4(C) Customization of Advisory Services

To the fullest extent possible, we endeavor to tailor our advisory services to meet the specific needs of each and every client. In order to determine a suitable course of action for an individual client, we review our clients’ financial circumstances and other factors that may influence the investment recommendations we may make to you from time to time. Such review may include, but is not necessarily limited to, investment objectives, consideration of a client’s overall financial condition, income and tax status, personal and business assets, risk profile, and other factors unique to a client’s particular circumstances.

Our clients, excluding any Funds we manage on a fully discretionary basis, are free to impose restrictions or other conditions with regard to how we provide our advisory services. If we agree to such restrictions and/or conditions, please be advised that restrictions and guidelines that you impose on our investment management functions may affect the composition and performance of custom portfolios (as a result, performance of custom portfolios within the same investment objective may differ and you should not expect that the performance of a custom portfolio will be identical to any other individual’s portfolio performance) as well as any recommendations provided to you.

4(D) Wrap Fee Program Participation

None of our investment advisory services involve the use of wrap programs.

4(E) Assets Under Management (“AUM”)

As of December 31, 2019, Eton managed a total of $1,408,400,548 of which $1,135,837,327 is managed on a discretionary basis and $272,563,221 on a non-discretionary basis. In addition to these assets under management, Eton advised clients on a solely investment consulting basis. We refer to these other assets as “assets under advisement.” The value of these other assets under advisement is approximately $186,953,807 as of December 31, 2019.

For certain separately managed account clients, Eton may allocate a portion of managed assets to family limited partnerships or other vehicles (“FLPs”), which are separately advised by Eton. Since the FLP is also a client, the assets of the FLP are included when calculating RAUM. This has the practical effect of counting most of the FLP client’s assets at that vehicle level and again at the separate account level of the individual investor.

Likewise, Eton may allocate a portion of the managed assets of certain clients to the private funds also managed by Eton. Since the Funds are themselves clients, the firm counts these private fund assets when calculating assets under management. This has the practical effect of counting most of the private fund’s assets at the fund level and again at the separate account level of the individual investor.

Neither the FLP clients nor the Funds incur additional management fees, although the Funds do incur administrative costs of .08%. More information about fees is included in Item 5, below.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

8(A) Methods of Analysis

In the course of our management process and as appropriate on a case by case basis, we employ some or all of the following methods of analysis. For a description of the risks related to each particular method of analysis, see the information following each analysis method description. A description of each key risk appears later in this section.

Primary Investment Strategies

In managing clients' assets, we formulate an overall investment strategy which takes into account the client's individual financial landscape and investment objectives, including his or her income, spending and lifestyle needs and particular tax circumstances. Specifically, we provide the following investment services to its clients as appropriate in clients' individual circumstances:

Asset Allocation and Portfolio Design. we design an asset allocation strategy for each client which works in conjunction with the client's overall wealth management plan. The strategy takes into account the client's risk tolerance and return objectives in designing the portfolio. Most of the portfolio is typically invested with external investment managers and in the private investment funds we manage.

Traditional and Alternative Assets Manager Review and Selection. We focus on investment managers which have demonstrated a high degree of expertise at implementing a particular investment strategy or strategies. We research and recommend unaffiliated third party investment managers (referred to herein as "external investment managers") which specialize in the major asset classes. We then monitor the selected managers on an ongoing basis.

Portfolio and Performance Monitoring. We provide our clients with a consolidated report on a quarterly basis which provides the total portfolio returns. The estimated performance will be compared to relevant benchmark indices. The report will also include our commentary on the relevant markets.

We implement our strategies in part through the Farrington Funds for which we serve as investment manager. The funds invest in other hedge funds, with separately managed account managers who manage portfolios to our specifications, and in mutual funds. We also recommend direct client investments in real estate and with private equity fund managers.

Investing in securities or other investment products involves the risk of loss the clients should be prepared to bear.

