This disclosure brochure (this “Brochure”) provides information about the qualifications and business practices of Bosslife Investments US Inc., doing business as or otherwise known as Bosslife (“Bosslife”). If you have any questions about the contents of this Brochure, please contact us at support@bosslife.investments. The information in this Brochure has not been approved or verified by the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) or by any state securities authority. Registration with the SEC does not imply a certain level of skill or training.

Additional information about Bosslife also is available on the SEC’s website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov. You can search this site by a unique identifying number, known as a CRD number. The CRD number for Bosslife is 298479.

Item 2 – Material Changes

This item discusses specific material changes to the Bosslife disclosure brochure.

A copy of the current version of this Brochure is available on the Bosslife Mobile Application and on the Bosslife website at www.bosslife.investments/disclosures. This Brochure is available at no charge to all interested parties for their download and/or printing.

This Brochure is the initial version of the firm disclosure brochure (i.e., ADV Part 2A) filed by Bosslife. Previously, Bosslife disclosed that it provided its investment advisory services through a wrap fee program and filed a wrap fee program brochure as part of its initial and annual filings. As Bosslife no longer provides its advisory services through a wrap fee program, it is now required to file this Brochure in lieu of its existing wrap fee program brochure.

The information in this Brochure is, therefore, materially different from the most recent filing of its wrap fee program brochure (February 14, 2019). Accordingly, Bosslife is disclosing the following material changes to ensure that clients and potential clients have a complete and accurate picture of Bosslife's current investment advisory services.

Item 4 – Advisory Services

Bosslife no longer offers its advisory services through a wrap fee program.

Bosslife has terminated its relationship with Third Party Trade, LLC. All securities trades made via the Bosslife Mobile App will be executed, cleared and settled directly with Apex Clearing Corporation.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Bosslife no longer charges any type of investment advisory fee (previously, Bosslife charged a monthly "subscription fee" through the Apple App Store).

Item 4 - Advisory Business

A. The Company

Bosslife is a privately held Delaware corporation with its principal office located in Toronto, Canada. Bosslife was formed in June 2018 and has been registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) since November 2018. Information about Bosslife’s organizational and ownership structure and its key management personnel is provided on Part 1 of Bosslife’s Form ADV which is available online at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov. Throughout this Brochure, Bosslife may also be referenced as “our,” “we,” or “us.” Clients of Bosslife may also be referenced to as “you,” or “your.”

B. Advisory Services

Bosslife provides non-discretionary investment advisory services using a proprietary algorithm that is available through the Bosslife Mobile Application (the “Bosslife Mobile App”). Bosslife will provide investment advisory services solely through the Bosslife Mobile App and does not provide investment advice in person, over the phone, in live chat, or in any other manner other than through the advisory services available via the Bosslife Mobile App.

Bosslife, through the Bosslife Mobile App, and as further explained below, will:

- Review your current employment status as you report it through an investment suitability questionnaire;
- Provide recommendations based on your Bosslife risk score (“Risk Score”), which takes into consideration, among other things, your risk tolerance, investment objectives, and investment time horizon;
- Monitor and track your purchase and sale of securities;
- Assist you with opening up a brokerage account; and
- Auto-enroll you in electronic document delivery to provide you with access to statements and confirmations for your brokerage account.

The goal of Bosslife is to help you build smarter financial habits and manage wealth by simplifying and optimizing the way you invest and save. Bosslife provides all investment advisory services exclusively through online interaction via the Bosslife Mobile App. Bosslife does not offer discretionary investment advisory services, financial planning services, retirement planning services, financial consulting, tax advice or legal advice.

Bosslife does not create investment portfolios, provide strategic or tactical asset allocation models, rebalance portfolios, or otherwise manage the assets in your Trading Account (Your Trading Account is the individual brokerage account that will be created by you and held at Apex Clearing Corporation. Please see Item 12 for more information about Trading Accounts). Bosslife, through the Bosslife Mobile App, will provide you with non-discretionary investment advice, and you are solely responsible for implementing any such advice. You will make cash contributions to your Trading Account, after which you will direct purchases and sales of specific investment alternatives offered through the Bosslife Mobile App.

You can utilize the Bosslife Mobile App to access automated guidance generated by Bosslife’s proprietary algorithm (the “Risk Rating Algorithm”). The Bosslife Mobile App will help you learn about investing, build healthy saving and investing habits, and create and manage an investment portfolio designed to meet your individual investment objectives and time horizon with respect to your financial and investment risk tolerance. It also helps you align your portfolio with your particular interests (i.e., gaming, technology, retail, fashion, beauty). The investments offered through the Bosslife Mobile App (“Investments”) consist of individual stocks (“Stocks”) and exchange-traded funds (“ETFs”). Bosslife’s process for selecting Investments (as discussed below) is designed to make available to you a diverse array of Investments from across various asset classes, geographic regions, and risk-adjusted return bands.

