

2200 Concord Pike, Suite 104
Wilmington, DE 19803
302-765-3500

www.lifelongadvisors.com

March 19, 2020

This brochure provides information about the qualifications and business practices of Diversified, LLC, CRD #123859. If you have any questions about the contents of this brochure, please contact us at 302-765-3500 david@lifelongadvisors.com. The information in this brochure has not been approved or verified by the United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") or by any state securities authority.

Diversified, LLC is a registered investment advisor domiciled in the State of Delaware and registered with the SEC. Registration of an Investment Advisor does not imply any level of skill or training. The oral and written communications of an Advisor provide you with information about which you determine to hire or retain an Advisor.

Additional information about Diversified, LLC is also available on the SEC's website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov.

Item 2 Material Changes

Since our last annual updating amendment dated March 11, 2019, we have made the following material changes to our Form ADV:

- In September 2019, Item 4 was amended to disclose the offering of Retirement Plan Advisory Services
- In September 2019, Item 5 was amended to disclose the fees associated with Retirement Plan Advisory Services. This item was also amended to provide further clarification on fees charged for Asset Management Services.
- Item 5 was amended to adjust the maximum fee for advisory services.
- In September 2019, Item 12 was amended to provide disclosure related to Retirement Plan Advisory Services.

A complete copy of our brochure may be requested by contacting David Levy, Chief Compliance Officer, at 302-765-3500 or david@lifelongadvisors.com.

Additional information about Diversified, LLC is available by accessing the SEC's web site at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov. The SEC's web site also provides information about any persons affiliated with Diversified, LLC who are registered, or are required to be registered, as investment advisor representatives of the firm.

Item 3 Table Of Contents

Item 1 Cover Page	Page 1
Item 2 Material Changes	Page 2
Item 3 Table Of Contents	Page 3
Item 4 Advisory Business	Page 4
Item 5 Fees and Compensation	Page 7
Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management	Page 10
Item 7 Types of Clients	Page 10
Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss	Page 10
Item 9 Disciplinary Information	Page 15
Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations	Page 15
Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading	Page 16
Item 12 Brokerage Practices	Page 17
Item 13 Review of Accounts	Page 18
Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation	Page 18
Item 15 Custody	Page 19
Item 16 Investment Discretion	Page 20
Item 17 Voting Client Securities	Page 20
Item 18 Financial Information	Page 20

Item 4 Advisory Business

Diversified, LLC ("Diversified" or "the firm") is an investment advisor domiciled in the State of Delaware. Diversified was founded in 1982 and became a registered investment advisor in 1994. In 2006, the Limited Liability Company, Diversified Financial Consultants, LLC was formed and that entity became the registered investment advisor. The legal name of the firm was changed to Diversified, LLC in January 2019. Diversified's direct owners with equal ownership are David Levy, Andrew Rosen, and Kyle Hill, and the firm's main office is located in Wilmington, Delaware. Investment advisory services are offered by the firm's registered investment advisory representatives ("Diversified Associates" or "Associates").

Financial Planning Services

Diversified offers comprehensive Financial Planning Services to its clients in a two-phase process. The phases of the financial planning process are as follows:

Phase One

In Phase One, Diversified performs the on-boarding financial planning phase. This includes, but is not limited to, Cash Flow Management; College Planning; Tax Planning; Debt Ratios and Refinancing; Insurance matters (business, group and personal); Company Benefit Analysis; Retirement Planning; other Business Matters; Estate Planning; Social Security Planning; Investment Planning; Charitable/Legacy Planning; Family Budgeting and Asset Allocation. Diversified reviews a client's overall financial situation and makes observations and recommendations concerning past, present, and future placement of monies into investments, savings, and insurance, based on the individual needs of the client.

Phase Two

In Phase Two, Diversified implements the recommendations made in Phase One, described above, and provides on-going financial planning services which includes all matters previously mentioned in Phase One, as well as asset management services, if selected by the client. Diversified provides on-going financial planning advice on a retainer and/or asset management fee basis. On-going financial planning services include, at minimum, a yearly review of the client's financial plan, with adjustments based on changes in the client's situation.

Clients have the option of choosing from two levels of financial planning services, each of which incorporates the Phase One and Phase Two planning described above. Clients may select either of the two levels described below:

- Platinum Financial Planning Clients are those clients who desire an integrated comprehensive financial plan, which includes an interactive planning forecast and a cash-flow analysis. Diversified will prepare a personalized financial plan, using a web-based platform, with unlimited meetings and advice. After the first year, Client receives unlimited advice and planning forecast in addition to access to Diversified's network of professionals for a fee.
- Gold Financial Planning Clients are those clients who do not desire an integrated comprehensive financial plan, which includes an interactive planning forecast and a cash-flow analysis but do desire an annual comprehensive review of their entire financial situation. After the first year, Client receives unlimited advice and access to Diversified's network of professionals for a fee.

Financial plans are based on a client's financial situation at the time we present the plan, and on the financial information the client provides to us. Clients must promptly notify our firm if their financial situation, goals, objectives, or needs change. Clients are under no obligation to act on our financial planning recommendations. Should a client choose to act on any of our recommendations, the client is not obligated to implement the financial plan through Diversified Associates. Moreover, a client may act on our recommendations by placing securities transactions with any brokerage firm.

Asset Management Services

Diversified offers regular and continuous individualized asset management services to its clients either as part of the Phase Two financial planning services or as a stand-alone offering. These asset management services are offered on both a discretionary and non-discretionary basis, at the sole decision of the client. Through personal consultations with the client, Diversified gathers specific financial data to develop a client's personalized profile, which includes, but is not limited to, their investment objectives, current financial position, risk profile, investment time horizon, tax situation and liquidity needs. Diversified reviews the client's personalized profile and based upon this review, determines an appropriate portfolio management strategy, which may or may not include asset management offered by a third-party advisor.

If a client participates in our discretionary portfolio management services, we ask clients to grant our firm discretionary authority to manage the account. Discretionary authorization will allow us to determine the specific securities and the amount of securities to be purchased or sold for the account, or the third-party manager to manage the account, without the client's specific approval prior to each transaction. Discretionary authority is typically granted by the investment advisory agreement the client signs with our firm and the appropriate trading authorization forms. Clients may limit our discretionary authority (for example, limiting the types of securities that can be purchased or sold for the account) by providing our firm with their restrictions and guidelines in writing.

