Item 4. Advisory Business

Firm Description

BigSur is an independent, fee-based global multi-family office founded in 2007 and is headquartered in Miami, Florida, USA. The Firm provides a range of family office services, including investment advice, to our Client families.

Principal Owners of BigSur

BSWM is an independent investment adviser registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”), as of 2008, and is organized as a limited liability company under the law of the State of Delaware.

BigSur Partners, LLC wholly owns BigSur Wealth Management, LLC. Ignacio Gabriel Pakciarz wholly owns BigSur Advisors Corp., which holds the majority ownership interest in BigSur Partners, LLC.

Types of Services

BigSur provides investment advisory and consulting services to high net worth individuals, trusts, corporations, single family offices and pooled unregistered investment vehicles (collectively, the “Clients”).

BigSur offers the following services to advisory Clients:

Portfolio Management and Portfolio Consulting Services

BigSur provides continuous advice to Clients regarding the investment of Client funds based on the individual needs of the Client. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a Client's particular circumstances are established, we develop a Client's personal Investment Policy Statement (“IPS”) and create and manage a portfolio based on that policy. During our data-gathering process, we determine the Client’s individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs. We may also review and discuss a Client’s prior investment history, as well as family composition and background. Clients can also impose reasonable restrictions on investments in certain types of securities, asset classes, and sectors.

We manage advisory accounts on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis, as agreed with each Client. For Client accounts managed on a discretionary basis, BigSur will have full authority with respect to the notional value of purchases and sales of securities in traditional asset classes such as equities, mutual funds and fixed income securities. The Adviser will also have the authority with respect to the timing of when a transaction is placed in a Client’s account. BigSur will not exercise discretionary authority with respect to allocations in alternative investment products (e.g. private equity and debt funds, hedge funds, etc.) and will always obtain Client consent prior to investment. For Client accounts managed on a non-discretionary basis, Clients will make the final decision with respect to the purchase or sale of any securities in their account(s). BigSur will always obtain Client consent prior to placing any transactions in non-discretionary accounts.

We also provide portfolio consulting services where the Client will retain the ultimate responsibility for the implementation of any or all of our recommendations. Portfolio consulting assets are considered assets under advisement and are not included in our Firm's regulatory assets under management. Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the Client along with other considerations.

For certain clientele, we may allocate the Client's assets among one or more third-party investment advisers. Portfolio weighting among third-party investment advisers, and other investments and sectors will be determined by each Client's individual needs and circumstances.

Use of Third-Party Managers

As part of this service, we perform professional management searches of unaffiliated investment advisers and determine which adviser(s) management style is appropriate to each of the asset categories in the Client's targeted asset allocation. Factors we consider in making this determination include account size, risk tolerance, the opinion of each Client and the investment philosophy and particular niche of the selected investment adviser(s). Clients should refer to the selected investment adviser(s) disclosure document(s) for a full description of the services offered. Once we determine which selected investment adviser(s) are most appropriate for the Client, we will, as necessary, provide the selected investment adviser(s) with the Client's IPS. Each selected investment adviser will then create and directly manage an account with the portion of the Clients' assets allocated to them while our Firm monitors their performance.

Under our discretionary portfolio management services, if we determine at any point that a particular selected investment adviser is not providing satisfactory management services to the Client, or is not managing the Client's portfolio in a manner consistent with the Client's IPS, we will remove the Client's assets from that adviser and place the Client's assets in another investment at our discretion. As such, our Firm requests that the Client grant the Firm the authority to hire and fire the selected investment advisers on the Client's behalf and to move funds among them, as appropriate.

Under our non-discretionary portfolio management services, if we determine at any point that a particular selected investment adviser is not providing satisfactory management services to the Client, or is not managing the Client's portfolio in a manner consistent with the Client's IPS, we will recommend that the Client contract with a different adviser. If such recommendation is accepted by the Client, we will be responsible for arranging the removal of the investment adviser and transitioning to a new investment adviser.

Under our portfolio consulting services, if we believe that a particular independent adviser is performing inadequately, or if we believe that a different manager is more suitable for a Client's particular needs, then we will suggest that the Client contract with a different adviser. Under this scenario, our Firm will assist the Client in selecting a new adviser, and then monitor that adviser's performance. Any move to a new investment adviser is solely at the discretion of the Client.

Our Firm will conduct or review appropriate due diligence prepared by third parties on all independent investment advisers, making reasonable inquiries into their portfolio management and compliance practices.

BigSur Family Office Services

BigSur provides multi-family office services to high net worth individuals, trusts, corporations, single family offices and pooled unregistered investment vehicles. These services can include the managing of non-securitized real estate holdings, the management of business entities, including closely-held businesses, the hiring of outside consultants, including bookkeepers and bookkeeping services, attorneys, private bankers, accountants, insurance advisors, real estate management Firms, and adhoc concierge services that are typically requested by family offices.

BigSur Private Placement Management Services

BigSur offers pooled unregistered investment vehicles to facilitate Clients' access to direct investments transactions, such as loans, real estate, equity, and others.

