Item 4 – Advisory Business

StoneCastle Cash Management, LLC was formed in 2009 and is principally owned by StoneCastle Holdings, LLC. StoneCastle Holdings, LLC is a wholly-owned subsidiary of StoneCastle Partners, LLC.

StoneCastle provides deposit, liquidity, funding, and cash management solutions. StoneCastle's services are limited to these type of cash investments.

The Federally Insured Cash Account, FICA® ("FICA®") is StoneCastle's proprietary cash management vehicle offering a high level of FDIC or NCUSIF insurance, daily deposit availability, next day liquidity and a competitive yield compared to money market mutual funds, treasury securities and non-insured bank deposits. FICA® provides institutional depositors (and financial intermediaries through its FICA® For Advisors solution, which is the FICA® program branded to appeal to financial intermediary firms) with access to hundreds of carefully screened, participating banks or credit unions¹ ("Depository Institutions") via a single account. Through its FICA® Program, client deposits are allocated across the Depository Institutions striving to ensure full FDIC insurance. StoneCastle may add and remove Depository Institutions in the FICA® Program at its sole discretion.

The Institutional Cash Account ("ICA®") is StoneCastle's cash management vehicle offering daily deposit availability, unlimited transactions, and a competitive rate when compared to money market funds, treasury securities and non-insured bank deposits. ICA® offers no term requirement on large, US dollar denominated deposits. ICA® provides institutional depositors with access to highly rated banks via a single account. Through the ICA® program, clients have one application that provides them access to multiple banks. Clients have discretion to move from funds from one bank to another on any day for any reason.

1 Credit unions are not utilized for public entity clients.

FICA® For Banks enables participating banks to enhance their relationship with commercial, non-profit, individual, and local government customers by allowing banks to provide FDIC insurance on large balances. FICA® For Banks allocates a bank customer's large deposits across its Depository Institution network, striving to ensure full FDIC insurance on all deposits.

StoneCastle uses its financial expertise to monitor and carefully screen the Depository Institutions on an ongoing basis. StoneCastle is not a member of the FDIC or National Credit Union Administration (NCUA), but the depository banks/institutions where client funds are placed are FDIC and/or NCUA members. FDIC and NCUA are independent agencies of the U.S. government that protect the funds depositors place in FDIC and NCUA insured institutions. FDIC and NCUA deposit insurance is backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government.

StoneCastle clients may impose restrictions or exclusions on deposits (opt-out) of specific Depository Institutions. All such features and exclusions would be set forth in a client's written agreement with StoneCastle.

StoneCastle does not participate in wrap fee programs.

As of December 31, 2019, StoneCastle had discretionary assets under supervision of approximately $ $7,001,711,863.

As of December 31, 2019, StoneCastle had non-discretionary assets under management of approximately $0.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Generally, StoneCastle will charge a fee, based on assets under administration. StoneCastle's fees may be negotiated on a case by case basis as are the termination provisions.

FICA® For Banks and ICA® Programs

The fees charged by StoneCastle are a percentage of the amount of gross interest earned on client deposits at each insured institution. The amount of the gross interest earned at each institution is determined at the discretion of the institutions based on prevailing economic and business conditions and, as such, varies between institutions. Each institution may also adjust the amount of gross interest it pays on deposits on a monthly basis. The interest rate earned by each client may vary within a particular program (e.g., FICA®, FICA® For Advisors, FICA® For Banks and ICA®) based on the size of the account balance and the introducing party. The percentage of the gross interest that StoneCastle retains as its fee will also vary between institution and over time. However, the fees charged by StoneCastle will never exceed the interest earned by a client from the institutions.

The fees are deducted from the insured institutions' omnibus accounts at the same time interest is paid to client accounts.

In addition, with prior notice the custodian may charge a client for specific costs incurred in processing transactions as well as certain other administrative fees and expenses for unusual transactions including, but not limited to, wire requests, copies of statements and special research services as stated in the account custody agreement. Such amounts may be deducted by the custodian from the client account.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

StoneCastle does not charge a performance-based fee.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

StoneCastle provides cash management services and generally imposes a minimum dollar commitment, but such minimum commitment is negotiated on a case by case basis. StoneCastle may lower such minimum at its discretion.

