Item 4 – SERVICES, FEES AND COMPENSATION

A. Wrap Programs

LongView primarily uses open-ended mutual funds, ETF's, stocks, bonds and insurance products.

Wrap accounts are managed by LongView on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis as agreed to between the client and the Advisory Representative. Accounts managed on a discretionary basis will give LongView the authority to determine the securities to be purchased and sold in the account and alter the securities holdings from time to time, without prior consultation with you. Discretionary authority will be granted by you to LongView by execution of the Client Agreement. If you elect to have your accounts managed on a nondiscretionary basis, no changes will be made to the allocation of your account without prior consultation with you and your expressed agreement.

The CMAP Program and the LongView Wealth Management Program are offered as a wrap program. A wrap program is where the client will pay one fee and the fee will cover LongView's advisory fee and any transaction charges. Typically, a wrap program is more suitable for clients who will have more frequent trading and in securities for which the custodian charges transaction fees. In a wrap program Longview has a conflict of interest to use securities for which the account custodian waives transaction fees.

Transactions in the account, account reallocations and rebalancing may trigger a taxable event for the client, with the exception of qualified retirement accounts.

CMAP (Cambridge Managed Account Platform)

LongView Wealth Management (hereinafter referred to as "LongView") utilizes an investment management program through Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. ("Cambridge"), registered broker-dealer, member Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA"), and Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC"), called Cambridge Managed Account Platform ("CMAP"). CMAP enables LongView and its Advisory Representative to actively manage client investment portfolios in accordance with the client's individual needs, objectives and risk tolerance, utilizing various investment products.

Accounts are custodied, by selection of Adviser, at Pershing, LLC ("Pershing") or National Financial Services, LLC ("NFS"), both broker-dealers and members of the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE"). Clients should be aware that by using Pershing or NFS, client can pay higher account related fees and execution charges than if LongView had selected another clearing firm. There is no affiliation between LongView and Pershing and NFS.

Client accounts holding class C shares may be held in the CMAP account and managed, however class C shares will be excluded from the fee calculation.

LongView Wealth Management Program

LongView provides asset management services on a continuous and ongoing basis based on the individual needs of the client.

Custodial services are made available through Schwab Advisor Services division of Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (“Schwab”), a registered broker/dealer, member SIPC. LongView is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Schwab. Schwab generally does not charge you separately for custody services but is compensated by charging you commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that settle into your Schwab account. In addition to commissions, Schwab charges you a flat dollar amount as a “prime broker” or “trade away” fee for each trade that we have executed by a different broker-dealer but where the securities bought or the funds from the securities sold are deposited (settled) into your Schwab account. These fees are in addition to the commissions or other compensation you pay the executing broker-dealer. Because of this, in order to minimize your trading costs, we have Schwab execute most trades for your account. We have determined that having Schwab execute most trades is consistent with our duty to seek “best execution” of your trades. Best execution means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above.

Fees and Compensation

Fees are negotiable and are not based on a share of capital gains upon or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds. Fees vary from client-to-client and are detailed on the Client Agreement provided to the client. Fees vary based on the complexity of the services, number of meetings, and the Advisory Representative.

You may make additions to the Account or withdrawals from the Account, provided the Account continues to meet minimum account size requirements. No fee adjustments will be made for Account appreciation or depreciation. No fee adjustments will be made for additional deposits to or partial withdrawals from the client’s portfolio during a period. Portfolio is defined as all accounts of a client under management. Therefore, if a client opens a new account under management or closes an account under management, there will be no fee adjustment during the quarter.

Advisory Representatives can choose to aggregate all of a client’s managed accounts together to determine the fee breakpoint based on the schedule. Thus, all accounts will pay the same fee. Alternatively, Advisory Representatives can choose to charge a fee based on the value of each account under management. Therefore, clients may pay a different fee on each account based on the account value.

LongView may change the above fee schedule upon 30-days prior written notice to you.