Bosslife reserves the right to change, in its sole and absolute discretion and from time to time, without prior notice to you the number and availability of Investments it deems appropriate to address your particular investment guidelines. Bosslife does not currently offer any affiliated investment products.

Bosslife does not represent that its advisory services are based on or meant to replace a comprehensive evaluation of your entire financial life that considers all of your circumstances. You are fully responsible for determining whether and when to implement any recommendations provided by Bosslife. In addition, Bosslife’s recommendations are generally limited in scope to the questions Bosslife asks and the information that you provide. Bosslife does not provide comprehensive financial planning, and there may be other relevant factors and financial considerations that Bosslife does not take into consideration in formulating the advice provided. Any recommendations provided by Bosslife are not intended to comprise your complete investment program because Bosslife is not necessarily aware of your aggregate investable and invested assets and does not manage any of your assets on a discretionary basis. Furthermore, the Bosslife Mobile App does not include or account for any assets held within an employee benefit plan subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended.

Bosslife does not use external or individual portfolio managers. At account opening, you shall be required to provide your age, employment status, investment objectives, experience, time horizon, and risk tolerance which the Risk Rating Algorithm considers for selecting the investment recommendations. The Risk Rating Algorithm uses the information provided by you through an interactive investment suitability questionnaire (“ISQ”) to generate investment advice in the form of suitable recommendations.

C. Client Tailored Services and Client Imposed Restrictions

Client Tailored Services

You are required to input personal information, including age, and investment experience, goals and objectives via the ISQ presented on the Bosslife Mobile App as part of your account registration process. Based on the information provided by you in the ISQ, the Bosslife Mobile App uses the Risk Rating Algorithm to analyze such information and provide you with access to a curated list of suitable Investments (“Recommendations”). While Bosslife is responsible for maintaining the Risk Rating Algorithm, Bosslife will not override the Risk Rating Algorithm to provide alternative Recommendations to you, whether based on any criteria outside that provided by you in response to the ISQ, market and/or economic conditions, or otherwise.

You should understand that the Risk Rating Algorithm relies upon answers to questions relating to risk tolerance, investment objectives, investment experience and investment time horizon provided through the ISQ and that such answers serve as inputs to the Risk Rating Algorithm, the output of which results in a Risk Score that coincides with certain Recommendations. Recommendations are highly dependent on receiving accurate information from you. If you provide Bosslife with inaccurate information or fail to update promptly the information provided via the ISQ when it changes, the quality and applicability of the Recommendations could be materially impacted.

You should also understand that Bosslife may not utilize the entirety of the information provided by you when providing investment advice. Furthermore, in making the Recommendations, Bosslife does not consider any additional information about you not covered in the ISQ, including outside assets, portfolio concentration, debt or other accounts you may have with Bosslife or with any third-party. Before becoming a client of Bosslife, you should consider this limitation on Bosslife's services, which is a function of Bosslife providing its investment advisory services in an automated manner.

While you are limited to purchasing Investments that are made available to you via the Bosslife Mobile App, you are not required to follow all or any part of the Recommendations. You may, subject to certain restrictions, implement investment decisions and/or strategies within the Bosslife Mobile App that do not coincide with the Recommendations. Furthermore, you may cause the Risk Rating Algorithm to generate new Recommendations at any time by revising the information you provide through the ISQ. The Risk Rating Algorithm is solely responsible for determining the Recommendations provided to you based on the information you have provided. You are urged to promptly update, and are solely responsible for updating, your information through the Bosslife Mobile App should there be any changes in your answers to questions in the ISQ.

While you may pursue investment strategies outside the scope of the Recommendations, you are solely responsible for any decision to invest in any investment strategy made possible through use of the Bosslife Mobile App. However, you should carefully review and consider the information available on the Bosslife Mobile App about each Recommendation and in any applicable public company filing or report before making any investment decision. If you implement an investment decision that is outside the scope of any Recommendation, you should understand that such decision may not be suitable based on the your Risk Score and that your portfolio may perform worse over any time horizon than a portfolio built strictly according to the Recommendations.

Client Imposed Restrictions

Bosslife provides non-discretionary investment advisory services. You construct your own portfolio from the Recommendations presented through the Bosslife Mobile App. As such, you are able to select those investments from the Recommendations which best fit your investment profile, including restrictions on which types of investments in which you choose to invest.

D. Wrap Fee Programs

Bosslife does not manage or place your assets into wrap fee programs (i.e., programs that offer services for one, all-inclusive fee).

E. Assets Under Management

As of December 31, 2019, Bosslife does not have any assets under management.

These fees and expenses are described in each ETF’s prospectus.

