The specific manner in which fees are charged by FMSA is established in a client's written agreement with FMSA. FMSA will generally bill its fees in arrears on a quarterly basis. Clients may also elect to be billed directly for fees or to authorize FMSA to directly debit fees from client accounts. Management fees shall be prorated for each capital contribution and withdrawal made during the applicable calendar quarter (with the exception of de minimis contributions and withdrawals). Accounts initiated or terminated during a calendar quarter will be charged a prorated fee. Upon 30 day notice of termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded, and any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable.

FMSA's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which shall be incurred by the client. Fees are negotiable for accounts. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus.

Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to FMSA's fee, and FMSA shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

FMSA can also bill at up to $175 per hour to design Financial Plans and Review of accounts not custody with us

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

FMSA does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7 – Types of Clients

FMSA provides portfolio management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, corporate pension and profit-sharing plans, municipalities, and trust programs

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

FMSA primarily takes a fundamental approach to investing. That is we research the companies' inter-workings with little regard to how the stock market is trending daily. Meaning we do not try to time the market. The risk with fundamental analysis is the market may take longer to realize the intrinsic value of a company than the time horizon a client may have.

Information we use would include but not limited to, company books, Profit and Loss Statements, SEC filings, Quarterly Reports, Annual Reports, research reports from third parties, etc.

"Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear."

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of FMSA or the integrity of FMSA's management. FMSA has no information applicable to this Item.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

V. Scott Sonnier is Fixed Insurance Licensed, which allows me to sell Life insurance, LTC, and annuities to clients and prospective clients. This could create a material conflict of interest with clients by moving funds to or from investment accounts to or from fixed insurance product

Tiffany Grayson-Tauzin is Fixed Insurance Licensed, which allows her to sell Life insurance, LTC, and annuities to clients and prospective clients. . This could create a material conflict of interest with clients by moving funds to or from investment accounts to or from fixed insurance product

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

FMSA has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at FMSA must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

FMSA anticipates that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with clients' investment objectives, it will cause accounts over which FMSA has management authority to effect, and will recommend to investment advisory clients or prospective clients, the purchase or sale of securities in which FMSA, its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position of interest. FMSA's employees and persons associated with FMSA are required to follow FMSA's Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors and employees of FMSA and its affiliates may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for FMSA's clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of FMSA will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of FMSA's clients. In addition, the Code requires pre-clearance of many transactions, and restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics, and to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between FMSA and its clients.

Certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with client accounts on an aggregated basis when consistent with FMSA 's obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the affiliated and client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. FMSA will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the Order.

FMSA's clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting V .Scott Sonnier.

It is FMSA's policy that the firm will not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts. FMSA will also not cross trades between client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an adviser, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to any advisory client. A principal transaction may also be deemed to have occurred if a security is crossed between an affiliated hedge fund and another client account. An agency cross transaction is defined as a transaction where a person acts as an investment adviser in relation to a transaction in which the investment adviser, or any person controlled by or under common control with the investment adviser, acts as broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction. Agency cross transactions may arise where an adviser is dually registered as a broker-dealer or has an affiliated broker-dealer.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

FMSA has discretion over to determine the broker/ dealer to be used. FMSA will review and work with Broker/Dealers that can show and demonstrate their fee schedules clearly. As well as be able to execute trades both effectively and efficiently. Broker/ dealers also need to be able to provide research capabilities and cost reporting tools as to help us, FMSA, stay compliant with the rules and regulations. FMSA also evaluates Broker/dealer statements for their client friendly format, timely deliver, accurate reporting, and optional delivery methods. FMSA does not receive any soft dollar benefits.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Investment Advisor's general have about 100 Families that they work with and review their accounts daily. Client are given transaction reports monthly. Brokerage statements are sent out quarterly. Performance reports are sent out on reviews or by client request

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

FMSA does work with CPA's and Insurance Agents who refer us clients to work with. We do compensate this referral sources for their help and support a percentage usually 1 to 80% of fees collected.

Item 15 – Custody

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. FMSA urges you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that we may provide to you. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

FMSA usually receives discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account.

When selecting securities and determining amounts, FMSA observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. For registered investment companies, FMSA's authority to trade securities may also be limited by certain federal securities and tax laws that require diversification of investments and favor the holding of investments once made.

Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to FMSA in writing.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

FMSA will accept authority to vote on behalf of clients that FMSA buys and sells for the client accounts. FMSA's policy on voting is to carefully review the offering memorandum, proxy vote form, and all accompanying material. FMSA will then vote in the best interest of the long term investor.

Clients may obtain a copy of FMSA's complete proxy voting policies and procedures upon request. Clients may also obtain information from FMSA about how FMSA voted any proxies on behalf of their account(s).
