordance with the guidelines or IPS.

Vantage monitors the performance of the selected investment adviser(s). If Vantage determines that an adviser(s) is not providing sufficient management services to the client, or is not managing the client's portfolio in a manner consistent with the client's guidelines or IPS, Vantage may recommend the client terminate the adviser and replace with a different adviser and/or program sponsor. Vantage assists the client in selecting a new investment adviser and/or program. However, any move to a new investment adviser and/or program is solely at the discretion of the client.

CONSULTING SERVICES

Clients can also retain Vantage to provide investment advice/services on a more focused basis. This may include advice on an isolated area(s) of concern such as estate planning, retirement planning, model building and implementation, trading, fund accounting, selection and identification of investment managers, including due diligence and risk assessment for clients/funds, signal provider services or other investment related topic. Vantage also provides specific consultation and/or administrative services regarding investment and financial concerns of the client.

PRIVATE INVESTMENT FUNDS

Vantage serves as the general partner, managing member, or manager of and/or the investment adviser to, certain private investment funds. As used in this section, the term "the Adviser" includes both Vantage; and BV Partners, LLC, New Ventures III Manager, LLC, New Ventures Select Partners, LLC, Pacific Management, LLC, and Vantage Analytics, LLC, which are identified as "Relying Advisers" in Part 1A of Vantage's Form ADV (see Schedule R).

The Adviser bases its advice to such private investment funds on the investment objective and restrictions (if any) set forth in the applicable offering memorandum, organizational documents, investment management agreement, and/or subscription agreements, as the case may be (each and collectively, the "Governing Documents").

Such funds are available for investment only by institutional investors and other sophisticated, high-net-worth investors, who meet the eligibility requirements of the applicable fund set forth in its Governing Documents. Each such fund is exempt from registration as an investment company under the U.S. Investment Company Act, as amended (the "Investment Company Act"), under Section 3(c)(1) or 3(c)(7) thereof.

REGISTERED INVESTMENT COMPANIES (MUTUAL FUNDS)

Vantage provides investment subadvisory services to Registered Investment Companies (Exchange Traded Funds, "ETFs"). Vantage manages each ETF to the investment strategy and restrictions described in the prospectus of such ETF. Vantage does not provide tailored investment advisory services to the individual investors in the ETF.

AMOUNT OF MANAGED ASSETS

As of 12/31/2018, Vantage managed $2,337,019,936 of discretionary client's assets in 10 accounts. As of 12/31/2018, Vantage did not manage non-discretionary client assets.

As of 12/31/2018, Assets Under Advisement* were $3,054,578,726 in 16 accounts. As of 12/31/2018 total discretionary assets under management and assets under advisement were $5,391,598,662 in 26 accounts.

*Assets under advisement are accounts where Vantage provides pension consulting or other services which may include, but are not limited to, asset allocation, portfolio evaluation, and risk management. Assets under advisement are not defined as regulatory assets under management.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

INDIVIDUAL PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

MANAGER OF MANAGERS PENSION CONSULTING

SELECTION AND MONITORING OF THIRD PARTY MONEY MANAGERS PRIVATE INVESTMENT FUNDS

Vantage annual fees for Investment Supervisory Services are based upon a percentage of assets under management and generally range from .05% to .5%. The annualized fee for Investment Supervisory Services will typically be charged as a percentage of assets under management, according to the following schedule:

Assets Under Management Fees	Annual Fee Range
Employee Benefit Accounts:	.05% up to .5% Individual
Accounts:	.05% up to .5%

Generally, for both employee benefit and individual accounts, clients will be invoiced in arrears based on the calendar quarter end value (market value or fair market value in the absence of market value, plus any credit balance or minus any debit balance), of the client's account as of the last business day of the previous quarter end. Fees may be negotiable.

 In cases where Vantage is hired as a Manager of Managers, Vantage is paid by the client, based on the agreed upon percentage of the client's assets under management typically ranging from .05% to .5% as outlined above. Vantage is NOT paid by the managers providing services to the managed accounts. Clients receiving Manager of Manager supervisory services from Vantage will pay fees directly to the independent managers retained for their account in accordance with the terms of the advisory contract between the client and the manager. Vantage does not control the fees or the billing arrangements of any selected asset manager. For complete descriptions of the fee arrangements including billing practices, minimum account requirements and account termination provisions, clients should review the manager's Firm Brochure, or other disclosure document. Fees may be negotiable.