The pooled unregistered investment vehicles are managed in accordance with the objectives and strategy as defined in each pool's private placement memorandum and/or limited partnership agreement ("Governing Fund Documents"). All terms are generally established at the time of a pool's formation and investors may not restrict the investments except as indicated in the Governing Fund Documents.

Interests in these pooled unregistered investment vehicles are offered in reliance upon various exemptions available under the securities laws for transactions in securities not involving a public offering. The structures are usually un-regulated closed-end investment funds and all investors are non-US persons. BigSur manages those investment vehicles on a discretionary basis in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Governing Fund Documents.

Prospective investors in the pooled unregistered investment vehicles should be aware of additional risks, restrictions on withdrawals and redemptions and other important information associated with the pooled unregistered investment vehicles. This information is outlined in the Governing Fund Documents, and prospective investors should refer to these documents for information regarding these important additional considerations and risk.

Reporting Services

BigSur also provides consolidated reporting services for non-managed assets over which BigSur does not provide any investment advice and such assets are included in our Client's consolidated report(s) which is to be used for informational purposes only. BigSur relies on the Client to provide current and accurate price or other valuation information for non-financial assets included in the Client's consolidated report. BigSur does not independently verify, and expressly disclaims responsibility for, the accuracy of any non-managed asset values Clients provide to us to include in their reporting.

Wrap Fee Programs

BigSur does not participate in wrap fee programs.

Client Assets BigSur Manages

As of December 31, 2019, BigSur's Regulatory Assets Under Management ("RAUM") were valued at $577,023,918 on a discretionary basis and $430,901,587 on a non-discretionary basis.

In addition to the assets under management, BigSur provides consulting services for an additional $108,338,207 in assets under advisement. In sum, BigSur provides investment advisory services on $1,116,263,712 in assets.

Furthermore, in addition to the assets under advisement, BigSur has mandates to provide consolidated reporting for an additional $65,993,605 in assets. Overall, BigSur provides investment advice and reporting on $1,182,257,317 in Client assets.

Item 5. Fees and Compensation

BigSur's revenue is derived from investment advisory fees. BigSur also earns fees for the provision of other services as agreed to by Clients. While a general description of these fees is provided below, specific terms of these arrangements are detailed in the Investment Advisory Agreement and Governing Fund Documents which BigSur executes with each Client.

Portfolio Management/Portfolio Consulting Services Fee

BigSur uses the same fee structure for Portfolio Management Services and Portfolio Consulting services. Our fee schedule is based on a percentage of assets under management or consultation, as appropriate (hereinafter the Management/Consultation Fee), and can include an additional annual incentive/performance fee (hereinafter the "Incentive Fee").

Management/Consultation Fee

This fee is calculated as a percentage of assets under management or consultation, typically ranging from 0.50% to 1.25% annually, based on the complexity of the Client's individual portfolio amongst other criteria. We generally do not have account minimums but do require a minimum annual Management/Consultation Fee of $20,000 which applies to the Client's relationship as a whole and not to each of the Client's individual legal entities.

Fees charged for Portfolio Management and Consulting Services are generally based on an estimated fixed monthly fee amount that is billed monthly to Clients. The estimated fixed monthly management fee calculation will be based on initial assets under management multiplied by the agreed upon annual fee divided by 12. The estimated management fee will be due and charged to the Client's account on a monthly basis and debited from the Account on or about the 15th of each calendar month.

BigSur will conduct a review semi-annually, or more frequently as needed, to ensure that there are no excess credit balances exceeding $1,200 due to Clients. Further, BigSur, on an annual basis, will reconcile the actual amount owed versus the estimated fixed amount paid and any final adjustments will be refunded or invoiced to the Client, accordingly.

For certain Clients, fees are assessed on a quarterly basis (based on assets under management during each quarter, averaging the account values on the first business day of each month of the respective quarter). The fee will be due and charged to the Client's account quarterly and will be debited from the account on or about the 15th of the final month of the respective quarter. If services begin after the first day of a calendar quarter or end on any date other than the last day of a calendar quarter, the fee will be prorated accordingly. Fees assessed on a quarterly basis may be charged in arrears or advance, as agreed with the Client.

Incentive/Performance Fee

On a case by case basis, the Adviser and Client may negotiate an Incentive Fee. For those Clients subject to an Incentive Fee, BigSur will be entitled to receive an Incentive Fee of up to 20% of a Client's account performance (at the end of each calendar year) which is based on a pre-established threshold specified in the executed investment advisory agreement and calculated in accordance with the formula specified in the executed investment advisory agreement.

Clients who elect to terminate their Incentive Fee arrangements will be charged the Incentive Fee based on the performance of the account from the time period of termination date through the date on which the Incentive Fee was last assessed.

Fees in General

Typically, we will directly invoice Clients for our Management/Consultation fees in arrears or in advance (as agreed with each Client). At times, we will directly debit Client fees from their custodial account(s), if so desired and authorized by the Client through a standardized letter of authorization.