Wrap Program Fees*

FROM	TO	MAXIMUM CLIENT FEE
$0	$100,000	1.75%
$100,000.01	$250,000	1.50%
$250,000.01	$500,000	1.25%
$500,000.01	$1,000,000	1.20%
$1,000,000.01	and higher	1.00%

*Fees may be a flat fee based on the value of the client’s managed portfolio or per account size or may be tiered. Clients on a tiered fee schedule will pay a fee based on each level outlined above (e.g. a $1,000,000 account will pay up to 1.75% on the first $100,000, 1.50% on the next $150,000, 1.25% on the next $250,000 and 1.20% on the remaining $500,000).

Advisory fees will generally be collected directly from your account, provided you have given LongView written authorization. You will be provided with an account statement reflecting the deduction of the advisory fee direct from the account custodian. If the Account does not contain sufficient funds to pay advisory fees, LongView has limited authority to sell or redeem securities in sufficient amounts to pay advisory fees. You may reimburse the account for advisory fees paid to LongView, except for ERISA and IRA accounts.

Advisory fees are charged on a quarterly basis in advance or in arrears, depending on the Advisory Representative and as negotiated with the client. Quarterly periods may be on a calendar year basis or every three months starting on cycle as agreed between client and advisory representative. Fees for partial quarters (i.e. accounts established or closed during a quarter period) will be charged a prorated portion of the fee for the quarterly period. In cases where fees are charged in advance, the initial fee will be based on the value of the account upon establishment and will be prorated based on the number of days remaining in the quarterly period. In cases where the fee is charged in arrears, the initial fee will be a prorated fee based on the number of days the account was under management and based on the value of the account as of the last business day of the quarterly period. Thereafter the fees will be calculated based on the value of the account on the last business day of the just completed quarterly period.

A set-up fee not to exceed one percent (1%) of the initial account value may be charged. The set-up fee will be billed in full along with the first quarter fee. The set-up fee is negotiable.

Advisory Representatives of LongView are dually registered representatives of Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. ("Cambridge"), a registered broker/dealer, member of the Financial Regulatory Association (FINRA) and SIPC. Advisory Representatives of LongView who are Registered Representatives receive trail commissions (i.e. 12b-1 fees) for a period of time as a result of directing securities transactions through Cambridge, with the exception of 12b-1 fees will not be received by Advisory Representatives on any retirement or qualified account. Load and no-load mutual funds pay annual distribution charges, sometimes referred to as 12b-1 fees. 12b-1 fees come from fund assets, therefore, indirectly from your assets. 12b-1 fees are initially paid to Cambridge and a portion passed to the Advisory Representatives. The receipt of such fees could represent an incentive for the Advisory Representatives to recommend funds with 12b-1 fees over funds that have no fees or lower fees. As a result, there is a conflict of interest.

As stated above, LongView recommends mutual funds that pay 12b-1 fees and no-load funds.

You can purchase the securities recommended by LongView directly or through other brokers or agents not affiliated with LongView.

Termination Provisions

Client may terminate LongView's engagement within five business days of execution of the advisory agreement and receive a full refund of all prepaid fees paid to LongView. Thereafter, client may terminate upon LongView's receipt of client's written notice to terminate and receive a pro rata portion of the prepaid advisory fee based upon the time remaining under the Client Agreement from the date of receipt of client's written notice to terminate to the end of the calendar quarter. Clients who are paying in arrears will be charged a prorated fee for the quarter up to the date of receipt of client's written notice to terminate.

- B. Wrap programs can cost the client more or less than if the client purchased advisory and execution services separately. If services are purchased separately, it is possible the advisory fee would be less and transaction charges could be controlled or managed based on the frequency of trading and the types of securities purchased (i.e. use of no transaction fee funds). Actively traded accounts are more suitable for a wrap program, depending on the number of no transaction fee funds utilized. Clients are advised that typically a wrap program is more expensive since LongView will charge a higher fee to cover any transaction expenses.