If a client enters into non-discretionary arrangements with our firm, we must obtain the client's approval prior to executing any transactions on behalf of the client's account. Non-discretionary clients have an unrestricted right to decline to implement any advice provided by our firm on a non-discretionary basis.

Third-Party Advisory Programs

Diversified has relationships with third-party advisors which allow Diversified to refer clients to these investment advisors for individual asset management, separate accounts, or other programs as described in the third-party advisor's disclosure brochure. Diversified may also establish relationships with other third-party advisors, on a case-by-case basis. If Diversified has been granted discretionary authority by a client, Diversified will determine if a relationship with a third-party advisor is appropriate for the client, and will select the third-party manager for the client. If Diversified is providing asset management services on a non-discretionary basis, Diversified may recommend the services of a third-party advisor, and the client will determine if that strategy is appropriate. Clients are given disclosure materials for the third-party investment advisor, if applicable, which include a description of the program being recommended. Clients may be required to enter into an Agreement with the third-party advisor, which in some cases may grant discretionary trading authority to the third-party advisor.

Portfolio Management

Diversified also manages client portfolios directly, using the custodial services of SEI Trust Company or another qualified custodian. If Diversified is granted discretionary authority by the client to manage portfolio assets directly, all investment decisions will be made by Diversified. If Diversified manages a client's portfolio on a non-discretionary basis, Diversified will make investment recommendations to the client and the client may accept or reject our recommendations.

In some cases, Diversified will offer asset management services for a client's 401k plan held away from the custodians currently utilized by Diversified, as part of the overall financial planning and asset management services offered to the client. In these cases, Diversified will provide non-discretionary portfolio and asset allocation recommendations only, and the client will have the authority to implement and affect any recommendations made by Diversified.

Diversified may offer educational seminars on various financial planning or portfolio management topics. These seminars are free to invited guests and there is no obligation for attending these seminars.

401k Management

As part of the comprehensive financial planning and portfolio management services offered by Diversified, the firm may assist clients with allocation recommendations for employer-sponsored 401k accounts held at outside custodians. Clients may grant, in writing, limited trading authority to Diversified and give login access to Diversified associates, to access the client's 401k account for trade monitoring, asset allocation, and limited trading purposes only. Diversified will review a client's 401k plan, make allocation recommendations, and implement recommendations if client grants limited trading authority to Diversified associates. Diversified will not take custody of 401k assets. 401k asset management services are provided on a non-discretionary basis. Normal and customary advisory fees are charged for this service, and assets will be included in a client's overall portfolio total for fee-calculating purposes.

Retirement Plan Advisory Services

Diversified offers retirement plan advisory services to employee benefit plans and their fiduciaries based upon the needs of the plan and the services requested by the plan sponsor or named fiduciary in the advisory agreement. In general, these services may include an existing plan review and analysis, plan-level advice regarding fund selection and investment options, education services to plan participants, investment performance monitoring, and/or ongoing consulting. These retirement plan advisory services will be non-discretionary and advisory in nature as a 3(21) ERISA fiduciary, and will be specified in the Retirement Plan Agreement. The ultimate decision to act on behalf of the plan shall remain with the plan sponsor or other named fiduciary.

Diversified may also assist with participant enrollment meetings and provide investment-related educational seminars to plan participants on such topics as:

- Diversification;
- Asset allocation;
- Risk tolerance; and
- Time horizon

Educational seminars may include other investment-related topics specific to the particular plan.

Diversified may also provide additional types of retirement plan advisory services to plans on an individually negotiated basis and as specified in the advisory agreement. All services, whether discussed above or customized for the plan based upon requirements from the plan fiduciaries (which may include additional plan-level or participant-level services) shall be detailed in a written agreement and be consistent with the parameters set forth in the plan documents.

Either party to the Retirement Plan Agreement may terminate the agreement upon written notice to the other party in accordance with the terms of the agreement for services. The retirement plan advisory fees will be prorated for the quarter in which the termination notice is given and any unearned fees, if any, will be refunded to the client.

General Information Related to Financial Planning and Investment Recommendations

Diversified does not limit its investment advice to any specific type of product or security. A client's individual needs and objectives are analyzed to determine appropriate financial planning needs, and investment recommendations and asset management services are tailored to the individual client's needs. Clients are free to impose reasonable restrictions as to the types of securities recommended by Diversified, and for non-discretionary asset management, all investment decisions are the sole decision of the client. Since different types of investments typically involve different types of risk, Diversified conducts a risk analysis for the client and his/her overall portfolio before recommending a certain investment. In general, the firm provides advice on equity investments in individual stocks, no-load or load-waived mutual funds, exchange traded funds, and limited partnerships. Diversified also provides recommendations on fixed income investments, including individual bond positions, bond mutual funds, certificates of deposit, and fixed income exchange traded funds. Diversified may also provide advice on other types of investments, including non-securities products, that the firm feels are suitable for the client. The firm does not provide portfolio management services to wrap-fee programs but may recommend wrap-fee programs offered by third-party advisors. As an investment advisor that offers financial planning services, a conflict may exist between the interests of the investment advisor and the interests of the client. Clients are under no obligation to act upon Diversified's recommendations, and should a client choose to act on any of the recommendations made by Diversified, the client is under no obligation to effect transactions through Diversified unless a separate asset management agreement is executed.

Assets Under Management

Diversified provides regular and continuous asset management services to $507,926,753 in assets as of December 31, 2019. Of that amount, Diversified provides discretionary regular and continuous asset management services to $492,526,012 in assets, and non-discretionary regular and continuous asset management services to $15,400,741 in assets as of December 31, 2019. Diversified also provides advisement on a non-discretionary basis to $47,539,077 in assets as of December 31, 2019.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

Financial Planning Services

Diversified offers two levels of financial planning services, as described in Item 4 above - Platinum Financial Planning and Gold Financial Planning.

