Investment Services:

The Company offers Investment Services to individuals, families, qualified and non-qualified retirement plans, non-profit organizations and corporate entities on a discretionary basis.

The assets to be managed and/or overseen will be designated by the Client. An analysis of the Client's current family, financial, long-term objectives and the preparation of recommendations will be made.

Clients will retain individual ownership of all investments or through entities so designated by the Client.

The Company will attempt, on a best efforts basis, to minimize income tax events on a yearly or multi-year basis to the best of its ability if appropriate.

Margin transactions, although not used for investment purposes, can be used when requested by clients to access cash from their account.

Discretionary Investment Management Services:

One of the Investment Services offered by The Company is managing securities portfolios (each has its own strategy) on an ongoing discretionary basis. After an initial discussion about the Client's comfort with risk, their goals and objectives as well as the Client's income tax situation to a degree, The Company will develop an initial investment strategy to address the Client's needs. The recommended investment strategy will incorporate a portfolio of investments appropriate for the Clients' circumstances. Upon mutual agreement with the Client regarding the recommended investment strategy, a portfolio will be implemented. Thereafter, The Company will provide ongoing management of the investment assets at its sole discretion without first consulting the Client. However, should the Client circumstances and/or wishes change after the initial recommendations are developed, the Client will need to notify The Company. The Company will then consult with the Client to develop a new investment strategy or modify the existing investment strategy.

Most portfolios can include open-end and closed-end mutual funds and Exchange-Traded products, but some portfolios in certain cases could include individual securities such as bonds, stocks and other types of investments unless the Client has otherwise restricted their usage in writing. Investment securities will be selected on the basis of any or all of the following criteria: the investment's performance history; the industry/sector; country and/or region it is located in; statistical measures; valuation of the investment or asset class as are applicable; the mutual fund/investment manager; the mutual fund/investment manager's style and philosophy; and the mutual fund/investment manager's fee structure among other criteria as well as their income tax-efficiency, if applicable.

Investment position weightings within a portfolio managed with discretion by The Company will be based upon the criteria mentioned above in addition to the Client's income tax circumstances, if possible, if applicable, as well as the type of portfolio they select.

Discretionary Investment Management Consulting Services:

This Investment Service is similar to the Discretionary Investment Management service, but may or may not involve more complex assets and/or accounts to manage.

This service could include accounts and/or investments that are difficult to value such as retirement plan balances of the individual client(s) and/or variable annuities except for once per year, or could possibly be aggregated with accounts and/or with family member accounts. Some of the assets may possibly be held at Custodians that either do not offer electronic downloads and/or do not allow The Company to have discretionary authority over. These difficult to value assets may also result in more staff time than those assets held at one or more of The Company's preferred Custodians.

Also, multiple portfolios for this service can be aggregated under a single fee.

The Company manages securities portfolios for this Investment Service similar to "Discretionary Investment Management Services" mentioned above. If the assets are held at Custodians not on The Company's Preferred Custodians list, The Company will advise the Client as to how to position those assets. Upon direction by The Company trade executions of such securities will need to be traded directly by the Client or in conjunction with the Client and The Company. It is solely the responsibility of the Client to reposition these assets in this type of situation although; the Client can request The Company's assistance.

However, should the Client circumstances and/or wishes change after the initial recommendations are developed, the Client will need to notify The Company. The Company will then consult with the Client to develop a new investment strategy or modify the existing investment strategy.

Investment Consulting Fixed Fee Services:

This service is for clients who have a large proportion of their assets in complex securities that require significantly more research and oversight. These assets could also include accounts and/or investments that will not be directly managed and/or valued except for once per year and are therefore outside of The Company's Discretionary Investment Services. These assets, in most cases, will be held at Custodians other than The Company's preferred Custodians. Performance return information for some of these assets may not be able to be provided by The Company.

In some situations, The Company could possibly manage a portion of the investment assets on a discretionary basis.

For the portion of investment assets that are not managed on a discretionary basis, The Company will only consult, if retained to do so. Should the Client request assistance with changes to investment assets that are normally only consulted upon, where possible for an additional fee that is mutually agreed upon, The Company will assist with such changes.

When The Company manages securities portfolios (each has its own strategy) on an ongoing discretionary basis, it will do so as follows: After an initial discussion about the Client's comfort with risk, their goals and objectives as well as the Client's income tax situation to a degree, The Company will develop an initial investment strategy to address the Client's needs. The recommended investment strategy will incorporate a portfolio of investments appropriate for the Clients' circumstances. Upon mutual agreement with the Client regarding the recommended investment strategy, a portfolio will be implemented. Thereafter, The Company will provide ongoing management of the investment assets at its sole discretion without first consulting the Client. However, should the Client circumstances and/or wishes change after the initial recommendations are developed, the Client will need to notify The Company. The Company will then consult with the Client to develop a new investment strategy or modify the existing investment strategy.

