ITEM 4. SERVICES, FEES AND COMPENSATION

The Participant Retirement Program ("Program") is sponsored by Securities America Advisors, Inc. ("SAA", the "Firm," "us" or "we" or "our"), an SEC-Registered Investment Adviser. Securities America Advisors, Inc. ("SAA") is registered as an investment advisor with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), SEC File No. 801-45628, in order to offer investment advisory products and services to its advisory clients. Securities America, Inc. ("SAI"), SAA's broker/dealer affiliate, is registered with the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") as a broker/dealer engaged in the offer and sale of securities products. Such advisory services are offered through certain Financial Advisors ("FAs") who have registered as Investment Advisor Representatives ("Advisory Representative" or "representative"). Registration does not imply a certain level of skill or training. SAA and SAI are wholly owned subsidiaries of Securities America Financial Corporation ("SAFC"). SAFC is also majority owner of Arbor Point Advisors, LLC ("APA"). APA, an affiliate of SAA and SAI, is an investment advisor firm registered with the SEC. SAFC is a wholly owned subsidiary of Advisor Group Holdings, Inc. ("AGHI"), which is owned primarily by a consortium of investors through RCP Artemis Co-Invest, L.P., an investment fund affiliated with Reverence Capital Partners LLC. The consortium of investors includes RCP Genpar Holdco LLC, RCP Genpar L.P., RCP Opp Fund II GP, L.P. and The Berlinski Family 2006 Trust. Securities America, Inc., the broker/dealer, will henceforth be referred to as "SAI." Securities America Advisors, Inc., the Registered Investment Advisor, will henceforth be referred to as "we," "us," "our" or "the Firm." SAI, an independent broker/dealer, has built a strong reputation within the Financial Services Industry through its open-architecture model and commitment to technology and service.

We have been an SEC Registered Investment advisor since 1994 and manage, as of December 31, 2019, $29,024,824,068. Of that total, $24,136,239,609 was managed on a discretionary basis and $4,888,584,459 was managed on a non-discretionary basis.

SAA provides a variety of programs for use by it, its Advisory Representatives and independent registered investment advisor firms to provide investment advice to you. SAA Advisory Representatives and investment advisor representatives affiliated with independent investment advisors (independent IA representatives) are often also registered representatives of Securities America, Inc. (SAI), a full-service broker/dealer firm affiliated with SAA. The brochure supplement delivered to you by your Advisory Representative will explain your Advisory Representative's affiliation details. References to "your Advisory Representative" or "your representative" refer to the SAA Advisory Representative or independent IA representative providing services to you. Independent investment advisor firms that use our programs are generally registered as investment advisors with the SEC or with the state jurisdictions where they maintain a place of business in accordance with the regulations for each individual state or jurisdiction. We are not affiliated as an investment advisor with the independent investment advisor firms. An independent investment advisor has the obligation to also deliver a separate version of Form ADV Part 2A (or equivalent brochure).

Except as discussed below, each of our Advisory Representatives is permitted to offer all or any combination of the advisory programs described below to our clients ("you" or "your").

Type of Services Offered

We offer a diverse range of advisory programs and services including individual financial planning, asset management, retirement services and referrals to third party money managers.

Once you've decided to establish an advisory account, you will complete certain account opening documents that provide information regarding the custodian's name, address and the way the funds or securities are maintained. If you wish to use our investment advisory services, you generally will sign a client agreement describing the services provided to you. When possible, assets in our programs are invested primarily in lower cost mutual funds and/or exchange traded funds, usually through clearing firms or fund companies. Fund companies charge each fund shareholder an investment management fee that is disclosed in the fund prospectus. Clearing firms can charge a transaction fee when you buy funds. Stocks and bonds can be bought or sold through a brokerage account when appropriate. SAI, our broker/dealer affiliate, charges a fee for stock and bond trades which might be higher or lower than commissions you would pay if transactions were implemented through another broker/dealer.

Participant Retirement Program

Through the Participant Retirement Program, SAA and its representatives offer investment advisory services relative to participants' tax-exempt retirement account assets in employer sponsored retirement plans (Plan). Under the Participant Retirement Program, you elect to have SAA manage your contributions to the Plan, any contributions by your employer or Plan sponsor on your behalf and any other additions to the Plan on behalf of or attributable to you (collectively "Plan Assets"). Through its representatives, SAA provides advice with respect to Plan Assets in your account only, including additions, substitutions and proceeds. SAA is not responsible for the actions or non-actions of predecessor investment advisors, managing any assets other than the Plan Assets allocated to your account or the administration of the Plan. In managing your account, SAA will, but is not required to, consider any other securities, cash or other investments owned by you.

You maintain the ability to impose reasonable restrictions on the management of your account, including the ability to instruct us not to purchase certain investments or securities. Your representative will contact you at least annually to discuss any changes or updates regarding your financial situation, risk tolerance, investment objectives, investment time horizon or restrictions you may wish to impose on the account.

At no time will SAA act as custodian of the Plan or have direct access to the Plan's funds and/or securities. Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services maintains custody of all Plan Assets in your account and will process the orders for securities transactions in your account in its broker/dealer capacity as your representative enters such orders.

The client agreement can be terminated at any time for any reason; however, services will continue until either party gives written notice of termination to the other party. Closing the account causes the agreement to be terminated. Termination is effective upon receiving notice, although transactions in progress will be completed in the normal course of business. Terminating the agreement will not affect either party's liabilities or obligations arising out of transactions initiated prior to termination or the provisions regarding arbitration, all of which will survive any expiration or termination of the agreement.

Upon termination, you will have the exclusive responsibility to monitor the securities in your account, and we will have no further obligation to act or provide investment services with respect to those assets. If you terminate the agreement within 5 business days of signing it, you will receive a full refund of all fees and expenses. If the agreement is terminated more than 5 days after its execution, any prepaid, unearned management fees will be calculated and promptly refunded based upon the number of days remaining in the billing period after the termination date.

Fees and Compensation

General Fee Information

Managed Accounts and Brokerage Accounts

In a managed account, your representative provides ongoing advice relative to personalized investments owned by you and charges a fee for that advice. Advisory fees charged in our management programs are separate and distinct from fees and expenses (including, for example, service fees, interest charges and investment expenses) charged by the investment products recommended to you and held by you in your investment account (e.g., mutual funds, exchange-traded funds and variable annuities). Descriptions of these fees and expenses are available in each investment prospectus.

The ongoing fee for investment management services can cost you more than if the assets were held in a traditional brokerage account. Types of investments, possible minimum investments, services provided, and account activity all impact the overall cost of managed accounts. For example, if you hold mostly mutual funds in your portfolio and utilize a buy and hold strategy, you will not incur extensive transaction costs and management services would likely be minimal. This could mean that having a brokerage account rather than a managed account is more cost effective.

In a brokerage account, you are charged a commission for each transaction, and the representative has no duty to provide ongoing advice with respect to the account. If you plan to follow a buy and hold strategy for the account or do not wish to receive ongoing investment advice or management services, you should consider opening a brokerage account rather than an advisory account. The fees charged by us vary among our programs and our representatives. As noted above, fees charged in our managed programs can be more than the cost of purchasing the same services separately. Because other advisors offer their own programs and services, fees and expenses from recommended investment products may be less than you incur with an SAA account.

Representatives can charge advisory fees and/or receive solicitor's fees for advisory class products that do not pay upfront commissions or ongoing trails, such as institutional mutual fund share classes and advisory share class variable annuities (see discussions below).

While SAA (or an entity on its behalf) has designed reasonable controls to monitor for the accuracy of advisory fees, we encourage you to check the accuracy of your advisory fee billings.

Commissions, Transaction Costs and Other Charges

In addition to an asset-based advisory fee, you can incur brokerage commissions, transaction charges and other fees, including "ticket charges," related to the purchase and sale of stocks, bonds and other securities. More specifically, stocks, bonds and other securities traded in advisory accounts can be subject to commissions, mark-ups and mark-downs. With respect to mark-ups and mark-downs, they are paid to market makers and neither SAA nor SAI receive any portion of the mark-ups or mark-downs.

Representatives will receive either an advisory fee or a commission but not both. Either the SAA representative will pay the commissions, transaction charges or other fees or you will pay those costs in addition to the management fee. However, commissions, transaction fees and other fees charged to you prior to the holdings being in an advisory account will not be waived or credited toward the investment management fee. Please contact your representative for more information about commissions and transaction charges.

Investment Assets

Annuities and Alternative Investments

Your representative can invest a portion of your assets in variable annuities or other investments and charge a management fee on these assets. Assets can also be invested in equity-indexed and fixed annuities, but these products are excluded from fee billing calculations. You will pay two levels of management fees: an advisory fee paid directly to SAA and your representative and a management fee paid indirectly to the managers of the variable annuities or other investments. Your representative is able to manage variable annuity account(s) held by insurance company custodians even though those annuity accounts are not linked to an SAA advisory account. If annuity management service is provided, it is provided on a discretionary basis only and you can be subject to advisory fees. The underlying assets can be bought directly through the variable annuity company. You could generally avoid the second layer of advisory fees by making your own decisions regarding the variable annuity investment. However, in that case, you would not receive the investment management services provided by your representative.

SAA will not impose an asset-based advisory fee on variable annuities and unit investment trusts that were subject to an up-front load or sales charge and sold by an SAI representative at the time of purchase. Any variable annuity that had an asset-based advisory fee prior to June 9, 2017, can continue to be charged.

Variable annuities that were purchased with an advisory share class (e.g., I shares) can be linked for the purpose of collecting a management fee and/or exercising discretion. Please consult with your representative if you have any questions regarding this policy.

In addition, SAA will exclude the value of any investment it designates as an “alternative investment product” from an asset-based advisory fee if you purchased it in a commission-based account through a SAI registered representative and then transferred it to an advisory account. (See discussion below regarding converting a commission account to an advisory account.) Alternative investments include, but are not limited to, venture capital, private equity, hedge fund, managed futures and real estate investment trust products. However, if an alternative investment product was purchased at net asset value (NAV) (in other words, purchased with no commission), then that alternative investment product can be subject to an asset-based advisory fee.

Funds

Your representative can also invest a portion of your assets in mutual funds or exchange-traded funds and charge a management fee on assets invested in these securities. Therefore, you will pay two levels of management fees: an advisory fee paid directly to SAA and your representative and a management fee paid indirectly to the managers of the mutual funds or exchange-traded funds held in your portfolios. Representatives using third-party money managers for funds held directly with the product sponsor cannot receive an additional solicitor’s fee if they received an upfront commission, ongoing trails or 12b-1 fees (see 12b-1 Fees section below for additional information).

You can choose to buy the underlying assets in your portfolio directly through the mutual fund company or a brokerage account. In this case, you generally avoid the second layer of advisory fees by making your own decisions regarding the mutual fund or exchange-traded fund. However, in that case, you would not receive the investment management services provided by your representative.

