CWM is an investment adviser registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) and is a limited liability company (LLC) formed under the laws of the State of Nebraska.

Asset Management Services

We sponsor managed asset programs that are offered on a wrap fee or non-wrap fee basis through our Carson Managed Account Program using accounts established with TD Ameritrade Institutional, Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services and other qualified custodians as approved by CWM, LLC as the account custodian. Through our managed account programs, we provide investment management services, including providing continuous investment advice to and making investments for you based on your individual needs. Through these services, we offer a customized and individualized investment program. During your initial meeting with your advisor, you’re asked to complete a Confidential Client Profile to help us understand your risk tolerance and long-term financial goals. A specific asset allocation strategy and suitability profile is crafted to focus on your specific goals and objectives. The Confidential Client Profile defines your risk tolerance and investment objectives. Your information should be updated regularly, but at a minimum every 2 years.

You must appoint our firm as your investment advisor of record on specified accounts (collectively, the “Account”). The Account consists only of separate account(s) held by qualified custodian(s) under your name. The qualified custodians maintain physical custody of all funds and securities of the Account, and you retain all rights of ownership (e.g., right to withdraw securities or cash, exercise proxy voting and receive transaction confirmations) of the Account.

Our asset management services are provided on a discretionary basis. With discretionary authority, we make all decisions to buy, sell or hold securities, cash or other investments in the managed account in our sole discretion without consulting with you before implementing any transactions. You must provide us with written authorization to exercise this discretionary authority. Discretionary authority is limited. We do not have access to your funds and/or securities with the exception of having advisory fees deducted from your account and paid to us by the account custodian. Any fee deduction is done pursuant to your prior written authorization provided to the account custodian. You have the ability to place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments that will be purchased in an account. You are also allowed to place reasonable limitations on the discretionary power granted to us so long as the limitations are specifically set forth or included as an attachment to the client agreement. However, the firm retains the right to decline to enter into a management agreement with any client whose investment restrictions are contrary to the firm’s investment strategies. (Please see Item 16, Investment Discretion for additional information concerning discretionary authority.)

We perform advisory services for other clients as well. Depending on circumstances, advice given or actions taken for those clients may differ from the advice given for other clients. In addition, we may, but are not obligated to, purchase, sell or recommend for purchase or sale any security which we may purchase or sell for our own accounts or for the account of any other client.

Before we assess any fees or provide formal advice, we will provide you with an Investment Advisory Agreement (“Agreement”) for your review, understanding and signature. The Agreement includes the terms and conditions under which your assets will be managed. Your execution of the Agreement authorizes our firm to determine the specific securities, and the amount of securities to be purchased or sold for your account without your approval prior to each transaction. The Agreement will remain in effect between you and us until terminated by either party in writing according to the terms contained in the Agreement. In the event a conflict exists between the Agreement and our Form ADV, the Form ADV shall prevail.

The Agreement will include schedules of the investment accounts you wish us to manage, the specific fees we propose to charge and how we propose to bill and collect those fees. You also have the ability to impose reasonable limits on investment selections and sectors. However, the firm retains the right to decline to enter into a management agreement with any client whose investment restrictions are contrary to the firm’s investment strategies.

Advisory accounts will be held primarily by TD Ameritrade Institutional, Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services or other qualified custodians as approved by CWM, LLC (individually, a “Custodian”). The client must designate CWM as its Investment Advisor on their accounts. The client’s qualified Custodian will maintain actual custody of all client funds and securities.

Custodians are also broker/dealers, and they can have different account fees, execution charges and capacities. If you choose a different Custodian other than the one selected by us, you may pay higher account-related fees and execution charges. This can occur because custodial services are based on several factors. Factors include, but are not limited to: cost, expected level of asset safety, client confidentiality, communication and reporting. We base all decisions on the individual investment circumstances of each client.

In certain circumstances the account Custodian can offer the option of charging execution fees based upon the level of assets maintained in the managed account (asset-based pricing) versus implementing a fee for each transaction executed. If asset-based pricing is provided as an option we will conduct a cost/benefit analysis to determine which pricing method would be in the long-term best interest of our clients. Whether transaction-based pricing or asset-based pricing is in the best interest of an individual client may vary over the span of a client relationship in response to possible service provider contractual changes and/or overall market condition adjustments to our pricing structure.

During any month that there is activity in a managed account, you receive a monthly account statement from the account custodian showing account activity as well as positions held in the account at month end. Additionally, you receive a confirmation of each transaction that occurs within the account unless the transaction is the result of a systematic purchase, redemption or exchange. You also receive a detailed quarterly report showing performance, positions, and activity. All account data and statements are also available on-line through the account view portal through the account custodian.

Sub-Advisory Investment Management Services for Advisors

CWM offers investment sub-advisory services to unaffiliated investment advisers. Unaffiliated RIAs may choose to engage CWM's Sub-Advisory Services for investment management of some or all of their clients' assets. CWM shall have day-to-day responsibility for the active discretionary management of the allocated assets through a limited power of attorney from the unaffiliated advisor's client. The unaffiliated advisor RIA shall continue to render investment advisory services to the client relative to the ongoing monitoring and review of account performance, asset allocation and client investment objectives.

Use of Other Investment Advisory Firms as Sub-Advisors

At its discretion CWM can decide to utilize affiliated or unaffiliated investment advisory firms as sub-advisors to provide asset management services to selected Model Portfolios according to the terms and conditions of a written Sub-Advisor Agreement. With respect to its sub-advisory services, CWM, LLC will maintain both the initial and ongoing day-to-day relationship with the underlying client, including initial and ongoing determination of client suitability for the Sub-Advisor's Model Portfolios. In a sub-advisory relationship, CWM is responsible for the recommendation and selection of the Sub-Advisor on behalf of the client and has the ability to remove the client's assets from the Sub-Advisor's management at our discretion.

Use of Other Investment Advisory Firms as Trade Signal Providers

At its discretion CWM can decide to utilize affiliated or unaffiliated investment advisory firms as sub-advisors serving as trade signal providers to assist us with the development and recommendation of appropriate investment options for our Model Portfolios and separately managed accounts. CWM will have final authority and responsibility to accept or reject all investment recommendations provided by the signal providers. The unaffiliated signal providers will not have access or have any responsibility to make investment changes to or place trades in the Model Portfolios or client accounts.