The minimum initial deposit into a FICA® account is $1,000,000. The maximum deposit into a FICA® account to receive full federal insurance protection is $150,000,000; however, this is subject to change.

The minimum initial deposit into an ICA® account is $20,000,000. There is no maximum deposit into ICA®; however, this is subject to change.

There is no minimum initial deposit into a FICA® For Advisors account. The maximum deposit into a FICA® For Advisors account to receive full federal insurance protection is $100,000,000; however, this is subject to change.

There is no minimum amount required for subsequent deposits. StoneCastle may change such minimum and maximum at its discretion.

StoneCastle currently provides cash management services primarily to: high net worth individuals through financial intermediaries (e.g., Registered Investment Advisors and wealth managers), institutional depositors, banking or thrift institutions, investment companies, financial intermediaries, family offices, pooled investment vehicles, pension and profit-sharing plans, charitable organizations, colleges and universities, corporations or business entities, state or municipal entities and insurance companies.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Analysis

As part of its focus on maintaining a large and diverse bank network, StoneCastle maintains an extensive network of carefully selected and screened participating deposit institutions. StoneCastle has developed its own proprietary credit system for rating banks. Bank ratings are based on an evaluation of several factors, including but not limited to, credit quality, and diversification, as well as management strength and operational capabilities.

All Depository Institutions within the FICA[®] programs are screened by StoneCastle to ensure that each meets the strict credit standards of the program. This process provides an additional layer of security, supplementing the complete insurance coverage provided on all deposits.

StoneCastle utilizes its proprietary quantitative algorithm for grading the financial condition of each potential and current program bank. This grading system is largely based on the CAMELS methodology used by regulators.

Potential deposit taking institutions must meet initial capital adequacy and asset quality baselines. In order to meet these initial standards, banks must be classified as “Well Capitalized” as defined by the FDIC or the NCUA at the time the institution is brought onto the program.

In determining capitalization status, three main ratios are taken into account: Leverage, Tier 1 and Total Risk-Based Capital. Together, StoneCastle believes these ratios provide insight into an insured institution’s ability to withstand economic adversity.

StoneCastle also uses other public data bases (such as those available through FDIC, OTS, OCC and the Federal Reserve) to conduct its review. Although StoneCastle may use research provided by third parties when available, primary emphasis is placed on proprietary monitoring and models conducted and maintained by its credit professionals.

Deposit Strategies

StoneCastle may utilize transaction, savings, money market deposit and CD accounts at banks all of which have pass-through deposit insurance coverage through the FDIC.

FICA[®], FICA[®] For Advisors and FICA[®] For Banks

StoneCastle's strategy strives to ensure that a client's cash deposit has full federal insurance coverage from an extensive proprietary network of carefully-screened, participating federally insured institutions.

ICA[®] Program

Through its processes, StoneCastle grants institutional investors the ability to review and select banks that meet a client's investment criteria.

StoneCastle may pay third parties for information on or for introductions to potential network banks.

Risks related to Cybersecurity

StoneCastle employs various measures aimed at mitigating cybersecurity risk, including, among others, use of firewalls, system segmentation, system monitoring, and virus scanning. However, there is no guarantee that the efforts of StoneCastle or other service providers, will succeed, either entirely or partially as there are limits on StoneCastle's ability to prevent, detect or mitigate cyber events. A client could be negatively impacted as a result of a cybersecurity breach. Cybersecurity breaches can include unauthorized access to systems, networks or devices; infection from computer viruses or other malicious software code; and attacks that shut down, disable, slow, or otherwise disrupt operations, business processes or website access or functionality. Cybersecurity breaches can cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses to a client; impediments to trading; the inability by StoneCastle and other service providers to transact business; violations of applicable privacy and other laws; or additional compliance costs.

Risk of Loss

Deposit accounts involves certain risks that clients should be prepared to bear. It is possible to lose money by utilizing these programs. For example, a client could lose money if one or more of the Depository Institutions fails. However, this loss would only pertain to the portion of the client's allocation that was in a failed Depository Institution in excess of the FDIC insured maximum.

Deposits up to the FICA® Program Depository Institution maximums, carry no principal risk as those deposits are federally insured/backed by the full faith and credit of the US government. Depository Institutions in the FICA® network are FDIC-insured “banks” and “savings associations” as those terms are defined in the Federal Deposit Insurance Act.