Share Classes

Mutual funds typically offer multiple share classes based upon certain eligibility and/or purchase requirements. The more commonly offered retail mutual funds share classes (e.g., Class A, B and C) have varying initial investment amounts, sales loads, 12b-1 fees and breakpoints to consider and can have a high expense ratio. However, mutual funds can also offer institutional or advisor share classes (“lower cost share classes”) or other share classes that are designed for purchase in an investment advisory program account (e.g., Class I, “institutional,” “investor,” etc.). These lower cost share classes usually have a lower expense ratio than other share classes.

The decision whether to use higher or lower cost share classes is typically based on the anticipated level of trading activity in the selected mutual funds. Generally, holding higher cost classes for longer periods results in higher underlying expenses to the client than if a lower cost share class with a transaction fee were chosen. When determining appropriate share classes for a client, our representatives typically discuss the investment amount in the particular fund, the number of transactions anticipated in the fund, the client’s preference for paying a transaction fee and the likely turnover of account assets based on the client’s strategy. Please contact your representative for more information about share class eligibility.

SAA and its investment advisor representatives have a financial incentive to recommend or select share classes that have higher expense ratios because such classes generally result in higher compensation. This creates a conflict of interest. SAA has implemented policies and procedures to manage this conflict of interest, including those described in more detail below.

Conversion from Commission to Fee-Based Advisory Account

Representatives can recommend that products on which they previously received a commission be converted to a fee-based advisory account. Any such recommendation is a conflict of interest, which we manage through written disclosure to you and by imposing reasonable controls designed to monitor for this activity. Mutual funds moved from a commission account to a fee-based advisory account will be converted to an available lower-cost share class included on the Approved Product List or maintained in the current share class, but additional purchases will be prohibited (see discussion below). Recently purchased A share mutual funds, however, cannot be transferred to fee-based accounts. Other commissionable products can be transferred in-kind to an advisory account (i.e., equities and exchange-traded-funds) but will have a look-back period, and recently received commissions will be reimbursed to the client. We do not allow the systematic conversion of recently purchased commission-based products to fee-based advisory accounts. "Recently purchased" is defined as a minimum of 90 days.

Mutual Fund Approved Product List

To help mitigate conflicts of interest and meet current regulatory expectations, SAA has created an Approved Products List which it keeps updated on a regular basis. Mutual funds placed on the Approved Products List are chosen based on several factors, including expense ratio, availability and supervision practicality. SAA requires that all mutual fund purchases in advisory accounts be made in the share class specified for each fund on the Approved Products List. However, to the extent an advisory account includes mutual fund holdings not approved as to both fund and share class, those funds can continue to be held in that account but no new purchases are permitted. If any funds currently held in advisory accounts are on the Approved Products List but not held in an approved class, SAA will convert those holdings to an approved share class at no cost and without tax consequence (in most cases).

SAA uses its best efforts to include only the lowest-cost share class available to SAA's investors for each mutual fund on the Approved Products List. In some instances, a fund share class will not be included on the Approved Products List because it has a high or prohibitive minimum purchase requirement. In that case, a lower-cost fund share class can be offered by a fund family but is not included on the Approved Product List. Clients seeking to make such an investment should speak to their representative about the ability to purchase funds in share classes not on the Approved Products List through SAA granting an exception to its policy.

Even if a share class is included on the Approved Products List, clients should understand that, in many cases, the share class offered for a particular fund will not be the least expensive share class available from that fund. Also, other financial services firms can potentially offer the same mutual fund at a lower overall cost to the investor than is available through SAA.

12b-1 Fees

A 12b-1 fee is an annual marketing, distribution and servicing fee charged by a mutual fund and paid to a representative selling the fund's shares. If a representative received an upfront commission or is receiving ongoing trail commissions or 12b-1 fees, the representative cannot charge an additional advisory fee except as described above for variable annuities. SAA and your representative do not retain 12b-1 fees paid by funds for either qualified or non-qualified accounts.

As discussed above, SAA has implemented a policy that IARs complete new purchases of mutual funds in advisor directed accounts at the lowest cost share class available to SAA's investors for each mutual fund on the Approved Products List. Further, SAA has implemented a policy that 12b-1 trails be credited back to all existing advisory accounts (qualified and non-qualified) that hold positions in higher-fee share classes.

Fees in the Participant Retirement Program

You pay management fees to SAA and your representative pursuant to the provisions of a client fee schedule, with a maximum 3% annual fee charged. Fees are paid as either a fixed percentage fee on the total assets in your account or a tiered fee schedule where the percentage-based fee is lowered as assets in your accounts increase. The exact fee charged or fee schedule used is disclosed to you prior to services being provided.

Fees are negotiated based on the complexity of your financial situation, the investment services to be provided, the experience and standard fees charged by your representative and the nature and total dollar value of the Plan Assets maintained in your account. The management fee covers only the investment management services provided by us and does not include brokerage commissions or other costs associated with the purchase and sale of securities, custodial fees, interest, taxes or other account expenses.

SAA retains up to 25 basis points (.25%) of the annual fee charged to your account for the administrative and support services we provide. At our discretion, we bundle your related accounts to achieve a break on management fees. Account bundling does not reduce our administrative fee; each account is priced separately for purposes of the administrative fee. Account bundling is only available for accounts with the same fee schedule and with clients in the same immediate family or under the same qualified plan. When accounts are bundled, the total average daily balance or total period ending balance for all of the bundled accounts is used to determine the applicable fee percentage from the client fee schedule. This percentage is then applied to each account and a fee charged to each respectively.

Fees are calculated at the beginning of each period (monthly or quarterly) based on either the average daily balance (ADB) or the period ending balance (PEB) of the account assets under management for the previous period. Frequency (monthly or quarterly) and basis (ADB or PEB) will be disclosed in the fee schedule. Management fees will be billed either in advance or arrears, as disclosed in the fee schedule, except for the initial fee. The initial fee is billed in arrears based on the number of days that services are provided during the first billing period. SAA retains the right to change the basis (ADB or PEB) upon which the management fee is calculated and/or the timing of billing (advance or arrears). At our discretion, SAA and/or our representative can exclude certain assets from the calculation of management fees.

If your account has not maintained adequate cash in the account to pay management or other fees, SAA reserves the right to direct Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services to liquidate, at any time, a portion of the other Plan Assets to cover the charges. You should review the documents establishing the Fidelity account for details on the tax reporting treatment of deducting management fees.

Depending upon the investment services provided, assets in excess of a threshold amount (as such amount is determined from time to time by SAA), deposited into or withdrawn from the account by you will be charged or refunded a pro-rated portion of the management fee based on the number of days during the billing period the assets were held in the account.

Compensation for the Sale of Securities or Other Investment Products

Your representative receives compensation as a result of your participation in our programs or for providing advisory services to you. Fees for investment supervisory services vary and can be more than the cost of purchasing the same services separately. You may be able to obtain similar services for a lesser fee from other advisors not affiliated with our firm or SAI. The amount of compensation received by SAA or your representative in a particular program can be more than would be received if you participated in other SAA programs or paid separately for investment advice, brokerage and other services. For example, recommending one Participant Retirement Program portfolio over another Participant Retirement Program portfolio creates a financial incentive for your representative. Your representative is not under any obligation to promote or use one money manager over another. We suggest you consider the following factors when determining the reasonableness of the fees charged:

1. The cost of developing investment strategies and managing the assets.

2. The cost of producing performance reports covering the managed assets.
3. The cost of administrative, marketing and website services.
4. Transaction and custody costs or other miscellaneous fees, taxes or charges, as well as commissions or mark-ups and mark-downs on the purchase and sale of securities. Neither SAA nor SAI receive any portion of mark-ups or mark-downs but market makers can receive this type of compensation.
5. The value of the services provided in assisting you in designing, establishing and monitoring the managed assets.
6. The cost of any additional administrative, marketing, asset management and other support services provided in managing a program account.

Your representative may also be a registered representative of SAI and able to effect securities transactions and receive commissions in that separate capacity. Your representative may be licensed as an insurance agent and sell insurance products for commissions in that separate capacity. Clients are not obligated to engage SAA representatives to implement advisory recommendations. If clients elect to implement recommendations, they are not obligated to engage SAA representatives who may be separately licensed as SAI registered representatives and/or insurance agents. Implementing any or all recommendations is solely at clients' discretion.

SAI registered representatives have the discretion to determine the amount of commission charged to clients on products other than mutual funds or insurance products. Representatives generally waive any securities commissions from recommended securities transactions effected in the Participant Retirement Program. In addition, your representative can reduce advisory fees charged as an advisor representative to offset commissions received when transactions are effected as a registered representative or insurance agent. Load mutual funds and bonds may be bought in some managed accounts on an exception basis at your direction.

In determining the amount of any commissions charged, SAI registered representatives will consider the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority's (FINRA's) 5% guideline policy, the type of security involved, the availability of the security in the market, the price of the security and the amount of money involved in the transaction.

Commissions charged for securities and/or insurance products can be higher or lower than commissions you might obtain if transactions were implemented through another broker/dealer or insurance broker. You can buy the same investment product from a non-affiliated broker or implement transactions without the services offered by the representative. In that case, you would not receive the services provided by your representative.

Receiving compensation from a variety of sources is a conflict of interest. In addition to the fees disclosed in your advisory agreement or commissions you pay for the purchase of securities and insurance products, your representative can receive additional compensation (including bonuses and non-cash compensation) for selling certain securities or other investment products. Examples of non-cash compensation include receiving due diligence and/or marketing allowance payments from certain sponsors. While the arrangements with each sponsor varies, each product sponsor can pay a due diligence or marketing allowance fee based upon the amount of assets held at the sponsor or on the gross amount of each sale, depending upon the product. In certain cases, additional payments are paid or directed to SAA/SAI for selling these products. This creates a conflict of interest based on the amount of compensation SAA/SAI receives when recommending one investment product over another. As a result, certain incentives and conflicts of interest exist for your representative if you buy certain products or services recommended by him or her. We encourage you to review this ADV closely and discuss any conflicts of interest with your representative.

With respect to advisory services provided under the Participant Retirement Program Agreement, affiliates of SAA can provide securities brokerage, recordkeeping or other retirement services to plans and receive variable compensation for these services. A conflict of interest arises where SAA recommends the retirement services of those affiliates.

SAI, our employees and your representative benefit from the compensation paid to us and can directly or indirectly receive a portion of those fees, commissions or other compensation paid by retirement services clients. Those clients can also use other products or retirement services available from or through us and in such case pay additional compensation. This practice creates a conflict of interest that gives us and your representative an incentive to recommend advisory retirement services based on the compensation received. Additionally, fees and commissions can also be higher for some brokerage products, services or retirement services. The remuneration and profitability to us, our representatives and affiliates resulting from transactions involving some accounts can be greater than the remuneration and profitability resulting from other advisory accounts, products or retirement services. We manage this conflict through written disclosure to you and by imposing reasonable controls designed to address the suitability of advisor products offered to you. We can also offset or refund additional compensation when required by law.