8(B) Risk Disclosures

Risks Associated with Asset Allocation and Fund of Funds Strategies

Selection and Monitoring of Managers and Funds. There is a risk that we, in our selection process, will not identify appropriate external investment managers or Portfolio Funds for client portfolios, existing weaknesses in an external investment manager's compliance or operational controls or existing material regulatory, financial or other operational issues. Further, there is a risk that an external investment manager or Portfolio Fund does not meet our expectations over time, develops significant weaknesses in its compliance or operational controls that could materially adversely affect a client's investment or could develop material regulatory, financial or other operational issues.

Multiple Managers. The overall success of our strategies depends on, among other things, (i) the ability to develop a successful asset allocation strategy, (ii) the ability to select external investment managers and Portfolio Funds and to allocate the assets amongst them, and (iii) the ability of the external investment managers to be successful in their strategies. The past performance of such strategies is not necessarily indicative of their future profitability. No assurance can be given that the strategy or strategies utilized will be successful under all or any future market conditions. Because we may allocate client assets to multiple Portfolio Funds or accounts of external investment managers who make their trading decisions independently, it is possible that one or more of such external investment managers may, at any time, take positions which may be opposite of positions taken by other external investment managers. It is also possible that external investment managers may on occasion take substantial positions in the same security or group of securities at the same time. The possible lack of diversification caused by these factors may subject a fund's portfolio to more rapid change in value than would be the case if the fund's portfolio were more widely diversified.

Dependence on External Investment Managers. Each investment will be highly dependent upon the expertise and abilities of the external investment manager of the Portfolio Funds in which it invests. Such external investment manager will have investment discretion over clients' assets and, therefore, there is a risk that an event having a negative impact on one of the external investment managers, such as a significant change in personnel or corporate structure or resources, may adversely affect funds' results.

Due diligence considerations. We will conduct due diligence which we believe is adequate to select Portfolio Funds and external investment managers. However, due diligence is not foolproof and may not uncover problems associated with a particular external investment manager. For example, one or more of the external investment managers may engage in improper conduct, including unauthorized changes in investment strategy, which may be harmful and may result in losses to the fund or client account. We may rely upon representations made by external investment managers, accountants, attorneys, prime brokers, and/or other investment professionals. If any such representations are misleading, incomplete or false, this may result in the selection of an external investment manager that might have otherwise been eliminated from consideration had fully accurate and complete information been made available to us. While the Portfolio Funds may be subject to certain investment restrictions, there can be no assurance that the external investment manager will comply with such restrictions. Moreover, we will rely upon the valuations provided by the prime brokers, or custodians during the fiscal year.

General Investment Risks. Investments may decline in value for any number of reasons, including changes in the overall market for equity and/or debt securities, and factors pertaining to particular portfolio securities, such as management, the market for the issuer's products or services, sources of supply, technological changes within the issuer's industry, the availability of additional capital and labor, general economic conditions, political conditions and other similar conditions.

Alternative Investment Funds. Investments in alternative assets, such as hedge funds, private equity funds, and other private investment funds often are: (i) highly speculative and invest in complex instruments and structures including derivatives and structured products; (ii) illiquid with limited withdrawal or redemption rights; (iii) leveraged; (iv) subject to significant volatility; (v) subject to long holding periods; (vi) less transparent than public investments; (vii) subject to significant restrictions on transfers; (viii) affected by complex tax considerations; and (ix) in the case of private equity funds, affected by capital call default risk. In addition to the above, investors in these strategies will be subject to fees and expenses which will reduce profits or increase losses.

Fixed Income Securities. Fixed-income securities, including investment grade securities, are subject to certain common risks, including (i) if interest rates go up, the value of fixed-income securities in a fund's portfolio generally will decline; (ii) the issuer or guarantor of a fixed income security may default on its payment obligations, become insolvent or have its credit rating downgraded; (iii) the value of a fixed-income security may decline as a result of the issuer's falling credit rating; (iv) during periods of declining interest rates, the issuer of a security may exercise its option to prepay principal earlier than scheduled, forcing a fund to reinvest in lower yielding securities; (v) during periods of rising interest rates, the average life of certain types of securities may be extended because of slower than expected principal payments, which may lock in a below market interest rate, increase the security's duration and reduce the value of the security; and (vi) our judgment or the external investment manager's judgment about the attractiveness, relative value or potential appreciation of a particular sector, security or investment strategy may prove to be incorrect.