Most portfolios can include open-end and closed-end mutual funds and Exchange-Traded products, but some portfolios could also include individual securities such as bonds, stocks and other types of investments unless the Client has otherwise restricted their usage in writing. Investment securities will be selected based on any or all the following criteria: the investment's performance history; the industry/sector; country and/or region it is located in; statistical measures; valuation of the investment and/or asset class as applicable; the mutual fund/investment manager; the mutual fund/investment manager's style and philosophy; and the mutual fund/investment manager's fee structure among other criteria as well as their income tax-efficiency.

Investment position weightings within a portfolio managed with discretion by The Company will be based upon the criteria mentioned above in addition to the Client's income tax circumstances, as well as the type of portfolio they select.

Discretionary Investment Management Consulting and Financial Planning Services:

Under this service, The Company combines Discretionary Investment Management Consulting Services with Financial Planning Services. Please refer to the sections listed above for "Discretionary Investment Management Consulting Services" and "Financial Planning Services". These combined services are available for a fixed fee that will generally not change during the initial period of the contract.

Discretionary Sub-Advisory Investment Management Services:

The Company will act as a Sub-Advisor to other Advisors offering its Discretionary Investment Management Services. In other words, a client, who is not Legend's client, may engage an independent investment advisor (the "Advisor", which is not The Company) which, in turn, then engages The Company and perhaps other investment advisors to provide discretionary sub-advisory investment management services to a portion or all their client's portfolio(s).

The Company will only sub-advise the Advisor's Client accounts that are held at one or more of The Company's preferred custodians.

The Advisor will have the responsibility of discussing the Client's goals, portfolio objectives, ongoing needs and risk tolerance with the Client as well as, communicating any special requirements of a client with The Company (Sub-Advisor). The Advisor will be responsible for establishing and terminating accounts at the applicable custodians as well as requesting withdrawals and facilitating deposits into accounts.

Stock Options/Services:

1. Evaluate how many _ _ _ _ shares should be sold during the trading windows that _____ provides.
2. Determine how much in losses and/or gains from _ _ _ _ (other securities may also be sold) to sell within a calendar year.
3. Perform research and evaluate the outlook for _____ stock for the near term and intermediate term.
4. Analyze when to exercise _ _ _ _ stock options (when exercised these will generate ordinary income).

5. During stock market downturns, it may be necessary to use proxies [For example: an Exchange-Traded Fund (ETF) of _____ stocks] to short (Shares of the ETF will be borrowed. As the shares of the ETF decline in value when eventually the short is closed out, they will be purchased at a lower price and would be paid back to the lender. In effect, we will be hoping that the ETF of _____ stocks will decline in value which when shorted causes the investor to make money) which will, in effect, offset the decline of the _____ holdings. As a result, _____ shares would not have to be sold thereby avoiding capital gains taxation on the _____ stock.

Fee Calculation:

On the total value of _____ stock owned as well as "In The Money" stock options (When the stock price exceeds the exercise price of the options), the fee will be calculated quarterly as follows:

The value of the portfolio at quarter's end will be multiplied times a quarterly charge of 2.5 basis points (0.00025).

Investment Services For Retirement Plans:

Discretionary Investment Management Services For 401(k), 401(a) And 403(b) Multi-Participant Qualified Retirement Plans Where Participants Select From A Menu Of Individual Investments (Open-End Mutual Funds and Exchange-Traded Funds):

The Company manages qualified retirement plan investment assets under the Employment, Retirement and Income Security Act of 1974 (commonly known as ERISA). The Company will also review the Plan's Investment Policy Statement. The Plan Sponsors and/ or Trustees may hire an ERISA 3(38) investment manager to accept the fiduciary responsibility for the discretionary management of the investment options offered to plan participants. However, the Plan Sponsors and/ or Trustees can never delegate away its fiduciary responsibility for appointing the manager to carry out these duties.

The Company is willing to act as a Section 3(38) Investment Manager or a 3(21) Investment Advisor if so designated by the Plan Sponsors and/ or Trustees.

1. A 3(38) Investment Manager would select the investment options for the plan. [Please note a 3(21) Investment Advisor does this in conjunction with the Plan Sponsor's Investment Committee].
2. A 3(38) Investment Manager would designate Qualified Default Investment Alternatives ("QDIA") in accordance with U.S. Department of Labor ("DOL") guidelines which will be used as a default investment selection for participants who fail to make an affirmative investment election. [Please note a 3(21) Investment Advisor does this in conjunction with the Plan Sponsor's Investment Committee].
3. A 3(38) Investment Manager would monitor the investment options and portfolios on an ongoing discretionary basis and make changes when appropriate. [Please note a 3(21) Investment Advisor does this in conjunction with the Plan Sponsor's Investment Committee].
4. A 3(38) Investment Manager would, at least annually, provide the Plan Sponsors and/or Trustees with an overview regarding the selection of the investment options offered to plan participants. The Company if requested by the Plan Sponsors and/or Trustees to manage portfolios will provide information regarding the portfolios. This should enable the Plan Sponsor and/ or Trustee to fulfill its fiduciary responsibility regarding the sponsor's retention of the manager. [Please note a 3(21) Investment Advisor does this in conjunction with the Plan Sponsor's Investment Committee].
5. A 3(38) Investment Manager would construct static portfolios to be offered to plan participants if requested by the Plan Sponsor and/or Trustee (This arrangement is no longer offered as of March 1, 2016, except to grandfathered Clients). [Please note a 3(21) Investment Advisor does this in conjunction with the Plan Sponsor's Investment Committee].