Fees and account minimums for all services are negotiable based upon certain criteria (i.e. anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, complexity of the account, etc.). BigSur reserves the right to waive or reduce fees for certain Clients, including employees and related accounts as may be determined at BigSur's sole direction.

Client families can request that we group certain related Client accounts for the purposes of determining the account size and/or annualized fee and such arrangement are outlined in the Client's Investment Advisory Agreement (IAA).

Client Also Pay Fees Charged By Their Third-Party Service Providers

Mutual Fund and ETF Fees and Expenses

All fees paid to our Firm for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and ETFs to their investors. These fees and expenses generally include, but not limited to: transaction, marketing, distribution and administrative charges (e.g. 12b-1 fees) which are described and fully disclosed in each fund's prospectus. The Adviser does not receive any additional compensation and/or retrocessions as it relates to the recommendation and sale of mutual funds and ETFs.

Brokerage and Custodian Fees

In addition to advisory fees paid to our Firm, Clients will also be responsible for any securities transaction, brokerage, and custodian fees incurred as part of their overall account management. These costs generally involve securities transaction costs and administrative expenses including, but not limited to: commissions, markups and markdowns, sales charges, custodial fees, transfer taxes, stamp taxes, and wire and electronic fund transfer fees. Please see Item No. 12 of this Brochure for information related to our selection of brokers for trade execution.

Third-Party Manager Fees

Our fee is in addition to any other fees charged by selected third party investment advisers for the portion of the Client's account under the third party investment adviser's direct management, if applicable.

BigSur Private Placement Management Services Fees

As investment manager of these vehicles, BigSur will typically charge a fee as a percentage of invested capital, typically ranging from 0.50% to 1.25%, depending on considerations such as transaction's complexity, work, expected return, third party costs, etc. We also may be entitled to carried interest ranging from 0 to 20% specified and calculated in accordance with the formula in the Private Offering Memorandum.

If BigSur's advisory Client invests in these pools and we are charging "Private Placement" fees, there will be a waiver of the "Portfolio Management Services and Portfolio Advisement Services" fees in order to avoid double layer of fees.

Prospective investors in the pooled unregistered investment vehicles should be aware of additional risks, restrictions on withdrawals and redemptions and other important information associated with the pooled unregistered investment vehicles. This information is outlined in the private placement memoranda and subscription documents, and prospective investors should refer to these documents for information regarding these important additional considerations and risk.

Reported Accounts Fee

BigSur will charge the Reported Account Fee as a percentage of assets being reported, typically 0.10% annually. BigSur reserves the right to waive or reduce fees for certain Clients, including employees and others as may be determined at BigSur's sole direction.

Termination

Clients will have a period of five (5) business days from the date of signing the agreement to unconditionally rescind the agreement and receive a full refund of all fees. Thereafter, the Client can terminate the agreement by providing us with a written notice ranging from 5 to 30 days, depending on the terms of each advisory agreement, at our principal place of business. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded, and any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable.

Item 6. Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

As we disclosed in Item 5 of this Brochure, our Firm accepts a performance-based fees from certain Clients. Such a performance-based fee is calculated based on the internal rate of return (IRR) of the account. Clients entering into performance fee arrangements must either demonstrate a net worth of at least $2,100,000 (excluding the value of their primary residence) or have $1,000,000 under management with us in order to qualify for a performance-based fee arrangement.

Clients should be aware that performance-based fee arrangements create an incentive for us to recommend investments and employ strategies that are riskier and more speculative than those which would be recommended under traditional fee based arrangements. Furthermore, since we also have Clients who do not pay performance-based fees, we have an incentive to favor accounts that do pay performance based fees because compensation we receive from these Clients can be potentially higher since the fees are directly tied to the performance of their accounts. Since we endeavor at all times to put the interest of our Clients first as part of our fiduciary duty as a registered investment adviser, we take the following steps to address these potential conflicts:

1. We disclose to Clients the existence of conflicts of interests associated with performance fee based sharing arrangements, including the incentive for our Firm and its Advisors to earn more compensation from Clients who pay performance-based fees;
2. The Firm discloses to Clients who have performance fee based sharing arrangements that the strategy employed in their account(s) involve higher risks and are more susceptible to market downside;
3. The Firm ensures a consistent and fair allocation of pricing and investment opportunities for those Clients with performance fee based sharing arrangements and those who do not, to ensure that there is no favorable treatment towards any particular Client account;

Incentive Fees will only be charged in accordance with the provisions of Rule 205-3 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 and/or applicable state regulations. Any specific terms and conditions of Incentive Fees negotiated with a Client will be outlined in Schedule A. Incentive Fees will not be offered to any Client residing in a state in which Incentive Fees are prohibited.

Item 7. Types of Clients

BigSur, provides, among other multi-family office services, investment advisory and consulting services to high net worth individuals, trusts, corporations, single family offices and pooled unregistered investment vehicles.

Although we do not require a minimum relationship size, we recommend a relationship with at least $20,000,000 of assets under management or advisement.

