Advisory Business

Firm Description

Abner, Herrman & Brock LLC ("AHB") was founded in 1981. The firm provides investment management services on a discretionary basis. Such services are provided within guidelines formulated with each client, based upon defined investment objectives. Abner, Herrman & Brock, LLC (AHB), a registered broker-dealer, also provides a variety of execution and other brokerage services to clients on a fully disclosed basis through JP Morgan Clearing Corp., Inc. ("JP Morgan"), AHB's clearing broker. AHB's principal owner is Abner Trust, a 74.5% stockholder.

Types of Advisory Services

AHB provides investment management services, also known as asset management services. During initial conversations with prospective clients, investment objectives are identified, an asset allocation plan is devised, and the firm's advisory fee structure is discussed. AHB equity portfolios typically comprise large companies invested primarily in exchange listed securities and securities traded over the counter. The fixed income portfolios are invested in Investment Grade Corporate bond securities, Investment Grade Municipal bond securities, US Government Agency bonds and US Government Treasury securities. Balanced portfolios are invested in a combination of the above mentioned equity and fixed income securities.

Tailored Relationships

To tailor a portfolio to a client's individual needs, AHB and the prospective client will determine the amount of the portfolio that will be dedicated to equities or fixed income securities. The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities. The asset allocation for each client portfolio is documented in our portfolio management system. An opening letter sent to the client restating the asset allocation and investment objectives of the portfolios that will be managed. If clients elect to retain AHB as a portfolio manager, clients are provided with a letter outlining the agreed upon objectives, asset allocation plan and fee structure and are asked to execute a contractual Investment Advisory Agreement and to designate a custodian to hold their securities and a broker which will execute transactions to be effected on their behalf by AHB. Agreements may not be assigned without client consent.

Wrap Fee Programs

AHB provides its portfolio management services to wrap fee programs that are offered at other institutions. There is no difference in the investment management that AHB provides to the wrap fee accounts from the investment management to other accounts. As compensation for our investment management services, AHB receives a portion of the wrap fee that is charged by the financial institution that is sponsoring the wrap program.

Client Assets

As of December 31, 2010, Abner, Herrman & Brock, LLC manages $781,004,526 in assets for approximately 812 clients. Approximately $775,999,097 is managed on a discretionary basis, and $5,005,429 is managed on a non-discretionary basis.

Fees and Compensation

Fees

AHB fees are based upon a percentage of assets under management and vary depending upon the nature of the portfolio to be managed (i.e., equity/balanced portfolios versus fixed income portfolios) and the scope of AHB's services (i.e., investment management services versus investment management and execution services provided under AHB's Wrap Fee Program). Clients whose assets are invested in a money market fund or another fund that incurs an investment advisory fee will pay AHB advisory fees, and any expense fees associated with the fund. The initial meeting, which may be by telephone, is free of charge and is considered an exploratory interview to determine the extent to AHB investment management may be beneficial to the client.

Abner Herrman & Brock Wrap Fee Program: Under Abner, Herrman & Brock's Wrap Fee Program, clients receive investment management, brokerage and custodial services for an all-inclusive (or "wrap") fee which varies as follows depending upon the nature of the portfolio. In addition to the wrap fee, clients pay an administrative service charge on each transaction in the portfolio:

Annual Wrap Fee Program Fees:

Portfolio Size	Fixed Income (100%)	* Custom Balanced (50%/50%)	Core Equity (100%)	Aggressive Equity (100%)
$ 500,000 - $ 999,999	0.40%	1.25%	1.50%	2.00%
$ 1,000,000 - $ 9,999,999	0.35%	1.00%	1.25%	2.00%
$ 10,000,000 +	0.30%	0.65%	0.90%	2.00%

* Custom Balanced portfolios with equities representing less than 50% of the total assets are subject to lesser advisory fees while portfolios with equities representing more than 50% of the total assets are subject to greater advisory fees depending upon size, asset allocation and complexity of the portfolio. Depending upon any given client's financial needs, circumstances, and objectives (including the expected amount of trading activity) and the value of the advisory custodial, execution, and other services provided under AHB's wrap fee program, such services might be obtained at a more favorable total price through AHB or elsewhere on a separate basis.

Standard Advisory Fees:

Standard advisory fees for new clients are based upon the following fee schedule for Core Equity and

*Balanced portfolios:

1.000% fee on first $2 million
0.875% fee on next $1 million
0.750% fee on next $1 million
0.625% fee on next $1 million
0.500% fee on thereafter

*Custom Balanced Portfolios with equities representing less than 50 percent of the total assets are subject to lesser advisory fees depending upon the size and complexity of portfolio.

Fees for Fixed Income Portfolios vary from 0.100 to 0.400 of one (1) percent of the assets under management, depending upon size, bond specific allocation and investment objective.

In addition to the standard advisory fees, clients will incur discounted brokerage commissions and other transaction costs. As a broker, AHB executes transactions on behalf of customers who are not advisory clients but for whom AHB maintains brokerage accounts on both a discretionary and non-discretionary basis; AHB receives compensation for those accounts only in the form of brokerage commissions. As a broker, AHB also maintains accounts for customers who have separately retained AHB to manage their portfolio. AHB also receives advisory fees (as described above) from such clients when it is so retained.