Other Fees

Securities America Financial Corporation is the parent of SAI and SAA. When our representatives act in their separate capacities (i.e., investment advisor representatives, registered representatives, insurance agents), they sell various investment and insurance products to clients including products offered by our affiliates. In addition, when appropriate, representatives make referrals for investment banking services and trust services through our affiliates. Therefore, due to the interrelationship of SAFC, SAA, SAI and its affiliates a conflict of interest exists when representatives recommend these products or services even though that conflict is not readily apparent to you.

Securities Transactions

SAI, our broker/dealer affiliate, executes securities transactions for you on our behalf or on behalf of your representative if he or she is licensed as a SAI registered representative. SAI receives various forms of revenue from our clearing firms, National Financial Services, LLC (NFS) and Pershing, LLC (Pershing), based upon your activity as well as the amount of assets we have with these firms. In general, these revenue sources include a percentage or portion of fees and transaction charges collected by the clearing firms and shared with our firm or SAI, such as: (1) margin interest charges, (2) IRA fees, (3) inactivity fees, (4) mutual fund 12b-1 trails and/or other fees. Additional details are provided below:

1. Transfer Charges: You can be assessed transfer charges on account transactions and other miscellaneous charges by NFS or Pershing on account transactions.
2. Margin Interest Charges: To the extent margin is available in a retirement plan advisory program, such accounts must meet certain risk tolerance requirements. When margin is used to buy additional securities, the total value of eligible program assets increases as your asset-based fees increase. In addition, you can be charged margin interest on debit balances in your account. An increase in the asset-based fee you pay provides an incentive for your representative to recommend the use of margin.
3. Mutual Fund 12b-1 Trails: SAA and your representative do not retain 12b-1 fees paid by funds for either qualified or non-qualified accounts.
4. Principal Transaction Fees: "Mark-up" and "mark-downs" or "dealer spreads" that broker/dealers, including affiliates of SAA, receive when acting as principal in certain transactions. Neither SAA nor SAI receive any portion of mark-ups or mark-downs, but market makers can receive this type of compensation.
5. Other Fees: Fees charged in our programs are separate and distinct from fees and expenses charged by mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, variable annuities and other investments recommended to you. A description of these fees and expenses are available in each investment prospectus.
6. Miscellaneous Fees: We also reserve the right to charge additional fees to close an account except when your state of residence prohibits an account closing fee. Refer to your agreement for specific fees and additional information.

Your representative can also be charged additional fees for executing certain transactions (e.g., transaction charges, ticket charges or service fee/charges, etc.). When allowed by our firm or by SAI, your representative can pass these charges on to you at his or her discretion. All fees and charges are noted on your statements and/or confirmations. Stocks, bonds and other securities are traded in managed accounts and subject to normal spreads, mark-ups and mark-downs paid to market makers of those securities. These charges will be considered by your representative when determining the amount of fees to be charged to you. For additional information about brokerage practices, please refer to the section titled "Brokerage Practices".

Fixed Income Securities

Certain securities, such as over-the-counter stocks and fixed income securities are traded primarily in "dealer" markets. In such markets, securities are directly purchased from, or sold to, a financial institution acting as a dealer, or "principal." Dealers executing principal trades typically include a mark-up, mark-down and/or spread in the net price at which transactions are executed. When appropriate, your representative recommends certain bond trade transactions on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis using the Ladenburg Thalmann Fixed Income desk. See Item 9 Other Financial Industry Affiliations and Activities, for additional information on the use of the Ladenburg Thalmann & Co.'s Fixed Income Desk.

Offerings and Special Transactions

Clients purchase initial public offerings, secondary offerings and special purpose acquisition company transactions through broker/dealers. An affiliate of our firm sometimes acts as an underwriter or manager for such offerings. SAA and/or our affiliate broker/dealer, SAI, can also act as a member of the selling syndicate. See the discussion on Ladenburg Thalmann & Co., Inc. acting as a manager or underwriter for initial public offerings and also SAA/SAI's possible participation in Item 9 Other Financial Industry Affiliations and Activities.

Retirement Services

As previously described, our representatives also provide services to clients' retirement accounts, such as individual retirement accounts (IRAs) and retirement plans. A client leaving an employer typically has four options (and can engage in a combination of these options):

- (i) Leave the money in the former employer's plan, if permitted
- (ii) Roll over the assets to the new employer's plan, if one is available and rollovers are permitted
- (iii) Rollover to an IRA or
- (iv) Cash out the account value (which could, depending upon the client's age, result in adverse tax consequences)

When appropriate, our representatives recommend an investor roll over plan assets to an IRA which they manage, and, as a result, earn an asset-based fee. In contrast, a recommendation that a client or prospective client leave his or her plan assets with his or her old employer, or roll the assets to a plan sponsored by a new employer, generally results in no compensation to us (unless we are engaged to monitor and/or consult on the account while maintained at the existing plan). Therefore, our representatives can have an economic incentive to encourage an investor to roll plan assets into an IRA that we manage or encourage an investor to engage us to monitor and/or consult on the account maintained at the existing plan.

There are various factors that we can consider before recommending a rollover, including but not limited to:

- (i) The investment options available in the plan versus the investment options available in an IRA
- (ii) Fees and expenses in the plan versus the fees and expenses in an IRA
- (iii) The services and responsiveness of the plan's investment professionals versus ours
- (iv) Strategies for the protection of assets from creditors and legal judgments
- (v) Required minimum distributions and age considerations and
- (vi) Employer stock tax consequences, if any

The following exception to the early withdrawal penalty applies only to distributions from a qualified retirement plan other than an IRA: distributions made to you after you separated from service with your employer if the separation occurred in or after the year you reached age 55.

No client is under any obligation to rollover plan assets to an IRA managed by us or to engage our representative to monitor and/or consult on an account maintained at an existing plan. Please note that a recommendation to roll assets out of an employer-sponsored plan into an IRA typically results in more expenses and charges than if the assets were to remain in the plan.

Clients or prospective clients should speak to their representative about any questions they have regarding a possible engagement and the corresponding conflict of interest presented by such engagement.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

Neither the Firm nor our Advisory Representatives accept performance-based fees (i.e., fees based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the assets of a client). Nor do we engage in side-by-side management (i.e., managing accounts that are charged performance-based fees while at the same time managing accounts that are not charged performance-based fees).

ITEM 5. ACCOUNT REQUIREMENTS AND TYPES OF CLIENTS

Our Advisory Representatives provide investment advisory services to:

- Individuals (including high net worth individuals)
- Banking or thrift institutions
- Pension and profit-sharing plans
- Trusts
- Estates or charitable organizations
- Corporations
- State and municipal governmental entities
- Other business entities

There is no minimum account requirement for the Participant Retirement Program.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Our investment advisor representatives use various methods of analysis and investment strategies. Some investment advisor representatives use just one method or strategy while others rely on multiple strategies. SAA does not require or mandate its representatives implement a particular investment strategy or use a particular analysis method. Investment advisor representatives have flexibility (subject to SAA supervision and compliance requirements) when developing their investment strategies.

The following sections provide brief descriptions of some of the more common methods of analysis and investment strategies that are used by SAA investment advisor representatives.

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods can include (1) fundamental analysis, (2) technical analysis and (3) cyclical analysis.

- Fundamental – This is a method of evaluating a security by attempting to measure its intrinsic value by examining related economic, financial and other qualitative and quantitative factors. Fundamental analysts attempt to study everything that can affect the security's value, including macroeconomic factors (like the overall economy and industry conditions) and individually specific factors (like the financial condition and management of a company). The end goal of performing fundamental analysis is to produce a value that an investor can compare with the security's current price in hopes of figuring out what sort of position to take with that security (underpriced = buy, overpriced = sell or short). Fundamental analysis is considered to be the opposite of technical analysis. Fundamental analysis is about using real data to evaluate a security's value. Although most analysts use fundamental analysis to value stocks, this method of valuation can be used for just about any type of security.

The risk associated with fundamental analysis is that it is somewhat subjective. While a quantitative approach is possible, fundamental analysis usually entails a qualitative assessment of how market forces interact with one another in their impact on the investment in question. It is possible for those market forces to point in different directions, thus necessitating an interpretation of which forces will be dominant. This interpretation can be wrong and therefore lead to an unfavorable investment decision.

- Technical – This is a method of evaluating securities by analyzing statistics generated by market activity, such as past prices and volume. Technical analysts do not attempt to measure a security's intrinsic value but instead use charts and other tools to identify patterns that can suggest future activity. Technical analysts believe that the historical performance of stocks and markets are indications of future performance.

Technical analysis is even more subjective than fundamental analysis because it relies on proper interpretation of a given security's price and trading volume data. A decision might be made based on a historical move in a certain direction that was accompanied by heavy volume; however, that heavy volume may only be heavy relative to past volume for the security in question, but not compared to the future trading volume. Therefore, there is the risk of a trading decision being made incorrectly, since future trading volume is an unknown. Technical analysis is also done through observation of various market sentiment readings, many of which are quantitative. Market sentiment gauges the relative degree of bullishness and bearishness in a given security, and a contrarian investor utilizes such sentiment advantageously. When most traders are bullish, then there are very few traders left in a position to buy the security in question, so it becomes advantageous to sell it ahead of the crowd. When most traders are bearish, then there are very few traders left in a position to sell the security in question, so it becomes advantageous to buy it ahead of the crowd. The risk in utilizing such sentiment technical measures is that a very bullish reading can always become more bullish, resulting in lost opportunity if the money manager chooses to act upon the bullish signal by selling out of a position. The reverse is also true in that a bearish reading of sentiment can always become more bearish, resulting in a premature purchase of a security.

- Cyclical – This method analyzes the investments sensitive to business cycles and whose performance is strongly tied to the overall economy. For example, cyclical companies tend to make products or provide services that are in lower demand during downturns in the economy and in higher demand during upswings. Examples include the automobile, steel, and housing industries. The stock price of a cyclical company rises just before an economic upturn begins and fall just before a downturn begins. Investors in cyclical stocks try to make the largest gains by buying the stock at the bottom of a business cycle, just before a turnaround begins.

While most economists and investors agree that there are cycles in the economy that need to be respected, the duration of such cycles is generally unknown. An investment decision to buy at the bottom of a business cycle can actually turn out to be a trade that occurs before or after the bottom of the cycle. If done before the bottom, then downside price action can result prior to any gains. If done after the bottom, then some upside price action can be missed. Similarly, a sell decision meant to occur at the top of a cycle can result in missed opportunity or unrealized losses.

Main sources of information include (1) financial newspapers and magazines, (2) inspections of corporate activities, (3) research materials prepared by others, (4) timing services, (5) annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the SEC and (6) company press releases.

Your representative has access to third party vendors that provide programs or software to analyze individual securities. We also offer your advisor access to third party vendors that provide support services in portfolio design and strategy implementation. One of our affiliates, LTCO, provides research designed to help clients capitalize on inefficiencies in the market. Their institutional quality research provides their partners with value-added insights that enables their decision-making processes, informs their strategies and allows them to address critical market issues. Your representative can use the services of LTCO in addition to other third-party services made available. Refer to Item 9 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations for more information about our affiliates.