Account Management Fees: Vantage may charge a fee for account management that is calculated based on a set rate as determined by contract or as a percentage of the assets under management. The Account Management Fee is calculated at an annual rate not to exceed 1%. Fees are calculated on either a monthly or quarterly basis per agreement, and are payable, either in advance based on the value of the account(s) as of the beginning of each billing period, or in arrears based on the value of the account at the end of each billing period. The Account Management Fee is prorated for periods less than a full billing cycle and adjusted to cover any additional contributions made during that period.

Incentive Fees: Managed Accounts may contract with Vantage to pay performance-based compensation ("Incentive Fees"). The Incentive Fee is calculated based on a percentage of the net profits of the account(s) as measured on a predetermined date mutually agreed upon with the client.

Vantage's incentive fee is typically 5% to 10% of the net profits as established in the Investment Management Agreement. To the extent that the amount of account appreciation is less than the high water mark, there is a loss carry forward allocation that must be recouped before Vantage is entitled to a performance-based fee.

Under certain circumstances, Vantage's investment management services may be provided solely for an incentive fee based compensation, advisory clients should recognize that such fee arrangements may create an investment conflict as it creates an incentive to allocate profitable investments to such a client thereby enabling Vantage to recognize increased compensation for management services.

Clients electing to terminate their contracts will be charged a performance-based fee based on the performance of the account for the measuring period going back from the termination date to the date the performance-based fee was last assessed by Vantage.

In calculating the performance-based fees, Vantage will include all income to the account including realized and unrealized capital gains and other income credited to the account, reduced by realized and unrealized capital losses and any appropriate expenses charged to the account. As such, Vantage may receive increased compensation with regard to unrealized appreciation as well as unrealized gains in the client's account. The client must understand the performance-based fee method of compensation and its risks prior to entering into an advisory contract with Vantage which includes a performance based fee.

PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES WILL ONLY BE CHARGED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS OF REG. 205-3 OF THE INVESTMENT ADVISERS ACT OF 1940 AND/OR APPLICABLE STATE REGULATIONS.

On a case-by-case basis, Vantage determines an appropriate fee structure based on the size, complexity and investment objectives of the client's account. Fee arrangements may include a combination of a management fee and incentive fee, or may be solely limited to a management fee or an incentive-based fee. The terms and conditions of the fee structure are mutually agreed upon prior to entering into an advisory agreement. Fees may be negotiable.

Clients will be invoiced performance based fees in arrears at the end of each measuring period.

Limited Negotiability of Advisory Fees: Although Vantage has established the aforementioned fee schedule(s), we retain the discretion to negotiate alternative fees on a client-by-client basis. Client facts, circumstances and needs will be considered in determining fee schedules. Factors include the complexity of the client, assets to be placed under management, anticipated future additional assets; related accounts; portfolio style, account composition, and reporting requirements, among other factors. The specific annual fee schedule will be identified in the contract between Vantage and the client.

Vantage may group certain client accounts for the purposes of achieving the minimum account size requirements and determining the annualized fee.

Discounts, not generally available to our advisory clients, may be offered to family members and friends of associated persons of Vantage.

CONSULTING SERVICES FEES

Vantage's Consulting Services fee will be determined based on the nature of the services being provided and the complexity of each client's circumstances. All fees are agreed upon prior to entering into a contract with the client.

Our Consulting Services fees are calculated and charged on a fixed fee basis, typically $5,000.00 per day or as negotiated with client.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Termination of the Advisory Relationship: A Vantage client agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of 30 days written notice or other mutually agreed upon termination notification terms. As disclosed above, certain fees are paid in advance of services provided. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded. In calculating a client's reimbursement of fees, we will prorate the reimbursement according to the number of days remaining in the billing period.