When AHB acts as broker for its advisory clients, AHB charges brokerage commission rates in accordance with the standard schedule of rates then prevailing at JP Morgan, its clearing broker, less certain discounts which it may negotiate with its clients, and which are generally described below. Instead of effecting OTC equity securities on a principal basis with market makers, AHB generally effects over-the-counter equity security transactions through AHB on an agency basis. Clients pay AHB commissions for effecting such transactions and may also pay market makers a markup or mark down which is included in the offer or bid price of the securities purchased or sold. The current prevailing commission rates are reflected in the following tables:

Schedule of Standard Rate: Equities : The table below indicates the charge in cents per share, rounded to the nearest cent, of typical equity transactions, assuming no reduction in transaction charges.

Schedule of Standard Rates: Debt Securities The table below indicates the charges of typical debt transactions, assuming no reduction in transaction charges. All debt securities transactions are effected on a principal basis. AHB does not act as a principal on debt transactions however, may participate in a portion of the transaction charges.

Issue	Rate per $1,000
Securities with maturities of less than one year:	$ 0.3125 minimum of $25.00
Municipal, Government and Corporate Bonds:	$ 15.00 per bond

Discounts from the foregoing standard commission rates are provided to AHB advisory clients who pay advisory fees and generally are calculated on the basis of portfolio value as follows:

Market Value of Portfolio	Discount from AHB Standard Commission Rates
$ 100,000 – $ 250,000	20%
$ 250,001 – $ 1,000,000	30%
$ 1,000,001 – $ 5,000,000	40%
$ 5,000,001	+60%

From time to time, AHB and/or JP Morgan may charge fees for certain administrative or other services; those costs are disclosed and billed to clients as they occur. Additional information about AHB's brokerage commission schedule and discount policies for brokerage clients (with whom it does not have advisory agreements) and for its advisory clients is available upon request.

Model Portfolio Vendor: Abner, Herrman & Brock LLC (AHB) designs, monitors and updates Model Portfolios that are to meet the objectives set forth by the client. These portfolios are managed with the same investment philosophy and strategy as other accounts are managed by AHB. AHB does not have discretion in the management of such portfolios. AHB's recommendations that are provided to the client are used by such clients in their sole discretion, whether or not and to what extent to implement the Model Portfolios and/or each recommendation. AHB receives a fee for these investment services that is based on the average value for the aggregate assets in the Model Portfolio Accounts managed using the Model Portfolio at the beginning of the quarter. Core Equity(100%), .40%, Custom Balanced (50%/50%), .40%, Fixed Income (100%), .25%. Model Portfolios may be subject to lesser or greater advisory fees depending on the simplicity or complexity of the objective.

Method of Billing and Termination of Agreement

For both standard advisory clients and AHB wrap fee program clients, investment management fees are billed quarterly, in advance, for advisory services rendered during such quarter. The fees are calculated based upon the market value of the portfolio (securities and cash) at the end of each quarterly month end. Payment in full is expected upon invoice presentation. Fees may be deducted from a designated client account to facilitate billing. Clients may select either method for fee collection, billed or direct debit. The client must consent in advance to direct debiting of their investment account. For sub-advisory accounts, advisory fees are collected either monthly at the end of each month or quarterly depending on the sub-advisory agreement. The fees charged to any given client by AHB may be higher than fees charged to other clients, either by AHB or by other investment advisors, for advisory services to accounts of comparable size and investment objectives. Although the Investment Advisory Agreement is an ongoing agreement and constant adjustments are required, the length of service to the client is at the client's discretion. The client or the investment manager may terminate the Investment Advisory Agreement by written notice to the other party. Fees paid in advance of termination will be prorated to the date of termination and any unearned portion will be refunded to client. The portfolio value at the completion of the prior full billing quarter is used as the basis for the fee computation, adjusted for the number of days during the billing quarter prior to termination. The date of termination will be the earlier of 30 days after receiving written notification from the client of its intention to terminate or 30 days from the date the client's assets are removed from the account.

Performance-Based Fees

Sharing of Capital Gains

Fees are not based on a share of the capital gains or capital appreciation of managed securities. AHB does not use a performance-based fee structure because of the potential conflict of interest.

Performance-based compensation may create an incentive for the adviser to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to the client.

Types of Clients

Description and Account Minimum

AHB generally provides investment advice to individuals, endowments, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations and other business entities. The minimum account size is $500,000. AHB has the discretion to waive the account minimum when circumstances require it. Other exceptions may apply to employees of AHB and their relatives, or relatives of existing clients.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods may include charting, fundamental analysis, technical analysis, and cyclical analysis. The main sources of information include financial newspapers and magazines, inspections of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, timing services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, company press releases, online information including but not limited to newsletters, blogs, and webcasts. Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. AHB has an investment committee comprised of Howard Abner, Caryn Zweig, Kevin Strauss and Bryan Didonato. The investment committee makes final decisions with regard to securities investments after receiving and reviewing information obtained by AHB and its employees.