Investment Strategies

Various investment strategies can be employed in our programs and when providing advisory services, including (1) long-term purchases (securities held at least one year), (2) short-term purchases (securities sold within a year), (3) trading (securities sold within 30 days), (4) short sales, (5) margin transactions and (6) option writing (including covered options, uncovered options or spreading strategies).

Strategic and tactical asset allocation model portfolios are also employed in SAA programs. In addition, model mutual fund and variable annuity asset allocation portfolio programs, provided by a number of institutional investment managers and strategists, may be used when managing client assets. Investment strategies and philosophies used within our managed programs or when providing advisory services vary based on the advice provided by your representative. Models and strategies used by one representative vary from models and strategies used by other representatives. Some representatives limit their advice to mutual funds and others will provide advice on a full range of securities that include equities, mutual funds, options, fixed income and other types of investments. Some representatives will develop models or strategies that are generally applied to their clients while other representatives develop individualized portfolios for each client.

In the Participant Retirement Program and other SAA investment advisory programs, a specific investment strategy or investment policy is determined for you focusing on your specific financial situation, goals and stated investment objectives. Your representative is responsible for developing and determining the investment strategies used with your accounts. He or she is also responsible for monitoring your accounts and re-allocating them as appropriate based on changing market conditions, changes in your individual circumstances or other factors. If your accounts are managed on a discretionary basis, re-allocations are implemented without prior notice to you. If your accounts are managed on a non-discretionary basis, you will be consulted prior to any securities being reallocated.

In order to help identify the investment strategies to be used, your representative typically:

- Gathers information from you about your financial situation, investment objectives, risk tolerance and investment time horizon and any reasonable restrictions you wish to impose on managing the account;
- Periodically reviews reports provided to you and consults with you;
- Contacts you at least annually to review your financial situation and objectives;
- Communicates information to the third-party investment advisor as warranted; and
- Assists you in understanding and evaluating the services provided by the third-party investment advisor.

If your individual situation changes, you should notify your representative, who will assist you in revising the current portfolio and/or prepare an updated client profile so that he/she can determine if a different model portfolio is appropriate to your new situation. You can also directly contact a third-party advisor managing the account at the same time you notify your representative and/or SAA. Any subsequent changes directed by you to the initial portfolio(s) will be reflected in a verification update letter provided to you, and the changes will also appear on your statement.

It is important that you understand the concept and risks inherent in exchanging an investment from one position to another. Some investment decisions result in profit and others in losses. SAA and your representative cannot guarantee that the objectives of any investment program will be achieved. Furthermore, it is important that you understand that exchanging one mutual fund for shares of another mutual fund is treated as a sale for federal income tax purposes and you could occur capital gains or losses unless you are eligible for tax deferral under a qualified retirement plan.

In limited circumstances, your representative or a third-party money manager can engage in a strategy involving frequent trading. We suggest you consider the following points before entering into an advisory relationship where such trading occurs:

- Active trading can be extremely risky and is not appropriate for someone of limited resources and limited investment trading or trading experience and low risk tolerance. You should be prepared to lose all of the funds you invest in securities. You should not invest funds necessary to meet your regular, on-going personal needs. In particular, you should not fund this type of trading with retirement savings, student loans, second mortgages, emergency funds, funds set aside for purposes such as education or home ownership, or funds required to meet your living expenses.
- Active trading can result in few or no profits and, worse, can lead to large financial losses very quickly. Active trading requires in-depth active knowledge of the securities market and of sophisticated and disciplined trading techniques and strategies. Also, you must compete with professional, licensed traders employed by securities firms and other knowledgeable, experienced and well-trained traders. You should have appropriate knowledge and experience before engaging in active trading. You should be familiar with a securities firm's business practices, including operation of the firm's order execution systems and procedures. Under certain conditions, you could find it difficult or impossible to liquidate a position quickly at a reasonable price. Your success will be affected by strengths and weaknesses and the methods and practices of the brokerage firm in executing trades. You should develop an intimate knowledge of these matters before you engage in an active trading strategy.
- Active trading can involve aggressive trading, and you should generally expect to pay commissions, ticket and transaction charges on each trade. The total daily commissions you pay on your trades will add to your losses or significantly reduce your earnings. For instance, assuming each trade costs $16 and an average of 29 transactions are conducted per day, you would need to generate an annual profit of $111,360 just to cover trading costs.
- Active trading can result in tax consequences can be affected due to shorter-term purchases and sells. We suggest you consult your tax professional for advice. Your portfolio can be more volatile with shorter term or more active trading.

Risk of Loss

Investment portfolios, programs, models, asset allocations or strategies entail the risk of loss; and values and returns fluctuate over time. While we seek to limit any losses, there have been periods of loss in the past, and there will likely be others in the future. SAA and the representatives emphasize investment returns that depend highly on trends in the various investment markets. Thus, our investment management services are generally suitable only for long-term investment objectives or strategies, rather than for short-term trading purposes. Diversification does not guarantee a profit or to protect you against loss, and there is no guarantee that your investment objectives will be achieved. These programs, portfolios, models, asset allocations and strategies are not FDIC insured and the investments in them can lose value. All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by you. While our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind, you still face the following investment risks:

- Market Risk: This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. Markets can, as a whole, go up or down on various news releases for no understandable reason at all. This sometimes means that the price of specific securities go up or down without any real reason and take some time to recover any lost value. Adding securities does not help to minimize this risk since all securities can be impacted by market fluctuations.
- Short-Term Trading Risk: These types of transactions can result in short-term gains or losses for federal and state tax purposes, which can be taxed at a higher rate than long-term strategies. SAA and your representative attempt to invest your assets in a tax efficient manner, but you should consult with your tax professional regarding transactions in your account.
- Investment Term Risk: If you require us to liquidate your portfolio during a period in which the price of the security is low, you will not realize as much value as you would had the investment had the opportunity to increase or regain its value (as investments frequently do) or had we been able to reinvest in another security.
- Short Sales Risk: Short sales are motivated by the belief that a security's price will decline, enabling it to be bought back at a lower price to make a profit. The maximum gain on a short sale is limited but the maximum loss is theoretically infinite. Short sales also involve significant expenses, dividend responsibilities, possible regulatory prohibitions and critical timing considerations that impact potential profitability.
- Margin Risk: If you engage in margin transactions then you are borrowing funds to purchase securities using loans for which your portfolio serves as collateral for repayment. Use of margin increases a portfolio's risk as price swings are amplified and, if the value of your securities declines, you can lose more funds than you originally deposited. The lender or custodian may be required to cease trading or liquidate securities to meet a margin call or credit line demand. When using margin as a strategy, you can lose more than your original investment.
- Option Risk: An option holder runs the risk of losing the entire amount paid for the option in a relatively short period of time, reflecting the nature of the option as a wasting asset becoming worthless when it expires. If you don't sell an option in the secondary market or exercise it prior to expiration, you will lose your entire investment in the option.
- Interest-Rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates can cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments are reinvested at a lower rate of return (i.e., interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Inflation Risk: The risk is that the rate of inflation will exceed the rate of return on an investment. The investment value itself does not decline but its relative value does.

- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Political Risk: Most investments have a global component, even domestic stocks. Political events anywhere in the world can have unforeseen consequences to markets around the world.
- Regulatory Risk: Changes in law and regulations from any government can change the value of a given company and its accompanying securities. Certain industries are susceptible to government regulation. Changes in zoning, tax structure or laws impact the return on these investments.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it--a lengthy process--before they generate a profit. They generally carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates much of its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Concentrated Investment Risk: Certain investment strategies can be concentrated in a specific sector, industry or individual security. In this case, your portfolio is more likely to sharply increase or decrease in value with changes in the market. This strategy is more volatile because the risk associated with each security represents a large percentage of your overall portfolio.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid while real estate properties are not.
- Financial or Default Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability because the company must meet the terms of its obligations and service its debts in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations can result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value. Ratings provided by several rating services help to identify those companies with more risk.
- Risks Specific to Sub-Advisors and Other Managers: If we invest some of your assets with another advisor (including private placement), there are additional risks. For example, the other manager might not be as qualified as we believe them to be, the investments those managers use might not be as liquid as we would normally use, or the managers' risk guidelines might be more liberal than we normally employ.

There are risks inherent in all financial decisions and transactions, and there is no guarantee your investment objectives will be achieved. Our firm and our affiliated entities make no promises, representations, warranties or guarantees that any services rendered will result in a profit to you. Our firm and our affiliated entities do not guarantee the future performance or any specific level of performance, the success of any investment decision or strategy our firm and any of our affiliated entities may use or the success of our overall management. SAA, its representatives and our affiliated entities will not be liable for any loss incurred with respect to your account, except where such loss directly results from such party's negligence or malfeasance. Nothing in this section is intended to be a waiver of any right of action you have under applicable securities laws or your rights in the event SAA, the representative or SAA's affiliated subsidiaries breach any fiduciary duty owed to you.

SAA monitors accounts based on standard deviation thresholds. For information about these thresholds, please visit www.securitiesamerica.com under Investors/Investor Information.

ITEM 6. PORTFOLIO MANAGER SELECTION AND EVALUATION

In the Participant Retirement Program, your representative can serve as the portfolio manager and is selected by you at the time you enter into an agreement with our firm to manage your account. In this case, your representative manages your portfolio and determines which investments are bought, sold, reallocated or redeemed. Please refer to the section titled "Investment Analysis" for more information. In other cases, your portfolio manager can be another individual or entity unaffiliated with our firm. In that case, another party you select manages your portfolio and determines which investments are bought, sold, reallocated or redeemed.

ITEM 7. CLIENT INFORMATION PROVIDED TO PORTFOLIO MANAGERS

The principal source of information used by your representative is the data provided by you, such as your personal data, assets and liabilities, income expectations, short-term and long-term financial goals, risk tolerance associated with goals and other relevant information. This information is collected as part of the new account form, subsequent account updates or a financial planning agreement. If you select your representative to manage your portfolio, he or she uses this information to make decisions to buy, sell, redeem, or reallocate the portfolios based on changing market conditions, client specific changes to their suitability and financial information. Should you wish to update your suitability and financial information, please contact your representative. Based on your response, your representative then evaluates whether or not to change your investment portfolio based on your responses to the questionnaire. If you select another party to manage your portfolio, your information will be collected by the other party for purposes of managing your account.

ITEM 8. CLIENT CONTACT WITH PORTFOLIO MANAGERS

There are no restrictions on your ability to consult with your representative.

ITEM 9. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisors are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's evaluation of the advisor or the integrity of their management.

Disclosure of Disciplinary Action Related to the Sales of Complex Exchange-Traded Products:

On November 13, 2020, Securities America Advisors, Inc. ("SAA") entered into a settlement agreement with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") and an administrative order has been issued by the SEC. The SEC found the Firm violated Section 206 and Rule 206(4)-7 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. More specifically, during the period from January 2016 through February 2018, SAA did not adopt and implement policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent unsuitable investments by its investment advisor representatives in volatility-linked exchange traded products ("ETPs").

