Item 3: Disciplinary Information

There are no legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of this advisory business.

Item 4: Other Business Activities

The principal business of Brian C. Proses is the practice of accountancy as a certified public accountant with Charles W. Proses, an accountancy corporation ("CWP"). This other business activity provides a substantial source of his income and involves a substantial amount of his time. This activity may present a conflict of interest by limiting the amount of time that he has available for his duties on behalf of Rational Investment Management, LLC ("RIM"). RIM does not believe this conflict of interest is material, however, given the nature of Brian C. Proses' activities on RIM's behalf. RIM addresses any conflict of interest through periodic reviews by RIM's other manager, Daniel Soulis Sinton.

Certain clients of RIM may also be, but are under no obligation to be, clients of CWP. Those clients have separate agreements with CWP, and pay separate fees to CWP for accounting services. RIM does not provide accounting services and is not licensed by the California Board of Accountancy.

Item 5: Additional Compensation

Other than salary and a profits interest (as a member), Brian C. Proses does not receive any economic benefit from any person, company, or organization, in exchange for providing clients advisory services through RIM.

Item 6: Supervision

Daniel Soulis Sinton, RIM's manager, whose telephone number is 415-379-0749, supervises RIM's supervised persons by monitoring their compliance with RIM's Statement of Policies and Procedures, including its Code of Ethics. Daniel Soulis Sinton monitors the securities transactions that each supervised person enters into on behalf of clients generally using the review process described in Item 13 of RIM's Brochure.

Item 7: Requirements For State Registered Advisers

This disclosure is required by California securities authorities and is provided for your use in evaluating this investment advisor representative's suitability.