Concentration of Investments. The identity and number of managers in which we invest client assets will vary over time. In addition, certain of our Funds may invest in a limited number of Portfolio Funds in comparison to other multi-manager funds. Concentration in one or more investment strategies and a loss in any investment could have a material adverse impact on the portfolio.

Portfolio Fund Leverage. Certain portfolio fund managers may borrow funds from brokerage firms and banks. We will have no control over the amount of leverage used by a Portfolio Fund. In addition, the Portfolio Funds may indirectly leverage their portfolios by investing in instruments with embedded "leverage" features such as options, swaps, forwards, contracts for differences and other derivative instruments. While leverage presents opportunities for increasing the Portfolio Fund's total return, it has the effect of potentially increasing losses to the Portfolio Fund as well. Accordingly, any event that adversely affects the value of an investment, either directly or indirectly, by a Portfolio Fund could be magnified to the extent that leverage is employed by the Portfolio Fund. The cumulative effect of the use of leverage by a Portfolio Fund in a market that moves adversely to the investments of the entity employing the leverage could result in a loss to the Portfolio Fund that would be greater than if leverage were not employed by such Portfolio Fund. In addition, to the extent that the Portfolio Funds borrow funds, the rates at which they can borrow may affect the operating results of the Portfolio Funds. In general, the anticipated use of short-term margin borrowings by the Portfolio Funds results in certain additional risks to the applicable Fund. For example, should the securities that are pledged to brokers to secure the Portfolio Funds' margin accounts decline in value, or should brokers from which the Portfolio Funds have borrowed increase their maintenance margin requirements (i.e., reduce the percentage of a position that can be financed), then the Portfolio Fund could be subject to a "margin call", pursuant to which the Portfolio Funds must either deposit additional funds with the broker or suffer mandatory liquidation of the pledged securities to compensate for the decline in value. In the event of a precipitous drop in the value of the assets of a Portfolio Fund, the Portfolio Fund might not be able to liquidate assets quickly enough to pay off the margin debt and might suffer mandatory liquidation of positions in a declining market at relatively low prices, thereby incurring substantial losses.

Derivative Investments. Some Portfolio Funds may invest in other derivative instruments, which may include futures, options, swaps, structured securities and other instruments and contracts that are derived from or the value of which is related to one or more underlying securities, financial benchmarks, currencies or indices. Derivatives allow an investor to hedge or speculate upon the price movements of a particular security, financial benchmark, currency or index at a fraction of the cost of investing in the underlying asset. The value of a derivative depends largely upon price movements in the underlying asset. Therefore, many of the risks applicable to trading the underlying asset are also applicable to derivatives of such asset. However, there are a number of other risks associated with derivatives trading. For example, because many derivatives are leveraged, and thus provide significantly more market exposure than the money paid or deposited when the transaction is entered into, a relatively small adverse market movement cannot only result in the loss of the entire investment, but may also expose the Portfolio Fund to the possibility of a loss exceeding the original amount invested. Derivatives may also expose investors to liquidity risk, as there may not be a liquid market within which to close or dispose of outstanding derivatives contracts. Swaps and certain options and other custom instruments are subject to the risk of non-performance by the swap counterparty, including risks relating to the creditworthiness of the swap counterparty.

Non-U.S. Investments. Certain of the Portfolio Funds will invest in securities of non-U.S. companies and foreign countries and in non-U.S. currencies. Investing in the securities of such companies and countries involves certain considerations not usually associated with investing in securities of U.S. companies or the U.S. Government, including political and economic considerations, such as greater risks of expropriation and nationalization, confiscatory taxation, the potential difficulty of repatriating funds, general social, political and economic instability and adverse diplomatic developments; the possibility of imposition of withholding or other taxes on dividends, interest, capital gain or other income; the small size of the securities markets in such countries and the low volume of trading, resulting in potential lack of liquidity and in price volatility; fluctuations in the rate of exchange between currencies and costs associated with currency conversion; and certain government policies that may restrict a Portfolio Fund's investment opportunities. In addition, accounting and financial reporting standards that prevail in foreign countries generally are not equivalent to United States standards and, consequently, less information is available to investors in companies located in such countries than is available to investors in companies located in the United States. Moreover, an issuer of securities may be domiciled in a country other than the country in whose currency the instrument is denominated. The values and relative yields of investments in the securities markets of different countries, and their associated risks, are expected to change independently of each other. There is also less regulation, generally, of the securities markets in foreign countries than there is in the United States. The risks of investing in non-U.S. investments described herein apply to an even greater extent to investments in emerging markets.