Asset Management Fees

CWM provides investment management services for an annual fee based upon a percentage of the market value of the aggregate client assets held under management or commonly termed as household accounts. The annual investment advisory fee charged range up to a maximum of 2.50% of the assets held in the account. Asset management Fees are negotiable depending on the representative providing the management services, the market value of the account, asset types, complexity of the client's portfolio, the client's financial situation, level of portfolio trading activity, anticipated future assets, the relationship of the client to the advisor, and additional services requested or performed. Fee waivers or discounts which are not available to clients may be offered to Owners, Directors, Officers and Associated

Persons of CWM, LLC and our related companies as well as to family members and friends of associated persons of CWM.

It is important to note that it is possible that different investment advisor representatives may charge different asset management or account service fees or may waive certain custodian fees for providing the same types and level of service to clients. The specific level of services you will receive and the asset management fees you will be charged will be specified in your advisory services agreement. The annual fee is divided and paid quarterly in advance through a direct debit to your account or by some other methodology agreed upon between your advisor and CWM.

CWM is responsible for the fee calculation and requesting the debiting all fees from your accounts held at our approved custodians. You must provide the account custodian with written authorization to debit advisory fees from your accounts and pay the fees to CWM. Fees are based on the account's asset value as of the last business day of the prior calendar quarter. Fees for accounts opened at any time other than the beginning of a quarter are prorated based on the number of days remaining in the initial quarter.

You can open either a traditional brokerage account (Non-WRAP), or WRAP Program account. In a Non-WRAP in addition to our investment advisory fee, you also pay certain transaction charges to defray the costs associated with trade execution. These costs are set out in the account custodian's platform brokerage account and application agreement. In a WRAP Program account, you do not pay transaction charges associated with trade execution.

The minimum account size to open any Managed Account is $10,000, although exceptions can be granted upon request. Factors considered when granting an exception include the total value of the overall engagement, the types of assets in the account, the time and resources expended on the services and the relationship between the adviser providing services and the client.

You can incur certain charges imposed by third parties other than CWM in connection with investments made through the account including, but not limited to, 12(b)-1 fees and surrender charges, and IRA and qualified retirement plan fees. Neither CWM nor its investment advisor representatives, will receive any portion of the additional fees charged by third parties.

Our management fees for account managed in our WRAP Program include all transaction and execution fees charged by the account custodian are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by investment company securities that may be recommended to you. A description of these fees and expenses are available in each investment company security's prospectus.

A WRAP Program account may cost you more or less than if the assets were held in a traditional brokerage account. In a brokerage account, you are charged commissions for each transaction, and the representative has no duty to provide ongoing advice with respect to the account. Our representatives, in their separate capacity as registered representatives of Cetera Advisor Networks, LLC, may retain a portion of the commissions charged to you. These commissions can include 12(b)-1 fees, surrender charges and IRA and qualified retirement plan fees. If you plan to follow a buy and hold investment strategy for the account or do not wish to purchase ongoing investment advice or management services, you should consider opening a brokerage account rather than a WRAP Program account. As stated above, neither CWM nor its investment advisor representatives, will receive any portion of the additional fees charged by third parties.

We do not always charge a lower advisory fee for managing traditional brokerage accounts versus WRAP Program accounts. The cost for a WRAP Program account is typically higher than a traditional brokerage managed account. This is because transaction costs are passed along to you in traditional account relationship while the transaction costs are covered under the overall fee charged for WRAP Program accounts.

When making the determination of whether one of the advisory programs available through CWM is appropriate for your needs, you should bear in mind that fee-based accounts, when compared with commission-based accounts, often result in lower costs during periods when trading activity is heavier, such as the year an account is established. However, during periods when trading activity is lower, the fee-based account arrangements can result in a higher annual cost for transactions. Thus, depending on a number of factors, the total cost for transactions under a fee account versus a commission account can vary significantly. Factors which affect the total cost include account size, amount of turnover, type and quantities of securities purchased or sold, commission rates and your tax situation. It should also be noted that lower fees for comparable service may be available from other sources. You should discuss the advantages and disadvantages of fee-based and commission-based accounts with your adviser representative.

Either party has the ability terminate the agreement for services at any time. If services are terminated within five business days of executing the agreement, services are terminated without penalty and a full refund of all fees paid in advance is provided. If services are terminated after the initial five-day period, we provide you with a prorated refund of fees paid in advance. The refund is based on the number of days service is actually provided during the final billing period. Termination is effective from the time the other party receives written notification or such other time as may be mutually agreed upon, subject to the settlement of transactions in progress and the final refund of advisory fees. There is no penalty charge on termination.

Advisory accounts will be held by TD Ameritrade Institutional, Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services or other qualified custodians as approved by CWM (individually, a "Custodian"). The client must designate CWM as its Investment Advisor Representative ("IAR") on their accounts. The client's qualified Custodian will maintain actual custody of all client funds and securities.

Custodians are also broker/dealers, and they may have different account fees, execution charges and capacities. If you choose a different Custodian other than the one selected by us, you may pay higher account-related fees and execution charges. This may occur because custodial services are based on several factors. Factors include, but are not limited to: cost, expected level of asset safety, client confidentiality, communication and reporting. We base all decisions on the individual investment circumstances of each client.

In certain circumstances the account Custodian may offer the option of charging execution fees based upon the level of assets maintained in the managed account (asset-based pricing) versus implementing a fee for each transaction executed. If asset-based pricing is provided as an option we will conduct a cost/benefit analysis to determine which pricing method would be in the long-term best interest of our clients.

Additional Compensation, Economic and Non-Economic Benefits

Our representatives are also registered representatives of Cetera Advisor Networks, LLC, a securities broker-dealer. You may choose to work with your investment adviser representative in his or her separate capacity as a registered representative of Cetera Advisor Networks. When acting in this separate capacity as a registered representative, your investment adviser representative can sell, for commissions, general securities products such as stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, and variable annuity and variable life products to you. As such, your investment adviser representative may suggest that you implement investment advice by purchasing securities products through a commission-based brokerage account in addition to or in lieu of a fee-based investment-advisory account. This receipt of commissions creates an incentive to recommend those products for which your investment adviser representative will receive a commission in his or her separate capacity as a registered representative of a securities broker-dealer. Consequently, the objectivity of the advice rendered to you could be biased.

