Item 4: Advisory Business

Pinnacle Capital Management, LLC ("PCM") was founded in August 2006 and is controlled by Pinnacle Holding Company, LLC. PCM is organized as a Delaware limited liability company. PCM has three offices, one office located in Fayetteville, New York, one in Mansfield, Massachusetts, and one in Nantucket, Massachusetts.

PCM may provide investment supervisory services and offer advice on:

- equity securities (exchange-listed securities, securities traded over-the-counter, foreign issuers),
- corporate debt securities,
- commercial paper,
- certificates of deposit,
- municipal securities,
- investment company securities (mutual fund shares),
- private funds
- United States government securities,
- options contracts on securities,
- interests in partnerships investing in real estate,
- asset backed securities (ABS) including but not limited to residential real estate mortgage backed securities (MBSs), collateralized loan obligations (CLOs), commercial mortgage backed securities (CMBs), and ABS backed by credit card receivables, auto loans, and equipment leases,
- private placement debt securities.

PCM offers advisory services and sub-advisory services, where appropriate, to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable and non-profit organizations, investment companies, private funds, corporations, insurance companies and other business entities.

PCM provides continuous advice to clients regarding investment of assets based on the individual needs of the client. Client investment objectives, risk tolerances and time horizon are established at the beginning of each client relationship and are routinely monitored throughout the relationship. If desired, PCM will assist clients in developing a customized investment policy and create and manage a portfolio based on that policy. PCM will manage advisory accounts on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of each client.

PCM will create a portfolio, or advise on the creation of a portfolio, consisting primarily of individual equities, exchange traded funds, mutual funds, private funds, fixed income securities and cash equivalents (e.g. money market funds). PCM will allocate the client's assets among various investments taking into consideration the overall management style selected by the client. The mutual funds, private funds and exchange traded funds will be selected on the basis of any or all of the following criteria: the fund's performance history; the industry or geographic sector in which the fund invests; the track record of the fund's manager; the fund's investment objectives; the fund's management style and philosophy; and the fund's management fee structure. Portfolio weighting between funds and market sectors will be determined by the investment style selected based on each client's individual needs and circumstances.

Clients will have the opportunity to place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments which will be made on the client's behalf. Clients will retain individual ownership of all securities. As appropriate, PCM may engage in margin transactions or option writing for client accounts. As these strategies involve additional risks, they will only be recommended when consistent with the client's stated risk tolerance.

PCM acts as a portfolio manager for a wrap program as discussed below. One of the significant differences between how PCM manages wrap fee accounts versus other accounts generally is that trading of a wrap fee account is executed through the sponsor of the wrap fee program. This form of directed brokerage may result in trading costs and execution services that are not as advantageous to the client as when PCM seeks "best execution." PCM receives a portion of the total wrap fee for its portfolio management services.

PCM provides portfolio management services in the Pinnacle Investments' Pinnacle Capital Management Separately Managed Account Program ("PCM SMAP"). PCM SMAP is a wrap fee program under which Pinnacle Investments, LLC ("PI"), a dually registered firm affiliated with PCM through common ownership and control, acts as adviser and wrap fee program sponsor. PCM is the sub-adviser responsible for portfolio management services within the program. As part of its portfolio management services, depending on the version of the PCM SMAP agreement, PCM may vote proxies on behalf of participants. PCM is compensated by PI for providing portfolio management services for clients participating in the wrap fee program. The participants in PCM SMAP are clients of PI and not advisory clients of PCM. PI is responsible for assisting clients in understanding the wrap fee program in light of the client's investment objectives and financial situation – initially and on an ongoing basis. PI is also responsible for client communication, portfolio reviews, client services, account maintenance and communicating client portfolio strategy changes to PCM. PCM manages client portfolios in accordance with the portfolio strategy selected on the PCM Managed Account Instruction Form with full trading discretion, subject to reasonable written restrictions, and does not act in any other capacity. These clients should refer to PI's disclosure document for additional information on the program.