Mutual Fund Fees: All fees paid to Vantage for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged to shareholders by mutual funds and/or ETFs. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. Such fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could invest in a mutual fund directly, without our services. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by Vantage which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and Vantage fees to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

Third Party Private Fund Fees: All fees paid to Vantage for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged to Vantage clients as members or partners of private pooled investment vehicles ("Private Funds"). These fees and expenses are described in each private fund's offering documents. Such fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a performance based fee. A client could possibly invest in a private fund directly, without our services. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by Vantage which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which private fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and Vantage fees to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

Additional Fees and Expenses: In addition to Vantage's advisory fees, clients are responsible for the fees and expenses charged by custodians and imposed by broker dealers, including, but not limited to, any transaction charges imposed by a broker dealer with which an independent investment manager effects transactions for the client's account(s). Please refer to the "Brokerage Practices" section (Item 12) of this Form ADV for additional information.

Grandfathering of Minimum Account Requirements: Advisory clients may be subject to Vantage's minimum account requirements and advisory fee schedule in effect at the time the client entered into the advisory relationship with Vantage. Therefore, our firm's minimum account requirements may differ among clients.

ERISA Accounts: Vantage is deemed to be a fiduciary to advisory clients that are employee benefit plans or individual retirement accounts (IRAs) pursuant to the Employee Retirement Income and Securities Act ("ERISA"). As such, Vantage is subject to specific duties and obligations under ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code that include among other things, restrictions concerning certain forms of compensation. To avoid engaging in prohibited transactions, Vantage may only charge fees for investment advice about products for which our firm and/or our related persons do not receive any commissions or 12b-1 fees, or conversely, investment advice about products for which our firm and/or our related persons receive commissions or 12b-1 fees, however, only when such fees are used to offset Vantage's advisory fees.

Advisory Services Offered to Registered Investment Companies (ETFs): The fees and compensation paid to Vantage by an ETF are described in such ETF's Prospectus. A copy of each ETF is available through the SEC's website at www.sec.gov/edgar/searchedgar/companysearch.html. The fees and compensation paid to Vantage will be paid by the ETF in accordance with Vantage's advisory agreement. An ETF investor will indirectly bear its pro rata share of the fees, expenses or charges described in the ETF's Prospectus. Such fees, expenses and charges include, but are not limited to, fees incurred for legal, audit and custodial services provided to the ETF and transactions effected for the Investment Company such as brokerage and execution charges, markups and commissions. Please see the discussion below in "Item 12. Brokerage Practices" for a description of brokerage and execution charges. Vantage will not receive sales commissions in connection with sales of interest in an ETF.

Advisory Fees in General: Clients should note that similar advisory services may (or may not) be available from other registered (or unregistered) investment advisers for similar or lower fees.

Limited Prepayment of Fees: Under no circumstances does Vantage require or solicit payment of fees more than six months in advance of services rendered

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

PERFORMANCE/INCENTIVE-BASED FEES

As disclosed in Item 5 of this Brochure, Vantage may accept an incentive or performance-based fee from a client. Such incentive or performance-based fees are calculated based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the assets of the client. To qualify for a performance-based fee arrangement, a client (or Fund investor, as applicable) must either demonstrate a net worth of at least $2,000,000 or must have at least $1,000,000 under management immediately after entering into a management agreement with Vantage.

Clients should be aware that incentive or performance-based fee arrangements may create an incentive for Vantage to recommend investments which may be riskier or more speculative than those which would be recommended under a different fee arrangement.

Furthermore, Vantage has clients who do not pay incentive or performance-based fees which could create an incentive for Vantage to favor accounts that do pay such fees because compensation received from performance based fee clients is more directly tied to the performance of their accounts.

SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

From time to time, Vantage identifies investment opportunities that are limited in such a way that the supply of the opportunity is less than the potential client demand. This includes direct investments in securities, such as private investment funds and access to recommended separate account managers that may have self-imposed caps or other limitations on the amount of assets they are willing to manage. The risk of such limited opportunities is that Vantage will consistently allocate them to favored clients or higher fee paying clients to the potential harm of other clients for which such investments are equally suitable. When faced with these sorts of limited investment opportunities, it is Vantage's policy to allocate such opportunities in a fair, equitable and unbiased manner over time and not to systematically disadvantage any clients. In determining the allocation of limited investment opportunities, the suitability of such opportunity to each Client or Fund shall be the primary consideration. Vantage considers a variety of factors in making the suitability determination, including, but not limited to, any of the following:

- Legal and regulatory restrictions;
- Investment objectives and strategies;
- Existing portfolio composition;
- Cash levels and the need for liquidity;
- Other investment opportunities that may be available.
- Anticipated volatility associated with the investment in respect of each Client's or Fund's investment strategy and objectives;
- Each Client's or Fund's investment restrictions;
- Where allocation of an investment opportunity would be insufficient to make up a meaningful portion of a portfolio;
- The avoidance of odd lots or excessive transaction costs relative to the size of the Client's or Fund's participation in the investment opportunity;
- The need to rebalance positions held in an investment due to capital infusions or withdrawals.

In circumstances where Vantage has discretion, where a limited investment opportunity is equally suitable and may be reasonably allocated to more than one Client or Fund, the opportunity will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Where a limited investment opportunity is equally suitable and may only be allocated to a single Client or Fund, the opportunity will be allocated on a rotating basis. The management of the allocation process and the resolution of any related issue are undertaken under the direction of the CEO and VP/CIO.

In circumstances where Vantage does not have discretion, including for consulting clients where it makes investment recommendations, if a manager or a Fund has limited capacity, Vantage will also use the suitability considerations outlined above. In the event a client rejects the recommendation or indicates they will not be able to reach a decision in the required time frame, if it is still possible to increase the pro rata allocation recommendations to other clients, Vantage will do so. Similarly, if the opportunity can only be allocated to a single client and the client rejects the recommendation, Vantage will recommend the opportunity to the next client in the rotation.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

Vantage uses the following methods of analysis in formulating our investment advice and/or managing client assets:

Charting. We perform technical analysis of charts of market and security activity in an attempt to identify when the market is moving up or down and to predict when and how long the trend may last and when the trend might reverse.

We analyze past market movements and apply the analysis to the present in an attempt to recognize recurring patterns of investor behavior and potentially predict future price movement.

Technical analysis does not consider the underlying financial condition of a company. This presents a risk in that a poorly-managed or financially unsound company may underperform regardless of market movement.

Fundamental Analysis. We attempt to measure the intrinsic value of a security by looking at economic and financial factors (including the overall economy, industry conditions, and the financial condition and management of the company itself) to determine if the company is underpriced (indicating it may be a good time to buy) or overpriced (indicating it may be time to sell).

Fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating the stock.

Cyclical Analysis. We measure and analyze the movements of a particular stock against the overall market in an attempt to predict the price movement of the security.

Quantitative Analysis. We use mathematical models in an attempt to obtain more accurate measurements of a company's quantifiable data, such as the value of a share price or earnings per share, and predict changes to that data.

A risk in using quantitative analysis is that the models used may be based on assumptions that prove to be incorrect.

Qualitative Analysis. We subjectively evaluate non-quantifiable factors such as quality of management, labor relations, and strength of research and development factors not readily subject to measurement, and predict changes to share price based on that data. The risk associated with using qualitative analysis is subjective judgment and may prove incorrect.

Asset Allocation. Rather than focusing primarily on securities selection, we attempt to identify an appropriate ratio of securities, fixed income, and cash suitable to the client's investment goals and risk tolerance.

A risk of asset allocation is the client may not participate in sharp increases in a particular security, industry or market sector. Another risk is the ratio of securities, fixed income, and cash will change over time due to stock and market movements and, if not corrected, will no longer be appropriate for the client's goals.

Third-Party Money Manager Analysis. We examine the experience, expertise, investment philosophies, and past performance of independent third-party investment managers in an attempt to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We monitor the manager's underlying holdings, strategies, concentrations and leverage as part of our overall periodic risk assessment. Additionally, as part of our due diligence process, we survey the manager's compliance and business enterprise risks.

A risk of investing with a third-party manager who has been successful in the past is that the manager may not be able to replicate the success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in a third-party manager's portfolio, there is also a risk the manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the portfolio, making it a less suitable investment for our clients. Moreover, as we do not control the manager's daily business and compliance operations, we may be unaware of the lack of internal controls necessary to prevent business, regulatory or reputation deficiencies.