Further, there is an incentive for LongView to limit transactions to no transaction fee funds in an effort to reduce LongView's costs. This is considered a conflict of interest for LongView to cause a client to participate in a wrap program if trading will be infrequent or if a number of no transaction fee funds will be utilized since LongView will be able to retain a larger portion of the management fee since no fees will need to be allocated to trading costs by LongView. Therefore, there is an incentive for LongView to limit transactions to no-transaction fee funds in an effort to reduce LongView's costs.

Clients are advised LongView has several Advisory Representatives who are independent contractors. The Advisory Representatives may not charge an advisory fee in excess of the fee schedule disclosed above. However, each Advisory Representative determines the fee to the client. Therefore, depending on the Advisory Representative selected by the client, the client can pay more or less than another client serviced by another Advisory Representative.

- C. In addition to the advisory fees set forth above, client can be assessed account maintenance fees, custodial fees, and retirement fees for maintaining their portfolio. LongView does not share in any portion of these fees. Further, there is an incentive for LongView to limit transactions to no transaction fee funds in an effort to reduce LongView's costs.

Wrap accounts will be charged transaction fees for any unsolicited transaction (i.e. transactions requested by the client). Additionally, for trades executed away from the custodian, the client will be charged and responsible for any fees associated with trading the securities away and/or delivering the securities into the client's account.

You will pay your proportionate share of the fund's management and administrative fees and sales charges as well as the mutual fund adviser's fee of any mutual fund they purchase. Such advisory fees are not shared with LongView and are compensation to the fund-manager. Fees not included in the advisory fee are charges imposed directly by a mutual fund, index fund, or exchange traded fund which are disclosed in the prospectus (i.e., fund management fees and other fund expenses), mark-ups and mark-downs, spreads paid to market makers, fees for trades executed away from custodian, wire transfer fees and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions.

- D. Your Advisory Representative has an incentive in the advisory fee paid by the client since the Advisory Representative will receive a portion of the advisory fee collected by LongView. The amount of compensation paid to the Advisory Representative is not more or less than if your Advisory Representative selected another investment option.

General Information

You are advised the investment recommendations and advice offered by LongView are not legal advice or accounting advice. You should coordinate and discuss the impact of financial advice with your attorney and/or accountant. You are advised that it is necessary to inform LongView promptly with respect to any changes in your financial situation and investment goals and objectives. Failure to notify LongView of any such changes could result in investment recommendations not meeting your needs.

Advisory Representatives recommend to clients the use of various share classes of mutual funds. Advisory Representatives receive a combination of commissions plus an advisory fee. Generally, clients selecting class C shares will not pay an advisory fee in addition to the compensation Advisory Representative will receive from class C share mutual funds.

Clients are advised of the following:

1. Class A shares have lower internal expenses and offer discounts depending on the amount client has invested in the fund family.
2. B shares have higher internal expenses than A shares and do not offer a discount for large purchases. Clients will generally pay a contingent deferred sales charge if client liquidates the fund within 5 to 7 years. B shares convert to A shares generally in 5 to 7 years.
3. C shares have higher internal expenses compare to A and B shares. C shares typically do not convert to A shares and do not offer discounts for large purchases. C shares generally assess a contingent deferred sales charge for the first year is the fund is liquidated.

Disclosure of the costs and expenses of various share classes is contained in the prospectus. Clients should read the prospectus prior to investing.

The cost to the client will vary depending on the type of share class of mutual funds purchased, size of the investment, amount of trading, and amount of service requested by the client. Clients are advised that clients will continue to pay internal expenses of the mutual fund even after the termination of the advisory agreement. It is important to consider and evaluate the internal costs. Though internal costs are not evident on statements and confirmations, you continue to pay internal costs and expenses which considered along with the advisory fee you pay LongView, your total costs could be considered high.

There is no assurance that the level of experience and service each individual Financial Planner provides is uniform. LongView clients can pay more or less for the same service due to the experience, amount of work done and sophistication of its Financial Planner.