As of March 31, 2021 PCM managed approximately $157 million on a discretionary basis.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

Compensation

PCM bases its fees on a percentage of assets under management. PCM manages accounts for a variety of client types including separate accounts, investment companies, private funds and wrap fee programs. These clients may invest in similar, if not the same, securities. Varying fee schedules may create an incentive for PCM to place more profitable trades in higher fee paying accounts over other accounts in the allocation of investment opportunities. PCM has procedures designed and implemented to ensure that all clients are treated fairly and equally, and to prevent this conflict from influencing the allocation of investment opportunities among clients.

Compensation – Separate Accounts

The fee for PCM's Advisory Services will be calculated by multiplying an agreed upon rate to the assets under management in the separate account, or by using some other metric as may be negotiated with the client. The annual fee is mutually agreed upon by PCM and the client. Criteria such as investment style, discretionary or non-discretionary, account size, other accounts of the same client managed by PCM, specific investment guidelines and/or restrictions, reporting requirements and frequency, business relationship with the client, and other client-specific criteria are taken into consideration when determining the annual fee. Clients should note that similar advisory services may or may not be available from other registered investment advisers for similar or lower fees.

PCM's annual fee typically ranges between 0.20% and 1.75% and the minimum initial account value required for a separately managed account is generally $100,000. All fees and account minimums may be negotiated.

Fees payable by advisory clients are payable in advance. Fees will be invoiced at the beginning of each calendar quarter based upon the value (market value or fair market value in the absence of market value) of the Advisory account(s) at the end of the previous quarter. The initial fee payable when an account is opened will be based on the initial deposit made into the account. If a client terminates an advisory relationship with PCM before the end of the calendar quarter, a pro-rated refund of advisory fees will be made to the client.

Compensation – Sub-Advisory Services

PCM is compensated as a sub-advisor for providing portfolio management services. Generally, PCM charges between 0.30% and 0.65% of assets under management for sub-advisory services annually. In certain circumstances, PCM may charge at an alternative amount based on a mutually agreed upon fee for a particular sub-advisory agreement. This amount may be more or less than the annualized rate of 0.30% or 0.65%.

Compensation – Affiliated Mutual Funds and Private Funds

PCM provides portfolio management for the Pinnacle Capital Management Funds Trust and its series portfolios (the "Funds"), which as of the date of this Brochure consists of one series, the 1789 Growth and Income Fund (formerly the Pinnacle Capital Management Balanced Fund). PCM may recommend the Funds, as suitable, to its advisory clients. The fees that PCM receives for managing the Funds are separate from fees paid to PCM for providing advisory services directly to a client, and the amount invested in the Funds will not be subject to PCM's advisory fee in addition to the Fund's fees. The fees PCM receives for managing the Funds are set forth in the prospectus of the Funds, which may be obtained upon request.

PCM provides portfolio management to the New York Service Award Fund – Exclusive, LP (NY SAFE). NY SAFE may be offered or sold only to length-of-service award programs sponsored by volunteer emergency-service organizations, and to firefighter benevolent associations. NY SAFE is only offered and sold in New York State. PCM is currently exploring the expansion of those entities allowed to invest in NY SAFE to include fire departments and fire companies located in New York State.

PCM's Senior Fixed Income Analyst, Robert Cuculich, is a registered representative of PCM's affiliated broker/dealer (PI). He is also the Portfolio Manager for a mutual Fund, Nysa Fund (Nysa), whose investment advisor is Pinnacle Advisors, LLC. PCM does not receive any financial benefit from Nysa.

Other Fees and Expenses

In most cases, PCM's advisory fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses, which are paid by the client. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodian fees, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds (as discussed below) and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to PCM's fee, and PCM shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees and other costs. Private funds also charge management fees and other costs and expenses.