The Account Opening Documents and the Brokerage Documents set forth each parties’ respective obligations.

Item 8 - Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

A. Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Methods of Analysis

Through qualitative and quantitative due diligence, Bosslife selects Investments to make available through the Bosslife Mobile App. In our research and analysis process, our investment professionals analyze investment fees and performance using historical market data, risk metrics and other benchmarks to determine the appropriate risk level for each Investment. As part of the analysis and review process, Bosslife may add, remove, re-categorize or replace available Investments. In the event an Investment is removed and replaced with another substantially similar Investment, it will not affect your existing portfolio. In the event an Investment is re-categorized from a suitability standpoint, if you hold such re-categorized Investment you will be notified, and it will be in the your discretion as to whether to retain such Investment in your portfolio.

Investment Strategies

BossLife uses a proprietary process to help select the Investments it recommends and/or makes available to you through the BossLife Mobile App. Based on the application of BossLife's proprietary process, which includes the analysis of your supplied data on risk tolerance and financial status, BossLife makes available the Recommendations it determines to be suitable for you. Thus, depending on your particular risk tolerance, investment objectives, investment experience, and investment time horizon, only a portion of the Investments may be made available through the Recommendations to you. Once the spectrum of Investments is identified for inclusion, the BossLife Mobile App utilizing the Risk Rating Algorithm makes the Recommendations consisting of suitable Investments from among all of the potentially available Investments. You are under no obligation to act upon any of the Recommendations made by BossLife.

Sources of Information

In conducting its security analysis, BossLife's investment professionals may utilize the following sources of information: financial newspapers and magazines, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, timing services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, data services, and company press releases.

Types of Investments

Recommendations are limited to equity securities and exchange traded funds.

Investing Involves Risk

BossLife does not guarantee any level of performance or that you will avoid losses in your Trading Account. The investment decisions you make based on BossLife's services via the BossLife Mobile App will not always be profitable. When evaluating risk, financial loss may be viewed differently by each client and may depend on many different risk factors.

You need to understand that past performance is no guarantee of future results. All investments carry some level of risk. You may lose some or all of the money you invest, including your entire principal, because the value of your investments may fluctuate. Dividend or interest payments may also fluctuate, or stop completely, as market conditions change.

Before you invest, you should be sure to read shareholder reports and/or fund prospectuses associated with the Recommendations to learn about any potential risks. Investments with higher targeted rates of return may take risks that are beyond your comfort level and be inconsistent with your financial goals or resources.

While past performance does not necessarily predict future returns, it may indicate how volatile (or stable) an investment has been over a period of time. Generally, the more volatile an investment, the higher the investment risk. If you need money to meet a financial goal in the near-term, you probably can't afford the risk of an investment with a volatile history because you may not have enough time to ride out any declines in the stock market.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. The value of your Trading Account may be affected by one or more of the following risks, any of which could cause your portfolio return, the price of the portfolio's shares or the portfolio's yield to fluctuate:

- Market Risk. The value of portfolio assets will fluctuate as the stock market fluctuates. The value of investments may decline, sometimes rapidly and unpredictably, simply because of economic changes or other events that affect large portions of the market including, but not limited to, changes in the macroeconomic environment, unpredictable market sentiment, forecasted or unforeseen economic developments, interest rates, regulatory changes, and domestic or foreign political, demographic, or social events.
- Investment Risk. There is no guarantee that Bosslife's judgment or Recommendations about particular securities or asset classes will necessarily produce the intended results. Bosslife's judgment may prove to be incorrect, and you might not achieve your investment objectives. Bosslife may also make future changes to the algorithms and services that it provides.
- Volatility and Correlation Risk. You should be aware that Bosslife's investment selection process is based in part on a careful evaluation of past price performance and volatility in order to evaluate future probabilities. However, it is possible that different or unrelated asset classes may exhibit similar price changes in similar directions which may adversely affect your portfolio, and may become more acute in times of market upheaval or high volatility. Past performance is no guarantee of future results, and any historical returns, expected returns, or probability projections may not reflect actual future performance.
- Quantitative Tools Risk. Some of Bosslife's techniques may incorporate, or rely upon, quantitative models. There is no guarantee that these models will generate accurate forecasts, reduce risks or otherwise produce the intended results.
- Allocation Risk. The allocation of investments among different asset classes may have a significant effect on portfolio value when one of these asset classes is performing more poorly than the others. In addition, there is a risk that certain asset allocation decisions may not achieve the desired results and, as a result, your portfolio may incur significant losses.
- Liquidity and Valuation Risk. High volatility and/or the lack of deep and active liquid markets for a security may prevent you from selling your securities at all, or at an advantageous time or price because there may be difficulty finding a buyer and you may be forced to sell at a significant discount to market value. Some securities (including ETFs) that hold or trade financial instruments may be adversely affected by liquidity issues as they manage their portfolios. Values of Trading Accounts are based on reasonably available exchange-traded security data. Inaccurate data could adversely affect valuations or transaction size for purchases or sales.
- Credit Risk. Bosslife cannot control and therefore, you are exposed to, the risk that financial intermediaries or security issuers may experience adverse economic consequences that may include impaired credit ratings, default, bankruptcy or insolvency, any of which may affect portfolio values or management. This risk applies to Trading Accounts with Apex Clearing Corporation, notwithstanding asset segregation and insurance requirements that are beneficial to you generally. In addition, exchange trading venues or trade settlement and clearing intermediaries could experience adverse events that may temporarily or permanently limit trading or adversely affect the value of securities held by you. Finally, any issuer of securities may experience a credit event that could impair or erase the value of the issuer's securities held by you. Bosslife may seek to limit credit risk through ETFs, which are subject to regulatory limits on asset segregation and leverage such that fund shareholders are given liquidation priority versus the fund issuer; however, certain funds and products may involve higher issuer credit risk because they are not structured as a registered fund.
- Foreign (Non-U.S.) Risk. An investment in securities of non-U.S. issuers may involve more risk than those of U.S. issuers. Their securities may fluctuate more widely in price and may be less liquid due to adverse market, economic, political, regulatory or other factors.