You are under no obligation to use the services of our representatives in this separate capacity or to use Cetera Advisor Networks and can select any broker/dealer you wish to implement securities transactions. If you select our representatives to implement securities transactions in their separate capacity as registered representatives, they must use Cetera.

While there is no direct linkage between the investment advice given to you and our recommendation of TD Ameritrade Institutional, Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services and other qualified custodians as approved by CWM, LLC, economic benefits will be provided to us by these custodians that are not provided if you select another broker/dealer or account custodian. These benefits can include:

- Negotiated costs for transaction execution
- A dedicated trade desk
- A dedicated service group and an account services manager dedicated to our accounts
- Access to a real-time order matching system

- Electronic download of trades, balances and position information
- Access, for a fee, to an electronic interface with the account custodian's software
- Financial Support for Data Aggregation and Performance Reporting systems
- Duplicate and batched client statements, confirmations and year-end reports
- Research related products and tools;
- Consulting services;
- Access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to Client accounts);
- The ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from Client accounts;
- Access to an electronic communications network for Client order entry and account information;
- Access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers;
- Discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to CWM by third party vendors. receipt of duplicate Client statements and confirmations;

TD Ameritrade Institutional, Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services and other qualified custodians will also help pay for business consulting and professional services received by Advisor's related persons. These products or services may assist CWM in managing and administering Client accounts, including accounts not maintained at one of the other custodians. Other services made available by our Qualified Custodians are intended to help CWM manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by CWM or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to a particular custodian. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, CWM endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by CWM or its related persons in and of itself creates a conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the Advisor's choice of a qualified custodian for custody and brokerage services.

Item 5 – Account Requirements and Types of Clients

Minimum Account Size

The minimum account size to open any WRAP Fee account is $10,000, although exceptions can be granted upon request. Factors considered when granting an exception include the total value of the overall engagement, the types of assets in the account, the time and resources expended on the services and the relationship between the adviser providing services and the client.

Types of Accounts

CWM generally provides investment advice to the following types of clients:

- Individuals
- High net worth individuals
- Banks or thrift institutions
- Pension and profit-sharing plans
- Trusts, estates, or charitable organizations
- Corporations or business entities other than those listed above

You are required to execute a written agreement with CWM specifying the particular advisory services in order to establish a client arrangement with CWM.

Item 6 – Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

The CWM Investment Committee and certain Investment Adviser Representatives act as the portfolio manager(s) for accounts receiving our Managed Asset Program. Our WRAP Fee accounts are considered a WRAP fee program. For this service, we do not allow the use of portfolio managers that are not associated with CWM, LLC. in some capacity. In other words, the only portfolio managers selected for managing client assets for our Managed Asset Program are either a member of our Investment Committee or Investment Adviser Representatives of CWM, LLC. Therefore, conflicts of interest present in other WRAP fee programs that make available both affiliated and unaffiliated portfolio managers are not present in our WRAP fee program. Because our WRAP fee program does not provide for outside portfolio managers, we do not have procedures designed to select outside portfolio managers.

We rely on third party performance calculations. These third-party services utilize standard performance calculation methods. We as a firm cannot confirm or deny the accuracy of these performance measures but rely on them based on their national reputation and standard methods of calculation. We believe them to be fair and accurate representations but do not verify or confirm their accuracy.

Participation in WRAP Fee Programs

We offer asset management services, through our Managed Asset Program, which contains both a WRAP fee management program and a non- WRAP fee management program. In our WRAP fee management program, you can elect to pay expenses under a “traditional” payment option meaning that advisory services are provided for a fee, but transaction services are billed separately on a per-transaction basis, or you can elect the bundled “wrap fee” payment option meaning that advisory services (including portfolio management or advice regarding selecting other investment advisers) and transaction services are provided for one fee. Whenever a fee is charged to a client for services described in this WRAP Fee Program Brochure, we will receive all of a portion of the fee charged.

From a management perspective, there is not a fundamental difference in the way we manage accounts that have elected the traditional payment option versus those that have elected the bundled wrap fee payment option. The only significant difference is the way in which transaction costs are paid.

Other Advisory Services

In addition to the management services described above, we provide the following services:

- Financial Planning & Consulting Services
- Referral of Third-Party Money Managers
- Retirement Plan Services
- Variable Sub-Account Management Services
- Newsletters
- Seminars

A description of all fee-based investment advisory services that we provide is available in our Form ADV Part 2A Disclosure Brochure.

We may modify our investment strategy to accommodate special situations such as low basis stock, stock options, legacy holdings, inheritances, closely held businesses, collectibles, or special tax situations.

Tailor Advisory Services to Individual Needs of Clients

CWM's advisory services are always provided based on your individual needs. This means, for example, that when we provide asset management services, you are given the ability to impose reasonable restrictions on the accounts we manage for you, including specific investment selections and sectors. However, the firm retains the right to decline to enter in to a management agreement with any client whose investment restrictions are contrary to the firm's investment strategies. We work with you on a one-on-one basis through interviews and questionnaires to determine your investment objectives and suitability information.

We will not enter into an investment adviser relationship with a prospective client whose investment objectives are considered incompatible with our investment philosophy or strategies or where the prospective client seeks to impose unduly restrictive investment guidelines.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Performance-based fees are defined as fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets held in a client's account. CWM does not charge or accept performance-based fees.

Methods of Analysis

CWM may use the following methods of analysis in formulating investment advice:

Charting - This is a set of techniques used in technical analysis in which charts are used to plot price movements, volume, settlement prices, open interest, and other indicators, in order to anticipate future price movements. Users of these techniques, called chartists, believe that past trends in these indicators can be used to extrapolate future trends.

Charting is likely the most subjective analysis of all investment methods since it relies on proper interpretation of chart patterns. The risk of reliance upon chart patterns is that the next day's data can always negate the conclusions reached from prior days' patterns. Also, reliance upon chart patterns bears the risk of a certain pattern being negated by a larger, more encompassing pattern that has not shown itself yet.

Fundamental – This is a method of evaluating a security by attempting to measure its intrinsic value by examining related economic, financial and other qualitative and quantitative factors. Fundamental analysts attempt to study everything that can affect the security's value, including macroeconomic factors (like the overall economy and industry conditions) and individually specific factors (like the financial condition and management of a company). The end goal of performing fundamental analysis is to produce a value that an investor can compare with the security's current price in hopes of figuring out what sort of position to take with that security (underpriced = buy, overpriced = sell or short). Fundamental analysis is considered to be the opposite of technical analysis. Fundamental analysis is about using real data to evaluate a security's value. Although most analysts use fundamental analysis to value stocks, this method of valuation can be used for just about any type of security.