Investment Strategies

AHB employs a “top down” investment approach which focuses first on the outlook for the overall economy on a short, intermediate and long-term basis. AHB will also identify interest rate directions and those sectors of the economy (consumer, business and government) and those industries in each sector which are likely to be affected favorably and unfavorably by the overall economic outlook on an intermediate and long-term basis, pinpointing industries and particular companies of potential interest. AHB will also continually monitor market cycle positions.

The foregoing analysis is performed on an ongoing basis to formulate asset allocation strategies with preservation of capital and achievement of investment objectives being the foremost concern. AHB will use cash-flow management as an investment strategy. Subject to specific investment objectives of each client, and market environment, AHB generally structures portfolios with either a concentration in equities (Equity Portfolio), as a mix of equities and bonds (Custom Balanced Portfolio), with a concentration in taxable bonds (Taxable Bond Portfolio), or with a concentration in municipal bonds (Municipal Bond Portfolio). Subject to individual client objectives, the allocation among equities, bonds and cash in each portfolio will change in various markets. For example, overall investment objectives are met in varying markets by reducing equity exposure in declining markets and seeking expanded rates of return in rising markets.

Equity Portfolios
Core Equity

In equities, AHB seeks to continuously review most companies listed on the NYSE, as well as a large number of more sizable companies traded over-the-counter on NASDAQ, concentrating on those securities which display the greatest market inefficiencies in terms of price but meet certain quality standards. Those companies which are perceived by AHB as being well-managed as well as offering above-average earnings and dividend growth prospects will be the focus of further research. AHB looks for opportunities where market capitalization is large enough to afford easy entry and exit for liquidity in trading. AHB believes that the equity securities it identifies and invests in for clients tend to offer lower volatility and on a relative basis, potentially higher risk-adjusted returns than other stocks not bearing the same characteristics. To the extent feasible, AHB seeks to diversify Equity Portfolios among 5-20 industry sectors and 2-4 companies in each industry. In AHB's view, such diversification provides for a more prudent level of risk. In managing Equity Portfolios, AHB seeks to attain higher yields and lower volatility as compared with other professionally managed portfolios with similar investment objectives. Equity investments for clients are subject to certain selling disciplines in order to attempt to maximize gains and minimize losses, including consideration being given to selling securities which have appreciated by 50% or depreciated by 10% from purchase price.

Aggressive Equity

Aggressive equity portfolios have more concentrated positions, may include mid and small capitalization companies and may use margin debt to enhance the portfolio returns.

Custom Balanced Portfolios

Balanced Portfolios contain a mix of equities similar to those described above as well as bonds. Bonds are selected from the investment grade Corporate bond, U.S. Government, Agency as well as Municipal bond universe when appropriate. The proportion of bonds to equities in Balanced Portfolios is generally agreed to by the client to achieve their investment objectives before investment management is initiated. AHB seeks to structure the bond portion as described below.

Fixed Income PortfoliosTaxable Bond Portfolios

Taxable Bond Portfolios are comprised of U.S. Treasury, government agency, and investment-grade corporate bonds with laddered maturities. Bonds are selected that represent attractive relative values based on the yield curve, bond type and sector spreads. Bond holdings are shifted toward agencies and corporates when the yields from those sectors offer materially higher returns than U.S. Treasuries. Analysis of the yield curve identifies maturities that offer optimal yields within AHB's quality, liquidity and stability requirements. AHB continuously monitors each bond's credit quality in an effort to anticipate a change in the credit rating of the issuer. AHB Taxable Bond Portfolios are broadly diversified by bond type, economic sector and maturity to reduce volatility and generate a high rate of current income and/or capital appreciation. AHB does not participate in "swapping" or "credit anticipation" strategies for bond portfolios.

Municipal Bond Portfolios

Municipal Bond Portfolios will reflect a client's desire to receive greater after-tax income or tax-exempt capital appreciation. Bond holdings are selected for quality, value and stable income generation. Municipal Bond Portfolio holdings are structured with high quality investment-grade tax-exempt bonds. AHB continuously monitors each bond's credit quality in an effort to anticipate a change in the underlying credit rating of the issuer. Each portfolio is customized to meet the client's risk profile, tax sensitivity and income requirements.

AHB investment strategies are intended to meet the objectives of the clients who desire above average investment returns. AHB strategies will not meet the objectives of clients who wish to assume above-average market risks. Nor will it satisfy a "buy and hold" strategy, the focus of which is solely on expectation of longer-term future returns.

If there are any changes in the client's financial situation or investment objectives, or if they wish to impose, add or modify any reasonable restrictions to the management of their account they should contact Abner, Herrman & Brock LLC.

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Disciplinary Information

Legal and Disciplinary

There are no legal or disciplinary events related to past or present investment advisory clients.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Financial Industry Activities

Abner, Herrman & Brock, LLC is registered as a securities broker. As a broker, AHB executes transactions on behalf of customers who are not advisory clients but for whom AHB maintains brokerage accounts on both a discretionary and non-discretionary basis; AHB receives compensation for those accounts only in the form of brokerage commissions. As a broker, AHB also maintains accounts for customers who have separately retained AHB to manage their portfolio; AHB also receives advisory fees (as described above) from such clients when it is so retained.