The investment decisions for each plan participant's account are made by the plan participant.

The Plan Sponsors and/or Trustees will offer a menu of individual investment selections. Plan Participants will select their own investment choices from that menu to invest in.

Exchange-Traded products may be an additional/alternative investment option if permitted by the Plan Sponsor and/or Trustees and if they are offered by Third-Party Administrators and/or Custodians on their platforms.

Individual securities such as stocks and other types of investments may also be used unless the Plan Sponsor or Trustees has otherwise restricted their usage.

Static portfolios are no longer offered by The Company as of March 1, 2016, except to grandfathered Clients. The grandfathered static portfolios will usually include open-end mutual funds. These portfolios can also utilize Exchange-Traded products if the Plan Sponsor or Trustees desire them to be included and they are offered by Third-Party Administrators and/or Custodians on their platforms.

Investment securities of all types will be selected based on any or all the following criteria: the investment's performance history; the industry/sector; country and/or region it is located in; statistical measures; the track record of the investment; valuation of the investment or asset class as may be applicable, the manager; the investment manager's style and philosophy; and the investment manager's fee structure.

If a participant does not select an investment or investments from the menu of investments, a Qualified Default Investment Alternatives ("QDIA") will be used as a default investment selection.

Individual investments are reviewed at The Company's discretion or upon the Plan Sponsors and/or Trustees request. The Company will review the investment options depending upon, but not limited to, any of the following reasons: The Plan's circumstances, fund management changes, an increase in fund expenses, non-competitiveness of a fund's expense level, a need to add or reduce the number of fund options, etc.

For static portfolios (this is only applicable for grandfathered clients prior to March 1, 2016) reviews will be initiated by The Company for the following reasons: The Plan's circumstances, fund management changes, an increase in fund expenses, non-competitiveness of a fund's expense level, a need to add or reduce the number of fund options, etc.

For individual investment options, reviews will be initiated by The Company for the following reasons: The Plan's circumstances, fund management changes, an increase in fund expenses, non-competitiveness of a fund's expense level, a need to add or reduce the number of fund options, etc.

Discretionary Investment Management Services For 401(k) Plans Where Participants Select Managed Individual Portfolios From A Menu:

This service is no longer offered after January 1, 2016 except to grandfathered clients.

The Company will manage multiple portfolios (managed portfolios) of (each has its own strategy) open-end mutual funds and Exchange-Traded products, on an ongoing discretionary basis for 401(k) retirement plans.

After an initial discussion with the Plan Sponsors and/or Trustees about the amount of acceptable risk for each portfolio as well as their goals and objectives, The Company will develop multiple investment strategies to be offered to the plan's participants.

Thereafter, The Company will provide ongoing management of the investment assets at its sole discretion without first consulting the plan sponsor. However, should the plan sponsor's circumstances and/or wishes change after the initial recommendations are developed, the plan sponsor will need to notify The Company. The Company will then consult with the Plan Sponsors and/or Trustees to develop a new investment strategy or modify the existing investment strategy.

Expert Testimony:

Certain principal executive officers and/or other employees of The Company may, in their capacity as officer or employee, provide expert legal testimony to assist attorneys regarding advisory or securities-industry related litigation, arbitration proceedings or otherwise. The Company's expert testimony service will typically involve a recounting or verification of the standards for regulatory compliance and/or industry best-practices with respect to fiduciary responsibilities, fraud, suitability, compliance policies, procedures, codes of ethics and more.

Client Imposed Restrictions:

The goals and objectives for each client generally are discussed in conversations prior to the implementation of their investment portfolio. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities. The Client should notify The Company in writing, in advance, of any restrictions about their investment portfolios.

Wrap Fee Programs:

The Company does not participate in any wrap fee programs.

Client Assets:

As of December 31, 2019, The Company manages on a Discretionary basis approximately $292,253,494.00 in client assets. The Company manages investments on a non-discretionary basis of approximately $13,607,211.00 in client assets. All the assets are managed on a discretionary basis, except where Fixed Fee Consulting is applicable.