Risks for all forms of analysis. Our securities analysis methods rely on the assumption that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly available sources of information about the securities, are providing accurate and unbiased data. While we are alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

We use the following strategy(ies) in managing client accounts, provided that such strategy(ies) are appropriate to the needs of the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives, risk tolerance, and time horizons, among other considerations:

Long-term purchases. We may purchase securities or hire managers with the idea of holding them in the client's account for a year or longer. Typically we employ this strategy when:

- We believe the securities to be currently undervalued, and/or
- We want exposure to a particular asset class over time, regardless of the current projection for this class.

The risk in a long-term purchase strategy may occur from holding the security for the long length of time resulting in missed advantages of short-term gains that could be profitable to a client. Moreover, if our predictions are incorrect, a security may decline sharply in value before we make the decision to sell.

Short-term purchases. We may purchase securities or hire managers with the idea of selling them within a relatively short time (typically a year or less). We do this in an attempt to take advantage of conditions that we believe will soon result in a price swing in the securities we purchase.

Trading. We may purchase securities or hire managers with the idea of selling them very quickly (typically within 30 days or less). We do this in an attempt to take advantage of our predictions of brief price swings.

Risk of Loss. Securities investments are not guaranteed and clients may lose money on their investments. Vantage works with clients to understand their risk tolerance.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

Vantage is required to disclose any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management.

Vantage Consulting Group and our management personnel have no reportable disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Vantage has adopted a Code of Ethics which sets forth high ethical standards of business conduct we require of our employees, including compliance with applicable federal securities laws.

Vantage and our personnel owe a duty of loyalty, fairness and good faith towards our clients, and have an obligation to adhere not only to the specific provisions of the Code of Ethics but to the general principles that guide the Code.

Vantage's Code of Ethics includes policies and procedures for the review of quarterly securities transactions reports as well as initial and annual securities holdings reports that must be submitted by the firm's access persons. Among other things, our Code of Ethics also requires the prior approval of any acquisition of securities in a limited offering (e.g., private placement) or an initial public offering. Our code also provides for oversight, enforcement and record keeping provisions.

Vantage's Code of Ethics further includes the firm's policy prohibiting the use of material non-public information. While we do not believe that we have any particular access to non-public information, all employees are reminded that such information may not be used in a personal or professional capacity.

Vantage and individuals associated with our firm are prohibited from engaging in principal transactions with our clients. Vantage and individuals associated with our firm are prohibited from engaging in agency cross transactions with our clients.

Vantage's Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of our employees will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts.

Vantage and individuals associated with our firm may buy or sell for their personal accounts securities identical to or different from those recommended to our clients. In addition, any related person(s) may have an interest or position in a certain security(ies) which may also be recommended to a client.

It is the policy of our firm that employees of Vantage may not purchase or sell securities just prior to a transaction(s) being implemented for an advisory account without consent of the CCO, or in accordance with transactions specifically permitted in the Code of Ethics, thereby preventing such employee(s) from benefiting from transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts. Further, employees are expected to comply with all restrictions outlined in the Vantage Code of Ethics Policy.

A copy of Vantage's Code of Ethics is available to our advisory clients and prospective clients. You may request a copy by email sent to rcole@vantageconsultinggroup.com, or by calling us at (757) 491-1200, ext. 202.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Within our last fiscal year, Vantage has not obtained products and services on a soft-dollar basis.

When Vantage acts as the investment manager clients may choose whether or not to direct brokerage authority for their accounts. For discretionary clients choosing not to direct their brokerage, Vantage requires clients to provide us with authority to determine the broker dealer to use and the authority to negotiate commission costs that will be charged to these clients for their brokerage transactions. The authority is documented in the client's investment management agreement.

Vantage will endeavor to select those brokers or dealers which will provide the best services at the lowest commission rates possible. The reasonableness of commissions is based on the broker's stability, reputation, ability to provide professional services, competitive commission rates and prices, research, trading platform, and other services which will help Vantage in providing investment management/decision making services to clients. Vantage may, therefore recommend the use of (or use) a broker who provides useful research and securities transaction services even though a lower commission may be charged by a broker who offers no research services and minimal securities transaction assistance. Research services may be useful in servicing all our clients, and not all of such research may be useful for the account for which the particular transaction was effected.