Fund Expenses. Investors in the Funds will be responsible for bearing the administrative fee and partnership expenses associated with each fund, as well as the fees and expenses payable to the Portfolio Funds in which each Fund invests, including any incentive allocations or other performance compensation.

8(C) Investment-Specific Risks

There is no single type of investment instrument that we predominantly recommend, however, all investments carry some form and degree of risk. With regard to private investments, clients are encouraged to review the private placement memorandum for a discussion of the principal risks specific to that investment.

8(D) Cybersecurity

The computer systems, networks and devices used by Eton and service providers to us and our clients to carry out routine business operations employ a variety of protections designed to prevent damage or interruption from computer viruses, network failures, computer and telecommunication failures, infiltration by unauthorized persons and security breaches. Despite the various protections utilized, systems, networks, or devices potentially can be breached. A client could be negatively impacted as a result of a cybersecurity breach.

Cybersecurity breaches can include unauthorized access to systems, networks, or devices; infection from computer viruses or other malicious software code; and attacks that shut down, disable, slow, or otherwise disrupt operations, business processes, or website access or functionality. Cybersecurity breaches may cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses to a client; impediments to trading; the inability by us and other service providers to transact business; violations of applicable privacy and other laws; regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, or additional compliance costs; as well as the inadvertent release of confidential information.

Similar adverse consequences could result from cybersecurity breaches affecting issuers of securities in which a client invests; governmental and other regulatory authorities; exchange and other financial market operators, banks, brokers, dealers, and other financial institutions; and other parties. In addition, substantial costs may be incurred by these entities in order to prevent any cybersecurity breaches in the future.”

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

We have no legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client’s or prospective client’s evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management,

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

The following information will address any active or pending financial industry affiliations that you need to know about for the purpose of identifying any related conflicts of interest that you might consider material in regard to letting us handle your investment advisory needs.

10(A) Broker-Dealers

Neither Eton nor any of its management persons is registered as a broker-dealer nor do either parties have an application pending or otherwise in process for the purpose of seeking registration as a broker-dealer. Further, none of our management persons are registered as or currently seeking registration as a registered representative of a broker-dealer.

10(B) Futures Commission Merchants, Introducing Brokers, Commodity Trading Advisors, Commodity Pool Operators

Neither Eton nor any of its management persons is registered as a futures commission merchant, an introducing broker, a commodity trading adviser, or a commodity pool operator, nor do either parties have an application pending or otherwise in process for the purpose of seeking registration as any of these types of firms. Further, none of our management persons are registered as or currently seeking registration as associated persons of any of these types of firms.

10(C) Related Persons

The purpose of this section is to address any relationship or arrangement (that is material to (1) our advisory business or (2) our clients) that we or any of our management persons have with any of our related persons that meet certain categories as identified by the Form ADV.

ETON SOLUTIONS

Management personnel of our Firm are equity share holders in Eton Solutions, a software company that provides integrated client relationship management, work flow, record keeping and other services to us for a fee that we pay out of our management fees.

FOCUS OPERATING, LLC and FOCUS FINANCIAL PARTNERS, LLC

As noted above in response to Item 4, certain investment vehicles managed by Stone Point collectively are principal owners of Focus, and certain investment vehicles managed by KKR collectively are minority owners of Focus. Because Eton is an indirect, wholly-owned subsidiary of Focus, the Stone Point and KKR investment vehicles are indirect owners of Eton. None of Stone Point, KKR, or any of their affiliates participates in the management or investment recommendations of our business.”