FEES AND COMPENSATION:

Fees:

The Company only receives fees from its clients. This is known as a Fee-Only compensation structure as opposed to a Fee and Commission (also known as Fee-Based) compensation structure, or a Commission-Only compensation structure offered by other types of advisors and brokers. Generally, fees are not negotiable.

However, in extremely rare circumstances, The Company, in their sole discretion, may waive their minimum fee and/or adjust the fee charged based upon certain criteria (e.g., type of assets, amount of assets to be added, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amounts of assets to be managed, anticipated future earning capacity, accounts owned by relatives of the Client and/or businesses related to the Client, account composition, etc.).

For investment related fees only, The Company may discount the listed advisory fees up to 30.0% subject to minimum applicable fees to law, insurance, accounting and other types of professional financial advisors and/or their firms. This discount is provided in the hope that these firms and their associated individuals may recommend The Company and/or its affiliates to their clients who need investment advisory services. However, no firm or individual who receives the discount is obligated in any way to recommend The Company to any person. There is no direct compensation paid to these firms or individuals for referring prospective clients to The Company.

For investment related fees only, The Company may discount the listed advisory fees up to 30.0% subject to minimum applicable fees to non-profit organizations.

For any service, a Client may terminate their relationship at any time and receive a prorata refund of any unearned fee. Similarly, any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable upon termination.

For any service, The Company may terminate their relationship at any time and will refund any unearned fees as determined on a prorata basis, if applicable. Similarly, any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable upon termination.

For investment related fees only, if a Client's account has tradable securities in it, even though it is not managed, it is considered part of the billable assets. If a Client's account is used strictly as a checking account, it is not part of the billable assets.

Exceptions to minimum portfolio sizes for investment services will apply to employees of The Company and their relatives. Financial Planning services are offered without charge to employees and immediate family.

If investment accounts have been established at a custodian that The Company and The Client have previously agreed upon here-in-after known as one of The Company's preferred Custodians, the fee will be billed directly from such account.

The Client authorizes The Company, under its discretionary authority, to liquidate positions held at one of The Company's Preferred Custodians in the portfolio to provide sufficient funds for fee payment.

The Client authorizes The Company to deduct the initial payment as well as all subsequent payments from the Client's designated account(s) held at The Company's Preferred Custodians.

At The Company's discretion, and only in unusual circumstances, the initial payment will be payable by check to "Legend Financial Advisors, Inc.®". Subsequent payments then will be made from an investment account(s) at one of The Company's preferred Custodians.

In the event an investment account is not available to bill from, the Client will be billed directly.

Also, in special circumstances, The Company may elect to bill the Client directly.

As stated above, The Company reserves the right to add, delete and/or modify any or all the services listed above, in writing, as it may deem appropriate with a thirty (30) day notice to the affected clients. Furthermore, the fees for the affected services provided to the Client may change as well.

Each Custodian has its own fee schedule which has no relation to The Company's fee schedule. See the fee schedule for the Custodian at which the investments are being held for further information.

This arrangement is no longer offered, except to grandfathered Clients.

The fee will be billed in semi-annual increments. This type of fee does not apply to hourly Financial Planning retainer clients.

The Company at its discretion may modify the annual anniversary review date (this is the effective date for billing purposes only) due to any number of circumstances which affect either the Client and/or The Company.

Discretionary Investment Management Consulting Fee:

For a single annual fee (The fee is normally recalculated once annually on or prior to the anniversary date, but split into four equal fiscal quarterly payments.), this service roughly follows the one for the Discretionary Investment Management Service, but may or may not involve more complex assets and/or accounts to manage. This service could include accounts and/or investments that are difficult to value except for once per year, such as retirement plan balances of the individual client(s) and/or variable annuities, or could possibly be aggregated with accounts not held at one or more of The Company's Preferred Custodians and/or with family member accounts. Furthermore, The Company may not have discretionary authority over those assets held at Custodians other than The Company's Preferred Custodians in which case, The Company will advise the client as to how these assets are to be positioned.

In addition, these difficult to value assets can also result in more staff time to value than assets held at one or more of The Company's Preferred Custodians thereby possibly resulting in a higher fee.

Also, multiple portfolios can be included under this single fee.

For Clients prior to January 1, 2019, the minimum fiscal quarterly advisory fee for Investment Management Consulting is $2,187.50. For Clients after January 1, 2019, the minimum fiscal quarterly advisory fee for Investment Management Consulting is $2,187.50.

Individual portfolios are subject to a minimum securities value for each portfolio of $250,000.

The minimum fees and portfolio sizes may prevent The Company from providing services to clients that cannot achieve these minimums. However, in extremely rare circumstances, The Company, in their sole discretion, may waive their minimum fee.

The Company has the discretion to waive the portfolio minimum size (value of $250,000 if it deems it appropriate; i.e. for the Client as well as the children of Clients and/or relatives that live in the same household as the Client.).