All fees paid to PCM for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds to their shareholders, including mutual funds managed by PCM. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could invest in a mutual fund directly, without the services of PCM. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by PCM, which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition or objective. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the fund and the fees charged by PCM to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

Item 12 further describes the factors that PCM considers in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

Clients will incur brokerage and other transaction costs. Please refer to Item 12 for more information.

Supervised persons of PCM may accept compensation for the sale of securities and other investment products, including asset based sales charges or service fees from mutual funds. This practice presents a conflict of interest and may give PCM or its supervised persons an incentive to recommend investment products based on the compensation received, rather than on the client's needs. PI has adopted procedures (which apply to PCM and its supervised persons) that are intended to ensure that clients receive appropriate information to understand this potential conflict of interest. In recommending products to its clients, PCM (or its supervised persons) may recommend no-load products or load products. Clients should be aware that they have the option to purchase investment products that PCM recommends through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with PCM. PCM will not reduce its advisory fees to offset any commissions or markups that it or its supervised persons may receive.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

Performance-Based Fees

Neither PCM nor any of its Supervised Persons (employees) accepts performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains or on a capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7: Types of Clients

PCM provides portfolio management services to clients including but not limited to:

- individuals,
- investment companies,
- pension and profit sharing plans,
- private funds,
- trusts and estates,
- charitable and not-for-profit organizations,
- corporations, insurance companies and other business entities
- emergency-service organization Length of Service Award Programs or Benevolent Associations.

Item 8: Method of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Method of Analysis

PCM may use a fundamental and technical approach in its security analysis. It may also utilize charting and cyclical analyses.

PCM uses the following main sources of information: financial publications, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the SEC, and company press releases.

Investment Strategies

The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time.

PCM utilizes a disciplined portfolio construction process designed to be broad enough to provide proper diversification so as to reduce unique risks while individual positions are sufficient enough to have a meaningful impact on the overall return of the portfolio. Typically, the equity portion of a portfolio will consist of stocks of 25-30 different issuers but may consist of fewer or more depending on the strategy and investment opportunities. The fixed-income portion will vary based on the criteria below.

The overall allocation between equity and fixed income is determined by matching a particular client's investment objectives to one of PCM's portfolios, which include: (i) Aggressive Growth; (ii) Growth; (iii) Balanced; (iv) Moderate; and (v) Conservative. Additionally, PCM offers clients Mutual Fund or ETF portfolios for those clients who wish their portfolio to be managed according to an asset allocation strategy using multiple asset classes. PCM also offers a Dividend Income Growth (DIG) portfolio which focuses on equities with high or growing dividend payments.

When selecting equity securities, PCM uses a selection process based upon a model that applies three core strategies to the universe of stocks in order to identify a smaller number of potential buy candidates. These strategies are intended to identify individual securities that will minimize individual downside risk – thereby preserving capital – and enhancing upside potential – thereby achieving long-term capital appreciation. The strategies are: (i) “sustained growth strategy,” which identifies companies with characteristics that enable them to experience continued growth; (ii) “supply-demand strategy,” which identifies cyclical companies whose profits fluctuate significantly during an economic cycle due to rising and falling demand of its product; and (iii) “turn around strategy,” which identifies companies that compete in viable industries that have experienced a substantial reduction in profitability compared to their peers. Once PCM applies these strategies, it establishes price targets to ensure it purchases and sells the stocks at appropriate prices.

When selecting fixed-income securities, PCM considers, among other things, duration, yield, credit quality, maturity, current economic environment and trading environment.

In managing NY SAFE, in addition to the equity-selection criteria explained above, PCM will also seek to identify for short allocation those securities that PCM expects to decline in value over a particular time period.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Investors face the following types of risks:

Market Risk

The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop (or rise in the case of shorted investments) in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events

Interest Rate Risk

Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.

Investment Advisor Risk

PCM's ability to choose suitable investments has a significant impact on the ability of the Strategies to meet their investment objectives.

Asset Allocation Risk

PCM's allocations between equity and debt securities could cause accounts to underperform relative to benchmarks and other accounts with similar investment objectives.