- Platinum Financial Planning services are offered to those clients who desire an integrated comprehensive financial plan, which includes an interactive planning forecast and a cash-flow analysis. Diversified will prepare a personalized financial plan, using a web-based platform, with unlimited meetings and advice. For these services, Client will pay a one-time fee of $1,500 to $10,000, depending on the complexity of the Client's financial situation. Beginning in year two, Client receives unlimited financial advice and planning forecasts in addition to access to Diversified's network of professionals for a retainer fee of $500 to $10,000 per year every year thereafter, based on the complexity of the client's financial situation and the level of service provided, paid directly by Client. Diversified, in its sole discretion, always reserves the right to lower or waive the retainer fee. The specific fee to which the client is subject, is detailed in the Agreement signed by the client. Diversified does not charge more than $500, more than six-months in advance of services rendered.
- Gold Financial Planning services are offered to those who do not desire an integrated comprehensive financial plan, which includes an interactive planning forecast and a cash-flow analysis but do desire a comprehensive review of their entire financial situation. For these services, Client will pay a one-time fee of $500 to $1,000, depending on the complexity of the Client's financial situation. In future years, if Client wants to upgrade to the Platinum level, the financial plan fee will be discounted by the Gold Financial Planning fee already paid. Beginning in year two, Client receives unlimited financial advice and access to Diversified's network of professionals for a retainer fee of, $500 to $10,000 per year every year thereafter, depending on the complexity of the Client's financial situation and the level of on-going service provided, paid directly by Client. Diversified, in its sole discretion, always reserves the right to lower or waive the retainer fee. Diversified does not charge more than $500, more than six-months in advance of services rendered.

Asset Management Services

Third-Party Advisory Programs

If clients participate in a third-party advisory program, specific third-party fee schedules, including Diversified's fee, are included in the offering materials and disclosure brochures provided by the third-party advisor. Clients may be subject to custodial fees or mutual fund expenses, as disclosed in a third-party advisor's disclosure brochure. Diversified has an incentive to recommend the services of third-party advisors. However, the firm endeavors to place the needs and objectives first and foremost in determining whether a third-party advisory program is appropriate for the client, and only those programs that the firm feels are suitable for a client will be recommended. Diversified typically will not have any authority to establish the fee schedule applicable to a third-party advisor, but the firm does establish its own fee for the advisory services provided in connection with the third-party program. Diversified's fee will not exceed 1.0% of total assets under management for a client. Diversified's fee is in addition to the third-party advisor's fee, and each fee is disclosed in the program offering materials. While Diversified endeavors to only refer clients to third-party advisors that it feels charge reasonable fees, the client is responsible for reviewing the fee schedule applicable to the third-party advisor. The third-party investment advisor will provide clients a disclosure document, which discloses all applicable fees and expenses. Clients should refer to this disclosure document for specific fee schedules and termination and refund procedures. The Agreement signed by the client will specify the fee structure to which the client is subject. Diversified does not debit advisory fees from client accounts, but the third-party advisor will direct the custodian of assets to debit fees directly from a client account and remit Diversified's fee to Diversified. Specific fee-billing methodology is included in the disclosure brochures provided by the third-party advisor. The typical annual fee charged to the client for third party investment advisory programs will vary from advisor to advisor and may be more or less than services provided by other advisors. Clients should refer to the third-party advisor's disclosure documents and agreements for a complete discussion of all fees. Fees will be debited from the client's account by a third-party advisor on a quarterly basis, either in advance or in arrears, as described in the third-party advisor's disclosure brochure, and statements will be provided to the client. Clients are responsible for verifying the accuracy of the fee calculation. Participation in any third-party investment advisory program may cost the client more or less than purchasing program services separately.

Portfolio Management and 401k Management

If Diversified provides portfolio management services directly, portfolios are typically custodied at SEI Private Trust and Diversified's fees are debited directly from the client's account. In some cases, another qualified custodian may be utilized and fees will be debited from the account held at such qualified custodian. Fees for these portfolio management services will be specified on the Agreement signed by the Client at the time of engagement, and Diversified's annual fee will not exceed 1.0% of assets under management. Fees are assessed quarterly, in arrears, based on the value of the account as reported by the qualified custodian on the last business day of the quarter. Portfolio management fees for multiple client accounts may be househanded and debited from one account, including fees for 401k portfolio management, at the client's direction and as specified on the Investment Advisory Agreement. If a client engages Diversified to provide portfolio management services to include 401k assets held away from SEI Trust Company, the assets will be included in the overall portfolio to which the asset management fee is applied. The Investment Advisory Agreement signed by the client will specify the fee structure to which the client is subject, the assets to which the fee applies, and the account from which the fees will be debited. Fees will be debited from the client's account quarterly, in arrears, and normal and customary custodial account statements will be provided to the client. Clients are responsible for verifying the accuracy of the fee calculation. Portfolio management services offered by Diversified may cost the client more or less than services offered elsewhere. Clients may be subject to additional fees, including custodial fees and mutual funds expenses, as disclosed in the third-party advisor's disclosure materials.

Retirement Plan Advisory Services

Diversified's advisory fees for these customized services will be negotiated with the plan sponsor or named fiduciary on a case-by-case basis and the annual fee will not exceed 1.0% of assets under management. Fees are generally assessed quarterly, in arrears, based on the value of the plan as reported by the custodian on the last business day of the billing period. If a third-party advisor or retirement plan provider is used, fees will be assessed by the third-party advisor or retirement plan provider as disclosed in the applicable disclosure brochure or offering materials. Diversified's fees will be deducted directly by the qualified custodian, unless Diversified, in its sole discretion, allows a sponsor to pay fees directly to the firm. Diversified's fee is separate from, and in addition to, any fee charged by a third-party advisor or retirement plan provider.

Diversified's annual portfolio management fee is billed and payable quarterly in arrears, based on the balance at end of billing period. Unless a Client pays Diversified directly for its services as indicated on the advisory agreement, Clients will authorize the custodian of the assets to charge the account for the amount of our fee and to remit such fee to Diversified in accordance with required regulatory procedures. Diversified does not charge performance-based fees.

Clients may terminate the retirement plan advisory services agreement upon written notice to Diversified. Clients will incur a pro rata charge for services rendered prior to the termination of the agreement, which means clients will incur advisory fees only in proportion to the number of days in the quarter for which client is a client.