The risk associated with fundamental analysis is that it is somewhat subjective. While a quantitative approach is possible, fundamental analysis usually entails a qualitative assessment of how market forces interact with one another in their impact on the investment in question. It is possible for those market forces to point in different directions, thus necessitating an interpretation of which forces will be dominant. This interpretation may be wrong and could therefore lead to an unfavorable investment decision.

Technical – This is a method of evaluating securities by analyzing statistics generated by market activity, such as past prices and volume. Technical analysts do not attempt to measure a security's intrinsic value, but instead use charts and other tools to identify patterns that can suggest future activity. Technical analysts believe that the historical performance of stocks and markets are indications of future performance.

Technical analysis is even more subjective than fundamental analysis in that it relies on proper interpretation of a given security's price and trading volume data. A decision might be made based on a historical move in a certain direction that was accompanied by heavy volume; however, that heavy volume may only be heavy relative to past volume for the security in question, but not compared to the future trading volume. Therefore, there is the risk of a trading decision being made incorrectly, since future trading volume is an unknown. Technical analysis is also done through observation of various market sentiment readings, many of which are quantitative. Market sentiment gauges the relative degree of bullishness and bearishness in a given security, and a contrarian investor utilizes such sentiment advantageously. When most traders are bullish, then there are very few traders left in a position to buy the security in question, so it becomes advantageous to sell it ahead of the crowd. When most traders are bearish, then there are very few traders left in a position to sell the security in question, so it becomes advantageous to buy it ahead of the crowd. The risk in utilization of such sentiment technical measures is that a very bullish reading can always become more bullish, resulting in lost opportunity if the money manager chooses to act upon the bullish signal by selling out of a position. The reverse is also true in that a bearish reading of sentiment can always become more bearish, which could result in a premature purchase of a security.

There are risks involved in using any analysis method. To conduct analysis, CWM gathers information from financial newspapers and magazines, inspection of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, timing services, annual reports, prospectuses and filings with the SEC, and company press releases.

Investment Management Strategies

CWM uses the following investment strategies when managing client assets and/or providing investment advice:

Long term purchases - Investments held at least a year.

Short term purchases - Investments sold within a year.

Frequent trading - This strategy refers to the practice of selling investments within 30 days of purchase.

Option writing including cover options or spreading strategies - Options are contracts giving the purchaser the right to buy or sell a security, such as stocks, at a fixed price within a specific period of time.

Our firm seeks to create a balance between risk and reward over a given time period by allocating client assets among our proprietary Model Portfolios. This typically involves employing a diverse mixture of securities within the Model Portfolios discussed below. Based on the information you provide us, we consider multiple time horizons (long, medium and short-term) when determining investment strategies. Depending on our clients' needs, we could elect to engage in a variety of risk management strategies.

In the development and Management of our Model Portfolios, CWM's Investment Committee (Committee) uses industry standard techniques that include technical analysis and fundamental analysis. The Committee may engage various types of execution tactics like long-term buys, short-term buys, shorting stock and option strategies to achieve its objectives. Each model engages in its own type of techniques, execution tactics and use of research tools to enhance the ability to manage its assets effectively to its stated philosophy. Examples of industry research sources and publications used by the firm include Thomson Reuters, Telemet, Orion Advisor Services, Dow Jones News, New York Stock Exchange (NYSE), NASDAQ and AMEX.

For a complete description of CWM's model portfolio strategies please refer to Item 8 - Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss of the CWM ADV Part 2A Disclosure Brochure.

Risk of Loss

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Therefore, you should never assume that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy will be profitable. Investing in securities (including stocks, mutual funds, and bonds, etc.) involves risk of loss. Further, depending on the different types of investments there may be varying degrees of risk. You should be prepared to bear investment loss including loss of original principal.

Because of the inherent risk of loss associated with investing, our firm is unable to represent, guarantee, or even imply that our services and methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate you from losses due to market corrections or declines. There are certain additional risks associated with investing in securities through our investment management program, as described below:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: Either the stock market as a whole, or the value of an individual company, goes down resulting in a decrease in the value of client investments. This is also referred to as systemic risk.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e., interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Equity (stock) market risk: Common stocks are susceptible to general stock market fluctuations and to volatile increases and decreases in value as market confidence in and perceptions of their issuers change. If you held common stock, or common stock equivalents, of any given issuer, you would generally be exposed to greater risk than if you held preferred stocks and debt obligations of the issuer.
- Company Risk: When investing in stock positions, there is always a certain level of company or industry specific risk that is inherent in each investment. This is also referred to as unsystematic risk and can be reduced through appropriate diversification. There is the risk that the company will perform poorly or have its value reduced based on factors specific to the company or its industry. For example, if a company's employees go on strike or the company receives unfavorable media attention for its actions, the value of the company may be reduced.

- Fixed Income Risk: When investing in bonds, there is the risk that the issuer will default on the bond and be unable to make payments. Further, individuals who depend on set amounts of periodically paid income face the risk that inflation will erode their spending power. Fixed-income investors receive set, regular payments that face the same inflation risk.
- Options Risk: Options on securities may be subject to greater fluctuations in value than an investment in the underlying securities. Purchasing and writing put and call options are highly specialized activities and entail greater than ordinary investment risks.
 - Purchasing Options are exposed to the risk that the option purchased expire without meeting the expected price movement (out of the money) exposing the purchaser to the loss of their entire investment amount.
 - Selling Options are exposed to the risk that the security will be assigned early forcing the option holder to purchase or sell the underlying position at unfavorable market prices.
- ETF and Mutual Fund Risk: When investing in an ETF or mutual fund, you will bear additional expenses based on your pro rata share of the ETF's or mutual fund's operating expenses, including the potential duplication of management fees. The risk of owning an ETF or mutual fund generally reflects the risks of owning the underlying securities the ETF or mutual fund holds. You will also incur brokerage costs when purchasing ETFs.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if there is a high interest in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: The possibility that shareholders will lose money when they invest in a company that has debt if the company's cash flow proves inadequate to meet its financial obligations. When a company uses debt financing, its creditors will be repaid before its shareholders if the company becomes insolvent. Financial risk also refers to the possibility of a corporation or government defaulting on its bonds, which would cause those bondholders to lose money.
- Management Risk: Your investment with our firm varies with the success and failure of our investment strategies, research, analysis and determination of portfolio securities. If our investment strategies do not produce the expected returns, the value of the investment will decrease.
- Margin Risk: If those securities in a margin account decline in value, the value of the collateral supporting this loan also declines, and as a result, the brokerage firm is required to take action in order to maintain the necessary level of equity in your account. The brokerage firm may issue a margin call and/or sell other assets in your account.