Consistent with obtaining best execution for clients, Vantage may direct brokerage transactions for clients' portfolios to brokers who provide research and execution services to Vantage and, indirectly, to Vantage's clients. These services are of the type described in Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and are designed to augment our own internal research and investment decision making strategy capabilities. Services used may also include trade analysis, market data fees, fundamental research data and earnings revision data, and for administrative and other non-research purposes. This may be done without prior agreement or understanding by the client (and done at our discretion). Research services obtained through the use of soft dollars may be developed by brokers to whom brokerage is directed or by third-parties which are compensated by the broker. Vantage does not attempt to put a specific dollar value on the services rendered or to allocate the relative costs or benefits of those services among clients, believing that the research we receive will help us to fulfill our overall duty to our clients. Vantage may not use each particular research service, however, to service each client. As a result, a client may pay brokerage commissions that are used, in part, to purchase research services that are not used to benefit that specific client. Broker dealers we select may be paid commissions for effecting transactions for our transactions if Vantage determines in good faith that such amounts are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and/or research services provided by those broker-dealers, viewed either in terms of a particular transaction or our overall duty to its ('brokerage') discretionary client accounts.

Certain items obtainable with soft dollars may not be used exclusively for either investment decision making, execution or research services. The cost of such "mixed-use" products or services will be fairly allocated and Vantage makes a good faith effort to determine the percentage of such products or services which may be considered as investment research. The portions of the costs attributable to non-research usage of such products or services are paid by our firm to the broker-dealer in accordance with the provisions of Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

When Vantage uses client brokerage commissions to obtain research or brokerage services, we receive a benefit to the extent that Vantage does not have to produce such products internally or compensate third-parties with our own money for the delivery of such services. Therefore, such use of client brokerage commissions results in a conflict of interest, because we have an incentive to direct client brokerage to those brokers who provide research and services we utilize, even if these brokers do not offer the best price or commission rates for our clients.

Vantage is not obligated to obtain the best net price or lowest brokerage commission on any particular transaction. Rather, applicable law requires investment managers to use their reasonable best efforts to obtain the most favorable execution for each transaction executed on behalf of client accounts. Therefore, the firm evaluates brokerage services offered on the basis of some or all of the following criteria:

- Execution capability
- Transaction fees and charges
- Effective communications
- Distribution capabilities
- Use of electronic efficiencies
- Whether the broker follows a particular security
- Custodial capabilities and costs
- Ability to execute and settle trades efficiently
- Block trading and block positioning capabilities
- Willingness to execute related or unrelated difficult transactions
- Order of call
- Availability of securities to borrow for short trades
- Trade error policies and practices
- Client reporting capabilities
- Financial stability
- General reputation

Based upon an evaluation of some or all of these factors, the firm may execute client trades through broker-dealers that charge fees that are higher than the lowest available fees. The firm may select broker-dealers whose fees may be greater than those charged for similar investments if the firm determines that brokerage services and research materials provided by that broker-dealer warrant the payment of higher fees. The firm may aggregate orders of more than one client if it is determined that aggregation is in the best interests of the clients. Trade aggregation is usually sought to obtain lower commissions and costs or a better transaction price. The firm does not aggregate securities transactions for client accounts unless it believes that aggregation is consistent with its duty to seek best execution and is consistent with the investment objectives and guidelines for the client accounts participating in the trade.

When orders are aggregated, the price paid by each account is the average price of the order. Transaction costs are allocated to each client on a pro rata basis, based upon the ratio of the amount of particular issue of securities allocated to the account to the overall amount of that issue purchased. It is the firm's policy that trades are not allocated in any manner that favors one group of similarly-situated clients over another.

Clients that impose limitations on Vantage's discretionary authority over brokerage may restrict Vantage's ability to achieve best execution. When directed to use a client's brokerage firm, Vantage may make no attempt to negotiate commissions and, as a result, in some transactions the client may pay higher commissions. Clients who direct their brokerage will not participate in or benefit from batched transactions. Clients choosing to direct their brokerage should be aware they may pay less in commissions if they do not direct Vantage to use a specific firm.