Alternatively, for prospective clients, if combined portfolios do not meet the overall minimum fiscal quarterly advisory fee of $2,187.50, they may be referred to The Company's sister firm, EmergingWealth Investment Management, Inc. which has lower minimum fiscal quarterly advisory fees.

The fee to be paid by the Client to The Company is payable as follows: The fee shall be billed quarterly, the first of which is due upon the execution of the contract (in other words, fees are paid one fiscal quarter in advance), each subsequent quarter is due three months, six months, and nine months, respectively, after the anniversary date and on the same date(s) each year thereafter.

The Company, at its discretion, may modify the annual anniversary review date (this is the effective date for billing purposes only) due to any number of circumstances which affect either the Client and/or The Company.

If the annual anniversary review date is modified, then the fiscal quarterly fees are due immediately, and subsequently in three months, six months, and nine months as well as on the same date(s) each year thereafter.

On or just prior to each annual anniversary date, The Company will determine the fee (normally paid in quarterly increments) for the next fiscal year and then notifies the Client of its decision in writing. The Client, at that point in time, can discuss The Company's decision. The Company reserves the right to not send a communication in writing if the fee does not change.

If the Client's asset level increases or decreases by 20% or more in a fiscal year, the fee will automatically be reviewed for the next fiscal quarter for adjustment.

Investment Consulting Fixed Fee:

This service is for clients who have a large proportion of their assets in complex securities that require significantly more research and oversight. These assets could also include accounts and/or investments that will not be directly managed and/or valued except for once per year and are therefore outside of The Company's discretionary investment services. These assets, in most cases, will be held at Custodians other than The Company's preferred Custodians.

Also, multiple portfolios can be included under this single fee.

The fee for this service will be billed in fiscal quarterly increments subject to a minimum fee of $2,500 per fiscal quarter.

Individual portfolios are subject to a minimum securities value for each portfolio of $250,000.

The minimum fees and portfolio sizes may prevent The Company from providing services to clients that cannot achieve these minimums. However, in extremely rare circumstances, The Company, in their sole discretion, may waive their minimum fee.

The Company has the discretion to waive the portfolio minimum size (value of $250,000 if it deems it appropriate; i.e. for the Client as well as the children of Clients and/or relatives that live in the same household as the Client.).

The fee to be paid by the Client to The Company is payable as follows: The fee shall be billed on a fiscal quarterly basis, the first of which is due upon the execution of the contract (in other words, fees are paid one fiscal quarter in advance), each subsequent quarter is due three months, six months, and nine months, respectively, after the anniversary date and on the same date(s) each year thereafter. The initial payment only shall be payable by check to "Legend Financial Advisors, Inc.®" unless the Client directs The Company to deduct the initial payment from the Client's designated account(s) held at The Company's preferred Custodians. If assets are not held at The Company's preferred Custodians, The Company will bill the Client directly.

The Company, at its discretion, may modify the annual anniversary review date (this is the effective date for billing purposes only) due to any number of circumstances which affect either the Client and/or The Company.

If the annual anniversary review date is modified, then the fiscal quarterly fees are due immediately, and subsequently in three months, six months, and nine months as well as on the same date(s) each year thereafter.

On or just prior to each annual anniversary date, The Company will determine the fee, which is paid in quarterly increments, for the next fiscal year and then notifies the Client of its decision in writing. The Client, at that point in time, can discuss The Company's decision. The Company reserves the right to not send a communication in writing if the fee does not change.

If the Client's asset level increases or decreases by 20% or more in a fiscal year, the fee will automatically be reviewed for the next fiscal quarter for adjustment.

Discretionary Investment Management Consulting and Financial Planning Fee Schedule:

The fee is determined after a thorough analysis of the Client's financial circumstances, complexity, investment monies to be managed, estimated hourly costs of providing Financial Planning services, consulting on investments held at Custodians other than The Company's Preferred Custodians and other financial matters pertinent to the client.

The investment portion of this service could potentially include one or more portfolios and/or contains assets such as retirement plan balances and/or variable annuities which do not offer electronic downloads and, therefore; results in more staff time to value than assets held at one or more of The Company's preferred Custodians.

Furthermore, in some circumstances, the fee could be increased because The Company may not have discretionary authority over some or all assets held at other non-preferred Custodians. In this situation, The Company will advise the Client as to how to position those assets. It is solely the responsibility of the Client to reposition these assets in this type of situation although; the Client can request The Company's assistance.

The total minimum fiscal quarterly fee is $2,500.

Under the Discretionary Investment Management Consulting portion of this service, a client may have individual or multiple portfolios. Portfolios are subject to a minimum securities value for each portfolio of $250,000.

The minimum fees and portfolio sizes may prevent The Company from providing services to clients that cannot achieve these minimums. However, in extremely rare circumstances, The Company, in their sole discretion, may waive their minimum fee.