It is important that you fully understand the risks involved in trading securities on margin, which are applicable to any margin account that you may maintain, including any margin account that may be established as part of the Asset Management Agreement established between you and CWM and held by the account custodian or clearing firm.

These risks include the following:

- You can lose more funds than you deposit in your margin account.
- The account custodian or clearing firm can force the sale of securities or other assets in your account.
- The account custodian or clearing firm can sell your securities or other assets without contacting you.
- You are not entitled to choose which securities or other assets in your margin account may be liquidated or sold to meet a margin call.
- The account custodian or clearing firm may move securities held in your cash account to your margin account and pledge the transferred securities.
- The account custodian or clearing firm can increase its “house” maintenance margin requirements at any time and they are not required to provide you advance written notice.
- You are not entitled to an extension of time on a margin call.
- Stock Short Sale Risk - Short selling can involve significant costs, in addition to the usual trading commissions that have to be paid on stock transactions. These include Margin interest, Stock borrowing costs and possible Dividends and other payments

Apart from these costs, risks associated with short selling include the following:

- “Buy-in” Risk –Heavily shorted stocks are also vulnerable to “buy-ins.” The risk of a “buy-in” is a major risk with short selling because of its unpredictability and can lead to unexpected losses for the short seller.
- Regulatory risks – Regulators may sometimes impose bans on short sales in a specific sector or even in the broad market to avoid panic and unwarranted selling pressure.
- Contrary to long-term market trend – As the long-term trend of the market is upward, short selling is contrary to those market trends.
- Skewed payoff ratio – Short selling has a skewed payoff ratio as the maximum gain – which occurs if the shorted stock was to fall to zero – is limited, but the maximum loss is theoretically infinite.
- Acceptance of order to sell securities short is subject to the ability of the custodian where your account is held to borrow an equivalent number of shares in the security. One or more of the custodian’s used by CWM, LLC may not have shares to loan on one or more specific securities within a model that incorporates short sales meaning the allocation of the model may be different from one client compared to another client in the model and is subject to the custodian’s ability to borrow the shares which is outside of the control of CWM, LLC and the client.

- Short Sales are restricted using a circuit breaker that is triggered when a stock has lost more than 10 percent in value in one day compared to the previous day's closing price. The restriction helps keep short sales from driving down the price of a stock and stays in place for the remainder of that day and the following day. According to the SEC, the purpose of the restriction is to promote stability in volatile markets while avoiding bear raids.
- Portfolio Pledging Risks:
 - You are borrowing money that will have to be repaid to Lender;
 - You will be charged an interest rate on the principal balance of the Line that is subject to change;
 - You can lose more funds than are held in the Collateral Account(s) and will be liable for any deficiency;
 - Lender can force the sale or other liquidations of any securities or other investment property in the Collateral Account(s), they do not need to contact you first, and you are not entitled to choose which securities in are liquidated or sold;
 - You are only entitled to draw on the Line to the extent there is credit availability and provided that your Collateral Account(s) meets Lender's collateral maintenance requirements at the time you make a draw request; ^[11]_{SEP}
 - There may be risks and benefits in pledging certain types of investment assets to secure your Line. For example, deposit accounts, money funds, and similar investments ("cash equivalents") may produce less interest income or other yield than the interest rate you are paying on your Line.

Class Action Suits

A class action is a procedural device used in litigation to determine the rights of and remedies, if any, for large numbers of people whose cases involve common questions of law and/or fact. Class action suits frequently arise against companies that publicly issue securities, including securities recommended by investment advisors to clients.

With respect to class action suits and claims, you (or your agent) will have the responsibility for class actions or bankruptcies, involving securities purchased for or held in your account. We do not provide such services and are not obligated to forward copies of class action notices we may receive to you or your agents.

Item 8 - Client Contact with Portfolio Managers

Periodically we may be in direct contact with an investment manager to obtain their view on certain market events. This meeting usually does not include clients.

insurance agent. Consequently, the advice rendered to you could be biased. You are under no obligation to implement any insurance or annuity transaction through your investment advisor representative.

Briteline - Line of Credit Accounts

CWM, LLC has entered in an agreement with Supernova Lending, LLC ("Supernova") in order to provide CWM, LLC clients with the ability to pledge all or a portion of their taxable portfolio as collateral ("Collateral Account") to obtain a line of credit account (the "Line"). Supernova has also entered into agreements with lending institutions ("Lender") who fund the Line of Credit. Supernova is the servicer of the Line of Credit on behalf of Lender. If you decide to enter into a loan arrangement with Lender, you should carefully consider the following:

- You are borrowing money that will have to be repaid to Lender, via Supernova as servicer;
- You will be charged an interest rate on the principal balance of the Line that is subject to change;
- You can lose more funds than are held in the Collateral Account(s) and will be liable for any deficiency;
- Lender can force the sale or other liquidations of any securities or other investment property in the Collateral Account(s), they do not need to contact you first, and you are not entitled to choose which securities in are liquidated or sold;
- You are only entitled to draw on the Line to the extent there is credit availability and provided that your Collateral Account(s) meets Lender's collateral maintenance requirements at the time you make a draw request; [1] [SEP]
- There may be risks and benefits in pledging certain types of investment assets to secure your Line of Credit. For example, deposit accounts, money funds, and similar investments ("cash equivalents") may produce less interest income or other yield than the interest rate you are paying on your Line of Credit; and
- CWM, LLC, Supernova, and Lender have a conflict of interest in connection with your decision to obtain a Line of Credit, insofar as CWM, LLC will receive indirect compensation in the form of Briteline committing to provide event sponsorship support to CWM, LLC's affiliated company (Peak Advisor Alliance) and Supernova and the Lender will earn direct compensation in connection with your Line of Credit. In addition, the level of support provided or compensation earned by CWM, LLC, Supernova, and Lender may fluctuate with the applicable interest rate and outstanding balance on your BriteLine. If the assets you have pledged as collateral for your Line are held in a fee based or WRAP fee account, those fees are separate from and in addition to the fees and expenses, including interest expense, on the Line. Your Investment Advisor is also receiving compensation based on the value of those assets. You understand that CWM, LLC, Supernova, and Lender may have a financial incentive for you to obtain a Line as opposed to obtaining other lending products offered by your Investment Advisor or other third party.