FOCUS CLIENT SOLUTIONS

We offer clients the option of obtaining certain financial solutions from unaffiliated third-party financial institutions with the assistance of our affiliate, Focus Client Solutions (“FCS”), a wholly owned subsidiary of our parent company, Focus Financial Partners, LLC. These third-party financial institutions are banks and non-banks (the “Network Institutions”) which offer credit management solutions to our clients. FCS acts as an intermediary to facilitate our clients’ access to these credit management solutions.

FCS receives quarterly fees (the “Network Fees”) from the Network Institutions and certain administrative services providers (the “Administrative Services Providers” and, together with the Network Institutions, the “Network Providers”) in exchange for allowing them to participate in the FCS credit management program and thereby to offer their services to our clients. The Network Fees are substantial and are expected to change over time. Such fees are revenue for FCS and ultimately for our common parent company, Focus Financial Partners, LLC, but we do not share in such revenue. Additionally, together with Focus, we have paid FCS an amount equal to our pro rata share of the Network Fees obtained by FCS, and FCS has in turn rebated that amount to the Network Institutions on a pro rata basis. The effect of this payment/rebate mechanism has been to eliminate the receipt of any incremental revenue by our affiliates as a result of our clients’ use of FCS’s services. Accordingly, we have addressed this potential conflict of interest by: (1) disclosing the above arrangements to our clients; (2) offering FCS solutions to clients on a strictly nondiscretionary and fully disclosed basis, and not as part of any discretionary investment services; (3) not sharing in any portion of FCS’s revenue in exchange for successfully offering this credit management product to our clients; and (4) eliminating our affiliates’ receipt of revenue attributable to our clients’ use of FCS’s services.

Additionally, we note that clients who use FCS’s services will receive robust product-specific disclosure from the Network Providers that provide such services to our clients. Even if we and FCS do not retain a portion of the Network Fees attributable to our clients’ use of FCS’s services (which mitigates the conflict that would otherwise have arisen from our receipt of incremental revenue), FCS indirectly benefits from our clients’ use of the services insofar as such use incentivizes the Network Providers to maintain their relationship with FCS and to continue paying Network Fees to FCS. It also may support increases in the overall amount of the Network Fee rates in the future. In addition, our interest in continuing to receive investment advisory fees from client accounts gives us a financial incentive to recommend that clients borrow money rather than liquidating some or all of the assets we manage, and that creates a conflict of interest when we recommend FCS to provide credit solutions to our clients.

FCS CREDIT SOLUTIONS

For FCS credit solutions, the interest rate of the loan is ultimately dictated by the lender, although in some circumstances FCS may have the ability to influence the lender to lower the interest rate of the loan within certain parameters. The final rate may be higher or lower than the prevailing market rate. We can offer no assurances that the rates offered to you by the lender are the lowest possible rates available in the marketplace.

Clients retain the right to pledge assets in accounts generally, subject to any restrictions imposed by clients’ custodians. While the FCS program facilitates secured loans through Network Institutions, clients are free instead to work directly with institutions outside the FCS program. Because of the limited number of participating Network Institutions and FCS’s financial arrangements with those institutions, clients may be limited in their ability to obtain as favorable loan terms as if the client were to work directly with other banks to negotiate loan terms or obtain other financial arrangements.

Clients should also understand that pledging assets in an account to secure a loan involves additional risk and restrictions. A Network Institution has the authority to liquidate all or part of the pledged securities at any time, without prior notice to clients and without their consent, to maintain required collateral levels. The Network Institution also has the right to call client loans and require repayment within a short period of time; if the client cannot repay the loan within the specified time period, the Network Institution will have the right to force the sale of pledged assets to repay those loans. Selling assets to maintain collateral levels or calling loans may result in asset sales and realized losses in a declining market, leading to the permanent loss of capital. These sales also may have adverse tax consequences. Interest payments and any other loan-related fees are borne by clients and are in addition to the advisory fees that clients pay us for managing assets, including assets that are pledged as collateral. The returns on pledged assets may be less than the account fees and interest paid by the account. Clients should consider carefully and skeptically any recommendation to pursue a more aggressive investment strategy in order to support the cost of borrowing, particularly the risks and costs of any such strategy. More generally, before borrowing funds, a client should carefully review the loan agreement, loan application, and other forms and determine that the loan is consistent with the client's long-term financial goals and presents risks consistent with the client's financial circumstances and risk tolerance.