Inflation Risk

When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

Currency Risk

Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.

Business Risk

These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.

Financial Risk

Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk to profitability, because the company must then meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisors are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of PCM or the integrity of PCM's management. PCM has no information to disclose applicable to this item.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

PCM is wholly owned by Pinnacle Holding Company, LLC.

Financial Industry Activities – Broker-Dealers

PCM is not registered as a broker-dealer. PCM's Senior Fixed Income Analyst and Vice President of Business Development are registered representatives of PCM's affiliated broker-dealer, Pinnacle Investments, LLC.

Financial Industry Activities – Futures and Commodities

Neither PCM nor any of its management persons is registered as, or associated with, a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, or a commodity trading advisor.

Investment Company and Private Funds

PCM provides portfolio management for the Pinnacle Capital Management Funds Trust and its mutual fund, the 1789 Growth and Income Fund. PCM and Pinnacle Capital Management Funds have the same Chief Compliance Officer who monitors the policies and procedures related to advisory and sub-advisory clients to see to it that no advisory and sub-advisory client is disadvantaged in regards to securities selection, trading or Code of Ethics requirements.

PCM also serves as general partner for and provides portfolio management for PAGGE, a private fund that is not an investment company (mutual fund). The limited partnership interests of PAGGE are not registered under the federal securities laws. PCM also provides portfolio management for NY SAFE, a private fund that is not an investment company. The limited partnership interests of NY SAFE are not registered under the federal securities laws and can be offered and sold only in New York State.

Broker/Dealer

Pinnacle Investments, LLC

PCM is affiliated through common ownership and control with Pinnacle Investments, LLC ("PI"), a FINRA registered broker-dealer and SEC-registered investment advisor. PCM shares rent and certain administrative costs with PI. PCM may recommend PI to clients in need of brokerage services. PCM's Senior Fixed Income Analyst is a registered representative of PCM's affiliated broker-dealer, Pinnacle Investments, LLC.

By executing a client transaction through PI, affiliates of PCM will receive separate, yet customary, additional compensation. PI, through which PCM may execute client securities transactions, may from time to time refer clients to PCM. PCM may compensate PI for these client referrals through payment of an ongoing referral fee. PCM will not make commitments to compensate PI through brokerage or dealer transactions for client referrals; a conflict of interest, however, may arise between the client's interest in obtaining best price and execution and PCM's interest in receiving future referrals. Under such circumstances, clients should be aware of their various brokerage options as described in Item 12 below. PCM is aware of the special considerations promulgated under Section 206(4)-3 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. As such, appropriate disclosure shall be made, and all applicable Federal and State laws will be observed. While PCM endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first as part of its fiduciary duty, clients should be aware that the receipt of additional compensation itself creates a conflict of interest, and may affect the judgment of PCM when making recommendations.

Robert Cuculich, a Senior Fixed Income Analyst with PCM, and Dean Dellas, a Representative of PCM, are representatives of and compensated by PI.

PCM may refer clients to Confidential Planning I, LLC. Confidential Planning I, LLC may refer clients to PCM.

Item 11: Code of Ethics

Code of Ethics

All PCM supervised persons must comply with a Code of Ethics and Insider Trading Policy. The purpose of the Code is to preclude activities that may lead to or give the appearance of conflicts of interest, insider trading and other forms of prohibited or unethical business conduct. The Code describes PCM's high standard of business conduct, and its fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code's key provisions include:

- Statement of General Principles
- Policy on and reporting of Personal Securities Transactions
- A prohibition on Insider Trading
- Restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts
- Procedures to detect and deter misconduct and violations
- Requirement to maintain confidentiality of client information

The Chief Compliance Officer, reviews all employee trades. These reviews ensure that personal trading does not affect the markets and that clients of PCM receive preferential treatment.

PCM employees must acknowledge the terms of the Code when hired and annually thereafter. Any individual not in compliance with the Code may be subject to discipline.

