Hourly Fee: The firm assesses an hourly rate not to exceed $500 an hour for consulting related financial planning services. The minimum hourly planning fee is $150. For prepaid fees in excess of $500, services will be completed within six months of the date fees are received.

Comprehensive Financial and Divorce Planning Fee: The firm assesses a one-time fee ranging from $1,500.00 to $50,000. The number of hours will vary depending upon the complexity of the financial situation, the estimate of hours involved, including preparation and research, areas to be specified and estimated in the written agreement for services. The comprehensive planning fee can be negotiated with the client.

Comprehensive Business Consulting Fee: The firm assesses an annual fee ranging from $5,000 to $250,000. The fee will vary depending upon the types of services provided, financial situation, the estimate of hours involved, including preparation and research, areas to be specified and estimated in the written agreement for services. The fee can be negotiated with the client but no less than $5,000.00 per year. The fee is billed quarterly in advance of services.

Termination of Financial Planning Services

A client may terminate this service for any reason within the first five (5) business days after signing the contract without any cost or penalty. Thereafter, the contract may be terminated at any time by giving ten (10) days' notice to the firm at Lakeside Wealth Management Group, LLC, 3100 Village Point, Ste 200, Chesterton, IN 46304. Upon notice of termination, hourly financial planning fees will be pro-rated and billed based upon the number of hours that services were rendered. For comprehensive financial planning services, fees will be pro-rated and billed based on a percentage of work completed on the financial plan and not for termination of access to eMoney Advisor.

B. PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT SERVICES

¹ Please note that our method for computing the amount of "client assets we manage" can be different from the method for computing "assets under management" required for Item 5.F in Part 1A of Form ADV.

Fees for portfolio supervisory services will be a percentage of the assets under management, and clients pay periodic investment management fees. Fees will be calculated, accrued and due quarterly in advance based on the annualized tiered billing schedule below.

Tiered Billing Schedule:

Fair Market Value of Account	Management Fee
Up to $250,000	1.85%
$250,001 to $500,000	1.60%
$500,001 to $1,000,000	0.90%
$1,000,001 to $2,000,000	0.60%
$2,000,001 to $5,000,000	0.45%
$5,000,001 to $25,000,000	0.40%
$25,000,001 to $50,000,000	0.30%
$50,000,001+	0.25%

The initial quarter's management fee (or pro-rata portion) are payable upon the acceptance of the account and billed upon funding. Subsequently, the management fee is billed quarterly and will be charged in advance and calculated on the account's quarter-end value as reported by the account's custodian. Management fees are prorated for each contribution or withdrawal of cash or securities made during the applicable calendar quarter in excess of $10,000. Cash balances and investments in money market funds, demand deposit accounts, and certificates of deposit are covered by the account and are included in the fee calculations.

Under some circumstances the firm's fees may be lower than the rate schedule. Accordingly, rates may vary based on a variety of factors. For example, in determining fees, rates, and minimums, the firm may aggregate related accounts and, for billing purposes, treat them like one account. The management fee is tiered. A tiered fee means the applicable rate will be applied to the custodian reported value in each applicable range of account value. For example, an account with a quarter end value of $300,000 will be charged at a rate of 1.85% for the first $250,000 and 1.60% for the remaining $50,000. Each account in the household will have an effective billing rate applied to each account. Existing clients may have a fee arrangement other than the current fee schedule. The fee can be negotiated with the client.

The amount of the fee charged will be viewable as account activity in the quarterly statement following the quarter-end. A client may terminate the ability to directly deduct the fees from the account by notifying the adviser or custodian. A client may request that fees for certain accounts be deducted from another account or request to be invoiced for the account fees.

The firm's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses that are incurred by the client. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third-party investment advisers or other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange-traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to the firm's fees and the firm does not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

Item 12 further describes the factors that the firm considers in selecting or recommending broker/dealers for client transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

The firm has discretion to unilaterally amend our fees and billing arrangements. Any change will only become effective after thirty (30) days prior written notice. The fees for these portfolios are not based on the financial performance or capital gains or losses experienced by the account.

C. TERMINATION OF PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT SERVICES

A client may terminate this service for any reason within the first five (5) business days after signing the contract without any cost or penalty. Thereafter, the contract may be terminated at any time by giving ten (10) days' notice to the firm at Lakeside Wealth Management Group, LLC, 3100 Village Point, Ste 200, Chesterton, IN 46304. Upon written notice of termination, fees will be pro-rated for the number of days that services were rendered based on the account's valuation as of the termination date.