10(D) Use of Other Investment Advisers

As described previously in Item 4(B), from time to time we may recommend or select other investment advisers for you and in return, however we will not participate in the compensation (i.e. solicitor/referral fees) derived from such other investment advisers.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

11(A) Code of Ethics

We take great pride in our commitment to serving our clients' needs and the integrity with which we conduct our business. In our recent history, the financial services industry has come under significant scrutiny, especially in the area of the inherent responsibility of financial professionals to behave in the best interests of their clients.

We have developed a Code of Ethics ("Code") as a means of memorializing our vision of appropriate and professional conduct in carrying out the business of providing investment advisory services. Our Code addresses issues such as the following:

- Standards of conduct and compliance with applicable laws, rules, and regulations
- Protection of material non-public information
- The addressing of conflicts of interest
- Employee disclosure and reporting of personal securities holdings and transactions
- The firm's IPO and private placement policy
- The reporting of violations of the Code
- Educating employees about the Code
- Enforcement of the Code

Each of our representatives has been furnished with a copy of our Code and has signed their names to a written acknowledgement attesting to their understanding of the Code and acceptance of its terms. A copy of our Code is available to all current and/or prospective clients upon request.

11(B) Participation in Client Trading

The information in this item is intended to address situations in which we or one of our related persons may have a material financial interest in the investment instruments we may recommend to you. We serve as general partner to the Funds in which clients may invest. The Funds do not pay a separate management fee; clients that invest in the Funds pay their relationship-based quarterly fees on all assets we oversee, including assets invested in the Funds. Moreover, neither we nor any of our affiliates are paid any "carried interest" or other form of incentive compensation based on the performance of the Funds. As described above in Item 4(B), the Funds pay an annualized administrative fee of 0.08%, plus partnership expenses as set forth in the offering and governing documents for the Funds. We do not believe this relationship poses any material conflicts for our clients.

11(C) Trading Alongside Our Clients

On occasion, we may invest for our own accounts or have a financial interest in the same securities or other investments that we recommend or acquire for the accounts of our clients. Further, we may also engage in transactions that are the same as or different than transactions recommended to or made for our client's accounts. Such transactions are permitted if effected, pre-cleared and reported in compliance with our policy on personal securities transactions. Generally, personal securities transactions will not be pre-cleared when an order for the same or a related security is pending for the account of a client. Our Designated Supervisor reviews reports of personal transactions in securities by all of our associated persons quarterly or more frequently if required.

Investment Policy

None of our associated persons may effect for himself/herself or for accounts in which he/she holds a beneficial interest, any transactions in a security which is being actively recommended to any of our clients, unless in accordance with the following procedures.

Firm Procedures

In order to implement our Investment Policy, the following procedures have been put into place.

- 1) If we are recommending that any of our clients buy any security, no associated person may purchase that security prior to a client's purchase of that security; and
- 2) If we are recommending that any of our clients sell any security, no associated person may sell that security prior to a client's sale of that security.

As an alternative to the procedures described in the preceding points, we may include our own order(s) in a batch order with other client orders that would involve average pricing for the entire batch such that we would receive the same pricing as all other clients participating in the batch.

It is the primary intent of these procedures to ensure that the best interests of our clients are always served over that of our own. Trading on our own behalf that results in our own interests being served over that of our clients could be considered a breach of our fiduciary duty and thus, is aggressively discouraged.

11(D) Trading Around the Same Time as Clients

The information in this item is intended to address situations in which we or any of our related persons may invest in the investment instruments we may recommend to you. We do not as a general matter make recommendations as to specific securities instruments, however we may occasionally review and advise when a client has concentrated stock holdings in a particular company or employee-related stock or stock options. Our supervision and controls around personal securities trading are described in response to Item 11(C), above.