- Emerging and Frontier Markets Risk. Securities of companies in emerging markets may be more volatile than those of companies in developed markets. By definition, markets, economies and government institutions are generally less developed in emerging market countries. Investment in securities of companies in emerging markets may entail special risks relating to the potential for social instability and the risks of expropriation, nationalization or confiscation. You may also face the imposition of restrictions on foreign investment or the repatriation of capital and a lack of hedging instruments. The risks associated with investing in foreign or emerging markets generally are magnified in frontier markets, also known as “next emerging” markets. Some frontier markets may operate in politically unstable regions of the world and may be subject to additional geopolitical/disruption-of-markets risks.
- Currency Risk. Fluctuations in currency exchange rates may negatively affect the value of a portfolio’s investments or reduce its returns.
- Capitalization Risk. Investments in small- and mid-capitalization companies may be more volatile than investments in large-capitalization companies. Investments in small-capitalization companies may have additional risks because these companies have limited product lines, markets or financial resources.
- Issuer Specific Risk. The value of an equity security may decline in response to developments affecting the specific issuer of the security, even if the overall industry or economy is unaffected. These developments may comprise a variety of factors, including, but not limited to, management issues or other corporate disruption, political factors adversely affecting governmental issuers, a decline in revenues or profitability, an increase in costs, or an adverse effect on the issuer’s competitive position.
- Concentrated Portfolios Risk. Concentrated portfolios are an aggressive and highly volatile approach to trading and investing. Concentrated portfolios hold fewer different stocks than a diversified portfolio and are much more likely to experience sudden dramatic prices swings. In addition, the rise or drop in price of any given holding is likely to have a larger impact on portfolio performance than a more broadly diversified portfolio.
- Legal, Tax or Legislative Risk. Legislative changes or court rulings may impact the value of investments or the securities’ claim on the issuer’s assets and finances, including, but not limited to, changes in investment adviser or securities trading regulation, change in the U.S. government’s guarantee of ultimate payment of principal and interest on certain government securities and changes in the tax code that could affect interest income, income characterization, and/or tax reporting obligations (particularly for ETFs dealing in natural resources).
- Inflation, Currency, and Interest Rate Risk. Security prices and portfolio returns will likely vary in response to changes in inflation and interest rates. Inflation causes the value of future dollars to be worth less and may reduce the purchasing power of an investor’s future interest payments and principal. Inflation also generally leads to higher interest rates, which in turn may cause the value of many types of fixed income investments to decline. The liquidity and trading value of foreign currencies could be affected by global economic factors, such as inflation, interest rate levels, and trade balances among countries, as well as the actions of sovereign governments and central banks. In addition, the relative value of the U.S. dollar-denominated assets primarily managed by Bosslife may be affected by the risk that currency devaluations affects your purchasing power.
- Cybersecurity Risk. Bosslife and Trading Accounts are subject to risks associated with a breach in cybersecurity. Cybersecurity is a generic term used to describe the technology, processes and practices designed to protect networks, systems, computers, programs and data from cyber-attacks and hacking by other computer users, and to avoid the resulting damage and disruption of hardware and software systems, loss or corruption of data, and/or misappropriation of confidential information. In general, cyber-attacks are deliberate, but unintentional events may have similar effects. Cyber-attacks may cause losses to you by interfering with the processing of transactions, affecting the ability to calculate net asset value or impeding or sabotaging trading. You may also incur substantial costs as the result of a cybersecurity breach, including those associated with forensic analysis of the origin and scope of the breach, increased and upgraded cybersecurity, identity theft, unauthorized use of proprietary information, litigation, and the dissemination of confidential and proprietary information. Any such breach could expose Bosslife to civil liability as well as regulatory inquiry and/or action. In addition, you could be exposed to additional losses as a result of unauthorized use of your personal information. While Bosslife has established business continuity plans, incident responses plans and systems designed to prevent cyber-attacks, there are inherent limitations in such plans and systems, including the possibility that certain risks have not been identified. Similar types of cybersecurity risks also are present for issuers of securities in which Bosslife invests, which could result in material adverse consequences for such issuers, and may cause your investment in such securities to lose value.