If a Client has cash at any Depository Institution independently from the FICA® Program that is in the FICA® network, then full FDIC insurance coverage on deposits at those institutions may not be received. In addition, ratings are subject to change and do not remove market risk.

StoneCastle will do its best in the administration of client deposits; however, it cannot guarantee any level of performance or that a client will not experience a loss of account assets.

StoneCastle operations could be adversely affected by events outside of its control, such as natural disasters or public health epidemics. StoneCastle may incur expenses, delays, or interruption of critical business functions relating to such events outside of its control, which could have a material adverse impact on its business including, but not limited to, the financial conditions or prospects of investments and the sourcing of new opportunities. Such material adverse impact could, in turn, adversely affect StoneCastle.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

StoneCastle has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the Firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at StoneCastle must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of StoneCastle will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts.

StoneCastle and its affiliates engage in a broad spectrum of activities. In the ordinary course of their business activities, they may engage in activities where their interests or the interests of their clients may conflict with StoneCastle's interests. Other present and future activities of StoneCastle and its affiliates may give rise to additional conflicts of interest which may have a negative impact on StoneCastle and its clients.

In addition, StoneCastle or its affiliates may have deposit accounts or other interests at the same Depository Institutions that it recommends to its clients. As noted above, StoneCastle's Code of Ethics requires all personnel to act in the best interests of clients and avoid any conflicts of interest.

StoneCastle will provide a copy of its Code of Ethics to clients or prospective clients upon request. Contact information appears on the cover page of this Brochure.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

This section is currently not applicable.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Reviews

Depository Institutions are reviewed and screened at least once per quarter to ensure they continue to meet the program's credit standards. If at any time a bank falls below these standards, StoneCastle will take action which may include: reduction of funding levels, ceasing additional funding or the complete withdrawal of funds and removal from the program. There is no formal committee that reviews and monitors Depository Institutions.

Monthly statements, reports and confirms are provided electronically to participants on such periodic dates, and with such content, as is negotiated on a case by case basis.

FICA® and ICA® Account Statements

Clients have direct online access to their monthly statements through a secure website. Client consent is given to electronic delivery of account information. StoneCastle sends clients an e-mail as notification when the account statement is available for viewing. All activity with respect to the client's account, including account balance at each bank and the net interest earned in the account during the prior period appears on the account statement.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

In certain situations, StoneCastle compensates third parties for referrals to the cash management program, FICA.[®] Such compensation may take the form of a portion of StoneCastle's fees on the account or a decreased yield to the client.

Currently, StoneCastle has entered into agreements with various unrelated third parties to introduce clients to the FICA[®] Program in exchange for a fee. The amount of the fee varies and is agreed upon by the client, the third party and StoneCastle.

In some cases, the referral fee will be deducted from a client's account in addition to the FICA[®] fee. In this arrangement, a prospective client introduced by a third party and who deposits money in a FICA[®] account may earn a different monthly account yield, which will generally be less than the account yield earned by an institution depositing money directly with the FICA[®] custodian.

In other cases, StoneCastle will pay the referral fee to the third party and the client will not be charged a referral fee. In this arrangement, a prospective client will receive the same yield as an institution depositing money directly with the FICA[®] custodian.

Item 15 – Custody

StoneCastle does not maintain custody of clients' funds and/or securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

The limitations on StoneCastle's authority to determine, without obtaining specific consent, the Depository Institutions into which clients funds are deposited, are set forth in the applicable FICA[®], or ICA[®] Application, which includes Terms and Conditions that are negotiated with each client. Clients can choose to exclude certain Depository Institutions as set forth in their FICA Application.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities (i.e., Proxy Voting)

Proxy voting is currently not applicable to StoneCastle given the type of cash management solutions it offers. However, StoneCastle has adopted Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures should it have proxy voting responsibilities at any time in the future.

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide certain financial information or disclosures about StoneCastle's financial condition. StoneCastle has no financial condition that impairs its ability to meet contractual commitments to clients and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition. StoneCastle does not require prepayment of advisory fees; therefore, the Firm is not required to provide an audited financial statement.