One of our Firm's management persons serves on an advisory board and related family boards for a client, and also serves on the board of directors of an entity affiliated with a client and receives director's fees for such service. We have approved these engagements.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

The purpose of this Item is to present to you the factors that we take into consideration when (1) selecting or recommending broker-dealers to you for the purpose of effecting transactions on your behalf and (2) for determining the reasonableness of such broker-dealers' compensation related to such transactions.

Factors that we consider in recommending certain broker-dealers or custodians to our clients may include such entity's financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, and service. In return for effecting securities transactions through certain broker-dealers/custodians, we or certain of our supervised persons may receive certain support services that may assist us in our investment decision-making process for all of our clients.

In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not always the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of brokerage services, including factors such as execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Accordingly, although we will seek competitive rates, we may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for the client's account transactions.

12(A) (1) Research and Soft Dollar Benefits

Soft dollar benefits are items such as research or other products or services (other than the typical execution and other brokerage services available to all other investment advisers) that an investment adviser may receive from a broker-dealer(s) or other party in connection with the client securities transactions are directed to that particular broker-dealer(s). We do not participate in any soft dollar arrangements.

12(A) (2) Brokerage for Client Referrals

In certain circumstances, firms like ours may receive client referrals as a result of recommending particular broker-dealers or other service providers. We, however, do not participate in any formal arrangements wherein we receive client referrals from any particular broker-dealer in return for selecting or recommending such broker-dealer.

12(A) (3) Directed Brokerage

This item is intended to address situations where we may recommend, request, or require you to provide us instructions as to how to direct brokerage activity on your behalf.

12(A) (3) (a) Directed Brokerage – Recommended, Requested, or Required

Not all investment advisers require their clients to direct brokerage activity through any particular broker-dealer. We routinely recommend that clients custody their assets at either BNY Mellon or Charles Schwab.

12(A) (3) (b) Directed Brokerage – Permitted

Not all investment advisers require their clients to direct brokerage activity through any particular broker-dealer, however, you may direct us to use a particular broker-dealer (subject to our right to decline such a request) to execute some or all transactions for your account or otherwise on your behalf. In such an event, we will not negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with the other broker-dealer, and we will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to "batch" the transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts we manage. As a result, you may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case.

12(B) Order Batching

Transactions for the client's account generally will be effected independently, unless we decide to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at the same or approximately the same time. We may (but are not obligated to) combine or "batch" such orders in order to obtain best execution or to negotiate more favorable transaction rates. Reasoning for attempting to effect a batch order is that we may need to trade in the same security for multiple accounts at or around the same time and batching may allow us to achieve a more favorable price on average for all clients. Batching, however, doesn't guarantee the lowest possible price for execution, however, it is intended to reduce the overall volatility in execution price for a large number of orders that if not batched together, may experience significantly different execution prices. Conversely, in the event that we do not batch a group of orders that otherwise may be a prime candidate for a batched order, the resulting cost for some clients may be higher or lower than what we might be able to achieve by processing a batched order for the benefit of those same clients.

To the extent that we elect to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which our associated persons may invest, we will generally do so in accordance with the parameters set forth in SEC No-Action Letter, SMC Capital, Inc. We will not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of a batched order.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

13(A) Review of Accounts or Financial Plans

Review of client accounts.

We review the performance of client accounts and the consistency of client account holdings with a client's investment objectives on at least a quarterly basis. This periodic review process will be performed by the Firm, including a review by the Eton Investment Committee members with the following titles.

- Robert E. Mallernee – Chief Executive Officer
- W. Jackson Parham – Chief Investment Officer
- Brad F. Dalton – Senior Portfolio Manager
- John C. Wallace – Senior Investment Officer

13(B) Non-Periodic Account Reviews

We may review client accounts on a more frequent basis in connection with the execution of trades or implementation of investments on behalf of client accounts and in response to unusual activity or market events.