Minimum subscriptions per investors in private placement is US$200,000 subject to lower amounts as the Director may at its discretion accept.

Item 8. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Our Firm employs the following types of analysis to formulate Client recommendations:

Fundamental analysis. Primarily, utilizing third-party research, we attempt to measure the intrinsic value of a security by looking at economic and financial factors (including the overall economy, industry conditions, and the financial condition and management of the company itself) to determine if the company is underpriced (indicating it may be a good time to buy) or overpriced (indicating it may be time to sell).

Fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating the stock.

Technical analysis: Sometimes, we analyze past market movements and apply that analysis to the present in an attempt to recognize recurring patterns of investor behavior and to potentially predict future price movement.

Technical analysis does not consider the underlying financial condition of a company. This presents a risk in that a poorly-managed or financially unsound company may underperform regardless of market movement.

Mutual Fund and/or ETF Analysis: We look at the experience and track record of the manager of the mutual fund or ETF in an attempt to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest successfully over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We also monitor the funds or ETFs in an attempt to determine if they are continuing to follow their stated investment strategy.

A risk of mutual fund and/or ETF analysis is that, as in all securities investments, past performance does not guarantee future results. A manager who has been successful may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in a fund or ETF, managers of different funds held by the Client may purchase the same security, increasing the risk to the Client if that security were to fall in value. There is also a risk that a manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the fund or ETF, which could make the fund or ETF less suitable of the Client's portfolio.

Third-Party Manager Analysis: We examine the experience, expertise, investment philosophies, and past performance of independent third-party investment managers in an attempt to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We monitor the manager's underlying holdings, strategies, concentrations and leverage as part of our overall periodic risk assessment.

A risk of investing with a third-party manager who has been successful in the past is that he/she may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in a third-party manager's portfolio, there is also a risk that a manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the portfolio, making it a less suitable investment for our Clients. Moreover, as we do not control the manager's daily business and compliance operations, it is possible for us to miss the absence of internal controls necessary to prevent business, regulatory or reputational deficiencies.

Risks for all forms of analysis: Our securities analysis method relies on the assumption that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information about these securities, are providing accurate and unbiased data. While we are alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

Our Firm employs the following investment strategies to implement investment advice given to Clients:

Long-term purchases: We generally purchase securities with the idea of holding them in the Client's account for a year or longer. We may do this because we believe the securities to be currently undervalued or because we want exposure to a particular asset class over time, regardless of the current projection for this class.

A risk in a long-term purchase strategy is that, by holding the security for this length of time, we may not take advantages of short-term gains that could be profitable to a Client. Moreover, if our predictions are incorrect, a security may decline sharply in value before we make the decision to sell.

Short-term purchases: At times, we may also purchase securities with the idea of selling them within a relatively short time (typically a year or less). We do this in an attempt to take advantage of conditions that we believe will soon result in a price swing in the securities we purchase.

A risk in a short-term purchase strategy is that, should the anticipated price swing not materialize, we are left with the option of having a long-term investment in a security that was designed to be a short-term purchase, or potentially taking a loss. In addition, this strategy involves more frequent trading than does a longer-term strategy, and will result in increased brokerage and other transaction-related costs, as well as less favorable tax treatment of short-term capital gains for U.S.-based Clients.

Trading: At times, we purchase securities with the idea of selling them very quickly (typically within 30 days or less). We do this in an attempt to take advantage of our predictions of brief price swings.

A risk in a short-term purchase is the potential for sudden losses if the anticipated price swing does not materialize. Moreover, should the anticipated price swing not materialize, we are left with the option of having a long-term investment in a security that was designed to be a short-term purchase, or potentially taking a loss. In addition, this strategy involves more frequent trading than does a longer-term strategy, and will result in increased brokerage and other transaction-related costs, as well as less favorable tax treatment of short-term capital gains for U.S.-based Clients.

Short sales: Rarely, we borrow shares of a stock for your portfolio from someone who owns the stock on a promise to replace the shares on a future date at a certain price. We then sell the shares we have borrowed. On the agreed-upon future date, we buy the same stock and return the shares to the original owner. We engage in short selling on based on our determination that the stock will go down in price after we have borrowed the shares. If the stock has gone down since we purchased the shares from the original owner, we keep the difference.

One risk in selling short is that losses are theoretically unlimited; we are obligated to repurchase the stock no matter how much the price has climbed. In addition, even if we are correct in determining that the price of a stock will decline, we run the risk of incorrectly determining when the decline will take place.

Margin transactions: We may purchase securities for a Client portfolio with money borrowed from a Client's brokerage account. This allows a Client to purchase more securities than he/she would be able to with his/her available cash, and allows us to purchase securities without selling other holdings. A risk in margin trading is that, in volatile markets, securities prices can fall very quickly. If the value of the securities in your account minus what a Client owes the broker falls below a certain level, the broker will issue a "margin call", and a Client will be required to sell his/her position in the security purchased on margin or add more cash to the account. In some circumstances, a Client may lose more money than he/she originally invested.