Affiliations

Once prospective clients decide to retain AHB as its investment manager, their investment objectives and overall asset allocation plan are agreed upon; the client executes a standard advisory contract; and the client is asked to designate a broker for execution of all transactions effected on their behalf and a custodian for the purpose of holding the securities and other assets to be held in their portfolio. AHB does not serve as a custodian. AHB is a registered broker dealer and advises clients and prospective clients of its availability to execute transactions effected on their behalf by AHB as their investment advisor. At the time of execution of an advisory contract with AHB, clients are asked to designate the broker to which all equity transactions are to be directed by AHB. For the purchase and/or sale of fixed-income securities, the client authorizes AHB to effect securities transactions for account assets, subject to AHB's duty to seek the best execution for these transactions. Clients may elect to designate AHB or another broker of their choice. The principal owners of AHB share in the benefits derived by AHB from the brokerage commissions charged its advisory clients when AHB is selected as the broker and if it is a standard advisory agreement in which commissions are charged. When AHB is selected as broker, a portion of the brokerage commissions paid by AHB clients is also retained by JP Morgan, the broker-dealer through which AHB clears all trades for advisory clients who have chosen AHB to act as broker under those circumstances. AHB utilizes the services of JP Morgan to execute all equity transactions, which AHB determines, in the exercise of its discretion as advisor, are consistent with the investment objectives of its clients

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

This Code of Ethics is intended to be utilized by all AHB personnel in the conduct of AHB business.

The Investment Company Act of 1940, the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, and the rules adopted under these Acts prohibit certain investment advisers and "access persons" of these advisers from engaging in fraudulent and manipulative practices with respect to managed investment companies and other clients. The rules also require that each registered adviser adopt and promulgate a code of ethics designed reasonably to prevent "access persons" from engaging in the prohibited practices. The code is to be reviewed annually and copies of each version are to be preserved for at least five (5) years.

SEC Rule 204A-1 requires every investment adviser registered or required to be registered under section 203 of the Act to establish, maintain and enforce a written code of ethics that, at a minimum, includes:

- A standard (or standards) of business conduct that the adviser requires of each supervised person, which standard must reflect the adviser's fiduciary obligations and those of its supervised persons;
- Provisions requiring the supervised persons to comply with applicable federal securities laws;
- Provisions that require all "access persons" to report, and the firm to review, their personal securities transactions and holdings periodically as provided in the Rule;
- Provisions requiring supervised persons to report any violations of the code of ethics promptly to the chief compliance officer or, provided the chief compliance officer also receives reports of all violations, to other persons designated in the code of ethics; and
- Provisions requiring the firm to provide each supervised person with a copy of the code of ethics and any amendments, and requiring the supervised persons to provide the firm with a written acknowledgment of their receipt of the code and any amendments.

The Chief Compliance Officer is responsible for overseeing the Code of Ethics where applicable, providing any revisions and implementing its provisions. This oversight shall, at a minimum, include the following on a regular basis:

- Reviewing access persons' personal securities reports
- Assessing whether access persons are following required internal procedures
- Evaluating transactions to identify any prohibited practices
- Assessing relative performance of personal accounts vs. customer accounts.

Each employee and associated person must date and sign the Acknowledgment on the last page of this Code of Ethics and return a copy of the signed Acknowledgment to the CCO. In addition, each employee or Associated Person must take personal responsibility to report promptly to the Chief Compliance Officer any suspected violations of this Code of Ethics where applicable.

The Code of Ethics is available as a separate document to clients and prospective clients upon request.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Pursuant to the Code of Ethics and other AHB policies and procedures with regard to confidentiality, and the avoidance of potential conflicts of interest, all transactions executed at AHB, including those on behalf of its principals and employees, are reviewed daily to prevent the misuse of material non-public information by AHB, its principals and employees and other violations of law or conflicts of interest.

From time to time, AHB, as well as principals and employees of AHB, may have positions or may engage in transactions, in the same securities as those purchased or sold for advisory clients. To avoid any potential conflict of interest, transactions affected for principals or employees of AHB within the same time frame as those for clients will be executed at an average price identical to that paid by or to clients. In such circumstances, orders for AHB principals and employees are aggregated with client orders in a manner identical of that explained in the order aggregating section of this brochure regarding AHB average pricing policy. As a matter of policy, AHB prohibits its principals and employees from effecting transactions immediately prior to or after transactions in the same security effected for clients. AHB does, upon review, permit transactions in the same securities as those selected for its advisory clients to be effected on the same day at a time significantly different than that of client transactions. All transactions are reviewed on a daily basis to ensure adherence to the foregoing policies. AHB receives no payment for order flow.

Brokerage Practices

Selecting Brokerage Firms

AHB does not make custodian recommendations.

AHB's Investment Advisory Agreements require that its clients specifically consent to and designate a particular broker to be used to execute equity transactions on their behalf. For fixed income securities, AHB's Investment Advisory Agreements require that its clients authorize AHB to effect securities transactions for portfolio assets, subject to AHB's duty to seek best execution for these transactions. As noted above, clients may select AHB to act as broker to execute transactions on their behalf as the portfolio manager. When it is so designated as broker, AHB calculates brokerage commissions in accordance with the standard schedule and discount policies described above in the Fees and Compensation section. Trade confirmations indicating the commissions charged on such transactions are sent to clients by JP Morgan through which AHB executes such trades. AHB reviews the execution of trades at each custodian each quarter. The review is documented in the AHB Best Execution Analysis compliance file. Trading fees charged by the custodians is also reviewed on a quarterly basis. AHB does not receive any portion of the trading fees.