13(C) Reports to Clients

We provide written reports to our clients that review their account performance and provide other information regarding clients' financial situations on a quarterly basis.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

14(A) Compensation we Receive

Other than the compensation arrangements described above in Item 4(B), Eton does not receive any other compensation in connection with the investment advisory services provided to our clients.

Eton's parent company is Focus Financial Partners, LLC ("Focus"). From time to time, Focus holds partnership meetings and other industry and best-practices conferences, which typically include Eton, other Focus firms and external attendees. These meetings are first and foremost intended to provide training or education to personnel of Focus firms, including Eton. However, the meetings do provide sponsorship opportunities for asset managers, asset custodians, vendors and other third party service providers. Sponsorship fees allow these companies to advertise their products and services to Focus firms, including Eton. Although the participation of Focus firm personnel in these meetings is not preconditioned on the achievement of a sales target for any conference sponsor, this practice could nonetheless be deemed a conflict as the marketing and education activities conducted, and the access granted, at such meetings and conferences could cause Eton to focus on those conference sponsors in the course of its duties. Focus attempts to mitigate any such conflict by allocating the sponsorship fees only to defraying the cost of the meeting or future meetings and not as revenue for itself or any affiliate, including Eton. Conference sponsorship fees are not dependent on assets placed with any specific provider or revenue generated by such asset placement

The following entities have provided conference sponsorship to Focus in the last year:

Charles Schwab & Co., Inc.

eMoney Advisors, LLC

Envestnet Financial Technologies, Inc.

Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC

Fidelity Institutional Asset Management LLC

Orion Advisor Services, LLC

14(B) Compensation we Pay

Under certain circumstances, firms like ours may compensate other parties for having referred clients or potential investment advisory clients to them. These sorts of arrangements are generally referred to as “solicitor” arrangements. We do not participate in any solicitor arrangements.

Item 15 Custody

Client account statements will be provided by the qualified custodian that maintains physical possession of the client’s accounts/assets (which statements will, in the case of the Funds, also be provided to the investors in the Funds). Clients are urged to compare that information from the custodian to the information contained in the reports we provide to them.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

We accept discretionary authority to manage client accounts pursuant to written agreements with our clients which include a power of attorney providing us with discretionary authority over clients’ assets which are subject to the agreement. The limited partnership agreements for the Farrington Funds provide us with authority over the assets in the Funds.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

17(A) Proxy Voting

Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures and Client Instruction

We do not vote proxies on behalf of any securities owned by our non-Fund clients.

In the case of the Funds, Eton is responsible for voting proxies with respect to securities held by the Fund. In accordance with SEC Rule 206(4)-6 under the Investment Advisers Act, we have adopted policies and procedures designed to prevent conflicts of interest from influencing proxy voting decisions made on behalf of the Fund and to ensure that these decisions are in accordance with our fiduciary responsibilities. Generally, votes will be made in the manner we feel is in the best interests of the Fund and its investors.

If a conflict of interest were to arise between Eton and a Fund when voting the Fund’s securities, we would nevertheless vote in the client’s best interests. In determining what is in the best interest of a Fund, we would be sure to act in conformity with any applicable requirements of the Fund’s governing documents and might consult with, or seek approval of the voting decision from, the Fund’s investors.

Eton’s proxy voting policies and procedures, including information on how proxies have been voted, are available upon written request.

17(B) Proxy Voting

For non-Fund clients, since you have not authorized us to vote proxies on your behalf, we will not do so. Proxies related to the securities you own will be disseminated as dictated by the issuer, transfer agent, or as otherwise set forth in the account opening paperwork you completed for the custodian holding your account/assets. If you have questions related to a particular proxy notice, please call us at 919-442-1550.

Item 18 Financial Information

18(A) Balance Sheet

We do not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance. As a result, we are not required to provide our clients with a copy of our balance sheet from our most recently completed fiscal year.

18(B) Adverse Financial condition

In the event that we have discretionary authority or custody of any of our clients' assets or if we require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, we are required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments with our clients. No such conditions exist.

18(C) Bankruptcy-Related Matters

Eton has never been the subject of a bankruptcy petition.