The Company has the discretion to waive the portfolio minimum size (value of $250,000 if it deems it appropriate; i.e. for the Client as well as the children of Clients and/or relatives that live in the same household as the Client.).

The fee to be paid by the Client to The Company is payable as follows: The fee shall be billed on a fiscal quarterly basis, the first of which is due upon the execution of the contract (in other words, fees are paid one fiscal quarter in advance), each subsequent quarter is due three months, six months, and nine months, respectively, after the anniversary date and on the same date(s) each year thereafter. The initial payment only shall be payable by check to "Legend Financial Advisors, Inc.®" unless the Client directs The Company to deduct the initial payment from the Client's designated account(s) held at The Company's preferred Custodians. If assets are not held at The Company's preferred Custodians, The Company will bill the Client directly.

If the Client requires substantially more financial planning and/or investment consulting work than budgeted for in the current annual retainer due to unforeseen circumstances, The Company reserves the right to bill on an hourly basis for additional time spent by The Company's staff members. The Company will notify the Client in advance of any work that could be billed before being started. The fee schedule upon which the additional time is calculated is listed in the Hourly Financial Planning Fee Schedule or the Other Advisory Fee Schedule as applicable.

For this additional work only, invoices will be created monthly and sent to The Client unless other billing arrangements have been mutually agreed upon. In addition to the invoice, The Client will receive a breakout of each employee's activity and time spent completing that activity.

If monthly staff charges incurred total less than $100.00, billing may be deferred to the following billing month for up to a maximum of three months.

The Company, at its discretion, may modify the annual anniversary review date (this is the effective date for billing purposes only) due to any number of circumstances which affect either the Client and/or The Company.

If the annual anniversary review date is modified, then the fiscal quarterly fees are due immediately, and subsequently in three months, six months, and nine months as well as on the same date(s) each year thereafter.

On or just prior to each annual anniversary date, The Company will determine the fee (normally paid in quarterly increments) for the next fiscal year and then notifies the Client of its decision in writing. The Client, at that point in time, can discuss The Company's decision. The Company reserves the right to not send a communication in writing if the fee does not change.

If the Client's asset level increases or decreases by 20% or more in a fiscal year, the fee will automatically be reviewed for the next fiscal quarter for adjustment.

Discretionary Sub-Advisory Investment Management Services Fee Schedule:

The Company will provide Investment Management Services as a "Sub-Advisor" to Advisors that contract with The Company to do so. The Advisor will pay in arrears to The Company (Sub-Advisor) fiscal quarterly payments. The actual percentage charged to the Advisor will be based on the size and complexity of the Advisor's portfolio(s) to be managed.

A uniform fee schedule will be negotiated to manage all the Advisor's designated accounts.

The Client of the Advisor should refer to the Advisor's disclosure documents for full information on the Advisor's advisory services and fees.

The Company (Sub-Advisor) will generally bill the Advisor within thirty (30) days of the end of the billing cycle for the Advisor's fees.

An Advisor may terminate their entire relationship with The Company at any time and will pay a prorata portion of any earned fees to The Company. These fees will be due and payable within thirty (30) days of termination.

The Advisor's clients individually may also terminate their portfolio management services with the Advisor, which would, in turn, terminate the service that The Company offers.

In either instance of the termination of The Company's services, The Company shall not bear any responsibility whatsoever for any adverse financial consequences once verbal and/or written notification is provided by the Advisor to The Company that its services will be terminated, which includes, but is not limited to, investment assets with transfer and/or trading restrictions. Upon the Advisor's notification of termination to The Company, investment transactions will be processed up to and including the date of termination if written instructions are provided by the Advisor. In such case, electronic communications will not be accepted, except for facsimile transmissions.

In which case, the Advisor will pay The Company a prorata portion of any of its earned fees. All The Company's fees will be due and payable within thirty (30) days of termination.

In addition, The Company may terminate their relationship at any time by providing sixty (60) days notice.

Upon The Company's notification of termination to the Advisor, investment transactions will be processed up to and including the date of termination if written instructions are provided by the Advisor. In such case, electronic communications will not be accepted, except for facsimile transmissions.

The Company will be owed any earned fees on a prorata basis. All The Company's fees will be due and payable within thirty (30) days of termination.

Portfolios are subject to a minimum securities value of $250,000 for each portfolio. Therefore, the minimum fees and portfolio sizes may prevent The Company from providing services to the Advisor's Clients that cannot achieve these minimums. However, The Company may waive the minimum fee for the Advisor's Clients under unusual circumstances.

The Advisor shall make their check payable to "Legend Financial Advisors, Inc.[®]".

individuals. In addition, The Company offers medical practice and business financial planning services to those clients who request such services. Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS:

Methods of Analysis:

Proprietary portfolios have been developed and are maintained by The Company. Portfolio allocations are actively (tactically) managed in the interest of targeting specific levels of risk and/or long-term returns. Prior to portfolio changes, due diligence and analysis on each component of a portfolio is conducted to determine the viability within a portfolio. New types of portfolios are periodically constructed while other portfolios may be terminated as a result of changes in the investment environment. Not every client will necessarily be affected by this portfolio construction and/or termination process.