Without admitting or denying the SEC's findings, the Firm agreed to cease and desist from committing or causing any violations and any future violations of Section 206(4) of the Advisers Act and Advisers Act Rule 206(4)-7. The Firm also agreed to pay disgorgement, prejudgment interest, and a civil monetary penalty totaling $603,776.82 to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The SEC noted that SAA cooperated with the SEC and promptly took remedial steps to adopt policies and procedures that, with a few narrow exceptions, prohibited trading in volatility-linked ETPs.

Disclosure of Disciplinary Action Related to Mutual Fund Share Classes:

While SAA neither admitted nor denied the SEC's findings, the SEC found that SAA breached its fiduciary duty, had inadequate disclosures and was deficient in its compliance policies and procedures in connection with SAA's mutual fund share selection practices.

During February 1, 2012 to December 31, 2016 (the relevant period), the SEC found that SAA's IARs invested advisory clients in mutual fund share classes charging 12b-1 fees and that SAI, SAA's affiliated broker/dealer, received 12b-1 fees based on those investments. SAI then paid a portion of the 12b-1 fees to its registered representatives who also acted as SAA IARs. The SEC found that SAA's disclosure documents failed to adequately inform clients that this was a conflict of interest because less expensive share classes were available for the same fund and that this made SAA's practice inconsistent with its duty to seek best execution for its clients' transactions.

Also, during the relevant period, the SEC found that SAA failed to adopt and implement written policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent violations of the Advisers Act and its Rules. The SEC found SAA's conduct violated Sections 206(2), 206(4) and 207 of the Advisers Act and Rule 206(4)-7.

On December 14, 2017, without admitting or denying the SEC's findings, SAA submitted an Offer of Settlement. On April 6, 2018, the SEC entered an order against SAA (File Number 3-18424) in which SAA was instructed to cease and desist from committing or causing violations of Sections 206(2), 206(4) and 207 the Advisers Act and Rule 206(4)-7 thereunder. SAA was also censured and ordered to pay disgorgement of $4,473,025.50, prejudgment interest of $580,423.14 and a civil penalty of $775,000.00. Clients can also refer to Investment Adviser Public Disclosure at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov for additional information.

Prior to the entry of the SEC's order, SAA implemented several policies to address the mutual fund share class selection practices described in the SEC's order. SAA now requires that its IARs complete all new purchases of mutual funds in advisory accounts at the lowest cost share class available to SAA, and SAA has worked with its clearing platforms to ensure compliance with this policy. Additionally, SAA has taken steps to convert mutual fund investments in all Class A shares (or comparable classes) to the lowest cost share classes available for the same funds at no costs or tax consequences to its existing advisory clients. For those shares that cannot be or have not yet been converted, SAA has implemented a policy to credit back any newly incurred 12b-1 fees to existing advisory clients.

Business Operations with Affiliates

When conducting business operations, SAA engages in marketing re-allowance or sponsorship arrangements with third parties, sub-advisors and brokerage firms to promote the distribution of investment products. These investment products can include variable annuity and insurance products, mutual funds, managed accounts and customized portfolios. There is a conflict of interest since some of our business operations involve directing clients to products or services of our affiliated companies; SAA or the broker/dealer can receive compensation when doing so. We discuss these conflicts further below.

Premier Trust. Your representative can recommend Premier Trust, a Nevada chartered trust company, to provide trust, estate planning and administrative services. When making any recommendation, representatives first consider whether Premier Trust can adequately service client needs and whether any other efficiencies or benefits will result to the client. Clients are not obligated to follow our recommendations or use Premier Trust's services. When used, Premier Trust provides full disclosure with respect to its trust and administrative services and related costs.

Highland Capital Brokerage (Highland). Highland is an independent insurance brokerage firm that delivers life insurance, fixed and equity indexed annuities, long-term care solutions and variable insurance wholesaling support to investment and insurance providers. Some employees of Highland may also be registered with us and/or our broker/dealer affiliates.

Ladenburg Thalmann & Co. Inc. (LTCO). LTCO is a registered broker/dealer. As such, it can act as a dealer relative to certain securities and execute transactions in its capacity as a principal for SAA clients. Fixed income securities are traded primarily in "dealer" markets, meaning securities are purchased directly from or sold to a financial institution acting as "dealer" or "principal." Dealers executing principal trades typically include a "mark-up," "mark-down," and/or "spread" in the net price at which transactions are executed. This compensation is in addition to other compensation clients pay to SAA and its affiliates. To address this conflict of interest, clients are given disclosures about principal transactions with LTCO and have the opportunity (to the extent required by applicable law) to reject the transaction before its completion. In addition, clients are generally given transaction specific disclosure prior to their decision to invest in such securities.

If your representative uses LTCO Fixed Income Solutions ("FIS"), your representative has incentives to recommend certain structured products in the initial offering. Structured products are fixed-income investments where you (the investor) purchase a secured debt (or other assets) and become the lender, after which you receive payments (principal and interest) over a specific period (usually a shorter time period than a bond) from the borrower. Clients are given transaction specific disclosure prior to their decision to invest in such securities. Structured products traded through LTCO are only available to clients through representatives who have completed our required education and training.

LTCO FIS may earn compensation on your riskless principal trades. The amount of compensation, in addition to any price mark-up or mark-down, is disclosed on your corporate and municipal securities bond trade confirmations. The relationship between your representative and LTCO FIS will be disclosed prior to the execution of your trade. Your representative is required to disclose this conflict and receive your consent prior to entering your trade.

Your representative can also recommend clients invest in securities issued in an initial public ("new issue") and secondary offering for which LTCO acts as a manager, an underwriter and/or a member of the selling syndicate. SAA and/or our affiliated broker/dealer, SAI, can also act as a member of the selling syndicate. We have a conflict of interest when recommending these securities because:

- LTCO, receives all or a portion of the gross spread (the difference between the price paid by the client for the security and the price for which LTCO purchases the security) in connection with such sales. This gross spread will vary between different offerings. If SAA or SAI also acts as a member of the selling syndicate, they receive a portion of the gross spread. If your representative is also an SAI registered representative, he or she generally receives a portion of this compensation in that separate capacity.
- LTCO has a substantial financial and reputational interest in assuring the offerings are successful by having a large number of the securities purchased. In connection with certain offerings, LTCO has an obligation to purchase and resell a certain number of securities.

Because of our affiliation with LTCO, we have incentives to recommend investments in these initial and secondary offerings for the above reasons rather than based on client needs. To address these conflicts, we have policies and procedures in place to make sure securities in initial public offerings are recommended only to clients for whom they are suitable based on the clients' investment objectives and assets. In addition, clients are generally given transaction specific disclosure prior to the client's decision to invest in such securities. IPO allocations through LTCO are only available to clients through representatives who have completed SAA's required IPO training. Consequently, advisory clients serviced by a representative who has not received the required training will not be allocated any shares in IPO securities. If securities acquired in initial public and secondary offerings become oversubscribed, we have policies and procedures in place addressing the allocation process under these circumstances.

In addition, your representative can refer you to LTCO for investment banking services and receive a finder's fee if he or she is also a registered representative. Clients are not obligated to use any LTCO services recommended.

Ladenburg Thalmann Asset Management, Inc. (LTAM). LTAM is an SEC registered investment advisor specializing in investment management, market analysis, due diligence, fund selection, asset allocation and diversification strategies. LTAM sponsored programs and their characteristics are more fully described in its disclosure brochures, which are available to any client or prospective client upon request.

LTAM offers the Total Portfolio Series funds (Collective Investment Trusts) established for retirement plans as well as the Ladenburg Funds (i.e., Ladenburg Income Fund, Ladenburg Income & Growth Fund, Ladenburg Growth & Income Fund, Ladenburg Growth and Ladenburg Aggressive Growth), each of which is an open-end fund of funds. Our representatives can recommend clients invest in these funds and portfolios as well as other Ladenburg funds. Transactions for these funds and portfolios are generally executed through LTCO, which receives commissions when executing trades on behalf of the Funds. Therefore, there is a conflict of interest if clients elect to invest in these products since LTAM, LTCO and SAA generally receive more compensation than if clients purchase other investments.

- LTAM operates $ymbil®, an online, interactive tool designed to assist clients in selecting among the five Ladenburg Funds by using a questionnaire to gauge a client's time horizon, risk tolerance and investment objectives. A client investment profile is created from the responses to this online questionnaire. LTAM has no discretion over a client's investments. Our representatives can recommend clients use $ymbil®, and if clients implement transactions using $ymbil®, both SAA and our representatives receive solicitor fees. This creates a conflict of interest; however, clients have no obligation to accept any suggestions provided by $ymbil® or to invest in any of the Ladenburg Funds.

We offer clients access to professional third-party money managers that create and implement portfolios with a variety of investment strategies. We participate in revenue sharing arrangements with specific money managers having their own mutual funds and using those funds in their managed programs. LTAM is among the third-party money managers that can be recommended to clients. SAA has a conflict of interest in recommending third-party managers to clients, including LTAM. Representatives receive compensation that varies depending on the third-party managers recommended. SAA earns more total compensation when a client selects an affiliate (i.e., LTAM) as a third-party manager than we would earn if the client selects an unaffiliated third-party manager. Thus, our representatives have a conflict of interest because of an incentive to recommend certain managers over others. We address these conflicts of interest through policies and procedures that, among other things, require representatives to make suitable recommendations, to act as a fiduciary to clients, and to act solely in clients' best interests.

Other Affiliations and Activities

Registered Representative

Our principal executive officers, other employees and representatives can be separately licensed as registered representatives and registered principals of SAI. In this separate capacity, when these individuals effect securities transactions they receive separate compensation for those transactions. Representatives who are also licensed as registered representatives have an interest in earning commissions that may be averse to client interests. This conflict is monitored through our broker/dealer's supervisory and compliance review system. In addition, clients are not obligated to use our representatives to implement any securities transactions.

Consultation and Marketing Affiliation

We have established an agreement with Hanson McClain Retirement Network, LLC (HMRN), a registered broker/dealer and investment advisor in which the associated persons of HMRN provide consultation and marketing support services to representatives to assist them in obtaining more clients. As a result of this relationship, we pay HMRN a portion of the fees from any clients obtained as a result of the services provided by HMRN.

Independent Contractors

Most SAA representatives are independent contractors and not employees of SAA or SAI. However, some representatives are employees of SAA or our affiliated broker/dealer.

Other Business Entities and Marketing Names

SAA conducts its business through a network of independent investment advisor representatives who operate offices located throughout the United States. The representatives can own and operate other legal business entities and offer/provide other services through those businesses. (See your representative's Form ADV Part 2B Supplemental Brochure for specific information about his or her other businesses and services.) These other entities are not owned or affiliated with SAA, SAFC, AGHI or its subsidiaries or with the custodians used. Many of these representatives market their services under a different marketing name and/or as an outside business activity.