- Equity-Related Risk. The prices of equity securities will rise and fall. These price movements may result from factors affecting individual companies, industries, or the securities market as a whole. Individual companies may report poor results or be negatively affected by industry and/or economic trends and developments. The prices of securities issued by such companies may suffer a decline in response. In addition, the equity market tends to move in cycles, which may cause stock prices to fall over short or extended periods of time.
- Real Estate Risk. Real estate-related investments may be adversely affected by factors affecting the real estate industry, which may include changes in interest rates and social and economic trends. Real estate investment trusts (REITs) may also be subject to the risk of fluctuations in income from underlying real estate assets, poor performance by the REITs' managers, prepayments and defaults by borrowers, adverse changes in tax laws, and, for U.S. REITs, their failure to qualify for the special tax treatment granted to REITs.
- Venture Capital Risk. Venture capital-related investments have a very high degree of risk and often require a long-term commitment. Typically, venture capital-backed companies have limited or no operating history, unproven technology, untested management and unknown future capital requirements. These companies may face intense competition, often from established companies. These companies often require several rounds of financing before they reach maturity, which may have a significant negative impact on a fund which is unable to participate in subsequent rounds of financing.
- Infrastructure Risk. Infrastructure-related investments are subject to a number of unique risks. These investments may be concentrated into a small number of projects, resulting in a high degree of risk with respect to each project. Further, these investments are often subject to foreign and emerging market risks.
- Socially Responsible Investing Risk. Investments may focus on "low carbon" or other areas of socially responsible investing. This investment category represents a relatively new area of investment with a relatively limited performance track record. Due to the consideration of non-monetary factors in investment decisions, these investments may experience a lower rate of return. There may be a relatively limited number of investments to consider in this investment category, and available investments may be subject to increased competition.
- Large Investment Risk. You may collectively account for a large portion of the assets in certain investments. A decision by many investors to buy or sell some or all of a particular investment where you hold a significant portion of that investment may negatively impact the value of that the investment.
- Fractional Share Risk. Trading in fractional shares has unique risks and limitations that you should understand prior to trading. Fractional shares are not transferrable. You will not have voting rights for the fraction of a share owned. If you close your account or transfer your account to another firm, the fractional share will need to be liquidated, resulting in potential losses.

- Data Source Risk. Bosslife uses a variety of proprietary and non-proprietary data to evaluate securities and formulate investment advice. If a data source is incorrect, your account may be negatively impacted. Bosslife may also subscribe to external data sources for various purposes and functions, including in making investment decisions. While Bosslife believes the third-party data sources to be generally reliable, Bosslife does not guarantee that the data received will be accurate, and is not responsible for errors by these sources.
- Distressed Company Risk. An account that invests in securities of distressed companies may be subject to greater levels of credit, issuer and liquidity risk than a portfolio that does not invest in such securities. Securities of distressed companies include both debt and equity securities. Debt securities of distressed companies are considered predominantly speculative with respect to the issuers' continuing ability to make principal and interest payments. Issuers of distressed company securities may also be involved in restructurings or bankruptcy proceedings that may not be successful. An economic downturn or period of rising interest rates could adversely affect the market for these securities and reduce the account's ability to sell these securities (liquidity risk). If the issuer of a debt security is in default with respect to interest or principal payments, the account may lose the value of its entire investment. Investments in distressed securities often involve increased control position risk and litigation risk.
- Dividend-Oriented Stocks Risk. Accounts that may invest in dividend-oriented securities carry certain risks. Issuers that have paid regular dividends or distributions to shareholders may not continue to do so in the future. An issuer may reduce or eliminate future dividends or distributions at any time and for any reason. A decrease in dividends by an issuer may result in a decrease in the value of the security held in the account or the account receiving less income. In addition, equity securities with higher dividends yields may be sensitive to changes in interest rates, and as interest rates rise, the prices of such securities may fall.
- Operational Risk. Accounts are subject to operational risks arising from factors such as processing errors, human errors, inadequate or failed internal or external processes, fraud by employees or other parties, failure in systems and technology, changes in personnel and errors caused by third-party service providers, all of which may result in losses to the account.
- Limitations of Disclosure. The foregoing list of risks does not purport to be a complete enumeration or explanation of the risks involved in investing in investments. As investment strategies develop and change over time, you may be subject to additional and different risk factors. No assurance can be made that profits will be achieved or that substantial losses will not be incurred.