IRA Rollover Considerations

As part of our consulting and advisory services, we may provide you recommendations and advice concerning your employer retirement plan or other qualified retirement account. Our recommendations may include you consider withdrawing the assets from your employer's retirement plan or other qualified retirement account and roll the assets over to an individual retirement account ("IRA"). Further, we offer our management services be applied to those funds and securities rolled into an IRA or other account for which we will receive compensation. If you elect to roll the assets to an IRA that is subject to our management, we will charge you an asset based fee as described above under Item 5. This practice presents a conflict of interest because persons providing investment advice on our behalf have an incentive to recommend a rollover to you for the purpose of generating fee based compensation rather than solely based on your needs. You are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to complete the rollover. Furthermore, if you do complete the rollover, you are under no obligation to have the assets in an IRA managed by us.

It is important for you to understand many employers permit former employees to keep their retirement assets in their company plan. Also, current employees can sometimes move assets out of their company plan before they retire or change jobs. In determining whether to complete the rollover to an IRA, and to the extent the following options are available, you should consider the costs and benefits of each.

An employee will typically have four options:

1. Leave the funds in your employer's (former employer's) plan.
2. Move the funds to a new employer's retirement plan.
3. Cash out and taking a taxable distribution from the plan.
4. Roll the funds into an IRA rollover account.

Each of these options has advantages and disadvantages and before making a change we encourage you to speak with your CPA and/or tax attorney.

If you are considering rolling over your retirement funds to an IRA for us to manage it is important you understand the following:

1. Determine whether the investment options in your employer's retirement plan address your needs or whether you might want to consider other types of investments.
 - a. Employer retirement plans generally have a more limited investment menu than IRAs.
 - b. Employer retirement plans may have unique investment options not available to the public such as employer securities, or previously closed funds.
2. Your current plan may have lower fees than our fees.
 - a. If you are interested in investing only in mutual funds, you should understand the cost structure of the share classes available in your employer's retirement plan and how the costs of those share classes compare with those available in an IRA.
 - b. You should understand the various products and services you might take advantage of at an IRA provider and the potential costs of those products and services.
 - c. It is likely you will not be charged a management fee and will not receive ongoing asset management services unless you elect to have such services. In the event your plan offers asset management or model management, there may be a fee associated with the services that is more or less than our asset management fee.
3. Our strategy may have higher risk than the option(s) provided to you in your plan.
4. Your current plan may offer financial advice, guidance, and/or model management or portfolio options at no additional cost.
5. If you keep your assets titled in a 401k or retirement account, you could potentially delay your required minimum distribution beyond age 70.5 (70 ½).
6. Your 401k may offer more liability protection than a rollover IRA; each state may vary.
 - a. Generally, federal law protects assets in qualified plans from creditors. Since 2005, IRA assets have been generally protected from creditors in bankruptcies. However, there can be some exceptions to the general rules so you should consult an attorney if you are concerned about protecting your retirement plan assets from creditors.
7. You may be able to take out a loan on your 401k, but not from an IRA.

8. IRA assets can be accessed any time; however, distributions are subject to ordinary income tax and may also be subject to a 10% early distribution penalty unless they qualify for an exception such as disability, higher education expenses or the purchase of a home.
9. If you own company stock in your plan, you may be able to liquidate those shares at a lower capital gains tax rate.
10. Your plan may allow you to hire us as the manager and keep the assets titled in the plan name.

It is important that you understand the differences between these types of accounts and to decide whether a rollover is best for you. Prior to proceeding, if you have questions contact your investment adviser representative, or call our main number as listed on the cover page of this brochure.