When operating these other businesses, the representatives may use their own business name(s), marketing name(s) and/or logos that can appear on their sales and marketing materials and client statements. All sales and marketing materials used by the representatives are reviewed and approved by SAA home office personnel. The business names, marketing names and logos used by the representatives are separate from and are not owned or controlled by SAA. Information about the representatives' other businesses can be found in their respective Form ADV Part 2B Supplemental Brochure, which also contains more detailed information about their educational backgrounds, business experience and disciplinary history (if any).

Independent Advisor Firms

Certain representatives of SAI, our broker/dealer affiliate, have their own registered investment advisory businesses. These independent investment advisor firms are separate business entities and are not under common control or ownership with SAA or any of our affiliated subsidiaries. Advisory services and recommendations provided under agreement with an independent investment advisor is solely the responsibility of the independent investment advisor, not SAA or SAI. The independent investment advisor firms market these services under a different marketing name or/and under an outside business activity. However, independent advisor firms can use some of SAA's programs and services if proper disclosure is included in the independent advisor firm's Form ADV.

Accounting Firm

Representatives can be separately licensed as accountants and may offer accounting services to advisory clients for separate and typical compensation. You are not obligated to use any of these individuals to provide accounting services.

Law Firm

Representatives can be separately licensed as attorneys and, as such, may offer to provide legal advice for separate and typical compensation. You are not obligated to use any of these individuals to provide legal services.

Insurance Company or Agency

Some of our executive officers, investment advisor representatives and other employees of our firm are agents and/or brokers of various insurance companies. If clients elect to have insurance recommendations implemented, these individuals can affect insurance and/or annuity transactions and receive separate compensation when doing so. Even though the compensation is received in their separate capacity as a licensed insurance agent, the transaction is still a conflict of interest. Clients are not obligated to use any of these individuals for insurance product purchases but are free to use any insurance agent or insurance broker they choose.

SAI, our broker/dealer affiliate, also holds a business entity license in all 50 states as well as Puerto Rico. It can receive commissions in connection with the sale of fixed insurance products by registered representatives who are licensed to sell these products. SAI receives payments from certain insurance sponsors for marketing, training and distribution support. None of these additional payments are paid or directed to any registered representative/insurance agent who sells these products. The registered representative/insurance agent does not receive a greater or lesser commission for sales of these insurance products from which our broker/dealer affiliate receives revenue sharing payments. However, the marketing, educational and distribution activities paid with revenue sharing could potentially lead a registered representative/insurance agent to focus more on products offered by insurance sponsors that make revenue sharing payments to SAI than those of sponsors that do not make such payments when recommending insurance products to their clients. Clients are not obligated to implement any insurance recommendations or use SAI if electing to do so.

Banking or Thrift Institution

SAI also markets its services through banks and thrifts. In some circumstances, investment management services are also marketed through these banks and thrifts, provided that such marketing is done in compliance with applicable SEC and state regulations.

Pension Consultant

Representatives can be separately engaged in providing pension-consulting services. If clients need these services, they can engage these individuals for separate and typical compensation; clients are not obligated to use any of these individuals to provide this service. In addition, representatives can establish relationships with outside parties that provide pension-consulting services. In these instances, representatives can refer you to pension consultants and receive a solicitor referral fee. These arrangements are fully disclosed to you at the time of any referral.

Real Estate Broker or Dealer

Representatives can be separately licensed as real estate agents. In this separate capacity, representatives can provide real estate brokerage and/or appraisal services for clients requiring these services and receive a separate commission when doing so. Clients are not obligated to use these individuals for real estate services.

Board of Directors

Members of the Securities America Board of Directors also serve as board members for several of our affiliated companies. There can be a perceived conflict of interest. You should be aware that the Board of Directors does not make decisions for our firm without following the process set forth in our firm's by-laws.

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Our Approach to Conflicts of Interest

Conflicts of interest that arise in the course of providing investment management services are described throughout this Brochure, as are some of our policies and procedures designed to address specific conflicts of interest, such as our Code of Ethics and personal trading practices.

We have a compliance program in place that is intended to identify, mitigate and, in some instances, prevent actual and potential conflicts of interest, ensure compliance with legal and regulatory requirements and ensure compliance with client investment guidelines and restrictions. Our compliance program includes written policies and procedures we believe are reasonably designed to prevent violations of applicable law and regulations.

We maintain various committees, which provide oversight and review of compliance across functional boundaries, including several operating committees, whose membership is comprised of personnel from the impacted business area(s). These committees receive input from compliance and legal personnel as appropriate to help ensure compliance with some of these policies and procedures. Some of the key committees (or subcommittees) supporting our compliance program efforts include those committees (or subcommittees) responsible for proxy voting, trading, best execution and new products.

Code of Ethics

We have established a Code of Ethics to comply with the requirements of Section 204A-1 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 reflecting our fiduciary obligations and those of our supervised persons and requiring compliance with federal securities laws. Our Code of Ethics covers all individuals who are classified as "supervised persons." All Securities America employees (including SAFC, SAA and SAI), SAA officers, SAA directors, SAA representatives and their associated persons are classified as supervised persons. We require our advisory affiliates and their supervised persons to consistently act in their clients' best interests in all advisory activities. We impose certain requirements on our advisory affiliates and supervised persons to ensure they meet the firm's fiduciary responsibilities to their clients. The standard of conduct required is higher than ordinarily required and encountered in commercial business and includes compliance with applicable federal securities laws and regulations and with the Code of Ethics. Under the Code of Ethics, supervised persons who are required to report their personal securities holdings and transactions, may be required to pre-clear certain investments or may be restricted with respect to the timing of certain investments or prohibited from making certain investment. All supervised persons are required to conduct all personal trades through designated broker/dealers unless an exception has been granted.

This response is only intended to provide you with a summary description of our Code of Ethics. If you wish to review our Code of Ethics in its entirety, you can obtain a copy by calling us at (800)747-6111 or writing to the RIA Compliance Department at Securities America, Inc., 12325 Port Grace Blvd., La Vista, NE, 68128.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

SAI, our affiliated broker/dealer, executes securities transactions on our behalf or on behalf of your representative. SAA, SAI and/or your representative receive advisory fees and/or broker/dealer commissions for the sale of securities placed under our management. Receiving compensation from a variety of sources is a conflict of interest. We encourage you to review this ADV closely and discuss any potential conflicts of interest with your representative.

We will process brokerage security transactions through SAI so long as we determine that executing the transactions through our affiliated broker/dealer fulfills our duty of best execution. We consider certain factors when selecting a broker/dealer and determining the reasonableness of commissions. Refer to the section titled "Brokerage Practices" for more information.

Representatives sell mutual fund, unit investment trust, collective investment trust and insurance products offered by subsidiaries of AGHI. Therefore, a potential conflict of interest exists when representatives recommend these products because the broker/dealer stands to receive earnings from the internal fees of the recommended securities as well as earnings from a portion of the investment advisory fee received by our firm. Representatives are not under any obligation to sell these products or to meet any selling quotas related specifically to these products.

Policy Regarding Engaging in Agency Cross Transactions in Advisory Accounts

It is SAA's policy to prohibit agency cross transactions where representatives act as brokers for both buying and selling a single security between two different clients and are compensated through an agency commission or principal mark-up for the trades. If we adopt a different policy in this area, we will observe all rules and regulations in accordance with the disclosure and consent requirements of Section 206(3) of the Advisers Act. Additionally, we are aware that such transactions only occur if we ensure that we meet our duty of best execution for the client.

Policy Regarding Engaging in Principal Trading Involving Advisory Accounts

Ladenburg Thalmann & Co., Inc. (LTCO), one of our affiliates, acts as a dealer with respect to certain securities, and as such, executes transactions for SAA clients as principal unless the account is covered under ERISA. Principle transactions are prohibited in ERISA accounts. As a dealer, LTCO receives a "mark-up," "mark-down," and/or spread in the net price at which principal transactions are executed. This compensation is in addition to other compensation paid to SAA and its affiliates under your advisory program. Thus, SAA has a conflict of interest in deciding to execute trades through LTCO on a principal basis. SAA has policies in place to address this conflict of interest. After receiving disclosures about a specific principal transaction with LTCO clients have the opportunity to reject the transaction before it is completed, to the extent required by applicable law. In addition, SAA has policies and procedures in place to assure clients receive best execution with respect to principal trades, regardless of whether the trade is executed by LTCO or an unaffiliated dealer.

Personal Trading

SAA, representatives and our supervised persons are allowed to buy, sell or hold a position in securities identical to the securities recommended to you, at or about the same time they or a related person buys or sells the same securities for their own or a related person's account. However, it is SAA's policy that no supervised person will put his or her interest before your interests. SAA and our representatives will not trade ahead of any client or trade in a way that causes the supervised person to obtain a better price than the price a client obtains. SAA monitors the personal securities transactions of our representatives for compliance with SAA policy relating to personal transactions and the SAA Code of Ethics.

Pre-Clearance and Restricted Securities Policy

Due to our affiliation with another investment company, investment advisors, and broker dealers, we maintain a Restricted and Pre-Clearance Equity List, which limits our firm and representatives' ability to transact in certain equities on your behalf in a discretionary advisory program. Your representative may not be able to place certain transactions or can experience delays in submitting certain transactions on your behalf based on any pre-clearance or pre-approval requirements implemented by the firm. The purchase or sale price of your security will vary (higher or lower) from the execution price you might receive if you placed the transaction through another investment advisor representative not affiliated with SAI and not subject to any trading restrictions. These trading restrictions are subject to change without notice.

Insider Trading Policy

SAA and our supervised persons can come into possession of material nonpublic information which, if disclosed, might affect an investor's decision to buy, sell or hold a security. Under applicable law, our firm and our supervised persons are prohibited from improperly disclosing or using such information for their personal benefit or for the benefit of any other person, regardless of whether such other person is a client. Accordingly, if SAA or our supervised persons come into possession of material non-public information with respect to any company, we and they are prohibited from communicating such information to, or using such information for the benefit of, our respective clients. In addition, we and they have no obligation or responsibility to disclose such information to, nor responsibility to use such information for the benefit of, our clients when following policies and procedures designed to comply with law.

SAA and our affiliated entities have adopted an "Insider Trading Policy" in accordance with Section 204A of the Advisers Act, which establishes procedures to prevent the misuse of material nonpublic information by our firm and our supervised persons. If your representative maintains a personal investment account with another advisory firm or broker/dealer, your representative must make arrangements with that outside firm or broker/dealer to send at least quarterly statements to SAI. The representative must complete an annual certification concerning his or her personal securities activities and provide such additional information about personal trading activities as required under the Insider Trading Policy and the Code of Ethics. Supervised persons who violate this policy will be subject to sanctions imposed by our firm.

Policy Governing Contributions to Local and State Elected Officials and Candidates

SAA requires that its supervised persons seeking to make a political contribution to or volunteer for a state or local candidate, political action committee or political party to pre-clear their political contributions or activity through the firm. We do not require our supervised persons to pre-clear contributions to federal candidates, unless the candidate is currently a state or local government official running for federal office. However, we do require supervised persons to notify us of any contributions made to or volunteer activity done on behalf of federal candidates, political action committees or political parties. SAA and your representative are also subject to local and state pay-to-play rules in addition to federal securities rules and regulations.