D. RETIREMENT PLAN CONSULTING SERVICES FEE

For all details regarding the retirement plan consulting service fees, please see the Qualified Plan Consulting ADV Part 2 A.

E. OTHER SECURITIES COMPENSATION

The firm is not associated with any other securities firms, investment adviser or broker/dealer. It does not receive any other form of securities-related compensation.

Most the firm's representatives are registered representatives of First Allied Securities, Inc. ("FASI"), a registered broker/dealer. We have one who is also an investment adviser representative of First Allied Advisory Services, Inc. ("FAAS"), a registered investment adviser. As registered representatives and investment adviser representatives, they can sell securities and advisory services to clients that are separate from their services as investment adviser representatives of the firm. Sales as registered representatives and investment adviser representatives pay a commission or a fee that is separate from the firm's fees outlined above. This could create a conflict of interest because it creates a financial incentive to recommend investment products based on compensation, rather than on a client's need. The firm and its representatives address the conflict of interest by telling clients when they are acting as registered representatives of FASI, an investment adviser representative of FAAS, or as an investment adviser representative of the firm. The firm have also implemented a Code of Ethics and other policies and procedures to address the conflict. Finally, when receiving a recommendation to purchase other investment products, clients always have the option to purchase the investment products through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with the firm.

6. PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

The firm does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains or on capital appreciation of the assets of a client). This section is not applicable.

7. TYPES OF CLIENTS

The firm's services are offered to individuals, high net worth individuals, trusts, charitable organizations, pension and profit-sharing plans, corporations, other businesses entities and State or municipal government entities.

The firm requires a minimum account size of $250,000.00 (two hundred fifty thousand dollars) for portfolio management services. Minimum account size exceptions may be made, solely at the firm's discretion, based on such factors as prior or anticipated investment activity. The firm may aggregate related accounts in the same household in determining whether the account minimum has been met and in calculating the rate applicable to its fees. Minimums, including the minimum planning fee of $500.00, may be negotiated.

8. METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

A. METHODS OF ANALYSIS AND INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

Advisers are required to give a description of their methods of analysis and investment strategies that are used in formulating investment advice or managing assets.

Methods of Analysis:

Fundamental Analysis – Fundamental analysis is a technique that attempts to determine a security's value by focusing on underlying factors that affect a company's actual business and its prospects. The analysis is performed on historical and present data. On a broader scope, one can perform fundamental analysis on industries or the economy as a whole. The term refers to the analysis of the economic well-being of a financial entity as opposed to only its price movements. The risk associated with fundamental analysis is that despite that appearance that a security is undervalued, it may not rise in value as predicted.

Technical Analysis – Technical Analysis is a method of evaluating securities by analyzing statistics generated by market activity, such as past prices and volume. Technical analysts do not attempt to measure a security's intrinsic value, but instead use charts and other tools to identify patterns that can suggest future activity. The risk associated with technical analysis is that there is no broad consensus among technical traders on the best method of identifying future price movements.

Asset Allocation – Asset Allocation is an investment strategy that aims to balance risk and reward by apportioning a portfolio's assets according to an individual's goals, risk tolerance and investment horizon. Each class has different levels of risk and return, so each will behave differently over time.

Investment Strategies we use:

- Long-term purchases (securities held at least a year)
- Short-term purchases (securities sold within a year)
- Periodic rebalancing

B. INVESTMENT RISKS

All investments bear different types and degrees of risk and investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. While we recommend various securities that are designed to provide appropriate investment diversification, some investments have significantly greater risks than others. Obtaining higher rates of return on investments entails accepting higher levels of risk. Recommended investment strategies seek to balance risks and rewards to achieve investment objectives. Clients need to ask questions about risks they do not understand. We would be pleased to discuss them.

We strive to render our best judgment on behalf of our clients. Still, we cannot assure or guarantee clients that investments will be profitable or assure that no losses will occur in an investment portfolio. Past performance is an important consideration with respect to any investment or investment adviser but is not a reliable predictor of future performance. We continuously strive to provide outstanding long-term investment performance, but many economic and market variables beyond our control can affect the performance of an investment portfolio.

C. RECOMMENDED SECURITIES AND THEIR RISKS

The firm recommends several types of securities to its clients. These include, but are not limited to mutual funds, stocks, bonds, certificates of deposit, commercial paper, municipal securities, options, variable annuities, variable life insurance, structured products, real estate investment trusts and exchange traded funds. An investment in a security could lose money over short or even long periods. A client should expect his/her account value and returns to fluctuate within a wide range, like the fluctuations of the overall stock and bond markets. The risks associated with the recommended securities include, but are not limited to:

- Stock market risk: The chance that stock prices overall will decline. Stock markets tend to move in cycles, with periods of rising stock prices and periods of falling stock prices.
- Interest rate risk: The chance that bond prices overall will decline because of rising interest rates.

- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Manager risk: The chance that poor security selection will cause a mutual fund or other managed product to underperform relevant to benchmarks or other securities products with similar investment objectives.
- Active management fees risk: Active management strategies that involve frequent trading generate higher transaction costs which diminish the fund's return. In addition, the short-term capital gains resulting from frequent trades often have an unfavorable income tax impact when such funds are held in a taxable account.
- International Investing Risk: Investing in the securities of non-U.S. companies involves special risks not typically associated with investing in U.S. companies. Foreign securities tend to be more volatile and less liquid than investments in U.S. securities, and may lose value because of adverse political, social or economic developments overseas or due to changes in the exchange rates between foreign currencies and the U.S. dollar. In addition, foreign investments are subject to settlement practices, as well as regulatory and financial reporting standards, that differ from those of the U.S.

Clients need to ask questions about risks they do not understand. The adviser would be pleased to discuss them.

9. DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

We are required to disclose whether there are legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management. There are several specific legal and disciplinary events that we must presume are material for this item. If our advisory firm or a management person has been involved in one of these events, we must disclose it under this item for ten years following the date of the event unless (1) the event was resolved in our or the management person's favor, or was reversed, suspended or vacated, or (2) the event is not material (see Note below). For purposes of calculating this ten-year period, the "date" of an event is the date that the final order, judgment, or decree was entered, or the date that any rights of appeal from preliminary orders, judgments or decrees lapsed.

The SEC and/or State Regulators have not provided us with an exclusive list of material disciplinary events that need to be disclosed. If our advisory firm or a management person has been involved in a legal or disciplinary event that is not specifically required to be disclosed, but nonetheless is material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management, we must disclose the event. Similarly, even if more than ten years has passed since the date of the event, we must disclose the event if it is so serious that it remains currently material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our firm or management.

We have no information applicable to this item because we have never been the subject of any administrative, civil, criminal or self-regulatory proceedings.

10. OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS

A. BROKER-DEALER AFFILIATIONS

The owners and most of the investment adviser representatives of the firm are also registered representatives of First Allied Securities, Inc., a broker/dealer. The amount of time spent on this activity varies with each person and is disclosed in his/her ADV Part 2B. Please refer back to item 5.D. above for additional information.

Lakeside Wealth Management Group, LLC and First Allied Securities, LLC are not affiliated entities.

B. FUTURES/COMMODITIES FIRM AFFILIATION

The firm, its owners and investment adviser representatives are not affiliated with a futures or commodities broker.

C. OTHER INDUSTRY AFFILIATIONS

The owners and most of the investment adviser representatives of the firm are also independent insurance agents (Life, Health and Long-Term Care Licensed). The amount of time spent on this activity varies with each person and is disclosed in his/her ADV Part 2.B. The sale of insurance products is considered investment related and the purchase of insurance products may be recommended to a client. It also pays commissions that are separate from the fees described above. With the ability to work as a client's insurance agent and investment adviser representative, this could be viewed as a conflict of interest because each service pays a separate fee or commission. However, the firm and its representatives attempt to mitigate any conflicts of interest to the best of their ability by placing the client's interests ahead of their own and through the implementation of policies and procedures that address the conflict.

11. CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

A. DESCRIPTION

The firm's Code of Ethics establishes ideals for ethical conduct upon fundamental principles of openness, integrity, honesty, and trust. The firm will provide a copy of our Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

The firm's Code of Ethics covers all supervised persons and it describes its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at the firm must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

B. MATERIAL INTEREST IN SECURITIES

The firm and its owners and investment adviser representatives do not recommend the purchase or sale of securities in which they have a material financial interest.

C. INVESTING IN OR RECOMMENDING THE SAME SECURITIES

On occasion, the firm's owners and investment adviser representatives may buy or sell for their own accounts securities that are the same as, similar to, or different than those that they recommend to their clients for purchase or sale. Differences can arise due to variations in personal goals, investment horizons, risk tolerance, and the timing of purchases and sales. The firm attempts to mitigate the conflict of interest to the best of its ability through the enactment of the firm's Code of Ethics, trading policies, and its fiduciary responsibilities. Nonetheless, the firm generally attempts to place client transactions ahead of proprietary trades. The associates of the firm are aware of their fiduciary duty to their clients and the prohibitions against the use of any insider information. Records of all associates' proprietary trading activities will be kept by the firm, available to regulators to review on the premises.