General Information Related to Fees and Compensation

While Diversified has established the above referenced fees for its advisory services, the firm may negotiate fees under certain, limited circumstances, at its sole discretion. Factors considered when determining whether a different fee will be negotiated include, among other things, the complexity of the client's financial situation and planning needs, and the provision of other services provided to the client. Although Diversified believes its fees are fair and competitive, lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources and investment advisory services provided by Diversified may cost a client more or less than advisory services offered by other investment advisors. Diversified will not be compensated on the basis of a share of capital gains in a client's account.

In addition to advisory fees, if clients implement commission-based investment recommendations through Associates of Diversified, clients may be subject to commissions and/or custodial and account fees charged by account custodians or broker/dealers with whom clients establish accounts. Such additional fees may include, but are not limited to, transaction charges, IRA fees and other account administrative fees. Diversified does not charge asset management fees on products for which a Diversified Associate has received a commission, although the firm may charge financial planning fees in addition to earning commissions. Commissions represent an insignificant portion of the firm's total revenue.

Please see additional disclosure made for Item 14 later in this brochure. In cases where shares of mutual funds or exchange traded funds are included in clients' portfolios, clients may also be subject to fees and expenses charged directly by the mutual fund or exchange traded fund company. Such fees may include, but are not limited to, commissions, management fees, fund expenses, distribution fees, and 12b-1 fees. Clients should refer to the applicable product prospectus for a complete discussion of the fees and charges associated with the product.

If clients choose to implement the recommendations made in financial plans prepared by Diversified, clients have the option of purchasing investment products through any broker/dealer of their choice. However, if clients choose to implement recommendations through Diversified Associates, clients must implement recommendations through firms represented by said Associates. For securities products, Diversified Associates are registered representatives of Securities Service Network, Inc. ("SSN"), an unaffiliated registered broker/dealer. Diversified Associates may earn commissions as registered representatives of SSN, which poses a conflict of interest as Associates may have an incentive to recommend certain products in its financial plans. Financial planning fees are not offset by commissions. As a fiduciary, Diversified places the interest of its clients first and foremost and does not base its recommendations on the potential for commissions. Please refer to Items 10 and 14 below for a more complete discussion of the potential for additional compensation. Please also refer to Item 12 for a complete discussion of brokerage practices.

If Diversified makes recommendations to clients for the purchase of insurance products, clients will pay normal and customary insurance product fees for the purchase of the product. In these cases, Diversified Associates will receive commissions as insurance agents, generally based upon a percentage of the premiums paid. Such insurance commission is paid directly to Diversified Associates, from the issuer of the insurance product. Diversified makes this service available to clients simply as a convenience to clients. Clients are not obligated to purchase any insurance products from Diversified Associates.

Clients may terminate an investment advisory agreement at any time with prior written notice. If an Agreement is terminated within the first ten business days, clients are entitled to a full refund of any fees paid. If an Agreement is terminated after more than ten business days, clients are assessed fees on a pro-rata basis, based on work completed and services provided. Any unearned fees paid in advance, will be refunded upon written request to terminate an advisory agreement.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Diversified does not charge performance-based fees.

Item 7 Types of Clients

Diversified provides investment advisory services to individuals, high-net worth individuals, corporations or other businesses, pension and profit sharing plans, trust, estates and charitable organizations. Diversified charges a minimum initial financial planning fee of $500.00, which may be waived or reduced at the sole discretion of Diversified. For purposes of fees based on assets under management, Diversified may combine account values for all accounts held by a client.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

There are general standards of education and business experience which Diversified requires of those involved in determining or giving investment advice to its clients. Diversified Associates are required to have the technical knowledge in the areas of securities and insurance. Diversified requires that its Associates be securities and/or insurance licensed.

In most instances, the method of planning advice given by Diversified will be dictated by the client's investment needs and objectives which are discussed with the client at the inception of the planning relationship. Diversified takes a comprehensive approach to evaluate an overall financial or retirement plan that meets a client's needs and objectives. Rather than focusing on specific investments, Diversified identifies an appropriate ratio of securities, fixed income investments, insurance, real estate investments and cash, to make planning recommendations that are suitable for a client's investment needs, objectives and risk tolerance. All investments involve risk and clients must be prepared to bear such risk.

Diversified uses planning strategies that it feels best meet its clients' needs and objectives. Such strategies typically include long-term investment strategies of global asset allocation and diversification. While this strategy typically meets the needs and objectives of Diversified's clients, long-term investment strategies may include the risk of not taking advantage of short-term gains that could be profitable to a client. In addition, all securities investments involve risk of loss and clients may lose all or part of their investment. Clients who elect to invest in securities must be willing to bear this risk. For this reason, Diversified takes extra care to determine an appropriate risk tolerance of its clients. Investment recommendations are always made with this risk tolerance in mind.

Our Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

We may use one or more of the following methods of analysis or investment strategies when providing investment advice to you:

Fundamental Analysis - involves analyzing individual companies and their industry groups, such as a company's financial statements, details regarding the company's product line, the experience and expertise of the company's management, and the outlook for the company and its industry. The resulting data is used to measure the true value of the company's stock compared to the current market value.

Risk: The risk of fundamental analysis is that information obtained may be incorrect and the analysis may not provide an accurate estimate of earnings, which may be the basis for a stock's value. If securities prices adjust rapidly to new information, utilizing fundamental analysis may not result in favorable performance.

Modern Portfolio Theory - a theory of investment which attempts to maximize portfolio expected return for a given amount of portfolio risk, or equivalently minimize risk for a given level of expected return, by carefully diversifying the proportions of various assets.

Risk: Market risk is that part of a security's risk that is common to all securities of the same general class (stocks and bonds) and thus cannot be eliminated by diversification.

Long-Term Purchases - securities purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period of time, generally greater than one year.

Risk: Using a long-term purchase strategy generally assumes the financial markets will go up in the long-term which may not be the case. There is also the risk that the segment of the market that you are invested in or perhaps just your particular investment will go down over time even if the overall financial markets advance. Purchasing investments long-term may create an opportunity cost - "locking-up" assets that may be better utilized in the short-term in other investments.

Short-Term Purchases - securities purchased with the expectation that they will be sold within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities' short-term price fluctuations.

Risk: Using a short-term purchase strategy generally assumes that we can predict how financial markets will perform in the short-term which may be very difficult and will incur a disproportionately higher amount of transaction costs compared to long-term trading. There are many factors that can affect financial market performance in the short-term (such as short-term interest rate changes, cyclical earnings announcements, etc.) but may have a smaller impact over longer periods of times.