General investment and/or individual security research typically includes, but is not limited to; fundamental, quantitative, macroeconomic, technical, and qualitative analysis.

The typical sources of information include all filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, financial statements, company press releases, financial periodicals, internally-developed and external research materials and software, third-party security analysis reports, and discussions with fund management.

The predominant tools for investment analysis include, but are not limited to; dozens of periodicals, Morningstar Advisor Workstation, www.morningstar.com, Bloomberg Professional, third-party equity research reports, and internally developed research and analytics as well as information from any potential investment.

Investment Strategies:

The Company has developed a range of portfolios to address various risk levels and performance expectations. Each portfolio is executed for each specific client based upon their answers provided when discussing their Risk Assessment Questionnaire, as well as any additional objectives stated by the Client during consultations. When implementing a portfolio for a client, due to minimum portfolio investment asset requirements, a client's portfolio may not be as diversified as a similar client with larger amounts of investment assets.

Most portfolios, other than the most aggressive ones, will predominantly invest in open-end managed mutual funds as well as Exchange-Traded Funds and Exchange-Traded Notes. Limited partnership units, hedge funds, and fixed income individual securities are rarely used, but may be utilized on occasion.

Aggressive (high risk) portfolios have been developed and are maintained for clients who are comfortable with a greater level of risk and who have long-term time horizons for invested assets. Such portfolios are managed with the primary goal of enhancing returns with less emphasis on limiting volatility. THERE IS NO GUARANTEE THAT THIS OBJECTIVE WILL BE ATTAINED.

Investments/securities for aggressive (high risk) portfolios are generally selected on a tactical and/or opportunistic basis given current macroeconomic and market conditions. The aggressive (high risk) portfolios will typically invest in the following securities; individual stocks, Exchange-Traded products, open-end mutual funds and closed-end mutual funds.

Risk of Loss:

The Company does not guarantee the future performance of the Client's investment assets or any specific level of performance, the success of any investment decision or strategy that may be used, or the success of The Company's overall management of the Client's investment assets. The client understands that decisions made to use investment assets on behalf of the Client are subject to various risks including, but not limited to:

1. Interest-Rate Risk: Movements in interest rates may cause investment prices, especially for fixed income securities, to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
2. Financial Market Risk: The price of a stock, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is often caused by external factors independent of a security's underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
3. Inflation or Deflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a U.S. Dollar or similar currency today will not buy as much as a U.S. Dollar in the future, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation. Deflation has the opposite effect.
4. Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the U.S. Dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as Exchange Rate Risk.
5. Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
6. Business Risk: These risks are associated with an industry or a company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit.
7. Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in an investment. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
8. Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because that business must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.
9. Political Risk: Government policy may adversely affect securities prices. While domestic policy may have an impact on domestic securities, the risk is more pronounced for international investing. International investing involves additional risks including, but not limited to, currency fluctuations, political or economic conditions affecting the foreign country and differences in accounting standards and foreign regulations.

The Company is not affiliated with any of the Brokerage Firms. The Brokers do not supervise The Company, its Advisors, or activities.

For investment management, investment consulting, or sub-advisory clients in need of brokerage or custodial services, and depending on client circumstances and needs, we may recommend the use of one of several broker-dealers including but not limited to; TD Ameritrade, Inc., and Shareholders Service Group, Inc./Pershing, LLC. TD Ameritrade offers to independent investment advisors services which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions. The Company receives some benefits from TD Ameritrade through its participation in the TDA Program. As disclosed above, The Company participates in TD Ameritrade’s institutional client program and The Company may recommend TD Ameritrade to clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between The Company’s participation in the TDA Program and the investment advice it gives to its clients, although The Company receives economic benefits through its participation in the TDA Program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors.

These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving The Company participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to The Company by third party vendors. TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by The Company’s related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit The Company, but may not benefit its client accounts. These products or services may assist The Company in managing and administering client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help The Company manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by The Company or its personnel through participation in the TDA Program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, The Company endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefit by The Company or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence The Company’s choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services. As part of the TDA Program, The Company receives certain benefits that they would not receive if it did not offer investment advice to clients.

Clients are not under any obligation to initiate trades through any recommended broker. The Company does not receive fees or commissions from any of these arrangements.