Brokerage Practices

SAA typically places trades through its affiliate, SAI. SAI is an introducing broker/dealer clearing through National Financial Services, Pershing and/or Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services depending on the advisory program utilized for your account. SAA, SAI or another affiliated company has an agreement to introduce customer accounts to these clearing firms on a fully disclosed basis. In exchange, these firms provide clearing and execution services for transactions executed for SAA customers. On SAA's behalf, SAI approves and opens accounts and accepts securities order instructions with respect to the accounts. Brokerage transactions are then processed by SAI and cleared by National Financial Services or Pershing. In the Participant Retirement Program, transactions are cleared by Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services. National Financial Services, Pershing and Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services are not affiliated with SAA or SAI. SAA and SAI do not act as a custodian for any account and generally do not maintain custody of client funds or securities. Outside custodians, including the clearing firms indicated above, maintain custody of all funds and securities.

SAI receives substantial indirect clearing and custodian compensation ("Credits") from Pershing and NFS that are based on the number of accounts and/or account assets held by our advisory clients at the Clearing Firms. These Credits are used to offset SAI's general operating expenses. Compensation received consists of a fixed dollar amount and percentage of total assets held in brokerage accounts.

In addition, certain custodian fees apply to your account where SAI (in their capacity as a broker-dealer) applies a markup. Please refer to Firm's website at www.securitiesamerica.com under Investor/Investor Information for the Pershing and NFS brokerage fee schedules for more information regarding custodial fees.

We have also entered into agreements with various insurance companies that allow for the managing and valuation of client's variable annuity accounts within various advisory programs as well as accounts created through our providing retirement plan advisory services. The insurance company custodians maintain custody of all variable annuity accounts. SAA and SAI do not act as a custodian for any account.

Selecting Brokerage Firms

We recognize your unrestricted right to select and choose any broker or dealer you wish, except in situations where SAA or a recommended manager is given discretionary authority over your account. We process brokerage security transactions through SAI, our affiliated broker/dealer, so long as we determine that executing the transactions through SAI fulfills its duty of best execution. Refer to the section titled "Best Execution" for information as to the factors considered by our firm when selecting a broker/dealer.

Stocks, bonds and other securities can be traded in managed accounts and are subject to normal spreads, mark-ups and mark-downs paid to market makers of those securities. SAI does not make markets in securities. SAI and SAA do not receive any portion of the spreads, mark-ups or mark-downs.

Transaction charges can apply to securities sales, purchases and exchanges. However, your advisor cannot receive both an advisory fee and a commission on an asset within your account. The charges vary for mutual funds, variable products, stocks, bonds and option transactions. Factors that determine transaction charges include size of purchase, type of transaction, mutual fund family, variable product sponsor, the representative involved and processing method (on-line/phone/systematic). Full transaction charges cannot apply to certain transactions associated with mutual fund product sponsors participating in the Partners Program. At the representative's discretion, he/she can pass these transaction charges to you. For more information on these transaction charges or commissions, please ask your representative or visit www.securitiesamerica.com under Investors/Investor Information.

Best Execution

SAA processes brokerage security transactions through SAI, an affiliated broker/dealer. We will continue to utilize SAI so long as we determine executing the transactions through our affiliate maintains our duty of best execution. Some factors reviewed when determining best execution include but are not limited to:

- Access to markets dependent on the type of security
- Speed of execution
- Execution price of the security
- Ability to obtain price improvement
- Electronic download of trades;
- Efficiencies achieved in utilizing integrated front and back office technology systems;
- A dedicated service team;
- Electronic download of duplicate statements, and confirmations; and
- The ability to deduct advisory fees directly from client accounts.

We will exercise reasonable diligence to ensure best execution is obtained for all clients when implementing any client transaction. On SAA's behalf, SAI conducts trade reviews to determine that the duty of best execution is being met by its trade execution and clearing firms.

Soft Dollars

SAA does not receive research or other products or services (i.e., soft dollar benefits) other than execution from a broker/dealer or third-party for client securities transactions.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

We pay a set commission rate on trades for securities traded with a commission. We do not negotiate commissions on a trade-by-trade basis or directed brokerage basis.

Order Aggregation

SAA representatives generally manage client portfolios independently of one another based on the specific needs and objectives of each client portfolio. Due to this, client transactions are often executed separately. While not required by firm policy, SAA and your representative can aggregate client transactions or allocate order. Mutual funds held in client accounts do not lend themselves to aggregation because the purchase or sale price is based on the net asset value of the mutual fund. To the extent other securities are purchased that lend themselves to aggregation or block trading (e.g., stocks or exchange traded funds), SAA and your representative aggregate client transactions or allocate orders whenever possible. SAA and your representatives will allocate trades to advisory clients in a fair and equitable manner that will be applied consistently to all clients. Personal accounts of representatives, associated persons and family members will not be treated more favorably than any other client account. You should be aware that if an order is not aggregated, you can pay higher brokerage costs.

In many instances, order aggregation can result in lower commissions, a more favorable net price or a more efficient trade execution. When trades are not aggregated, you may not receive the benefits previously mentioned and, as a result, pay a higher transaction cost than if you executed the transaction elsewhere. However, there can be instances in which order aggregation results in a less favorable transaction than might have been obtained for you by trading the security separately.

Handling Trade Errors Made by SAA or a Representative

If SAA or our supervised persons make a trade error in your account, the error will be corrected and your account will be restored to where it would have been had the trade error not occurred. Any profit or loss from the trade correction will be maintained by our firm.

Review of Accounts

Frequency of Account Reviews

Participant Retirement Program accounts and other investment advisory agreements (where SAA or the representative is the advisor) are reviewed as needed, as required and as appropriate by SAA supervisors (SAI principals) and your representative. The nature and timing of the reviews vary by your representative. In all accounts, reviews are conducted at least annually.

Review Triggers

Factors triggering an account review include material market, economic or political events, changes in your financial or personal situation or performance of the account in general.

Reports and Account Statements

You will receive monthly statements from the account custodian or clearing firm, if your account(s) have activity during the month. If the account does not have any monthly activity, an account statement is provided by the account custodian or clearing firm at least quarterly. The statements will show any activity in the account as well as period ending position balances. You will also receive a confirmation from the custodian or clearing firm of each purchase and sale transaction that occurs within Participant Retirement Program accounts.

To the extent you receive performance reports, we urge you to compare performance reports received with account statements received from the custodian. Inquiries or concerns regarding the account, including performance reports, should be directed to the representative at the phone number listed on the account statement. Performance reports can be provided to you in the Participant Retirement Program by us through your representative. Each representative then decides whether to provide these reports to his or her clients. Performance information provided by your representative is believed to be accurate but cannot be guaranteed. Your representative can include variable annuity account position information within performance reports. Neither our firm nor your representative can guarantee the accuracy of fund values, securities and other information obtained from third parties.

Accounts not receiving reports from our firm will be reviewed and monitored at the discretion of the representative assigned to the account or the independent investment advisor firm, their representatives and money managers handling the accounts. No other parties review accounts for accuracy of performance information. These individuals are available to answer your questions and to review an account at your request.

For retirement plan advisory services accounts, representatives can furnish to the plan sponsor consolidated performance reports of the model portfolios in the plan at least quarterly. Such reports are provided in accordance with the services agreed upon by the representative and the plan. When such services are contracted for, plan portfolios are reviewed as needed and as appropriate by your representative and also as required by SAA supervisors (SAL principals). Review triggering factors include material market, economic or political events.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Incoming Referrals - Our Use of Solicitors/Payment of Referral Fee

We enter into agreements with solicitors (referring parties) to refer clients to us. The referral agreements between our firm and referring parties are designed to comply with SEC regulations set out in 17 CFR Section 275.206(4)-3. If a referred client enters into an investment advisory agreement with our firm, and a cash referral is paid to the referring party (e.g., solicitor). Written disclosure regarding the referral fees we pay is provided to you prior to or at the time of entering into our investment advisory or financial planning agreements. The disclosed referral fee is payable to the referring party for the duration of SAA's advisory relationship with you, whether or not our investment or trading strategies, or your investment objectives, change over time. We have no further referral fee obligation if the referring parties' representations and warranties outline in our referral agreement become inaccurate or untrue or if our investment advisory agreement with you is terminated for any reason. In those states that require solicitors to be licensed, we require the solicitor to be licensed or filed under our registration.

The compensation to be paid in connection with these agreements is subject to negotiation between our firm, the representative and the referring party. The referral agreements between any referring party and our firm do not result in any charges to you in addition to the normal level of advisory fees charged. However, these situations create a conflict of interest because the referring party has a financial incentive to recommend one SAA program over another or over other investment advisors and broker/dealer programs, products and services. The representative or an independent investment advisor firm recommending our programs receives compensation as a result of your participation in our programs.

Fees for investment management can be more than the cost of purchasing the same services separately. You might also be able to obtain similar services for a lesser fee from other advisors. The fees charged vary among investment management services. The amount of compensation a representative receives in a particular program can be more than would be received if you participated in other programs or paid separately for investment advice, brokerage and other services. In addition, the compensation a representative receives for recommending one program portfolio option over another portfolio option varies and creates a financial incentive for our firm and representative. Your representative has no under any obligation to promote or use one money manager over another. You have no obligation to engage these individuals when considering implementation of advisory recommendations. You are free to select any broker/dealer you wish to implement recommendations and execute transactions. You are able to purchase the same investment product from a non-affiliated broker or implement securities transactions without the advisory services offered by your representative. In that case, you would not receive the services provided by your representative. In addition, we can award separate non-cash compensation to representatives, the independent investment advisor firms and the independent investment advisor representative for client referrals.

Outgoing Referrals - SAA as Solicitor for Other Investment Advisors/Receipt of Referral Fee

We have entered into solicitation agreements with independent third-party investment advisors, pursuant to which our firm and the independent investment advisor firm and the representative receive solicitation compensation from the third-party investment advisor in return for referral of accounts. SAA's broker/dealer affiliate, SAI and the representative, in his or her capacity as a registered representative, serve as broker/dealer and/or representative of record on accounts managed by the independent third-party investment advisor. In such case, SAI and the representatives receive normal and customary compensation (e.g. commissions) from the sale of mutual funds, exchange traded funds or variable annuities in such accounts. This compensation is in addition to the solicitor fee paid by the third-party investment advisor.

We have established a relationship with Ladenburg Thalmann Asset Management's $ymbil program. The $ymbil program is described in detail above.

We have established a relationship with Hanson McClain Retirement Network, LLC (HMRN), a registered broker/dealer and investment advisor. The associated persons of HMRN provide consultation and marketing support services to the representative to assist representatives in obtaining more clients. As a result of this relationship, SAA pays HMRN a portion of the fees from any clients obtained as a result of the services provided by HMRN.