Our investment strategies and advice vary depending upon each client's specific financial situation. As such, we determine investments and allocations based upon the client's predefined objectives, risk tolerance, time horizon, financial information, liquidity needs and other various suitability factors. A client's restrictions and guidelines may affect the composition of the portfolio. It is important that clients notify us immediately with respect to any material changes to their financial circumstances, including for example, a change in current or expected income level, tax circumstances, or employment status.

We will not typically perform quantitative or qualitative analysis of individual securities. Instead, we advise clients on how to allocate assets among various classes of securities or third party money managers. We rely on investment model portfolios and strategies developed by the third party money managers and their portfolio managers or model portfolios developed by our firm. We may recommend replacing a third party money manager if there is a significant deviation in characteristics or performance from the stated strategy and/or benchmark.

Tax Considerations

Our strategies and investments may have unique tax implications. Regardless of your account size or any other factors, we strongly recommend that clients consult with a tax professional regarding the investing of assets.

Custodians and broker-dealers must report the cost basis of equities acquired in client accounts. An account custodian will default to the First-In First-Out ("FIFO") accounting method for calculating the cost basis of investments. Clients are responsible for contacting their tax advisor to determine if this accounting method is the right choice for them. If a client's tax advisor believes another accounting method is more advantageous, the client may provide written notice to our firm immediately and we will notify the account custodian of the individually selected accounting method. Decisions about cost basis accounting methods will need to be made before trades settle, as the cost basis method cannot be changed after settlement.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that a client should be prepared to bear. We do not represent or guarantee that our services or methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate clients from losses due to market corrections or declines. We cannot offer any guarantees or promises that financial goals and objectives will be met. Past performance is in no way an indication of future performance.

Other Risk Considerations

When evaluating risk, financial loss may be viewed differently by each client and may depend on many different risks, each of which may affect the probability and magnitude of any potential losses. The following risks may not be all-inclusive, but should be considered carefully by a prospective client before retaining our services.

Liquidity Risk: The risk of being unable to sell an investment at a fair price at a given time due to high volatility or lack of active liquid markets, including the possibility of not being able to sell the investment at all.

Credit Risk: Credit risk typically applies to debt investments such as corporate, municipal, and sovereign fixed income or bonds. A bond issuing entity can experience a credit event that could impair or erase the value of an issuer's securities held by a client.

Inflation and Interest Rate Risk: Security prices and portfolio returns will likely vary in response to changes in inflation and interest rates. Inflation causes the value of future dollars to be worth less and may reduce the purchasing power of a client's future interest payments and principal. Inflation also generally leads to higher interest rates which may cause the value of many types of fixed income investments to decline.

Horizon and Longevity Risk: The risk that your investment horizon is shortened because of an unforeseen event, for example, the loss of your job. This may force you to sell investments that you were expecting to hold for the long term. If you must sell at a time that the markets are down, you may lose money. Longevity Risk is the risk of outliving your savings. This risk is particularly relevant for people who are retired, or are nearing retirement.

Recommendation of Particular Types of Securities

We recommend various types of securities and we do not primarily recommend one particular type of security over another since each client has different needs and different tolerance for risk. Each type of security has its own unique set of risks associated with it and it would not be possible to list here all of the specific risks of every type of investment. Even within the same type of investment, risks can vary widely. However, in very general terms, the higher the anticipated return of an investment, the higher the risk of loss associated with the investment. A description of the types of securities we may recommend and some of their inherent risks are provided below.

Money Market Funds: A money market fund is technically a security. The fund managers attempt to keep the share price constant at $1/share. However, there is no guarantee that the share price will stay at $1/share. If the share price goes down, an investor can lose some or all of their principal. In return for this risk, investors should earn a greater return on cash than expected from a Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") insured savings account (money market funds are not FDIC insured). Money market fund rates are variable and the rate could go up or go down.

Municipal Securities: Municipal securities, while generally thought of as safe, do have risks associated with them including, but not limited to: the credit worthiness of the governmental entity that issues the bond; the stability of the revenue stream that is used to pay the interest to the bondholders; when the bond is due to mature; and, whether or not the bond can be "called" prior to maturity. When a bond is called, it may not be possible to replace it with a bond of equal character paying the same amount of interest or yield to maturity.

Bonds: Corporate debt securities (or "bonds") are typically safer investments than equity securities, but their risk can also vary widely based on: the financial health of the issuer; the risk that the issuer might default; when the bond is set to mature; and, whether or not the bond can be "called" prior to maturity. When a bond is called, it may not be possible to replace it with a bond of equal character paying the same rate of return.

Stocks: There are numerous ways of measuring the risk of equity securities (also known simply as "equities" or "stock"). In broad terms, the value of a stock depends on the financial health of the company issuing it. However, stock prices can be affected by many other factors including, but not limited to the class of stock (for example, preferred or common); the health of the market sector of the issuing company; and, the overall health of the economy. In general, larger, better established companies ("large cap") tend to be safer than smaller start-up companies ("small cap"), but the mere size of an issuer is not, by itself, an indicator of the safety of the investment.

Mutual Funds and Exchange Traded Funds: Mutual funds and exchange traded funds ("ETF") are professionally managed collective investment systems that pool money from many investors and invest in stocks, bonds, short-term money market instruments, other mutual funds, other securities, or any combination thereof. The fund will have a manager that trades the fund's investments in accordance with the fund's investment objective. While mutual funds and ETFs generally provide diversification, risks can be significantly increased if the fund is concentrated in a particular sector of the market, primarily invests in small cap or speculative companies, uses leverage (i.e., borrows money) to a significant degree, or concentrates in a particular type of security (i.e., equities) rather than balancing the fund with different types of securities. ETFs differ from mutual funds since they can be bought and sold throughout the day like stock and their price can fluctuate throughout the day. The returns on mutual funds and ETFs can be reduced by the costs to manage the funds. Also, while some mutual funds are "no load" and charge no fee to buy into, or sell out of, the fund, other types of mutual funds do charge such fees which can also reduce returns. Mutual funds can also be "closed end" or "open end". "Open end" mutual funds continue to allow in new investors indefinitely whereas "closed end" funds have a fixed number of shares to sell which can limit their availability to new investors.