Item 5 – ACCOUNT REQUIREMENTS AND TYPES OF CLIENTS

LongView generally requires a minimum amount of assets be deposited to an account for the purpose of obtaining asset management services through the CMAP Program. LongView will generally require you to deposit a minimum of $25,000 (cash or securities) for the CMAP Program. However, under certain circumstances, LongView may waive the minimum account size requirement and accept accounts less than the stated minimums. Such circumstances include but not be limited to additional assets will soon be deposited or you have other accounts under management with LongView. You are advised performance can suffer due to difficulties with diversifying smaller accounts and due to risk controls potentially being compromised. Performance of smaller accounts may vary from the performance of accounts with more dollars invested due to fluctuations in the market may affect smaller accounts more and the effects of compounding may be greater in larger accounts.

LongView's services are geared toward individuals both high net worth (i.e. clients with a net worth of $2,000,000) and other than high net worth, pension and profit sharing plans, and corporations or other businesses.

Item 6 – PORTFOLIO MANAGER SELECTION AND EVALUATION

LongView requires education and experience in investments, insurance, taxation, or other related fields as the minimum standard for their Advisory Representatives. LongView requires that all staff obtain appropriate licenses, including securities licenses to buy and sell securities and insurance products. In addition, LongView encourages professional staff to participate in industry education programs and in courses of study for Certified Financial Planner or Chartered Financial Consultant professional designations

Your Advisory Representative is the sole manager on your account. Accounts are not assigned by LongView to any Advisory Representative. You retain the authority to select who you want to manager your account. LongView's Advisory Representatives have different education and experience levels and have different management styles and philosophies.

Neither LongView nor a third party reviews Advisory Representatives' performance.

LongView offers the following advisory services. Each of the services is more fully described in LongView's Disclosure Brochure.

- Asset Management
- Financial Planning
- Analysis, Recommendation and Monitoring of Third Party Managed Programs

LongView tailors the advisory services it offers to your individual needs. You may impose restrictions and/or limitations on the investing in certain securities or types of securities. LongView will ask you to complete a fact finder or data gathering questionnaire to assist LongView with obtaining information about your financial situation and history. Additionally, LongView will meet with you and conduct an interview and data gathering session to continue the due diligence process. The information gathered by LongView will assist LongView to provide you with the requested services and customize the services to your financial situation. Depending on the services you have requested, LongView will gather various financial information and history from you including, but not limited to:

- Retirement and financial goals
- Investment objectives
- Investment horizon
- Financial needs
- Cash flow analysis
- Cost of living needs
- Education needs
- Savings tendencies
- Other applicable financial information required by LongView in order to provide the investment advisory services requested.

As stated above, LongView offers the CMAP (Cambridge Managed Account Platform) and the LongView Wealth Management Program. The two wrap programs are offered as a wrap fee program LongView's Advisory Representatives are the portfolio managers. The wrap fee will be allocated to the program sponsor, LongView and to your Advisory Representative.

LongView does not charge performance based fees.

LongView conducts economic analysis and attempts to analyze and determine the trends. Additionally, LongView conducts fundamental analysis. Fundamental analysis generally involves assessing a company's or security's value based on factors such as sales, assets, markets, management, products and services, earnings, and financial structure.

LongView will conduct technical market analysis and technical trend following. Technical analysis generally involves studying trends and movements in a security's price, trading volume, and other market-related factors in an attempt to discern patterns.

LongView does not vote your securities. Unless you suppress proxies, securities proxies will be sent directly to you by the account custodian or transfer agent. You may contact LongView about questions you may have an opinions on how to vote the proxies. However, the voting and how you vote the proxies is solely your decision.

Item 7 – CLIENT INFORMATION PROVIDED TO PORTFOLIO MANAGERS

Your Advisory Representative will gather various information about you including, but not limited to, investment objectives and goals, personal information such as social security number, address, birth date and other information to verify your identity, financial information such as net worth, income, liquid net worth, prior investment experience, employer information, etc. During annual reviews your Advisory Representative will ask questions and may request you to complete updated account documents or verify the information you have provided remains current.