Clients and prospective clients can obtain a copy of PCM's Code of Ethics by contacting Kevin McClelland at (315) 234-9716 or info@pcm-advisors.com.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Individuals associated with PCM may buy or sell securities for their personal accounts identical to or different than those recommended to clients. It is the express policy of PCM that no person employed by PCM shall prefer his or her own interest to that of an advisory or sub-advisory client or make personal investment decisions of advisory clients. To supervise compliance with its Code of Ethics, PCM requires that anyone associated with PCM's advisory practice with access to advisory recommendations provide annual securities holdings reports and quarterly transaction reports to the firm's Chief Compliance Officer. PCM requires such access persons to also receive approval from the Chief Compliance Officer prior to investing in any individual stocks, bonds, IPOs or private placements (limited offerings).

PCM requires that all individuals must act in accordance with all applicable Federal and State regulations governing registered investment advisory practices. PCM's Code of Ethics further includes the firm's policy prohibiting the use of material non-public information. Any individual not in observance of the above may be subject to discipline.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits

PCM may receive research reports from various broker-dealers. The receipt of such reports is not directly connected to the recommendation of brokerage/custody service to advisory clients, but does create a possible conflict of interest of which clients should be aware in assessing PCM's recommendations. PCM does not engage in soft dollar arrangements with any broker in which it receives research or other benefits from a broker in exchange for paying higher commission costs. PCM may from time to time compensate, either directly or indirectly, any person (defined as a natural person or company) for client referrals. PCM is aware of the special considerations promulgated under Section 206(4)-3 of the Investment Advisors Act of 1940 and similar state regulations. As such, appropriate disclosure shall be made, all written instruments will be maintained by PCM and all applicable Federal and/or State laws will be observed. As disclosed in Item 10 and in this Item 12, PCM may compensate PI for client referrals to PCM through payment of an ongoing referral fee. PCM will not make commitments to compensate PI through brokerage or dealer transactions for client referrals; a conflict of interest, however, may arise between the client's interest in obtaining best price and execution and PCM's interest in receiving future referrals.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

PI, through which PCM may execute client securities transactions, may from time to time refer clients to PCM. PCM may compensate PI for client referrals to PCM through payment of an ongoing referral fee. PCM will not make commitments to compensate PI through brokerage or dealer transactions for client referrals; a conflict of interest, however, may arise between the client's interest in obtaining best price and execution and PCM's interest in receiving future referrals.

On occasion, PCM may receive a client referral from a broker-dealer (other than PI) that PCM uses to execute clients' securities transactions. PCM may use such broker-dealer subject to PCM's duty to seek best execution on clients' transactions. PCM does not direct commissions to compensate for referrals.

Directed Brokerage

As PCM will not typically have the discretionary authority to determine the broker-dealer to be used or the commission rates to be paid, clients must direct PCM as to the broker-dealer to be used. In directing the use of a particular broker or dealer, it should be understood that PCM will not have authority to negotiate commissions among various brokers or obtain volume discounts, and best execution may not be achieved. In addition, a disparity in commission charges may exist between the commissions paid by other clients. For clients in need of brokerage services, PCM will generally recommend the use of an affiliated broker-dealer, PI, with which it is affiliated through common control and ownership. Clients, however, are not under any obligation to effect trades through any recommended broker. The factors considered by PCM when making this recommendation are, among other factors, (i) the broker's ability to provide professional services; (ii) PCM's experience with the broker; (iii) the broker's reputation; and (iv) the broker's quality of execution services and cost of such services.

As part of the wrap fee program, all transactions in PCM SMAP will be executed by PI. As disclosed in Item 10 above, PI is a FINRA member broker-dealer affiliated through common ownership and control with PCM. Clients should be aware that by executing client transactions through PI, affiliates of PCM will receive separate, yet customary, additional compensation. Clients should be aware that the receipt of additional compensation itself creates a conflict of interest, and may affect the judgment of PCM when making recommendations. As an introducing broker-dealer, PI typically clears its transactions through First Clearing, LLC a FINRA Registered broker dealer and affiliate of Wells Fargo.. Thus, by recommending PI for brokerage services, PCM is also indirectly recommending First Clearingfor broker-dealer services. PCM reserves the right to decline acceptance of any client account that directs the use of a broker-dealer if PCM believes that the broker-dealer would adversely affect PCM's fiduciary duty to the client and/or ability to effectively service the client portfolio.