ETFs may have tracking error risks. For example, the ETF investment adviser may not be able to cause the ETF's performance to match that of its underlying index or other benchmark, which may negatively affect the ETF's performance. In addition, for leveraged and inverse ETFs that seek to track the performance of their underlying indices or benchmarks on a daily basis, mathematical compounding may prevent the ETF from correlating with performance of its benchmark. In addition, an ETF may not have investment exposure to all of the securities included in its underlying Index, or its weighting of investment exposure to such securities may vary from that of the underlying index. Some ETFs may invest in securities or financial instruments that are not included in the underlying index, but which are expected to yield similar performance.

Variable Annuities: A variable annuity is a form of insurance where the seller or issuer (typically an insurance company) makes a series of future payments to a buyer (annuitant) in exchange for the immediate payment of a lump sum (single-payment annuity) or a series of regular payments (regular-payment annuity). The payment stream from the issuer to the annuitant has an unknown duration based principally upon the date of death of the annuitant. Annuities can be purchased to provide an income during retirement. Unlike fixed annuities that make payments in fixed amounts or in amounts that increase by a fixed percentage, variable annuities, pay amounts that vary according to the performance of a specified set of investments, typically bond and equity mutual funds. Many variable annuities impose asset-based sales charges or surrender charges for withdrawals within a specified period. Variable annuities may impose a variety of fees and expenses, in addition to sales and surrender charges, such as mortality and expense risk charges; administrative fees; underlying fund expenses; and charges for special features, all of which can reduce the return. Earnings in a variable annuity do not provide all the tax advantages of 401(k)s and other before-tax retirement plans. Once the investor starts withdrawing money from their variable annuity, earnings are taxed at the ordinary income rate, rather than at the lower capital gains rates applied to other non-tax-deferred vehicles which are held for more than one year. Proceeds of most variable annuities do not receive a "step-up" in cost basis when the owner dies, as do stocks, bonds and mutual funds. Some variable annuities offer "bonus credits." In order to fund these bonus credits, insurance companies typically impose mortality and expense charges and surrender charge periods. In an exchange of an existing annuity for a new annuity (so-called 1035 exchanges), the new variable annuity may have a lower contract value and a smaller death benefit; may impose new surrender charges or increase the period of time for which the surrender charge applies; may have higher annual fees; and provide another commission for the broker.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisors are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events material to your evaluation of Diversified or the integrity of Diversified's management. Diversified has no reportable information applicable to this Item.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Diversified Associates are licensed to sell various insurance products for which they may receive product commissions. Collectively, they represent many insurance companies from which product recommendations are made. The potential for this additional insurance compensation creates a conflict of interest when making planning recommendations that involve insurance products for which commissions may be earned. Diversified Associates make insurance product recommendations when they feel it is in the client's best interest, based on the specific needs and objectives of the client. The potential for additional compensation is not a criterion on which these recommendations are based.

Diversified Associates are also registered as registered representatives with Securities Service Network, LLC ("SSN"), an unaffiliated registered broker/dealer, member FINRA/SIPC. Diversified, the firm, is not a registered broker-dealer and does not have a pending application to register as a broker-dealer. If clients choose to implement securities recommendations through Diversified Associates, they will offer only those products approved by SSN. In this capacity as registered representatives of SSN, Diversified Associates may receive commissions for securities product sales which may or may not include 12b-1 fees paid for mutual fund shares. The potential for this additional compensation creates a conflict of interest when making planning recommendations that involve securities products for which commissions may be earned. Diversified Associates make these recommendations when they feel it is in the client's best interest, based on the specific needs and objectives of the client. The potential for additional compensation is not a criterion on which these recommendations are based.

As described in Item 4 above, Diversified may recommend that clients engage a third-party investment advisor for the management of client assets. In these cases, Diversified is not affiliated with the third-party investment advisor being recommended, and Diversified does not have any business relationship with the advisor other than that of a referrer. Diversified will ensure these third-party advisors are properly registered as investment advisors. Diversified is compensated in its capacity as a co-advisor or sub-advisor for the third-party advisor, and in some cases may be compensated as a solicitor for the third-party advisor. Diversified Associates are not compensated as representatives of a broker/dealer in these cases. Diversified is incented to recommend the services of these third-party advisors on the basis of the co-advisor or asset management compensation earned from the referral. While this is true, Diversified endeavors at all times, to place the needs and interests of clients first and foremost when recommending the services of a third-party advisor. Any referral made is because Diversified feels it is in the client's interest to engage the third-party advisor. Neither Diversified, nor its Associates, receive broker/dealer commission for these third-party advisory referrals. Clients are not obligated to engage a third-party advisor for asset management services, and they do so at their own discretion.

Neither the firm, nor any of its management persons are registered, or have an application pending to register, as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, a commodity trading advisor, or an associated person of the foregoing entities.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Diversified has adopted a Code of Ethics to promote the principles of honesty and integrity in its business practices, and to maintain Diversified's reputation as a firm that operates with the highest level of professionalism. Diversified recognizes its fiduciary responsibilities to its clients, and its duty and pledge to place clients' interests first and foremost. In connection with this duty, all employees of Diversified are subject to the firm's Code of Ethics and are required to acknowledge their understanding of its terms. A copy of the Diversified Code of Ethics will be provided to any client or prospective client upon request.

Diversified's Code of Ethics establishes procedures for employees to report personal securities transactions and personal securities holdings. The Code sets forth procedures for management review of these reports. In some cases, Diversified's employees may be required to obtain pre-approval for certain personal securities transactions or refrain from certain transactions altogether. Diversified's Code of Ethics also sets forth the obligation of all Diversified employees to comply with applicable state and federal securities laws, and the duty to cooperate in any investigation or inquiry conducted on or by Diversified. Finally, Diversified's Code of Ethics establishes procedures for the reporting of any potential violation of the firm's Code.

