In 2017 Season Investments discovered that a local real estate company with which they had been doing business was engaged in criminal activity and was proactively and knowingly defrauding investors. Season reported their findings to the authorities, and the principal of that company has since pled guilty to criminal charges. Season subsequently underwent an exam by the Colorado Division of Securities, and in 2018 entered into a Stipulation for Consent Order in which the Division Staff alleged they had breached their fiduciary duty by recommending investments with the real estate company. Entering into the Stipulation for Consent Order did not constitute an admission or denial of the Staff’s allegations. More detail is available on our firm’s ADV Part 1.