Soft Dollars, Brokerage for Client Referrals and Directed Brokerage

AHB does not direct brokerage business to other brokers to obtain research or other "soft-dollar" benefits. When AHB subscribes to research or other services made available by other brokers or third parties, it pays for such services with its own funds, not those of its clients. AHB does not direct client transactions to any broker dealer in return for client referrals.

AHB will direct brokerage to a particular broker if it receives written instructions to do so from its advisory clients, in accordance with the circumstances described more fully below, e.g., as a form of compensation to the broker by the client of the client's commissions, so that the client can receive a service from the entity to whom brokerage is directed. (i.e. a wrap program). Where clients instruct AHB to direct all transactions for execution to a specific broker, AHB does not independently determine whether the commissions charged or execution effected thereafter is done at rates or prices higher or lower than those which could have been obtained had AHB or if another broker acted as the broker. AHB does not negotiate brokerage commissions with other brokers on behalf of its advisory clients who designate other brokers.

From time to time, AHB receives instructions from its advisory clients to direct all brokerage transactions affected on their behalf to a particular broker with which AHB is not affiliated. In such circumstances, the client will receive trade confirmations directly from the designated broker (or its clearing broker) and pay brokerage commissions in accordance with such broker's own schedule of rates or whatever arrangement the client has negotiated with such broker. AHB does not negotiate on behalf of or advise its clients with regard to such commission arrangements. The brokerage commissions charged by such brokers may be higher or lower than that of AHB or other brokers.

From time to time, clients who select AHB as portfolio manager and designate another broker to execute transactions on their behalf at AHB's instructions may have done so after AHB was identified to them by such brokers as one of several potential portfolio managers. AHB does not pay a fee of any kind to such brokers nor agree to direct any transactions to them for executions in order to be included in the databases from which such brokers may draw its name as a potential manager. Nor is AHB affiliated in any way with such brokers. AHB may provide information to such brokers about its business activities, investment strategies fee, performance, etc. AHB may also purchase research or other services from such brokers paying for them with its own funds in cash.

Before being retained by any advisory client, however, AHB communicates directly with such potential clients, providing them with information identical to that provided to all prospective clients, regardless of what information or recommendation such prospective clients may have received from such brokers about AHB or what fees such clients may have paid to such brokers for their recommendations.

From time to time, AHB may also be identified as one of several potential portfolio managers by other persons such as independent consultants who may charge individuals a fee for such services. In such circumstances, AHB does not pay a fee of any kind to the consultant nor enter into any agreement to procure or direct services to them, regardless of whether AHB is retained as a portfolio manager. Nor is AHB affiliated in any way with such consultants who may themselves charge a fee to persons to whom it makes recommendations. AHB may, however, have provided such consultants with information about its business activities, investment strategies, fees, performance, etc. that are utilized by the consultant to identify AHB as a potential money manager. When potential advisory clients thereafter contact AHB, AHB communicates directly with them in the same manner it does with all prospective clients to determine whether AHB will be retained.

The brokerage commissions charged by AHB may be higher or lower than those which could be obtained from other brokers or by other portfolio managers. When its advisory clients direct AHB to execute all transactions effected on their behalf to a broker other than AHB, AHB does not negotiate commission rates on their behalf or attempt to execute transactions through other brokers on behalf of its clients unless specifically directed to do so in the manner described herein. AHB does not determine whether the commission rates being charged by AHB or another broker selected by its clients are the lowest available.

AHB cannot assure its clients that the commission rates charged by AHB (as set forth above) or by other brokers (when selected by clients) are lower than those which could be obtained in the market place from other brokers. As a result, clients using AHB or other brokers designated by them may pay materially disparate commissions depending upon the commission rate policy of AHB and the clients' individual arrangements with AHB or other brokerage firms which they designate.

Order Aggregation

In order to attempt to maximize the benefit derived by its clients in terms of price when it determines that more than one client should purchase or sell the same security, AHB frequently uses an average pricing technique. In order to achieve a fair result among all of its advisory and brokerage clients for whom it buys or sells the same security on the same day, where practical, AHB will seek to aggregate or "batch" individual orders and seek execution of them as a block or in several blocks through JP Morgan, its clearing broker, working the order in such a way as to avoid a material impact on the market price until all orders are complete. AHB then calculates the average price for all shares so traded. AHB employs an average pricing method in order to avoid having some clients pay more (or receive less) than other clients when their individual investment objectives and portfolio balances warrant investment (or divestiture) of identical securities. The above average pricing method has no impact upon brokerage commissions.

To the extent that a client instructs AHB to direct brokerage transactions with respect to the clients account through a broker other than AHB, AHB may not be able to aggregate or "batch" client transactions for purposes of execution with orders for the same securities for other clients managed by AHB. When AHB acts as broker for its advisory clients, it charges brokerage commission rates in accordance with the standard schedule of rates then prevailing at JP Morgan, its clearing broker, less certain discounts which it may negotiate with its clients, and which are generally described in the Fee and Compensation section of this brochure. Additional information about AHB's brokerage commission schedule and discount policies for brokerage clients (with whom it does not have advisory agreements) and for its advisory clients is available upon request.

Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews and Review Triggers

Account reviews are performed on a regular basis by the Investment Policy Committee as a part of the investment management process. They are instructed to consider the client's current security positions and the likelihood that the performance of each security will contribute to the investment objectives of the client.

At least annually and more frequently when market conditions dictate, a portfolio is reviewed with the client and/or financial advisor who referred the account. Other conditions that may trigger a review are changes in the tax laws, new investment information, and changes in a client's own situation.

Regular Reports

AHB investment advisory clients receive written quarterly reports. The written quarterly updates may include an Investment Outlook, Portfolio Appraisal, Performance for the period, year to date and since inception and the portfolio's stated investment objectives. The clients for which AHB is providing portfolio management services for another firm's Wrap Fee Programs, AHB will send such written quarterly reports if directed by the financial advisor or if directed to do so according to a sub-advisory agreement. All advisory clients will receive monthly statements directly from their chosen qualified custodian

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Incoming Client Referrals

AHB has been fortunate to receive many client referrals over the years. The referrals came from current clients, estate planning attorneys, accountants, employees, personal friends of employees and other similar sources. Often AHB does not compensate referring parties for these referrals. The following arrangements are for client referrals whereby AHB does compensate for client referral.

AHB has entered into a separate arrangement with Fred DeMyer ("FDM") whereby FDM introduces prospective clients to AHB from time to time for the purpose of providing AHB with an opportunity to offer and sell its advisory services to such prospective clients. AHB has agreed to pay FDM 33 1/3% of the advisory fees it receives from all persons who become advisory clients introduced by or through FDM for as long as such persons remain AHB clients. The agreement between the parties provides that FDM provide certain written disclosure documents to prospective clients at the time of FDM's introduction of AHB to them, which disclose the nature of the compensation agreement between AHB and FDM or between AHB and include AHB's ADV Part 2A as well as the prospective client with disclosure documentation discussing the nature of the compensation agreement between AHB and FDM. Clients who are referred by FDM do not pay a higher advisory fee than clients who approached or are solicited by AHB directly.

AHB has entered into a separate arrangement with Nicholas R. Limongelli ("NRL") whereby NRL introduces prospective clients to AHB from time to time for the purpose of providing AHB with an opportunity to offer and sell its advisory services to such prospective clients. AHB has agreed to pay NRL 33 1/3% of the advisory fees or 20% of a wrap fee it receives from all persons who become advisory clients introduced by or through NRL for as long as such persons remain AHB clients. A wrap fee is an all-inclusive fee encompassing both advisory and execution services. The agreement between the parties provides that NRL provide certain written disclosure documents to prospective clients at the time of NRL's introduction of AHB to them, which disclose the nature of the compensation agreement between AHB and NRL and include AHB ADV Part II as well as the AHB wrap investment program disclosure statement. AHB will also provide the prospective client with disclosure documentation discussing the nature of the compensation agreement between AHB and NRL. Clients who are referred by NRL do not pay a higher advisory fee than clients who approached or are solicited by AHB directly.

AHB has entered into a separate arrangement with Northeast Professional Planning Group, Inc. ("NPPG") whereby NPPG introduces prospective clients to AHB from time to time for the purpose of providing AHB with an opportunity to offer and sell its advisory services to such prospective clients. AHB has agreed to pay NPPG 33% of the advisory fees it receives from all persons who become advisory clients introduced by or through NPPG for as long as such persons remain AHB clients. A wrap fee is an all-inclusive fee encompassing both advisory and execution services. The agreement between the parties provides that NPPG provide certain written disclosure documents to prospective clients at the time of NPPG's introduction of AHB to them, which disclose the nature of the compensation agreement between AHB and NPPG and include AHB ADV Part 2A as well as the AHB wrap investment program disclosure statement. AHB will also provide the prospective client with disclosure documentation discussing the nature of the compensation agreement between AHB and NPPG. Clients who are referred by NPPG do not pay a higher advisory fee than clients who approached or are solicited by AHB directly.

AHB has enter into an agreement with BIC Distributors, LLC ("BIC") whereby BIC agrees to use its efforts to identify, refer and introduce customers of registers representatives of brokers dealers and registered investment advisors to AHB in order that those customers might become customers of AHB. AHB has agreed to pay BIC 40% of the annual management fee earned by AHB for its services rendered to those who become customers by reason of being introduced to AHB by BIC. The agreement provides that BIC is to provide certain disclosure documents including but not limited to the most current Form ADV II, to prospective customers at the time of BIC's introduction of AHB, which disclose, among other things, the nature of the compensation agreement between AHB and BIC. AHB also will provide BIC with updated disclosure documentation upon any changes to such documentation. Customers who are referred by BIC do not pay a higher advisory fee than customers who approached or are solicited by AHB directly.

Referrals Out

AHB does not accept referral fees or any form of remuneration from other professionals when AHB refers a prospect or client to them.

Custody

Account Statements and Performance Reports

All assets are held at qualified custodians, which means the custodians provide account statements directly to clients at their address of record on a monthly basis. The monthly statements from the custodian should be reviewed and compared to the quarterly reports that client's receive from AHB. Clients should compare the account statements received directly from their custodians to the quarterly performance report statements provided by AHB.