B. Risks Associated with Investment Strategies and Methods of Analysis

About the Bosslife Risk Rating Algorithm

Our Risk Rating Algorithm serves as the basis of Bosslife's investment recommendations. Given its importance, we feel that you should have a more detailed explanation of the Risk Rating Algorithm so you may, in turn, have a clear understanding of how it is used to generate investment recommendations for your account. Of course, we cannot tell you the exact inner workings of the Risk Rating Algorithm as that is highly proprietary, but we will try and explain it without giving away too many secrets. While some of the information in this section may have already been presented elsewhere in this Brochure, we wanted to set forth the functions, limitations and risks associated with using an algorithm to provide investment advice all in one convenient section.

BossLife offers its advisory services as a “robo-adviser” (i.e., an online application that provides automated financial guidance and services) through the BossLife Mobile App and the Risk Rating Algorithm which are used to generate Recommendations for your Trading Account.

As stated above, BossLife uses the Risk Rating Algorithm to analyze the information you have provided in your responses to the ISQ and to then generate the Recommendations. The Risk Rating Algorithm does have certain limitations, including that it:

- does not actually make investments for you - you are required to select and then submit your trades through the BossLife Mobile App.
- is not designed to rebalance the securities held in your Trading Account (this remains your responsibility).

In addition to its inherent limitations, the Risk Rating Algorithm also has attendant risks, including that it:

- is not designed to address prolonged changes in market conditions.
- will not be overridden to provide alternative Recommendations due to changing market and/or economic conditions.
- may not consider all information you have provided via the BossLife Mobile App when generating its investment Recommendations.
- relies on back-tested information, and, thus, may not operate as expected or intended when events having few or no historical antecedents occur.
- generally has no human involvement in its oversight and management.

It is also important for you to know that while we carefully oversee the Risk Rating Algorithm and regularly test it to ensure that it is performing as expected, it is not used to monitor the performance of your account. We do urge you - and emphasize that it is your sole responsibility - to promptly update your information through the BossLife Mobile App should there be any changes in your answers to the ISQ. This will allow you to obtain the investment Recommendations most suited to your investment objectives and risk tolerance.

Finally, as we add more functions and capabilities to both the Risk Rating Algorithm and the BossLife Mobile App, we will update this Brochure in general and this section in particular so that you always have a clear understanding of how we provide our advisory services.

C. Risks Associated with Specific Securities Utilized

Common Stocks

The major risks associated with investing in common stocks relate to the issuer’s capitalization, quality of the issuer’s management, quality and cost of the issuer’s services, the issuer’s ability to manage costs, efficiencies in the manufacturing or service delivery process, management of litigation risk and the issuer’s ability to create shareholder value (i.e., increase the value of the company’s stock price).

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs)

An ETF holds a portfolio of securities designed to track a particular market segment or index. Shares of ETFs are listed on securities exchanges and transacted at negotiated prices in the secondary market. Generally, ETF shares trade at or near their most recent net asset value (“NAV”), which is generally calculated at least once daily for indexed-based ETFs and more frequently for actively managed ETFs. However, certain inefficiencies may cause the shares to trade at a premium or discount to their pro rata NAV.

ETFs are subject to risks similar to those of stocks. Investment returns will fluctuate and are subject to market volatility, so that when shares are sold they may be worth more or less than their original cost. ETF shares are bought and sold at market price (not NAV) and are not individually redeemed from the fund. There is also the risk that a manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the ETF which could make the holdings less suitable for your portfolio. ETFs may also carry additional expenses based on their share of operating expenses and certain brokerage fees, which may result in the potential duplication of certain fees. In addition, while many ETFs are known for their potential tax efficiency and higher “qualified dividend income” percentages, there are assets classes within these ETFs or holding periods that may not benefit. Shorter holding periods, as well as commodities and currencies that may be part of an ETF’s portfolio, may be considered “non-qualified” under certain tax code provisions.

There is also no guarantee that an active secondary market for such shares will develop or continue to exist. Generally, an ETF only redeems shares when aggregated as creation units (usually 50,000 shares or more). Therefore, if a liquid secondary market ceases to exist for shares of a particular ETF, a shareholder may have no way to dispose of such shares.