Diversified or its owners, officers and employees may buy or sell securities that are the same or different than those they recommend to clients. While buying or selling the same security as a client would be incidental, it may represent a potential conflict of interest, which would be fully disclosed to the client. Diversified or its owners, officers and employees may not sell securities from their accounts directly to a client, nor may they purchase securities directly from a client. Diversified, its owners, officers and employees are prohibited from trading on material nonpublic information. Diversified does not trade ahead of clients, but instead puts clients' interests first. Employees may not purchase or sell any security prior to a transaction being implemented for an advisory client, unless the timing of such transaction was done without the employee's knowledge of a client's transaction. Neither the firm, nor a related person, recommends to clients, buys or sells for client accounts, securities in which the firm or a related-person has a material financial interest. Diversified endeavors to ensure that the personal trading activities of its owners, officers and employees do not interfere with the decision-making process for client investment recommendations. Diversified also endeavors to ensure that the personal trading activities of its owners, officers and employees do not interfere with the implementation of investment recommendations made to clients.

Diversified prohibits its owners, officers, and employees from participating in any principal transactions, where securities are purchased directly from, or sold directly to a client. Diversified also prohibits its owners, officers and employees from purchasing shares in initial public offerings or private placement offerings, unless express written permission is provided in advance, by the firm's Chief Compliance Officer. Diversified, its owners, officers and employees, do not recommend to clients that they buy or sell securities in which a person associated with Diversified has a material financial interest.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Diversified's primary investment advisory activities are financial planning and asset management services, which may include utilizing third-party investment advisors. The firm does not currently aggregate trades for clients. Clients are free to implement planning recommendations at any firm of their choice. However, if clients choose to implement securities recommendations through Diversified Associates in their capacities as registered representatives, Diversified Associates will recommend that clients utilize the brokerage services offered by SSN, an unaffiliated broker-dealer registered with FINRA. This recommendation is made based on the Diversified Associates' registrations with SSN as registered representatives. In these cases, clients engage the Diversified Associates as registered representatives, and asset management fees are not charged in addition to broker/dealer commissions. Diversified believes the transaction and commission rates charged by SSN are reasonable and competitive, but a conflict of interest may exist based on the compensation earned by Diversified Associates. If clients choose to engage Diversified for portfolio management, clients may be required to custody assets at SEI Private Trust Company, or another custodian as specified in the account opening documents. If clients choose to implement asset management programs through a third-party investment advisor, clients may be required to custody assets at a custodian chosen by the third-party advisor. 401k assets will be held at the custodian designated by the employer-sponsor 401k plan. Clients should refer to all disclosure materials provided by the third-party advisor, for a complete description of the custodial arrangements made for participation in the third-party program.

For Retirement Plan Advisory Services, Clients will be referred to retirement plan providers who will provide custody of plan assets, such as Paychex, John Hancock, T. Rowe Price, American Funds, among others. Any decision to engage a retirement plan provider is solely made by the Client.

Diversified is unable to negotiate specific transaction costs for transaction execution. Transactions implemented by Diversified Associates in their capacities as registered representatives of SSN are subject to the SSN transaction and execution fee schedule in effect at the time of execution. Diversified does not negotiate commission rates or volume discounts. Therefore, investment advisory services offered by Diversified may cost a client more or less than similar investment advisory services offered by another firm, or by purchasing similar services separately.

As part of its fiduciary duty to clients, Diversified endeavors at all times to put clients' interests first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by the firm in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest. While Diversified feels the quality of custodial services offered by the above-named custodians is beneficial to clients, the firm cannot guarantee that best execution will be obtained. Diversified does not recommend broker/dealers in order to receive client referrals from such broker/dealers. Diversified also does not receive any soft-dollar benefits, including research or other products or services other than execution and normal and customary account servicing, from brokerage firms in connection with client securities transactions.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

Once a Financial Plan is completed for a client, Diversified strongly recommends that the client reviews his or her overall financial plan with Diversified at least annually. The firm stresses the importance of annual review meetings with clients on at least 12-month intervals from the anniversary of the delivery of the initial plan. More frequent reviews are also available if there are significant changes in social, economic, or political conditions or if a client's financial situation has changed materially. In each review, there will be a comprehensive review of the client's financial situation. Diversified Associates receive client information and review and develop annual recommendations. Meetings are set with clients, as needed. These meetings are tailored to the client's specific needs and financial issues at that time, and written analyses may or may not be provided.

For portfolio management and third-party advisory programs, client accounts are regularly and continuously reviewed by Diversified Associates and the third-party investment advisor as described in the program disclosure materials.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As discussed previously, the sole business of Diversified is that of providing the investment advisory services described herein. However, in order to provide comprehensive financial planning services, Diversified may, from time to time, utilize other professionals from whom clients may receive specific advice.

If Diversified makes recommendations to clients for the purchase of insurance products, clients will pay normal and customary insurance product fees for the purchase of the product. In these cases, either Diversified or Diversified Associates will receive a commission as an insurance agent, generally based upon a percentage of the premiums paid. Such insurance commission is paid directly to Diversified or the Diversified Associate from the issuer of the insurance product. Diversified makes this service available to clients simply as a convenience to clients. Clients are not obligated to purchase any insurance products from Diversified Associates. The receipt of additional compensation presents a conflict of interest in that Diversified Associates may be induced to recommend that clients purchase insurance products. While this may be true, Diversified Associates endeavor at all times to act in the best interests of their clients, and recommendations to purchase insurance products are only made when they feel it is in the best interest of a client.

As disclosed previously, Diversified Associates may receive additional compensation through their association with SSN. As registered representatives of SSN, Diversified Associates may receive normal and customary securities commissions from the sale of certain investment products. They may also receive 12b-1 fees on shares of mutual fund or investment company products. The receipt of this additional compensation represents a conflict of interest in that Diversified Associates may be induced to recommend certain products to clients for which a securities commission may be earned. Diversified Associates endeavor to act in the best interest of their clients and recommendations for securities products for which commissions may be earned are only made when they believe it is in the best interest of the client.

Diversified may receive indirect compensation from third-parties in the form of marketing support, including payment, for client events or company due diligence meetings. Such compensation is a conflict of interest in that Diversified may have incentive to recommend the services or products provided by such third-party. While this is the case, Diversified and its Associates endeavor at all times to act in the best interest of clients and recommendations are made only when the firm and its Associates feel it is appropriate for a client.

At the sole discretion of the owners of Diversified, the firm may compensate Diversified employees for client referrals. Under limited circumstances, certain employees may receive a bonus payment or additional compensation for introducing potential clients to Diversified Associates or for inviting potential clients to Diversified events.