Investment Discretion

Discretionary Authority

AHB accepts discretionary authority to manage securities accounts on behalf of clients. AHB has the authority to determine, without obtaining specific client consent, the securities to be bought or sold, and the amount of the securities to be bought or sold. Discretionary trading authority facilitates placing trades in your accounts on your behalf so that we may promptly implement the investment management that you have agreed to in writing by signing the AHB Investment advisory agreement . For those advisory clients who are clients of wrap fee programs not sponsored by AHB, a trading authorization may be signed to provide for discretionary trading authority.

Voting Client Securities

Proxy Voting

AHB generally does not vote proxies on securities and therefore clients are expected to vote their own proxies. In such cases, clients will receive their proxies directly from their custodian and can contact AHB by phone at 201-484-2000 with any questions. If assistance on voting proxies is requested, AHB will provide recommendations to the Client. If a conflict of interest exists, it will be disclosed to the Client. In certain wrap fee programs that are not sponsored by AHB and in which AHB provides portfolio management services, AHB does vote proxies, if required.

Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures

Background: The act of managing assets of clients may include the voting of proxies related to such managed assets. Where the power to vote in person or by proxy has been delegated, directly or indirectly, to the investment adviser, the investment adviser has the fiduciary responsibility for (a) voting in a manner that is in the best interests of the client, and (b) properly dealing with potential conflicts of interest arising from proxy proposals being voted upon.

The policies and procedures of Abner, Herrman & Brock LLC ("the Adviser") for voting proxies received for accounts managed by the Adviser are set forth below and are applicable if:

- The underlying advisory agreement entered into with the client expressly provides that the Adviser shall be responsible to vote proxies received in connection with the client's account; or
- The underlying advisory agreement entered into with the client is silent as to whether or not the Adviser shall be responsible to vote proxies received in connection with the client's account and the Adviser has discretionary authority over investment decisions for the client's account; or
- In case of an employee benefit plan, the client (or any plan trustee or other fiduciary) has not reserved the power to vote proxies in either the underlying advisory agreement entered into with the client or in the client's plan documents.

These Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures are designed to ensure that proxies are voted in an appropriate manner and should complement the Adviser's investment policies and procedures regarding its general responsibility to monitor the performance and/or corporate events of companies which are issuers of securities held in managed accounts. Any questions about these policies and procedures should be directed to Compliance Committee.

Proxy Voting Policies: The Adviser shall vote proxies related to securities held by any client in a manner that is in the best interest of the client. The Adviser shall consider only those factors that relate to the client's investment or dictated by the client's written instructions, including how its vote will economically impact and affect the value of the client's investment (keeping in mind that, after conducting an appropriate cost-benefit analysis, not voting at all on a presented proposal may be in the best interest of the client).

Proxy votes generally will be cast in favor of proposals that:

- maintain or strengthen the shared interests of shareholders and management;
- increase shareholder value;
- maintain or increase shareholder influence over the issuer's board of directors and management; and,

- maintain or increase the rights of shareholders.

Proxy votes generally will be cast against proposals having the opposite effect.

In voting on each and every issue, the Adviser and its employees shall vote in a prudent and timely fashion and only after a careful evaluation of the issue(s) presented on the ballot.

In exercising its voting discretion, the Adviser and its employees shall avoid any direct or indirect conflict of interest raised by such voting decision. The Adviser will provide adequate disclosure to the client if any substantive aspect or foreseeable result of the subject matter to be voted upon raises an actual or potential conflict of interest to the Adviser or:

- any affiliate of the Adviser. For purposes of these Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures, an affiliate means: (i) any person directly, or indirectly through one or more intermediaries, controlling, controlled by or under common control with the Adviser; (ii) any officer, director, principal, partner, employer, or direct or indirect beneficial owner of any 10% or greater equity or voting interest of the Adviser; or (iii) any other person for which a person described in clause (ii) acts in any such capacity;
- any issuer of a security for which the Adviser (or any affiliate of the Adviser) acts as a sponsor, advisor, manager, custodian, distributor, underwriter, broker, or other similar capacity; or
- any person with whom the Adviser (or any affiliate of the Adviser) has an existing, material contract or business relationship that was not entered into in the ordinary course of the Adviser's (or its affiliate's) business.

(Each of the above persons being an "Interested Person.")

After informing the client of any potential conflict of interest, the Adviser will take other appropriate action as required under these Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures, as provided below.

The Adviser shall keep certain records required by applicable law in connection with its proxy voting activities for clients and shall provide proxy-voting information to clients upon their written or oral request.

Proxy Voting Procedures:

- A The AHB Investment Policy Committee, (the "Responsible Party") shall be designated by the Adviser to make discretionary investment decisions for the client's account will be responsible for voting the proxies related to that account. The Responsible Party should assume that he or she has the power to vote all proxies related to the client's account if any one of the three circumstances set forth in Section 1 above regarding proxy voting powers is applicable.