ETF performance may not exactly match the performance of the index or market benchmark that the ETF is designed to track because (i) the ETF will incur expenses and transaction costs not incurred by any applicable index or market benchmark; (ii) certain securities comprising the index or market benchmark tracked by the ETF may, from time to time, temporarily be unavailable; and (iii) supply and demand in the market for either the ETF and/or for the securities held by the ETF may cause the ETF shares to trade at a premium or discount to the actual NAV of the securities owned by the ETF. Certain ETF strategies may from time to time include the purchase of fixed income, commodities, foreign securities, American Depositary Receipts, or other securities for which expenses and commission rates could be higher than normally charged for exchange-traded equity securities, and for which market quotations or valuation may be limited or inaccurate.

Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns. Investing in securities and other investments involve a risk of loss that you should understand and be willing to bear.

Item 11 - Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

A. Code of Ethics

Bosslife has adopted a Code of Ethics to prevent violations of federal securities laws. Bosslife's Code of Ethics is predicated on the principle that Bosslife owes a fiduciary duty to you. Accordingly, Bosslife expects all of its associated persons to act with honesty, integrity and professionalism and to adhere to the federal securities laws. All officers, directors, shareholders and employees of Bosslife and any other person who is subject to Bosslife's control and supervision are required to adhere to our Code of Ethics. At all times Bosslife and its associated persons must (i) place your interests ahead of Bosslife's or their own; (ii) engage in personal investing that is in full compliance with Bosslife's Code of Ethics; and (iii) avoid taking advantage of their position. A copy of Bosslife's Code of Ethics is available to you or any prospective client upon request by contacting Bosslife at support@bosslife.investments.

B. Material Financial Interests

Bosslife does not act as principal in any of your securities transactions. Bosslife does not act as the general partner of a fund, or advise an investment company. Bosslife does not have a material interest in any securities traded in your account.

C. Investing in Same Securities as Clients

From time to time, representatives of Bosslife may buy or sell securities for themselves that are also recommended to you. Bosslife has a personal securities transaction policy in place to monitor the personal securities transactions and securities holdings of certain of its associated persons. The policy requires that any person associated with Bosslife that has access to clients' investment data may not purchase, directly or indirectly, any covered security in which he or she has, or because of such transaction acquires, any direct or indirect beneficial ownership and which to his or her actual knowledge at the time of such purchase or sale, is (a) the subject of an initial public offering; (b), not in the open market; or (c) made pursuant to any exemption from the registration provisions of the federal securities laws, unless such transaction has been approved in advance by Bosslife's Chief Compliance Officer. Because trades through the Bosslife Mobile App are aggregated and executed simultaneously, there is no opportunity for Bosslife associated persons to obtain a benefit from their knowledge.

In addition, any associated person with access to client investment data must provide the Chief Compliance Officer or his/her designee with (i) a written report of their current securities holdings within ten days after gaining such access, (ii) quarterly transaction reports and (iii) annual reports thereafter on a date Bosslife selects.

D. Engaging in Transactions at Same Time as Client

Bosslife's policy is to permit individuals associated with Bosslife to trade only during its trading windows when buying and selling for their own Bosslife Trading Accounts. This policy is meant to prevent such individuals from benefiting as a result of transactions placed on your behalf. Bosslife may make use of certain proprietary accounts to test new and/or existing and new technical features of the Bosslife Mobile App. Any such proprietary accounts will be subject to the same restrictions as Bosslife personnel as set forth above.

E. Conflicts of Interest

Bosslife's associated persons and representatives may employ the same strategies for their personal investment accounts as the Bosslife Mobile App does for you. As described above, associated persons have pre-clearance and trading limitations that preclude their doing so in a manner that can disadvantage you.

In addition, Bosslife and Bosslife's associated persons and representatives may have their own Trading Accounts. Bosslife's procedure is to treat any associated person's or related person's advisory account in the same fashion as unaffiliated clients' accounts.

Item 12 - Brokerage Practices

A. Brokerage Selection

Bosslife has entered into an agreement with Apex Clearing Corporation, a registered broker-dealer and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation, wherein Apex Clearing Corporation will provide trade execution, clearance and act as the qualified custodian for your brokerage accounts ("Apex Clearing Corporation" or the "Custodian"). Bosslife will aid you, through the Bosslife Mobile App, in entering into a customer agreement with Apex Clearing Corporation (the "Customer Agreement") that establishes your individual brokerage account at Apex Clearing Corporation (your "Trading Account"). Bosslife may remove or replace the Custodian at any time subject to the terms of the Customer Agreement. Pursuant to the Customer Agreement, Apex will be responsible for (i) holding the assets (i.e., cash and securities) in your Trading Account; (ii) maintaining and recording transactions in cash and securities (including fractional shares) made in your Trading Account; (iii) executing, clearing and settling orders placed by Bosslife on your behalf; and (iv) providing you with statements, confirmations, other required documentation, as well as for providing you with other information about your Trading Account and any transactions made in that account.