Subject to limitations imposed by applicable laws and regulations, all securities in Client accounts purchased on margin may be pledged, re-pledged, hypothecated and re-hypothecated without notice to the Client.

Option writing: We may use options as an investment strategy. An option is a contract that gives the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell an asset (such as a share of stock) at a specific price on or before a certain date. An option, just like a stock or bond, is a security. An option is also a derivative, because it derives its value from an underlying asset.

The two types of options are calls and puts:

A call gives us the right to buy an asset at a certain price within a specific period of time. We will buy a call if we have determined that the stock will increase substantially before the option expires.

A put gives us the holder the right to sell an asset at a certain price within a specific period of time. We will buy a put if we have determined that the price of the stock will fall before the option expires or we will sell a put if we have determined that the price of the stock will increase before the option expires.

We may use options to “hedge” a purchase of the underlying security; in other words, we may use an option purchase to limit the potential upside and downside of a security we have purchased for your portfolio. We may also use options to speculate on the possibility of a sharp price swing.

There are a number of strategies but mostly use “covered calls”, in which we sell an option on security you own. In this strategy, you receive a premium for making the option available, and the person purchasing the option has the right to buy the security from you at an agreed-upon price.

A risk of covered calls is that the option buyer does not have to exercise the option, so that if we want to sell the stock prior to the end of the option agreement, we have to buy the option back from the option buyer, for a possible loss.

Private Placement Risks

The below Private Placement Risks are only applicable to Fund investors.

Principal Investment Risks: Prospective private placement investors should consider all risk factors and special considerations associated with investing, which may cause some or all investors to lose money. An investment carries substantial risk. There can be no assurance that the investment objective and strategy will be achieved and investment results may vary substantially over time. An investment is only suitable for investors who are able to bear the loss of a substantial portion or even all of their investment. There is generally no public market for the Shares, nor is a public market expected to develop in the future.

Liquidity Risk: Liquidity risk exists when particular investments are difficult to purchase or sell. Securities may become illiquid under adverse market or economic conditions and/or due to specific adverse changes in the condition of a particular issuer. If investments are made in illiquid securities or securities become illiquid, returns may be reduced because of the inability to sell the illiquid securities at an advantageous time or price. The notes and shares should be considered illiquid.

No Assurance will meet Investment Objectives: There can be no assurance that the private placements will achieve its investment objectives (including any stated yield or return or investment targets or projections), be able to exit the investments during the term, or that investors will not suffer losses. Return, cash flow, geographic, property type and other targets and projections are based upon assumptions made by the investment manager which may differ in material respects from actual outcomes.

Risk of Reliance on Originators: With respect to the private placements the investment manager will generally be reliant on the information and disclosures furnished to it by the originator, which may subject to fraudulent misrepresentation and other similar risks of entrusting capital to unaffiliated third parties. The investment manager seeks to avoid such risks by enforcing prudent due diligence and third-party verification wherever possible but may prove unable to obtain accurate information from the originator under circumstances in which the originator has limited access to such information or provides inaccurate information. The due diligence investigation that the originator carries out with respect to any investment opportunity may not reveal or highlight all relevant facts that may be necessary or helpful in evaluating such investment opportunity. Moreover, such investigation will not necessarily result in the investment being successful.

Concentration Risk: The private placement will typically participate in one or few securities of one company. Therefore, the returns could be impaired by such concentration if the obligor's particular sector, industry or geographic location were to experience adverse business conditions or other adverse events.

Use of Individual instruments: Our investment recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker dealer or insurance company or other investment Firm and will primarily include advice regarding the following instruments:

- Equity securities;
- Corporate debt securities and United States government securities;
- Municipal securities;
- Foreign issuer securities;
- Offshore and onshore mutual funds;
- Exchange-traded funds (ETFs), and;
- Investment in private placement offerings and/or limited investment partnerships.

Occasionally, Client portfolio holdings may also include the following instruments:

- Option contracts on securities;
- Direct real estate investments through specially created private placement vehicles.

We tailor all of our investment recommendations to the individual needs of each Client. All consulting recommendations are based on information gathered through telephone, electronic and in-person discussions.

Clients should understand that investing in any securities, including mutual funds, involves a risk of loss of both income and principal.

Item 9. Disciplinary Information

There are no legal or disciplinary events that are material to a Client's or prospective Client's evaluation of this advisory business or the integrity of our management.

Item 10. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

BigSur Real Estate LLC is under common control with BigSur. BigSur Real Estate and BigSur Partners LLC (collectively, “BigSur RE”), serves as director or general partner to certain entities created to provide access and facilitate investments by BigSur Wealth Management Clients into certain real estate opportunities via a private placement offering. BigSur RE will not engage in the actual day-to-day management of the selected real property investments.

BigSur RE will not receive any type of compensation directly or indirectly for its role as a director or general partner of pooled investment vehicles that invest in real estate investment. BigSur’s management, executive officers and/or employees, and independent contractors are also associated with BigSur RE. Potential conflicts of interest will arise to the extent that non-advisory activities performed by BigSur RE require a significant time commitment from our principals and employees, thus limiting the amount of time they can dedicate to management of advisory Client accounts. Furthermore, BigSur is deemed to have custody as result of its related person, BigSur RE, acting as the general partner/director of pooled investments vehicles for which BigSur provides advisory services.