12. BROKERAGE PRACTICES

A. RECOMMENDATION CRITERIA

As part of its investment management discretion, the firm has discretion to choose the client's custodian. The firm uses both Pershing Advisor Solutions, LLC ("PAS") or TD Ameritrade Institutional program ("TDA") as a custodian for its client's accounts. The firm uses either PAS or TDA to execute the client's equity transactions. With respect to fixed income transactions (i.e. bonds) the firm researches prices at PAS and TDA. The firm recognizes its fiduciary responsibility in negotiating brokerage commissions, assuring best execution practices and assuring adequate investment availability/inventory on behalf of its clients.

Advisor participates in the TD Ameritrade Institutional program for client accounts that were moved to Lakeside from another Advisor using TDA. TD Ameritrade Institutional is a division of TD Ameritrade, Inc. ("TD Ameritrade"), member FINRA/SIPC. TD Ameritrade is an independent and unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer. TD Ameritrade offers to independent investment Advisors services which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions. Advisor receives some benefits from TD Ameritrade through its participation in the program. (Please see the disclosure under Item 14 below.)

i. RESEARCH AND SOFT DOLLAR BENEFITS

"Soft dollars" are defined as a form of payment investment firms can use to pay for goods and services such as news subscriptions or research. When an investment firm gives its business to a particular brokerage firm, the brokerage firm in return can agree to use some of its revenue to pay for these types of services.

ii. BROKERAGE FOR CLIENT REFERRALS

The firm does not receive client referrals or any other incentive from Pershing Advisor Solutions, LLC or TD Ameritrade

iii. DIRECTED BROKERAGE

Some clients may direct us to a specific broker/dealer to execute securities transactions for their accounts. When so directed, we may not be able to effectively negotiate lower brokerage commissions or achieve best execution on client's transactions. This can result in substantially higher fees, charges or dealer concessions in one or more transactions for the client's account because the firm cannot negotiate favorable prices.

Because of our affiliation with First Allied Securities, Inc., Lakeside may not be able to use certain custodians selected by the client.

B. TRADING PRACTICES

i. BLOCK TRADING

The firm's practice is to combine or "batch" such orders to obtain best execution or to allocate equitably among the firm's clients. Transactions will be averaged as to price and will be allocated among clients' accounts in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each account on any given day.

ii. CROSS TRADING

The firm may execute cross trades on behalf of its clients. A cross trade occurs when the firm effects a transaction between two clients (e.g. having Account A purchase securities directly from Account B). In a cross-trade transaction, the firm receives no compensation other than its advisory fee. However, there is a conflict of interest because the firm is acting as an adviser for both the buyer and seller of the security. The firm addresses this conflict of interest by acting as a fiduciary for both clients. It also follows the following policies and procedures that address the conflict of interest.

The firm shall not affect a cross trade for clients unless: it has determined that no client will be disfavored by cross trading; the trade is effected at a price determined by an independent pricing mechanism and such pricing mechanism is documented as to each cross trade, and in the case of cross trades involving one or more client whose account contains employee benefit plan assets, no cross trade shall be effected without the pre-approval (in each instance) of the Chief Compliance Officer.

iii. TRADE ERRORS

When trade errors occur, it is the firm's policy to ensure that the error is immediately corrected without impacting the client. Upon recognition of the error the firm moves the trade to its trade error account and the client is returned to his/her previous position. All trade error losses are returned to the client. All trade error gains are kept in the trade error account for at least one year to offset future trade error losses. After one year or when dictated by the trade error account custodian, trade error gains may be donated to a charity.

13. REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

A. PERIODIC REVIEWS

Financial Planning Services – A client's plan will be reviewed upon request.

Portfolio Management Services – The firm has two levels of review associated with its portfolio management services. The first level of review is conducted by the firm's investment committee. It reviews the holdings and allocations of the Lakeside Lite Portfolio on an annual basis. It also reviews the holdings and allocations of Lakeside Core Portfolio on a quarterly basis. The second level of review is conducted by the investment adviser representative assigned to the client's account on an annual basis.

The firm's investment committee includes Mark W. Chamberlain, Chief Executive Officer, Timothy D. Rice, President, Chip Mang, Chief Investment Officer, Timothy VerSchure, Senior Vice-President, and some of the firm's investment adviser representatives, Aaron Adcock, Nancy Clifford, Michael DeLeon, Chris Frain, Kirk Futrell, Cory Helmbrecht, Kris Hornyak, Tom Muldowney, Kelly Shikany, Nick Walding, Ed Cheatham, Chris Ylo and Mindy Reineke.