Accordingly, under the terms of the Customer Agreement, you are authorizing Apex Clearing Corporation to (i) execute all trades and transactions you make via the Bosslife Mobile App and (ii) establish and carry your Trading Account that holds your securities and cash and records the transactions you have made.

Best Execution

Best execution has been defined by the SEC as the “execution of securities transactions for clients in such a manner that the client’s total cost or proceeds in each transaction is the most favorable under the circumstances.” The best execution responsibility applies to the circumstances of each particular transaction and an investment adviser must consider the full range and quality of a broker-dealer’s services, including, among other things, execution capability, commission rates, the value of any research, financial responsibility and responsiveness.

In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer’s services, including among others, the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Consistent with the foregoing, while Bosslife will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client transactions.

Bosslife executes trades in one or more trading windows during the trading day. Due to the potential interval between the time a trade is placed by you and the time the trade is actually executed in a trading window, there may be a material change in the market price of the security being bought or sold.

Broker Analysis

Bosslife evaluates a wide range of criteria in seeking the most favorable price and market for the execution of transactions. These include the broker-dealer’s trading costs, efficiency of execution and error resolution, financial strength and stability, capability, positioning and distribution capabilities, information in regard to the availability of securities, trading patterns, statistical or factual information, opinion pertaining to trading and infrastructure to support fractional allocations.

Also in consideration is such broker-dealers’ provision or payment of the costs of research and other investment management-related services (the provisional payment of such costs by brokers are referred to as payment made by “soft dollars”, as further discussed in the “Research/Soft Dollars Benefits” section immediately below). Accordingly, if Bosslife determines in good faith that the amount of trading costs charged by a broker-dealer is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research or investment management-related services provided by such broker, the client may pay trading costs to such broker in an amount greater than the amount another broker might charge.

Bosslife’s Chief Investment Officer is responsible for continuously monitoring and evaluation the performance and execution capabilities of brokers that transact orders for client accounts to ensure consistent quality executions. In addition, Bosslife periodically reviews its transaction costs in light of current market circumstances and other relevant information.

Research/Soft Dollar Benefits

Bosslife does not have any commitments or understandings to trade with specific brokers or to generate a specific level of brokerage commission with a particular broker to receive discounted brokerage or research services.

Directed Brokerage*Company Directed Brokerage*

As stated above, in order to obtain Bosslife's investment advisory services via the Bosslife Mobile App, you must use Apex Clearing Corporation as your broker-dealer/custodian.

Client Directed Brokerage

Bosslife does not permit you to direct trades to a broker-dealer other than Apex Clearing Corporation.

B. Trade Aggregation and AllocationIn General

Orders for purchases or sales in your Trading Account may be combined with orders for purchases or sales of securities in other client's accounts and/or with purchases or sales of securities by Bosslife into larger orders for aggregate transactions for each applicable security in your Trading Account. Transactions will be executed at market price and will be allocated among client accounts in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client account on any given day during the relevant trading window. Each client that participates in an aggregated order will participate based on the average execution price in that particular security. This may result in a client receiving better or worse pricing than if their trade was not aggregated. Bosslife executes trades in one or more trading windows during the trading day. Due to the potential interval between the time a trade is placed by you and the time the trade is actually executed in a trading window, there may be a material change in the market price of the security being bought or sold.

Fractional Facilitation Account

The Stocks and ETFs purchased or sold by you via the Bosslife Mobile App and held in your Trading Account may be either whole shares or fractional shares, depending upon the amount you invest in any particular Stock or ETF. Bosslife enables you to invest in dollar-based quantities, whereby you can buy a fixed dollar amount rather than whole shares. Bosslife aggregates all dollar-based purchases, and Apex Clearing Corporation places whole share orders for execution. Thereafter, Bosslife allocates the fractional shares to the participating individual Trading Accounts.

To the extent that Bosslife trades fractional shares of any Stock or ETF on your behalf, it does so by allocating any excess fractional shares to Bosslife's fractional facilitation account held by Apex Clearing Corporation, and Bosslife, in turn, accumulates fractional shares and manages its fractional facilitation account through trades in whole share quantities in accordance with Bosslife's and Apex Clearing Corporation's policies and procedures as they pertain to management of such accounts and positions. Bosslife and Apex Clearing Corporation each reserves the right, at any time and each in its sole discretion, without prior notice to you, to change the details of the policies and procedures governing the mechanics of trading fractional shares, including, without limitation, allocation calculation and rounding procedures. Fractional shares are typically unrecognized and illiquid outside of a Trading Account and, as a result, fractional shares may not be marketable or transferrable to another brokerage account. In the event of a liquidation or transfer of the assets in a Trading Account to another account, Bosslife may convert such fractional shares to cash.

You are urged to carefully review statements received from the Custodian or made available via the Bosslife Mobile App to ensure the accurate reporting of such information.