Research And Other Soft Dollars:

In addition to a broker-dealer's ability to provide the "best execution" for their clients, The Company may consider the value of "research" or additional brokerage products and services that a broker-dealer has provided or may be willing to provide. This is known as paying for such services or products with "soft dollars". The Company is currently enrolled in the Soft Dollar Program provided by TD Ameritrade, Inc. Because many of the products or services could be considered to provide a benefit to The Company and, because the "soft dollars" used to acquire them are client assets, The Company could be considered to have a conflict of interest in allocating client brokerage business. As a result, The Company could receive valuable benefits by selecting TD Ameritrade, Inc. to execute client transactions and the transaction costs charged by TD Ameritrade, Inc. might not be the lowest transaction cost. The Company might otherwise be able to negotiate or find elsewhere. In addition, The Company theoretically could have an incentive to cause clients to engage in more securities transactions than would otherwise be optimal to generate brokerage compensation with which to acquire products or services. The Company's use of soft dollars is intended to comply with the requirements of Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Section 28(e) provides a "safe harbor" for investment managers who use commissions or transaction fees paid by their advised accounts to obtain investment research services that provide lawful and appropriate assistance to the manager in performing investment decision-making responsibilities. As required by Section 28(e), The Company will make a good faith determination that the fees paid are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services provided. That is, before placing orders with a broker-dealer, The Company will generally determine, considering all the factors described below, that the compensation paid to TD Ameritrade, Inc. is reasonable in relation to the value of all the brokerage and research products as well as services provided by TD Ameritrade, Inc. In making this determination, The Company typically considers not only the transaction or transactions, and not only the value of brokerage and research services as well as products to a client, but also the value of those services and products in The Company's performance of its overall responsibilities to all its clients. In some cases, transaction fees charged by TD Ameritrade, Inc. for a transaction or set of transactions may be greater than the amounts another broker-dealer who did not provide research services or products might charge. In such cases, however, the products or services involved may be used for the benefit of the Client utilizing TD Ameritrade in whose account the fees are incurred.

Research and Brokerage Products and Services:

"Research" products and services The Company may receive from TD Ameritrade, Inc. may include financial publications or other information about companies and industries (through research reports and otherwise); and other products or services (e.g., computer services, including software, and data bases) that provide lawful and appropriate assistance to the firm in the performance of its investment decision-making responsibilities. Consistent with Section 28(e), brokerage products and services (beyond traditional execution services) consist primarily of computer services and software that permit The Company to initiate securities transactions and perform functions incidental to transaction execution. The Company generally uses such products and services in the conduct of our investment decision-making, not just for those accounts whose fees may be considered to have been used to pay for the products or services.

Amount and Manner of Payment:

TD Ameritrade, Inc. establishes soft dollar "credits" arising out of stock trading brokerage business done in the past, which may be used to pay for specified lawful and appropriate research expenses. The actual level of transactional business The Company does with TD Ameritrade, Inc. during any period may generate unused soft dollar "credits." The Company does not exclude a broker-dealer from receiving business simply because the broker-dealer has not been identified as providing soft dollar research products and services.

Brokerage For Client Referrals:

The Company does not receive referrals of potential clients from any Broker/Dealer or Custodian and therefore does not have an incentive to recommend a broker-dealer based on client referrals.

Directed Brokerage:

By using Directed Brokerage, The Company may not be able to achieve the most favorable execution, and this practice may potentially increase client trading costs.

Order Aggregation:

Investment transactions of traded securities for each client generally will be effected independently, unless The Company decides to purchase or sell the same investments for several clients at approximately the same time. The Company may, but is not obligated to, combine or "batch" (also known as a "block trade") such orders to obtain best execution and/or to obtain more favorable commission rates as may be applicable. The Company will strive to allocate combined orders as equitably as possible among their clients' accounts. When utilizing a batch trade, transactions will be averaged as to price and will be allocated among their clients in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client at each respective custodian on any given day. It is important to note when executing trades across multiple custodians, transactions cannot be batched together, except at the same custodian. Therefore, at the present time, trades are rotated among custodians.

Trade Error Disclosure:

TD Ameritrade Institutional:

It is The Company's policy and practice to seek to identify and correct trade errors in client accounts without ultimately disadvantaging the Client. Should The Company discover a trade error attributable to the action or inaction of The Company or its staff, it is The Company's policy to correct the error so as to place the Client in at least the same economic position as the Client would have been in had the error not occurred. These corrections typically take place in a "trade error account" maintained by The Company at TD Ameritrade Institutional. Certain errors, when corrected, will result in a profit. When a profitable trade correction is identifiable to a client, the profit will be paid to that client. When a profitable trade cannot be identified to a client the profit will be donated to a charity of The Company's choice.

Shareholders Service Group, Inc./Pershing, LLC:

The Company will contact the trade desk to advise them of the error. The trade will be reversed and the Client will be made whole. Shareholders Service Group, Inc./Pershing, LLC will sell off the security in which the error occurred. There is a trade correction fee of $10.00 assessed to The Company. Where a gain results, the gain will be posted to the Client's account. Where a loss results, The Company will be required to make the Client whole.