Our firm or persons associated with our firm may buy or sell securities or hold a position identical to clients. It is our policy that no Associated Person will put his/her interests before a client's interest. Associated Persons may not trade ahead of any client and cannot trade for a better price than the price a client would obtain. It is the Associated Person's responsibility to know which securities we are trading. We prohibit all Associated Persons from trading on non-public information and from sharing such information. Associated persons may not invest in an initial public offering (IPO) for their own accounts or those of related household members. Associated Persons are required to obtain approval from the CCO prior to investing in a private placement or other limited offerings. We do not allow "short-swing" trading or market timing. - The number of shares and the principal amount of each reportable security;
- The name of any broker, dealer, or bank with which the Associated Person maintains an account;
- The date the report was submitted.

Account Reviews

We provide account reviews as a part of our Asset Management Services. Our advisors will meet with you either by phone or in person at least annually to review your account(s) and update any changes in your financial profile. A summary and consolidated report will be prepared in connection with the review. Reviews may be conducted more frequently when we are experiencing significant changes in economic and market conditions, as requested by a client or at our discretion.

Account Statements and Reports

Our clients will receive account statements no less than quarterly from the qualified custodian. You may additionally receive on-demand positions and performance reports in writing from us for no additional fee.

We encourage you to compare CWM generated reports to the account statement information you receive from your qualified custodian. The custodians' statements serve as the permanent record of your account(s).

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Advisory firms can compensate us for referral activities. These fees come in the form of marketing or referral fees paid directly to us by the firm. The exact compensation arrangement will vary depending on the advisory firm and factors associated with the referral. Fees are typically based on a portion of the management fees charged by advisory firm to clients of financial professionals we originally introduced to the advisory firm. In all cases, CWM will comply with the cash solicitation rules established by the SEC, state regulators and the client disclosure requirements.

When a client is referred to us by a referring party, the referring party provides the client with a copy of our Disclosure Brochure as required by the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. The client also will complete a Solicitor's Disclosure Statement document. If the referring party is an unaffiliated registered investment advisor firm, then the client will also receive a copy of the referring party's Form ADV Part 2 Disclosure Brochure. If a referred client enters into an investment advisory agreement with CWM, a referral fee is paid to the referring party. The referral relationship will not result in clients being charged any fees over and above the normal advisory fees charged for the advisory services provided.

CWM receives client referrals from TD Ameritrade through its participation in TD Ameritrade AdvisorDirect. In addition to meeting the minimum eligibility criteria for participation in AdvisorDirect, CWM may have been selected to participate in AdvisorDirect based on the amount and profitability to TD Ameritrade of the assets in, and trades placed for, client accounts maintained with TD Ameritrade. TD Ameritrade is a discount broker-dealer independent of and unaffiliated with CWM and there is no employee or agency relationship between them. TD Ameritrade has established AdvisorDirect as a means of referring its brokerage customers and other investors seeking fee-based personal investment management services or financial planning services to independent investment advisors. TD Ameritrade does not supervise CWM and has no responsibility for CWM's management of client portfolios or CWM's other advice or services. CWM pays TD Ameritrade an on-going fee for each successful client referral. For referrals that occurred through AdvisorDirect before April 10, 2017, this fee is a percentage (not to exceed 25%) of the advisory fee that the client pays to CWM ("Solicitation Fee"). For referrals that occurred through AdvisorDirect on or after June 9, 2017 the Solicitation Fee is an annualized fee based on the amount of referred client assets that does not exceed 25% of 1%, unless such client assets are subject to a Special Services Addendum. In the case of a Special Services Addendum, the Solicitation Fee is an annualized fee based on the amount of referred client assets that does not exceed 10% of 1%. CWM will also pay TD Ameritrade the Solicitation Fee on any assets received by CWM from any of a referred client's family members, including a spouse, child or any other immediate family member who resides with the referred client and hired CWM on the recommendation of such referred client. CWM will not charge clients referred through AdvisorDirect any fees or costs higher than its standard fee schedule offered to its clients or otherwise pass Solicitation Fees paid to TD Ameritrade to its clients. For information regarding additional or other fees paid directly or indirectly to TD Ameritrade, please refer to the TD Ameritrade AdvisorDirect Disclosure and Acknowledgement Form.

CWM's participation in AdvisorDirect raises a conflict of interest. TD Ameritrade will most likely refer clients through AdvisorDirect to investment advisors that encourage their clients to custody their assets at TD Ameritrade and whose client accounts are profitable to TD Ameritrade. Consequently, in order to obtain client referrals from TD Ameritrade, CWM has an incentive to recommend to clients that the assets under management by CWM be held in custody with TD Ameritrade and to place transactions for client accounts with TD Ameritrade. In addition, CWM has agreed not to solicit clients referred to it through AdvisorDirect to transfer their accounts from TD Ameritrade or to establish brokerage or custody accounts at other custodians, except when its fiduciary duties require doing so. CWM's participation in AdvisorDirect does not diminish its duty to seek best execution of trades for client accounts.

The referral agreements between CWM and referring parties are in compliance with state and federal securities rules regarding paid solicitor arrangements.

Expense Reimbursements

We will from time to time receive expense reimbursement for travel and/or marketing expenses from distributors of investment and/or insurance products. Travel expense reimbursements are typically a result of attendance at due diligence and/or investment training events hosted by product sponsors. Marketing expense reimbursements are typically the result of informal expense sharing arrangements in which product sponsors underwrite the costs incurred for marketing such as client appreciation events, advertising, publishing, and seminar expenses. Although receipt of these travel and marketing expense reimbursements are not predicated upon specific sales quotas, the product sponsor reimbursements are typically made by those sponsors for which sales have been made or for which it is anticipated sales will be made. This creates a conflict of interest in that there is an incentive to recommend certain products and investments based on the receipt of this compensation instead of what is in the best interest of our clients. We attempt to control for this conflict by always basing investment decisions on the individual needs of our clients.