Since we endeavor at all times to put the interest of our Clients first as part of our fiduciary duty as a registered investment adviser and take the following steps to address these conflicts:

1. We disclose to Clients the existence of all material conflicts of interest, including the potential for our Firm and its Advisors to dedicate significant amount of time related to activities of BigSur RE. Clients are informed that BigSur RE will not earn any type of extra compensation from advisory Clients that invest in pooled investment vehicles where BigSur RE serves as director or general manager;
2. Advisors and Employees of BigSur RE will not have input or decision making capabilities related to holdings of the pooled investment vehicle;
3. We do not pay or collect referral fees when Clients invests in pooled investment vehicles;
4. As an Adviser to a pooled unregistered investment vehicle, we are subject to an annual audit by an independent public accountant registered with, and subject to regular inspection by the PCAOB and distributes the audited financial statements to each investor in the pool within 120 days after the pool's fiscal year end;

BigSur RE, as Director to the pooled investment vehicle, supervises the conduct of the vehicle’s affairs. BigSur RE has delegated the investment management activities, the authority to make all investment decisions, and otherwise management of the business affairs to BigSur as the investment manager. BigSur, as the investment manager to pooled unregistered investment vehicles, may have economic interests in or other relationships with obligors or issuers in whose securities the pooled unregistered investment vehicles may invest. Prospective investors must recognize that the pooled investment vehicle has been formed specifically to access a concentrated exposure managed by the investment manager. BigSur RE may not be inclined to appoint any other investment manager.

Item 11. Code of Ethics, Participation in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Pursuant to SEC Rule 204A-1, BigSur has adopted a written Code of Ethics (“Code”) which sets forth high ethical standards of business conduct and federal securities laws requirements applicable to all supervised persons as defined in the Advisers Act. Employees are required to report all Code violations to the CCO. Code violations can result in disciplinary action or dismissal.

BigSur will provide a copy of the Code to any Client or prospective Client upon request.

Our Code includes policies and procedures for the review of quarterly securities transactions reports as well as initial and annual securities holdings reports that must be submitted by the Firm’s access persons. Among other things, our Code also requires the prior approval of any acquisition of securities in a limited offering (e.g., private placement) or an initial public offering. Our Code provides for oversight, enforcement and recordkeeping provisions.

Our Firm or individuals associated with our Firm can buy or sell securities identical to those recommended to or purchased for customers for their personal accounts. In addition, any related person(s) can have an interest or position in a certain security or certain securities which may also be recommended to a Client. This practice may result in a potential conflict of interest, as we have the ability to attempt to manipulate the timing of such purchases to obtain a better price or more favorable allocation in rare cases of limited availability.

To mitigate these potential conflicts of interest and ensure the fulfillment of our fiduciary responsibilities, we have established the following restrictions:

1. No persons associated with our Firm can buy or sell securities for their personal portfolio(s) where their decision is substantially derived, in whole or in part, by reason of his or her employment unless the information is also available to the investing public on reasonable inquiry. No persons associated with our Firm may prefer his or her own interest to that of the advisory Client;
2. It is the expressed policy of our Firm that no Supervised Persons can purchase or sell any security prior to a transaction(s) being implemented for an advisory account. This practice ensures that employees are not attempting to manipulate the timing of purchases and sales in identical securities;
3. In the event that employees transacts at the same time with Clients with same custody, trades will be aggregated on a pro-rata basis with all accounts paying an average price. In case of differences in the average price, Clients will be given the most beneficial pricing over employees;
4. All Supervised Persons are required to obtain pre-clearance from Compliance for transactions in Initial Public Offerings (IPOs) and Limited Offerings (e.g. Private Placements), consistent with requirements of the Advisers Act. This practice ensures that Clients are afforded the opportunity to invest should there be limited availability;
5. All Supervised Persons’ personal transactions are reviewed, at a minimum, on a quarterly basis to ensure that everyone is in compliance with the Code.

Each employee will execute a written statement certifying that the employee has (i) received a copy of BigSur’s Code; (ii) read and understood the importance of strict adherence to such policies and procedures; and (iii) agreed to comply with the Code. All supervised persons (i.e. all employees and independent contractors) are to receive training on complying with the Code on an annual basis as part of BigSur's annual compliance training to ensure that all supervised persons fully understand their duties and obligations and how to comply with BigSur's policy and procedures.

Item 12. Brokerage Practices

Under the Advisers Act, an Adviser has a duty to seek the most favorable terms reasonably available under the circumstances for the execution of its Clients' securities transactions. In assessing the appropriate standard of care, we consider the full range and quality of a broker's offerings and services. While price may be the determining factor when obtaining best execution, we also consider the need for timely execution, availability of price improvement, liquidity of the market, potential price impact, and size of the order in its overall assessment, consistent with its fiduciary obligations.