Qualified Plan Services – Reviews associated with Qualified Plan Services are negotiated with each individual plan. Please see the client service agreement for this information.

B. OTHER REVIEWS

Additional reviews are conducted periodically depending on market conditions, economic or political events, or by changes in a client's financial situation (such as retirement, termination of employment, physical move or inheritance). Any changes in a client's financial situation, goals, or risk tolerance may also affect the current strategy guiding a client's portfolio and other investments. Clients are urged to notify their investment adviser representative of any such change at their earliest convenience.

C. REPORTS

Financial planning clients receive access to eMoney, a financial planning web based software. Portfolio Management clients receive at least quarterly statements from their custodian. The firm urges clients to carefully review such statements. In addition to the quarterly statements from the account custodians, each client receives online access to his or her account through Albridge, which contains account holdings and balance information. Those clients whose investments include other mutual funds or variable annuities will receive customary reports from the mutual fund or insurance company holding those investments.

14. CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

A. OTHER COMPENSATION

We receive the following benefits from Pershing Advisor Solutions, LLC and TD Ameritrade that include assistance with practice management and assistance with the management of client accounts, including, but not limited to: receipt of duplicate client confirmations; receipt of duplicate client statements; access to a trading desk serving investment adviser firm participants exclusively, and providing research, pricing information, and other market data; access to the investment advisor portion of their web sites which includes practice management articles, compliance updates, and other financial planning related information and research materials; access to other vendors (such as insurance or compliance providers, or providers of research or other materials) on a discounted fee basis through discounts arranged by the custodians; permitting the Adviser to access an electronic communication network for client order entry and to access a client's account information and which may otherwise assist us with our back-office functions, including recordkeeping and client reporting; conferences that our associated persons may attend (with no or discounted registration and travel fees) and receive continuing education credits for attending; and additional training on issues such as practice management, marketing, investment theory, financial planning, business succession, regulatory compliance, and information technology. Generally, many of these services are used to service all or a substantial number of client's accounts. Educational, research, or other services provided by custodian or mutual fund companies may benefit all of our clients, or only some.

Certain Investment Adviser Representatives of Lakeside, who are also registered representatives of First Allied Securities, Inc., a Broker/Dealer ("First Allied"), have received payments from First Allied in connection with continuing the relationship with First Allied. These payments, which may be significant, are intended to assist the IAR with the cost associated of doing business. Please see the representative's Form ADV Part 2B for information regarding payments received from First Allied. These payments may be in the form of a forgivable loan to the IAR, which are repayable to First Allied or are forgiven by First Allied based on years of service with First Allied (e.g., if the IAR remains with First Allied for 5 years). The Note and any additional payments to new or existing IARs present a conflict of interest in that an IAR has a financial incentive to maintain a relationship with First Allied as a Registered Representative.

Lakeside occasionally receives reasonable and customary economic benefits such as business lunches, dinners or other entertainment from financial product sponsors. These benefits are not related to the assets Lakeside places with the product sponsors.

B. CLIENT REFERRALS

The firm does not pay for client referrals.

15. CUSTODY

All client funds, securities and accounts are held at Pershing Advisor Solutions, LLC or TD Ameritrade, a third-party custodian. The firm does not take possession of a client's securities. However, the client will be asked to authorize the firm with the ability to deduct fees directly from the client's account. The firm follows the guidelines established by the Securities and Exchange Commission for directly debiting advisory fees from client custodial accounts to ensure that the firm will not be deemed to have custody of client funds and/or securities with the regard to the practice of debiting.

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker/dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. The statements will show the fee withdrawn. The firm urges each client to carefully review such statements.

16. INVESTMENT DISCRETION

The firm's Portfolio Management Services are discretionary. The firm's discretionary authority is obtained when a client signs an investment management agreement that includes a limited power of attorney. The agreement and limited power of attorney allows the firm to buy and/or sell securities the firm has selected, within the tolerance agreed to by the client, and in the amounts the firm deems suited to the agreed upon portfolio structure. It allows the firm to place each such trade without the client's prior approval. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account, and any other investment policies, limitation or restrictions. The firm's discretionary authority also includes the ability to choose a custodian for client accounts.

17. VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Unless otherwise mutually agreed in writing, the firm will not be responsible for responding to proxies that are solicited with respect to annual or special meetings of shareholders of securities held in client's accounts. Proxy solicitation materials will be forwarded to clients for response and voting. In the event a client has a question about a proxy solicitation, the client should contact his/her investment adviser representative.