From time to time, Diversified may feel it is appropriate to refer clients to other professionals from whom certain services may be received as part of a comprehensive approach to financial planning. Examples of these other professionals include attorneys or accountants. Diversified makes these referrals as a convenience to clients only and neither Diversified nor its Associates are compensated for these referrals. Clients are not obligated to work with the professionals to whom Diversified may refer them, and they do so at their sole discretion. Diversified is not responsible or liable for any services provided by these outside professionals. Diversified's use of these other professionals will not affect the total fee paid by a client. Clients may also engage these other professionals directly, at their own expense, and these arrangements would be separate and distinct from the financial planning services provided by Diversified. Diversified has a specific business relationship with an in-house CPA, Edmund S. Lynch, CPA, MT, of Lynch & Associates CPAs, who is an unaffiliated member of the Diversified team and to whom clients may be referred. Again, Clients are not obligated to work with Mr. Lynch and they do so at their sole discretion. However, the unique business relationship between Diversified and Mr. Lynch provides synergy in the Client's overall financial planning experience.

Item 15 Custody

Diversified does not maintain physical custody of client funds or securities, but is deemed to have custody in the following limited circumstances:

Diversified has authority, granted by clients, to deduct advisory fees from client accounts. Diversified complies with regulations for firms with this type of custody, and clients receive normal and customary custodial account statements from the qualified custodian who hold their assets. Clients should carefully review all custodial account statements.

For purposes of managing a client's 401k assets, Diversified may have authority, granted by the client, to log into client 401k accounts for purposes of viewing or rebalancing client assets. Such login privilege is limited to trading authority only, and does not allow Diversified to take custody of funds. We do not have the ability to disburse funds to third parties or make withdrawals from these accounts.

Wire Transfer and/or Standing Letter of Authorization

Diversified, or persons associated with the firm, may effect wire transfers from client accounts to one or more third parties designated, in writing, by the client without obtaining written client consent for each separate, individual transaction, as long as the client has provided us with written authorization to do so. Such written authorization is known as a Standing Letter of Authorization. An adviser with authority to conduct such third party wire transfers has access to the client's assets, and therefore is deemed to have custody of the client's assets in any related accounts.

We rely on SEC guidance for firms with this type of custody, and we do not have to obtain a surprise annual audit, as we otherwise would be required to by reason of having custody, as long as we meet the following criteria:

1. The client provides a written, signed instruction to the qualified custodian that includes the third party's name and address or account number at a custodian;
2. The client authorizes us in writing to direct transfers to the third party either on a specified schedule or from time to time;
3. The client's qualified custodian verifies the client's authorization (e.g., signature review) and

- provides a transfer of funds notice to client promptly after each transfer;
4. The client can terminate or change the instruction;
 5. Our firm has no authority or ability to designate or change the identity of the third party, the address, or any other information about the third party;
 6. Our firm maintains records showing that the third party is not a related party to us nor located at the same address as us; and
 7. The client's qualified custodian sends the client, in writing, an initial notice confirming the instruction and an annual notice reconfirming the instruction.

Diversified confirms that the firm meets the above criteria.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Diversified offers asset management services on both a discretionary and non-discretionary basis, at the sole decision of the client. 401k management services for individual clients who participate in employer-sponsored 401k plans, are provided on a non-discretionary basis only. Retirement Plan Advisory services are also provided on a non-discretionary basis only. If Diversified effects a transaction for a client who has selected non-discretionary asset management services, specific client permission is secured prior to effecting such transaction. For clients entering into discretionary asset management agreements with Diversified, Diversified provides regular and continuous asset management services and has discretionary authority to hire and fire third-party advisors for all or a portion of a client's portfolio, when applicable. Clients may also enter into discretionary agreements with third-party investment advisors for participation in a third-party advisory program. In those cases, the third-party investment advisor will maintain discretionary trading authority over the client's account and Diversified may be granted limited authority to rebalance a client's portfolio based on a client's agreed-upon asset allocation.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

Diversified does not accept authority to vote client securities on behalf of clients. Clients retain all rights to their brokerage accounts, including the right to vote proxies. Clients are responsible for directing each custodian of their assets to forward copies of all proxies and shareholder communications directly to the client. While Diversified may provide information or consultation to assist a client in deciding how to vote a particular security, the ultimate decision and responsibility to vote a security lies with the client.

In some cases, third-party advisors may exercise proxy-voting authority as part of the third-party advisory program. Such authority would be disclosed in the third-party advisor's disclosure materials. In those cases, the third-party advisor and not Diversified will exercise proxy-voting privileges.

Item 18 Financial Information

Diversified does not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in advisory fees more than six months in advance of services rendered. Diversified is therefore not required to include a financial statement or balance sheet with this brochure.

Diversified does not have any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet contractual commitments to clients. Diversified has not been the subject of any bankruptcy petition.

Privacy Policy

Diversified maintains a specific Privacy Policy that is distributed to each client at the time of engagement and annually thereafter. Diversified collects nonpublic information about clients from the following sources: information the firm receives from clients verbally, on applications or other forms and information about client transactions with others or the firm.

Diversified may have to share non-public client information with unaffiliated firms in order to service client accounts. As part of its comprehensive approach to financial planning, Diversified may share non-public client information with other professionals who may provide insurance services, estate planning services, tax services, mortgage services, or other services needed for a client's financial plan. Additionally, Diversified may have to provide information about clients to regulatory agencies as required by law. Otherwise, Diversified will not disclose any client information to an unaffiliated entity unless a client has given express permission for the firm to do so.

Diversified is committed to protecting client privacy. The firm restricts access to clients' personal and account information to those employees who need to know the information. Diversified also maintains physical, electronic and procedural safeguards that the firm believes comply with Federal standards to protect against threats to the safety and integrity of client records and information.

Business Continuity Plan

Diversified maintains a written Business Continuity Plan (Disaster Recovery) designed to address procedures to launch a timely recovery from a disaster. The basis of these procedures is to ensure that Diversified will meet its fiduciary obligations to clients and minimize the impact of a disaster to Diversified, its employees, vendors and clients. The Chief Compliance Officer is responsible for the maintenance and implementation of the Business Continuity Plan.