- B All proxies and ballots received by Abner, Herrman & Brock LLC will be forwarded to the Responsible Party.
- C Prior to voting, the Responsible Party will verify whether his or her voting power is subject to any limitations or guidelines issued by the client (or in the case of an employee benefit plan, the plan's trustee or other fiduciaries).
- D Prior to voting, the Responsible Party will verify whether an actual or potential conflict of interest with the Adviser or any Interested Person exists in connection with the subject proposal(s) to be voted upon. The determination regarding the presence or absence of any actual or potential conflict of interest shall be adequately documented by the Responsible Party (i.e., comparing the apparent parties affected by the proxy proposal being voted upon against the Adviser's internal list of Interested Persons and, for any matches found, describing the process taken to determine the anticipated magnitude and possible probability of any conflict of interest being present), which shall be reviewed and signed off on by the Responsible Party's Chairperson (and if none, by the board of directors or a committee of the board of directors of the Adviser).
- E If an actual or potential conflict is found to exist, written notification of the conflict (the "Conflict Notice") shall be given to the client or the client's designee (or in the case of an employee benefit plan, the plan's trustee or other fiduciary) in sufficient detail and with sufficient time to reasonably inform the client (or in the case of an employee benefit plan, the plan's trustee or other fiduciary) of the actual or potential conflict involved.

Specifically, the Conflict Notice should describe:

- the proposal to be voted upon;
- the actual or potential conflict of interest involved;
- the Adviser's vote recommendation (with a summary of material factors supporting the recommended vote); and
- if applicable, the relationship between the Adviser and any Interested Person.

The Conflict Notice will either request the client's consent to the Adviser's vote recommendation or may request the client to vote the proxy directly or through another designee of the client. The Conflict Notice and consent thereto may be sent or received, as the case may be, by mail, fax, electronic transmission or any other reliable form of communication that may be recalled, retrieved, produced, or printed in accordance with the recordkeeping policies and procedures of the Adviser. If the client (or in the case of an employee benefit plan, the plan's trustee or other fiduciary) is unreachable or has not affirmatively responded before the response deadline for the matter being voted upon, the Adviser may:

- engage a non-Interested Party to independently review the Adviser's vote recommendation if the vote recommendation would fall in favor of the Adviser's interest (or the interest of an Interested Person) to confirm that the Adviser's vote recommendation is in the best interest of the client under the circumstances;
- cast its vote as recommended if the vote recommendation would fall against the Adviser's interest (or the interest of an Interested Person) and such vote recommendation is in the best interest of the client under the circumstances; or
- abstain from voting if such action is determined by the Adviser to be in the best interest of the client under the circumstances.

F The Responsible Party will promptly vote proxies received in a manner consistent with the Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures stated above and guidelines (if any) issued by client (or in the case of an employee benefit plan, the plan's trustee or other fiduciaries if such guidelines are consistent with ERISA).

G In accordance with SEC Rule 204-2(c)(2), as amended, the Responsible Party shall retain in the respective client's file, the following:

- A copy of the proxy statement received (unless retained by a third party for the benefit of the Adviser or the proxy statement is available from the SEC's Electronic Data Gathering, Analysis, and Retrieval (EDGAR) system);
- A record of the vote cast (unless this record is retained by a third party for the benefit of the Adviser and the third party is able to promptly provide the Adviser with a copy of the voting record upon its request);
- A record memorializing the basis for the vote cast;
- A copy of any document created by the Adviser or its employees that was material in making the decision on how to vote the subject proxy; and,
- A copy of any Conflict Notice, conflict consent or any other written communication (including emails or other electronic communications) to or from the client (or in the case of an employee benefit plan, the plan's trustee or other fiduciaries) regarding the subject proxy vote cast by, or the vote recommendation of, the Adviser.

The above copies and records shall be retained in the client's file for a period not less than five (5) years (or in the case of an employee benefit plan, no less than six (6) years), which shall be maintained at the appropriate office of the Adviser.

H Periodically, but no less than annually, the Adviser will:

1. Verify that all annual proxies for the securities held in the client's account have been received;
2. Verify that each proxy received has been voted in a manner consistent with the Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures and the guidelines (if any) issued by the client (or in the case of an employee benefit plan, the plan's trustee or other fiduciaries);
3. Review the files to verify that records of the voting of the proxies have been properly maintained;
4. Prepare, upon request, a written report for each client regarding compliance with the Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures; and
5. Maintain an internal list of Interested Persons.

Financial Information

Financial Condition

AHB does not have any financial impairment that will preclude the firm from meeting contractual commitments to clients. A balance sheet is not required to be provided because AHB does not serve as a custodian for client funds or securities, and does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per client, six months or more in advance.

Business Continuity Plan

General, Disasters, Alternate Offices

AHB has a Business Continuity Plan in place that provides detailed steps to mitigate and recover from the loss of office space, communications, services or key people. The Business Continuity Plan covers natural disasters such as snow storms, hurricanes, tornados, and flooding. The Plan covers man-made disasters such as loss of electrical power, loss of water pressure, fire, bomb threat, nuclear emergency, chemical event, biological event, T-1 communications line outage, Internet outage, railway accident and aircraft accident. Electronic files are backed up daily and archived offsite. Alternate offices are identified to support ongoing operations in the event the main office is unavailable. It is our intention to contact all clients within five days of a disaster that dictates moving our office to an alternate location.