Item 8 – CLIENT CONTACT WITH PORTFOLIO MANAGERS

You may contact your Advisory Representative or any Advisory Representative of LongView at any time.

Item 9 – ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

- A. On April 5, 2016, the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) in an administrative proceeding against Alexander Bastron determined he had failed to adequately supervise an individual resulting in the individual misappropriating financial planning fees from advisory clients. The SEC determined that Mr. Bastron’s failure to implement a heightened supervision plan and therefore violating Section 203(c)(6) of the Investment Advisers Act resulted in the individual’s violations of the Investment Advisers Act. The SEC issued an order requiring Mr. Bastron’s suspension from acting in any supervisory capacity until April 17, 2017 and a fine. The events and activity that occurred (December 2009 to June 2010) took place prior to Alexander Bastron’s association with LongView Wealth Management.

Advisor’s investment advisor representatives are registered representatives of Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. (Cambridge), a registered broker/dealer, member FINRA and SIPC. Clients are not obligated to purchase or sell securities through the investment advisor representatives in these separate capacities. However, if clients choose to implement the advice provided by Advisor through its investment advisor representatives in their separate capacities as registered representatives, Cambridge will be used and commissions will be earned in addition to any fees paid for advisory services.

Some of LongView’s advisory representatives are eligible to participate in the Cambridge Investment Group, Inc. private stock purchase program. Cambridge Investment Group, Inc. is 100% owner of CIRA and its affiliated broker/dealer CIR. Advisory Representatives who participate in this program do not act as officers of Cambridge. However, they would have a percentage of ownership and have the ability to participate in Cambridge’s overall profits. Advisory Representatives are eligible to participate in the stock purchase program due to their affiliation as Registered Representatives of Cambridge. This arrangement between certain of Advisory Representatives and Cambridge is a conflict of interest between LongView and its clients in that it inhibits LongView’s independent judgment concerning the best execution services offered by Cambridge and its clearing broker/dealers.

Some of LongView’s Advisor Representatives have entered into an Equity Participation Plan (“EPP”) with Cambridge. The EPP Program is a stock appreciation rights program. Once a participant’s EPP’s units are vested and the years of service requirement are met the participant has a right to the appreciation in value of the same number of shares of Cambridge Investment Group Stock as he/she holds in vested EPP’s Units. LongView’s Advisor Representatives are not owners or officers of Cambridge. However, LongView’s Advisor Representatives are eligible to participate in the EPP due to their affiliation as Registered Representatives of Cambridge and Advisor Representatives of LongView. This arrangement between these particular LongView’s Advisor Representatives and Cambridge is a conflict of interest between LongView and its clients in that it inhibits LongView's independent judgment concerning the best execution services offered by Cambridge and its clearing broker-dealers.

LongView is not and does not have a related person who is a: futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, commodity trading advisor, or an associated person of the foregoing entities. Further, LongView is not and does not have a related person who is: broker/dealer or other similar type of broker or dealer; investment company or other pooled investment vehicle, futures commission merchant or commodity pool operator; banking or thrift institution; accountant or accounting firm; lawyer or law firm; insurance company or agency; pension consultant; real estate broker or dealer; or sponsor or syndicator of a limited partnership.

LongView attempts to mitigate the conflicts of interest with the receipt of commissions if recommendations are implemented by providing you with these disclosures. Further, you are encouraged to consult other professionals and may implement recommendations through other financial professionals. Furthermore, as a registered representative with Cambridge, Advisory Representatives are subject to a supervisory structure at Cambridge for his securities business.

LongView and its management persons are not actively engaged in any other business. Further, LongView does not have a related person who is a: broker/dealer or other similar type of broker or dealer; investment company or other pooled investment vehicle; futures commission merchant or commodity pool operator; banking or thrift institution; accountant or accounting firm; lawyer or law firm; insurance company or agency; pension consultant; real estate broker or dealer; or sponsor or syndicator of a limited partnership.