Additional Compensation

Supervised Persons, if properly registered and licensed to do so, also can receive compensation on non-advisory business (i.e., brokerage commissions) related to the sale of securities or other investment products as insurance. Transaction-based compensation such as this is separate and distinct from the other fees we receive in connection with our investment advisory services.

Commissions from the sale of other non-advisory investment products include, but are not limited to, variable annuities, mutual funds, private placements and such non-investment related products as life insurance. Such commissions provide an advisor with an incentive to recommend these investment products based on the compensation they will receive from selling such products. This is considered a conflict of interest; however, we do not allow advisors to earn commissions on products that are included within our advisory accounts.

In addition to the receipt of insurance related commission CWM, LLC and our Investment Advisor Representatives can receive additional benefits.

Certain product sponsors may provide CWM, LLC and/or our Investment Advisor Representatives with other economic benefits as a result of the recommendation or sale of the product sponsors' insurance products. The economic benefits received by CWM, LLC from product sponsors can include but are not limited to, financial assistance or the sponsorship of conferences and educational sessions, marketing support, incentive awards, payment of travel expenses, and tools to assist CWM, LLC in providing various services to clients.

Although CWM, LLC endeavors at all times to put the interest of its clients ahead of its own or those of its officers, directors, or representatives (“affiliated persons”), these arrangements could affect the judgment of the firm when recommending products. These situations present a conflict of interest that may affect the judgment of CWM, LLC and our associated persons.

Other Compensation – Retirement Plan Service Platform

CWM may receive additional compensation from various vendors, product providers, distributors and others. These providers may provide non-monetary compensation by paying some expenses related to training and education, including travel expenses, and attaining professional designations. CWM might receive payments to subsidize our own training programs. Certain vendors may invite us to participate in conferences, on-line training or receive publications that may further our skills and knowledge. Some may occasionally provide us with gifts, meals and entertainment of reasonable value consistent with industry rules and regulations.

If applicable, and in the event the payments, or non-monetary compensation, are received in connection with or as a result of the Retirement Plan Services, we will disclose such fees to Sponsors in accordance with ERISA and Department of Labor regulations.

Broker Dealer Compensation

CWM will receive compensation from Cetera Advisors Networks in the form of transition assistance, forgivable loans and expense reimbursements to assist in moving client accounts under their broker dealer in order to utilize their services and products. The loans can be forgiven by Cetera based upon a predetermined level of assets under management moved on to the Cetera Advisory platform. The transition assistance and expense reimbursement payments are contingent upon the firm reaching predetermined production levels. These types of arrangements create a conflict of interest because, we have an incentive to direct client accounts to Cetera in consideration of the actual or anticipated incentives or consideration we will receive. CWM and its IARs can also receive an economic benefit from Cetera in the form of a loan, which is forgiven if CWM and/or the IAR meet certain conditions in terms of maintaining a relationship with Cetera. Please see the detailed discussion of the conditions and conflicts of interest in Item 12 Brokerage Practices.

We are sensitive to this conflict of interest and take steps to ensure that it does not affect our decisions for our clients. CWM reviews trades for best execution, pricing, research, financial strength and other factors to manage a conflict and safeguard that the clients’ best interest comes first.

Custodian Compensation

In addition, CWM or its affiliates will receive compensation and transitional assistance from TD Ameritrade and/or Fidelity Investments if the form of the payment of transition fees or expense reimbursements to assist in moving client accounts under their broker dealer in order to utilize their services and products. This creates a conflict of interest because, we have an incentive to direct client accounts to our approved custodians in consideration of the actual or anticipated incentives or consideration we will receive. Please see the detailed discussion of the conditions and conflicts of interest in Item 12 Brokerage Practices. Other custodians may also provide transition assistance to the firm.

We are sensitive to this conflict of interest and take steps to ensure that it does not affect our decisions for our clients. CWM reviews trades for best execution, pricing, research, financial strength and other factors to manage a conflict and safeguard that the clients' best interest comes first.

Custodian Additional Compensation

CWM participates in TD Ameritrade's institutional customer program (the "Program") offered by TD Ameritrade Institutional. TD Ameritrade Institutional is a division of TD Ameritrade Inc., member FINRA/SIPC ("TD Ameritrade"), an unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer and FINRA member. TD Ameritrade offers to independent investment advisors services which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions. CWM receives some benefits from TD Ameritrade through its participation in the Program. CWM may recommend TD Ameritrade to Clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between CWM's participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its Clients, although CWM receives economic benefits through its participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors. These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate Client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving CWM participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to Client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from Client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for Client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to CWM by third party vendors. TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by CWM's related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit CWM but may not benefit its Client accounts. These products or services may assist CWM in managing and administering Client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help CWM manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by CWM or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, CWM endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by CWM or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the CWM's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

CWM also receives from TD Ameritrade certain additional economic benefits (“Additional Services”) that may or may not be offered to any other independent investment advisers participating in the program. TD Ameritrade provides the Additional Services to CWM in its sole discretion and at its own expense, and CWM does not pay any fees to TD Ameritrade for the Additional Services. CWM and TD Ameritrade have entered into a separate agreement (“Additional Services Addendum”) to govern the terms of the provision of the Additional Services.

CWM’s receipt of Additional Services raises potential conflicts of interest. In providing Additional Services to CWM, TD Ameritrade most likely considers the amount and profitability to TD Ameritrade of the assets in, and trades placed for, CWM’s Client accounts maintained with TD Ameritrade. TD Ameritrade has the right to terminate the Additional Services Addendum with CWM, in its sole discretion, provided certain conditions are met. Consequently, in order to continue to obtain the Additional Services from TD Ameritrade, CWM may have an incentive to recommend to its Clients that the assets under management by CWM be held in custody with TD Ameritrade and to place transactions for Client accounts with TD Ameritrade. CWM’s receipt of Additional Services does not diminish its duty to act in the best interests of its Clients, including to seek best execution of trades for Client accounts.

Broker Dealer and Custodian Marketing Support

Cetera Advisor Networks, LLC and our approved custodians have developed a program to provide marketing assistance in the form of the payment of additional compensation to both CWM and our affiliated firm PEAK Advisor Alliance to support the marketing and recruiting activities discussed above. Fidelity has developed a program to provide marketing assistance only to PEAK Advisor Alliance. These payments create an incentive for CWM to retain client assets with Fidelity and are therefore a conflict of interest. CWM is sensitive to this conflict of interest and takes steps to make sure that it does not affect our decisions in relation to our client’s accounts.