For Clients in need of brokerage or custodial services, and depending on Client circumstances and needs, we will recommend the use of one of several broker dealers, provided that such recommendation is consistent with our fiduciary duty to the Client. The factors considered by our Firm when making this recommendation are the broker's ability to provide professional services, our experience with the broker, the broker's reputation, the broker's quality of execution services and costs of such services, and the custodial platform provided to Clients, among other factors.

Client is not under any obligation to effect trades through any recommended broker. It should be understood that Adviser may not have the ability to negotiate commissions among various brokers or obtain volume discounts, and best execution may not be achieved on accounts where the Adviser doesn't have brokerage discretion and the Client directs the particular transaction. In addition, a disparity in commission charges may exist between the commissions charged to the Client and those charged to other Clients. If Client directs Adviser to use a particular broker and/or custodian, such instruction must be in writing on Schedule A.

In cases where the Client has pre-existing relationships with multiple brokers and custodians for the same account, Adviser may only have limited brokerage discretion. In such cases, Adviser will have certain capabilities to select different brokers in an effort to achieve best execution. However, Adviser will have full brokerage discretion for accounts custody with its institutional custodians where we will have the ability to trade with various third party brokers in order to achieve best execution.

Adviser recently entered into an arrangement with one of its institutional custodians, Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") whereby certain benefits may be provided to the Adviser in return for assets in custody for a definitive time period (e.g. October 2019 through October 2020). These benefits include, but not necessarily limited to: research on industries and securities, and subscriptions to third party financial analytics platforms (e.g. Bloomberg).

With respect to the use of third party investment advisers, each adviser may or may not recommend brokers to Clients, and/or will have their own policies, practices and procedures regarding brokerage. Our Firm does not directly recommend the services of any particular brokers to these Clients under these circumstances. Clients should refer to the disclosure document(s) of recommended independent registered investment adviser(s) for information on the brokerage recommendations, practices and policies for those entities.

Trade Aggregation

We can aggregate Client trades when doing so is advantageous to our Clients. Mostly, we will batch Client transactions to receive volume discounts and to obtain better and more uniform pricing across Client accounts. If we determine that aggregation of trades in a certain situation will be beneficial to our Clients, transactions will be averaged as to price and will be allocated among our Clients in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed from each Client account on any given day. Any exceptions from the pro-rata allocation procedure will be carefully explained and documented. Such exceptions occur due to varying cash availability across accounts, divergent investment objectives and existing concentrations, and desire to avoid “odd lots,” (an amount of a security that is less than the normal unit of trading for that particular security).

Individual investment accounts are managed by different investment adviser representatives which may or may not always share information or discuss investment and trade strategies. For this reason, our Firm may not be able to aggregate (block) trades across different accounts. Because not all trades are aggregated, some Clients may receive better prices or be beneficiaries of increased availability. Furthermore, it is possible that certain securities will be bought or sold for Client accounts without a similar transaction being contemplated for accounts managed by other Advisers of the Firm, even if such a transaction could be suitable for these accounts.

Trade aggregation and participation in certain investment opportunities can also be limited to the Client’s selection of custodian and/or broker.

Principal and Cross Trading

Adviser will not enter into any principal transactions whereby the Adviser acts as principal and sells a security to, or buys a security from, a counterparty from its own account. Principal transactions will only be permitted if the terms of such transactions are disclosed to the Client in writing and Client consent is obtained prior to the execution of such transactions.

On a case by case basis, the Adviser may effect a transaction in a particular security between two unrelated Clients (e.g. cross transactions) without charging a fee for effecting such transaction. The Adviser will ensure that any cross transactions conducted are effected at a fair market valuation and that the transaction is beneficial to both the seller and buyer. Any potential conflicts of interest identified in the cross transaction will be fully disclosed to the Client.

Item 13. Review of Accounts

Portfolio Management/Portfolio Consulting

The Firm’s COO will appoint a designee to continuously monitor the underlying securities in Client accounts and perform periodic reviews of account strategies and holdings for all Clients. We will also monitor the performance of third-party managers on a continuous basis. Accounts are reviewed for consistency with Client investment strategy, asset allocation, risk tolerance and performance relative to the appropriate benchmark as well as any restrictions, where applicable.

More frequent reviews can be triggered by changes in an account holder's personal, tax or financial status. Geopolitical and macroeconomic specific events can also trigger reviews.

In addition to the monthly statements and confirmations of transactions that Clients receive from their custodian, we will also typically provide monthly consolidated account summaries and/or performance reports, as contracted, at the inception of the advisory relationship. Clients should refer to the selected registered investment adviser(s) disclosure document(s) for information regarding the nature and frequency of additional reports, if any, provided by the selected third party investment advisers.

BigSur Private Placement Management Services

Private Placement shareholders shall receive annual audited financial statements related to the Fund, as soon as practicable after the end of each fiscal year and no later than 120 days after the end of each fiscal year. Additionally, shareholders shall receive unaudited statements on an annual basis, and, if needed, annual information for completion of federal income taxes.