LongView recommends other investment advisers (i.e. third party managers) and will receive a portion of the fee charged to you by the investment adviser or will charge a fee in addition to the third party managers. Since LongView has an interest in the compensation this is considered a material conflict of interest. LongView selects third party managers based on several criteria including cost, type of management, past history, ability to meet a need and provide a unique service. Since the fee charged to you is based on the value of your portfolio, all parties have an incentive to work toward performance goals and objectives. Consequently, if the third party manager does not adequately manage your account and the value of your portfolio goes down, so does the third party manager's and LongView's compensation.

B. Code of Ethics

LongView has a fiduciary duty to you to act in your best interest and always place your interests first and foremost. LongView takes seriously its compliance and regulatory obligations and requires all staff to comply with such rules and regulations as well as LongView's policies and procedures. Further, LongView strives to handle your non-public information in such a way to protect information from falling into hands that have no business reason to know such information and provides you with LongView's Privacy Policy. As such, LongView maintains a code of ethics for its Advisory Representatives, supervised persons and staff. The Code of Ethics contains provisions for standards of business conduct in order to comply with federal securities laws, personal securities reporting requirements, pre-approval procedures for certain transactions, code violations reporting requirements, and safeguarding of material non-public information about your transactions. Further, LongView's Code of Ethics establishes LongView's expectation for business conduct. A copy of our Code of Ethics will be provided to you upon request.

Neither LongView nor its associated persons recommends to clients or buys or sells for client accounts any securities in which we have a material financial interest.

LongView and its associated persons buy or sell securities identical to those securities recommended to you. Therefore, LongView and/or its associated persons have an interest or position in certain securities that are also recommended and bought or sold to you. LongView and its associated persons will not put their interests before your interest. LongView and its associated persons may not trade ahead of you or trade in such a way to obtain a better price for themselves than for you or other clients.

LongView is required to maintain a list of all securities holdings for its associated persons and develop procedures to supervise the trading activities of associated persons who have knowledge of your transactions and their related family accounts at least quarterly. Further, associated persons are prohibited from trading on non-public information or sharing such information.

You have the right to decline any investment recommendation. LongView and its associated persons are required to conduct their securities and investment advisory business in accordance with all applicable Federal and State securities regulations.

Prohibition on Use of Insider Information

LongView has adopted policies and procedures to prevent the misuse of “insider” information (i.e. material n, non-public information). A copy of such policies and procedures is available to any person upon request.

C. Review of Accounts

You will be invited to participate in a review not less than at least annually or as agreed by you and your Advisory Representative. You may request more frequent reviews and may set thresholds for triggering events that would cause a review to take place. Your Advisory Representative will monitor for changes or shifts in the economy, changes to the management and structure of a mutual fund or company in which your assets are invested, and market shifts and corrections.

You are advised that you must notify your Advisory Representative promptly of any changes to your financial goals, objectives or financial situation as such changes may require him review the potfolio allocation and make recommendations for changes.

Clients participating in managed account programs will be provided statements at least quarterly direct from the account custodian. Additionally, you will receive confirmations of all transactions occuring direct from the account custodian. You may request additional account summary reports from LongView at any time. You should compare any report produced by LongView with statements received direct from the account custodian. Should there be any discrepancy the account custodian’s report will prevail.

D. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Product vendors recommended by LongView can provide monetary and non-monetary assistance with client events, provide educational tools and resources. LongView does not select products as a result of any monetary or non-monetary assistance. The selection of product is first and foremost. LongView’s due diligence of a product does not take into consideration any assistance it receives. Therefore, this is not considered a conflict of interest but a benefit for you and LongView.