You should be aware SAA and your representative receive solicitor/referral fees for recommending certain portfolios to you. Therefore, a conflict of interest exists because these circumstances result in your representative having a financial incentive to recommend one portfolio over another. However, it is our policy that portfolios will be selected and recommended to you based on your individual needs, goals and objectives. Your representative is not obligated to sell any particular product or to meet any selling quotas related specifically to these products. You are not obligated to engage the representative when considering implementing advisory recommendations. You are free to select any broker/dealer you wish when implementing recommendations and executing transactions. You can purchase the same investment product from a non-affiliated broker or implement securities transactions without the services offered by your representative. We encourage you to review this ADV closely and discuss any potential conflicts of interest with your representative.

Lead Generation Programs

Some of our representatives utilize the services of lead generation or business development firms. Generally, prospects will contact that firm directly or online and receive the names of several financial service providers in the prospect's area. The prospect then reviews the list and makes a decision whether or not to contact a selected financial service provider. The firm does not provide the prospect any advice or recommendations concerning the list of advisors. Typically, advisors pay a subscription or membership fee to be included in the firm's network or association. In addition, some firms provide marketing resources.

Other Compensation

SAA or our affiliated broker/dealer, SAI, form alliances and networking and referral arrangements with financial institutions such as community banks, credit unions, credit union service organizations and farm credit services (Third-Party Financial Institutions). These alliances and arrangements allow representatives to offer financial planning services and certain other non-deposit investment and insurance products and services, to customers/members of those Third-Party Financial Institutions. Our firm leases space in selected branches of the Third-Party Financial Institutions and then sub-leases it to your representative if he or she conducts business from these locations. As a result of these alliances or networking arrangements, your representative may not be able to offer certain products that are otherwise available through our firm. Also, as a result of these alliances or networking arrangements, Third-Party

Financial Institutions receive compensation representing payment for the use of the facilities and equipment of the Third-Party Financial Institutions. Compensation is in the form of a program support or rent payment and/or a portion of advisory fees or securities and insurance commissions paid to representatives for sales to customer/members of the institutions. If SAA or SAI, refers an existing or new representative to Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services, SAA receives 3 basis points (.03%) on the assets under management of the referred representative. This fee is not shared with the representative.

These relationships create compliance issues relative to consumer protection. The joint guidelines of regulators of the depository institution call for at a minimum written and verbal disclosure at or prior to the time securities products are purchased or sold. Also, the securities products:

- Are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the National Credit Union Administration, or any other federal or state deposit guarantee fund or other government agency;
- Are not endorsed or guaranteed by the bank or credit union or their affiliates;
- Are not deposits or obligations of the depository institutions and are not guaranteed by the depository institutions;
- Are subject to investment risks, including possible loss of principal invested.

SAI also receives reimbursement from the clearing firms it uses, for all or a portion of any asset transfer fees you incur upon the transfer of accounts from other clearing providers. SAI retains all or a portion of such reimbursements or, at its discretion, passes through all or a portion of such reimbursements to you and/or its representatives.

Your representative has an incentive to join and remain affiliated with Securities America through certain compensation arrangements which include bonuses, enhanced pay-outs, forgivable loans and/or business transition loans. Furthermore, there can be production goals associated with the recommendation of a transaction from your representative. Receiving such compensation is considered a conflict of interest. We encourage you to review this ADV closely and discuss any conflicts of interest with your representative.

We offer incentives to your SAA representatives for meeting certain production levels. These incentives are above and beyond compensation they receive for providing products and services through Securities America. Receiving incentives is considered a conflict of interest. We encourage you to review this ADV closely and discuss any potential conflicts of interest with your representative.

Our firm, our officers and our representatives receive reimbursements from marketing and distribution allowances, due diligence fees and travel expenses. Other compensation or reimbursement is also received based on deposits and/or assets under management directly from third-party asset manager program sponsors for the costs of marketing, distribution, business and client development, educational enhancement and/or due diligence reviews incurred by our firm or your representatives relating to the promotion or sale of the program sponsor's products or services.

Travel expense reimbursements are typically a result of attendance at due diligence and/or investment training events hosted by product sponsors. Marketing expense reimbursements are typically the result of informal expense sharing arrangements in which product sponsors underwrite costs incurred for marketing such as advertising, publishing and seminar expenses. Although receipt of these travel and marketing expense reimbursements are not predicated upon specific sales quotas, the product sponsor reimbursements are typically made by those sponsors for which sales have been made or it is anticipated sales will be made.

To help cover or defray the costs of transitioning from another registered investment advisor to SAA, our representatives are eligible to receive various forms and amounts of transition assistance. Such transition assistance includes a promissory note loan, rent, technology services and equipment, legal expenses, administrative support, termination fees associated with moving accounts, and regulatory services, with such transition assistance based on production, reimbursement of fees, free or reduced-cost marketing material, attendance to conferences and events, or access to preferred pricing.

Securities America issues payments in the form of loans to representatives which are forgivable based on years of service or the extent of their production. This practice creates a conflict of interest because the representative has a financial incentive to recommend a client engage SAA for advisory services in order for the loan to be forgiven. However, if you engage SAA for an Advisor Managed Account, your representative will obtain the necessary financial data from you, assist you in determining the suitability for the Advisor Managed Account and help you set appropriate investment objectives. Your representative will then be able to purchase and sell securities in accordance with your investment objectives. SAA periodically reviews advisory accounts to ensure suitability and adherence to investment objectives. Please consult with your representative if you have questions regarding this issue.

SAA, SAI, and AGHI maintains revenue sharing arrangements with certain mutual funds, variable insurance products, fixed insurance products, direct participation programs, alternative investments, 529 plans, unit investment trusts (UITs) (all preceding products referred to as "Packaged Product" or "Packaged Products") and third party money managers. The Packaged Products providers and third party money managers are hereinafter referred to as ("Strategic Partner" or "Strategic Partners"). Strategic Partners are selected, in part, based on the competitiveness of their products, their technology, their customer service and their training capabilities. Strategic Partners have more opportunities than other companies to market and educate our Advisory Representatives on investments and the products they offer.

In addition to customary sales charges, AGHI and SAI receive compensation ("revenue sharing payments") from its Strategic Partners. Revenue sharing payments are typically calculated as a fixed fee or as an annual percentage of the amount of assets held by clients, or as a percentage of annual new sales, or as a combination of both. Strategic Partners pay SAI differing amounts of revenue sharing, for which the Strategic Partner receives different benefits.

A conflict of interest exists in that we are paid more revenue sharing fees if you purchase one type of product instead of another and/or you purchase a product from one particular sponsor instead of another. Your Advisory Representative also indirectly benefits from Strategic Partner payments when the money is used to support costs relating to product review, marketing or training, or for waiver of ticket charges. Your Advisory Representative does not receive any compensation associated with revenue sharing payments.

SAI will update information regarding Strategic Partners, Third Party Money Managers and other firms who participate in revenue sharing arrangements with SAA, SAI, and AGHI on its website on a regular basis. For additional information regarding the specific firms, details, and fees/compensation, please refer to www.securitiesamerica.com under Investors/Investor information/Revenue Sharing and Other Compensation.

In addition to reimbursement of training and educational meeting costs, SAA and its Advisory Representatives receive promotional items, meals or entertainment or other non-cash compensation from representatives of Third Party Money Managers, mutual fund companies, insurance companies, and Alternative Investment Products, as permitted by regulatory rules. Additionally, sales of any mutual funds, variable insurance products and Alternative Investment Products, whether or not they are those of Strategic Partners, can qualify financial advisors for additional business support and for attendance at seminars, conferences and entertainment events. A conflict of interest exists because these types of cash and non-cash compensation provide a financial incentive for Advisory Representatives to recommend investment products and advisory services in general to receive these benefits. From time to time, some non-Strategic Partners attend Broker-Dealer sponsored meetings for a fee.

Custody

Generally, SAA and SAI do not act as custodian for any account. Outside custodians maintain custody of all funds or securities. SAA is deemed to have custody of your funds because of our authority to directly deduct advisory fees from your accounts within the programs described above. In addition, SAI, our affiliated broker/dealer, serves as an introducing broker/dealer and collects physical stock certificates or engages in certain asset transmittal practices such that we are deemed to have custody of such assets. SAI is deemed to have limited custody of your assets by giving you the ability to transfer funds between accounts you own that are titled in the same name; or if you specifically request it, transferring funds between accounts you own that are titled in different names. SAI is also deemed to have limited custody by giving you the ability to have funds sent from your account to your address of record or, if you specifically request, to some other address. Because SAI maintains limited custody of our client assets as described above, SAA is required by SEC regulation to undergo an examination at least annually provided by a qualified independent public accountant. Additionally, SAA must undergo an independent verification of client assets under its control.

Account Statements

You receive account statements from investment sponsors, brokerage firms, insurance companies and other money managers at least quarterly. You can also receive monthly account statements from investment sponsors, brokerage firms, insurance companies and other money managers monthly, if there is any activity in your account. We have verified that each custodian or investment provider used for our investment management services is a qualified custodian and provides statements to clients directly at their address of record at least quarterly. We encourage you to carefully review your account statement.

Performance Reports

If you receive performance reports from your representative, we urge you to compare the account statements received directly from their custodians to the performance report statements provided by our firm or your representative. Inquiries or concerns regarding your account, including performance reports, should be directed to SAA, the independent investment advisor firm or your representative.

Investment Discretion

Limited Discretionary Trading Authority

If you grant SAA or your representative limited discretionary trading authority, we have the authority to determine, without obtaining your specific consent, the securities to be bought or sold, the amount of the securities to be bought or sold and when to buy or sell those securities. Upon receiving written authority to engage in limited trading authority on your behalf, SAA and your representative will commence engaging in discretionary trading transactions. Discretionary trading authority facilitates placing trades in your accounts on your behalf so that SAA and your representative can promptly implement the investment policy you have approved in writing.

Limited Power of Attorney for Trading

If a limited power of attorney for trading is signed by you, we consult with you prior to placing each trade. You sign a limited power of attorney form so we can execute the trades you have approved.

We accept discretionary authority to manage accounts on your behalf. For discretionary clients, we request that you provide written authority to determine which securities and the amounts to be bought or sold. Any limitations on this discretionary authority by you should be included in this written authority statement. You can change/amend these limitations as required. Such amendments must be submitted in writing.

Voting Client Securities

If a Participant Retirement Program account is established with our firm, our firm and representatives will not perform proxy voting services on behalf of clients. If the account is for a pension or other employee benefit governed by ERISA, the right to vote proxies is expressly reserved for the plan's trustees or other plan fiduciary and not our firm. All proxy notices will be sent directly to you. You should read through the information provided with the proxy materials and make a decision based on the information provided. Upon your request, and at their discretion, representatives provide a recommendation or clarification based on their understanding of issues presented in the proxy materials, but you are solely responsible for all proxy voting decisions.

Financial Information

We do not have any financial impairment that will preclude us from meeting our contractual commitments to you. We do not serve as a custodian for your funds or securities. At no time will fees of more than $1,200 be charged six or more months in advance of services being provided by our firm or a representative. On our behalf, our affiliated broker/dealer, SAI, has established policies and procedures designed to prevent the collection of fees greater than $1,200 six or more months in advance of services being provided. As such, a balance sheet is not required to be provided to you at this time.