We typically appoint a Third Party Administrator to perform all general administrative tasks for the Pools, including keeping financial records, calculation of the net asset value including calculating investor distributions in accordance with the waterfall provisions of the investment vehicle, maintaining the shareholder register, and handling capital calls and distributions.

Item 14. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Our Firm has the ability to receive incentive awards for the recommendation/introduction of certain investment products, such as other private investment funds. The receipt of this compensation may affect our judgment in recommending such investments to Clients. In the event that this scenario occurs, we will offset a Client's advisory fee by the amount of the received incentive award, as applicable.

We may engage third party solicitors and pay referral fees for referring advisory Clients to our Firm. If a Client is introduced to us by a third party solicitor, we can pay that solicitor an ongoing referral fee typically ranging from 5% to 25% of the referred Client's advisory fee paid to our Firm.

Payment of referral fees for prospective Client referrals creates a potential conflict of interest to the extent that such a referral is not unbiased and the solicitor is, at least partially, motivated by financial gain. As these situations represent a conflict of interest, we have established the following restrictions in order to ensure our fiduciary responsibilities:

1. All such referral fees are paid in accordance with the requirements of Rule 206(4)-3 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, and any corresponding state securities law requirements;
2. Any such referral fee will be paid solely from our investment management fee, and will not result in any additional charge to the Client;
3. If the Client is introduced to us by a solicitor, at the time of the solicitation, will disclose the nature of his/her/its solicitor relationship and provide each prospective Client with a copy of our Form ADV Part 2 Brochure, together with a copy of the written disclosure statement from the solicitor to the Client disclosing the terms of the solicitation arrangement between our Firm and the solicitor, including the compensation to be received by the solicitor from us;

4. An attestation by the third party solicitor to perform his/her duties consistent with the Adviser's instructions as well as requirements of Rule 206(4)-3 the Investment Advisers Act;
5. The Adviser receives from the solicited Client a signed and dated acknowledgement indicating their awareness that a third party is being compensated by the Adviser for the introduction of their business;
6. On a periodic basis, the Advisor makes a bona fide effort to ascertain whether the third party solicitor has complied with his/her agreement with the Adviser and has a reasonable basis for believing that the third party solicitor has so complied.

Item 15. Custody

Custody is defined as any legal or actual ability by our Firm or its related persons to access Client funds or securities. All assets are typically held at qualified custodians, which means the custodians provide account statements directly to Clients at their address of record at least quarterly.

We urge all of our Clients to carefully review and compare their account holdings and/or performance results received from BigSur to those they receive from their custodian. Should you notice any discrepancies, please notify us and/or your custodian as soon as possible.

However, and as stated in Item 10 of this Brochure, our Firm is deemed to have custody of advisory Clients' assets by way of its related person, BigSur RE. BigSur RE serves as the general partner/director to pooled investment vehicles for which BigSur has been designated as their investment manager. We seek to have each of the pooled entities audited on an annual basis by an independent public accountant that is both registered with and subject to regular inspection by the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (PCAOB). We will send, directly or through a third party, the audited financials to each pooled entity investor within 120 days of the applicable pooled entity's fiscal year end.

Item 16. Investment Discretion

For Clients granting us discretionary authority to determine which securities and the amounts of securities that are to be bought or sold for their account(s), we request that such authority be granted in writing, typically in the executed investment management agreement and/or relevant fund organizational documents. With respect to the use of third party investment advisers, our Firm does not manage these Client portfolios, or this portion of these Client portfolios, in the traditional sense of the definition, rather, we manage the managers. As such, the Client grants us the authority to hire and fire the selected registered investment adviser(s) directly.

Should the Client wish to impose reasonable limitations on this discretionary authority, such limitations shall be outlined in the executed investment advisory agreement. Clients can change/amend these limitations as desired. Such amendments must be submitted to us by the Client in writing.

Item 17. Voting Client Securities

As a matter of Firm policy, our Firm does not vote proxies on behalf of Clients. Clients will receive their proxies and other solicitations directly from their custodian or transfer agent and retain sole responsibility for voting. However, we can provide Clients with consulting assistance regarding proxy issues if they contact us with questions at our principal place of business.

The Adviser also has the right, but not the obligation, to respond to corporate actions, such as tender offers and rights offerings and, to the extent Adviser declines to respond to such materials, Custodian will transmit such materials to the Client.

We will neither advise nor act on behalf of the Client in legal proceedings involving companies whose securities are held in the Client's account(s), including, but not limited to, the filing of "Proofs of Claim" in class action settlements. If desired, Clients can direct us to transmit copies of class action notices to the Client or a third party. Upon such direction, we will make commercially reasonable efforts to forward such notices in a timely manner.

Item 18. Financial Information

Under no circumstances will we earn fees in excess of $1,200 for more than six months in advance of services rendered.

Neither BigSur nor its management have any financial conditions that are likely to reasonably impair our ability to meet contractual commitments to Clients.

BigSur has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition since its inception.