Certain Advisory Representatives have entered into a promissory note with Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. January 2015 and September 2017 to receive an initial loan amount. The provisions of the Promissory Note with Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. is a five (5) year forgiveness schedule of a portion of the loan amount provided IAR has achieved specified annual production requirements and maintained the required balance of assets under management in specified programs for the year as stipulated by Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. Provided production thresholds and asset under management thresholds are maintained in specified programs for each year ending 2020 and 2022 respectively, Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. will forgive 100% of the loan. Production thresholds increase over the five-year period. Failure to achieve production thresholds and maintain the specified assets under management in specified programs will result in a portion of the loan having to be repaid by the Advisory Representatives to Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. There is a conflict of interest for Advisory Representatives to generate (i.e. sell products), direct business through Cambridge Investment Research, Inc., and recommend and utilize Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. advisory programs.

To mitigate this conflict of interest this disclosure has been provided to you. You should discuss any recommendations provided by your Advisory Representative with another financial professional if you have any concerns about the appropriateness of the recommendation based on your financial situation.

LongView does not directly or indirectly compensate any person who is not a supervised person of LongView for referrals. Further, LongView does not receive an economic benefit from a non-client for providing investment advice or advisory services to you.

Products and Services Available to Us from Schwab

Schwab Advisor Services™ (formerly called Schwab Institutional®) is Schwab's business serving independent investment advisory firms like us. They provide us and our clients with access to its institutional brokerage — trading, custody, reporting, and related services — many of which are not typically available to Schwab retail customers. Schwab also makes available various support services. Some of those services help us manage or administer our clients' accounts, while others help us manage and grow our business. Schwab's support services generally are available on an unsolicited basis (we don't have to request them) and at no charge to us as long as our clients collectively maintain a total of at least $10 million of their assets in accounts at Schwab. If our clients collectively have less than $10 million in assets at Schwab, Schwab may charge us quarterly service fees of $1,200.

Services That May Not Directly Benefit You.

Schwab also makes available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients' accounts. They include investment research, both Schwab's own and that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or a substantial number of our clients' accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab. In addition to investment research, Schwab also makes available software and other technology that:

LongView Wealth Management

- Provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements)
- Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts
- Provide pricing and other market data
- Facilitate payment of our fees from our clients' accounts
- Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting

Services That Generally Benefit Only Us.

Schwab also offers other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. These services include:

- Educational conferences and events
- Consulting on technology, compliance, legal, and business needs
- Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession
- Access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, and insurance providers

Schwab may provide some of these services itself. In other cases, it will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to us. Schwab may also discount or waive its fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party's fees. Schwab may also provide us with other benefits, such as occasional business entertainment of our personnel.

Our Interest in Schwab's Services

The availability of these services from Schwab benefits us because we do not have to produce or purchase them. We don't have to pay for Schwab's services so long as our clients collectively keep a total of at least $10 million of their assets in accounts at Schwab. Beyond that, these services are not contingent upon us committing any specific amount of business to Schwab in trading commissions or assets in custody. The $10 million minimum gives us an incentive to recommend that you maintain your account with Schwab, based on our interest in receiving Schwab's services that benefit our business rather than based on your interest in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of your transactions. This is a conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of Schwab as custodian and broker is in the best interests of our clients. Our selection is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of Schwab's services and not Schwab's services that benefit only us.

E. Custody

LongView will not require you to prepay more than $1,200 and six or more months in advance of receiving the advisory service.

With the exception of deduction of LongView's advisory fees from your accounts, LongView does not take custody of your funds or securities. Additionally, LongView will be deemed to have custody if a client has a standing letter of authorization (SLOA) to transfer funds or securities to a third party and LongView has the ability to direct transfers, change the amount, and/or the timing of the transfer.

Under government regulations, we are deemed to have custody of your assets if, for example, you authorize us to instruct your account custodian to deduct our advisory fees directly from your account or if you grant us authority to move your money to another person's account. Your account custodian maintains actual custody of your assets. You will receive account statements directly from your account custodian at least quarterly. They will be sent to the email or postal mailing address you provided. You should carefully review those statements promptly when you receive them.

Item 10 - REQUIREMENTS FOR STATE REGISTERED ADVISERS

This section is not applicable to LongView. LongView is not state registered. LongView is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission.