Custodian Operational Support

CWM also receives additional economic benefits (“Additional Services”) from TD Ameritrade based on the fact that they have agreed to provide financial support to CWM to assist in paying for CWM’s Contact Management and Data Aggregation and Performance Reporting system(s) provided by unaffiliated service providers. Specifically, the Additional Services include Salesforce and Orion Advisor Services. Prior custodians have also provided additional financial support to enable CWM to independently verify the accuracy of the firm’s performance calculations. These payments create an incentive for CWM to retain client assets with the participating custodians and therefore a conflict of interest is created. CWM understands and accepts that these payments are a conflict of interest and takes steps to make sure that it does not affect our decisions in relation to our client’s accounts.

As stated above, CWM’s receipt of these additional services raises a conflict of interest. In providing additional services to CWM, the participating custodian most likely considers the amount and profitability created by the amount of client assets held, and trades placed for, CWM's client accounts maintained with TD Ameritrade. TD Ameritrade has the right to terminate the Additional Services Addendum with CWM, in their sole discretion, provided certain conditions are met. Consequently, in order to continue to obtain the additional services from the custodian, CWM has an incentive to recommend to its Clients that the assets under management by Advisor be held in custody with those firms and to place transactions for client accounts with the selected custodian. CWM's receipt of Additional Services does not diminish its duty to act in the best interests of its clients, including seeking best execution of trades for client accounts.

TD Ameritrade provides the Additional Services to Advisor in its sole discretion and at its own expense, and Advisor does not pay any fees to TD Ameritrade for the Additional Services. Advisor and TD Ameritrade have entered into a separate agreement ("Additional Services Addendum") to govern the terms of the provision of the Additional Services.

Third Party Manager/Subadvisor Compensation

CWM can also enter into agreements with unaffiliated registered investment advisory firms (Third Party Managers and/or Subadvisors) to provide additional compensation intended to support CWM's marketing efforts, including services for identifying prospective advisors and clients. These payments can take the form of a mutually agreed upon fixed fee payment(s) or ongoing payments of an agreed upon percentage based upon the assets placed under management with the unaffiliated investment advisory firms.

The Third-Party Managers and Subadvisors can also enter in to arrangements with Peak Advisor Alliance to provide financial support to act as a sponsor of Peak events (i.e., workshops, seminars, etc.). These unaffiliated advisory firms will be able to market their advisory services at Peak events.

These payments create an incentive for CWM to place client assets with the unaffiliated investment advisory firms providing the additional support are therefore a conflict of interest. CWM is sensitive to this conflict of interest and takes steps to make sure that it does not affect our decisions in relation to our client's accounts.

Prior Broker Dealer Loans

In the past CWM, its CEO, affiliated companies, and advisors received a series of loans from a previous broker dealer LPL Financial, LLC to assist with the transition of advisory business onto the LPL custodial platform. These loans contained clauses that allowed for the loans to be forgiven by LPL based on the scope of business CWM and its advisors engaged in with LPL, including the amount of CWM's client assets that were held with LPL as their account custodian. These loans created a conflict of interest in that CWM and its advisors had a financial incentive to recommend that clients maintain accounts with LPL in order to benefit by having the loan(s) forgiven. However, to the extent that CWM and its advisors recommended that clients use LPL for brokerage services, it was because CWM and its advisors believed that it was in the client's best interest to do so based on the quality and pricing of the execution, benefits of an integrated platform for brokerage and advisory accounts, and other services provided by LPL. All loans have either been forgiven or paid in full as of the date of this disclosure brochure.

Conflicts of Interest in General

The possible additional compensation gives our Supervised Persons an incentive to recommend investment products based on the additional compensation received. Our objective, as a firm, is to always place our clients' best interests first.

The conflicts inherent to advisors or the firm receiving added compensation are disclosed to you in this brochure. Your IAR also provides you with this information in his/her advisory brochure. CWM has implemented supervisory controls for acknowledgement and oversight of existing or conflict concerns or issues. Our CCO is responsible for the administration of the supervisory process and our Written Supervisory Procedures (WSP).

Marketing Arrangements with Financial Institutions

CWM has established and will continue to establish marketing arrangements with banks, credit unions and other financial institutions. In certain circumstances, investment advisory services of CWM may also be marketed through these banks, credit unions and other financial institutions, provided that such marketing is done in compliance with applicable SEC and state regulations. Further, CWM may have Advisor Representatives conducting business from and/or affiliated with a bank or other financial institution. As a result of these marketing agreements, the financial institution receives compensation representing payment for the use of the facilities and equipment of the financial institution(s), in the form of program support or rent payment and/or a portion of advisory fees or securities commissions paid to the representatives for sales to customer/members of the financial institution.

These relationships create certain unique compliance issues relative to consumer protection and understanding of bank products vs investment products offered by CWM, LLC.

The joint guidelines of regulators of the depository institution call for, at a minimum, both written and verbal disclosure at or prior to the time securities products are purchased or sold that such securities products:

- Are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) or National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., the National Credit Union Administration, or any other federal or state deposit guarantee fund or other government agency;
- Not endorsed or guaranteed by the bank or credit union or their affiliates;
- Are not deposits or obligations of the depository institutions and are not guaranteed by the depository institutions;

- Investments and securities are subject to investment risks, including possible loss of principal invested.

Bank Account Marketing Relationship

CWM has entered into an agreement to market for Galileo Money+ bank accounts. CWM is compensated to market and refer clients to open Galileo Money+ bank accounts. CWM will utilize the compensation received to offset the technology expenses incurred by our investment adviser representatives. The receipt of the direct compensation by the firm and the resulting indirect compensation received by our investment adviser representatives for the recommendation that clients use certain bank accounts creates a conflict of interest, as a CWM Investment Adviser Representatives have an incentive to recommend the use of certain bank accounts based upon the receipt of compensation rather than on a particular client's needs. Clients are under no obligation to use the Galileo Money+ bank accounts and may utilize the services of any bank and are not required to use bank accounts recommended by CWM or our Investment Adviser Representatives.

Financial Information

CWM does not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance.