Trade Aggregation

PCM may execute block trades where possible and when advantageous to clients. This blocking of trades permits the trading of aggregate blocks of securities composed of assets from multiple clients' accounts. Transaction costs may or may not be shared equally and on a pro-rated basis between all accounts included in any such block. Block trading allows PCM to execute equity trades in a more timely, equitable manner and may reduce overall commission charges to clients. PCM may not be able to block trades for client accounts who direct the use of a broker other than PI, and therefore a disparity in commission charges may exist between directed brokerage and discretionary brokerage clients.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

While the underlying securities within a client's account are continuously monitored, these accounts are reviewed at least quarterly by PCM's Investment Management Team or a member of PCM's Investment Management Team. Advisory accounts are reviewed in the context of each client's stated investment objectives and guidelines that may have been provided as well as in the context of the investment products held in the account. Sub-advisory accounts are reviewed in the context of the portfolio strategy selected on the PCM Managed Account Instruction Form or subsequent written instructions received from the advisor, client or the client's Financial Advisor. Changes in variables such as market, political, and/or economic circumstances, or changes in a client's individual financial objectives, circumstances, or portfolio strategy may trigger more frequent reviews.

In addition to the statements and transaction confirmations that clients receive from their broker-dealer and/or custodian, upon request, PCM will provide quarterly reports summarizing account performance, balances and holdings. In some cases, clients may receive more or less frequent reports if contracted for at the inception of the advisory relationship.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As disclosed in Item 10, PCM may compensate PI for client referrals through the payment of an ongoing referral fee.

Additionally, PCM may enter into solicitation agreements with individuals who are independent contractors. PCM will pay finders' fees to these independent contractors on an ongoing basis as long as PCM manages the client accounts that were solicited. Clients that open accounts with PCM under this arrangement will receive disclosure documents detailing the arrangement at the time the account documents are signed and may pay fees that are greater than those shown in the Fee Schedules described in Item 5.

Item 15: Custody

Custody

An advisor that serves as the general partner of a pooled investment vehicle is generally considered to have custody of client assets because the position of general partner may give legal access to client funds and securities. PCM serves as general partner to PAGGE, and therefore may have custody of PAGGE assets. PCM does not have the authority to obtain possession of PAGGE funds or securities without the consent of the third party administrator of PAGGE and consequently custody, as defined in Rule 206(4)-2, may not exist. Nonetheless, PCM voluntarily complies with Rule 206(4)-2 by holding all securities with a qualified custodian (except as permitted by Rule 206(4)-2(b)(2)), and by complying with the provisions of Rule 206(4)-2(b)(4) by distributing to PAGGE's limited partners an audit report prepared by a PCAOB audit firm within 120 days of the end of each fiscal year.

Fee Debiting

Clients may authorize PCM (in a client agreement) to debit fees directly from the client's account at the broker-dealer, bank or other qualified custodian ("custodian"). Client investment assets will be held with a custodian agreed upon by the client and PCM. The custodian is advised in writing of the limitations of PCM's access to the account. The custodian sends a statement to the client, at least quarterly, indicating all amounts disbursed from the account including the amount of advisory fees paid directly to PCM.

While PCM will assist clients in establishing and maintaining accounts at the custodian, PCM shall have no responsibility or liability with respect to custodial arrangements or the acts, omissions or other conduct of the custodian.

Account Statements

As described above and in Item 13, clients receive at least quarterly statements from the broker-dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. Clients are urged to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodian records to the account statements or other reports that PCM provides. PCM statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

For discretionary clients, PCM requests that it be provided with written authority to determine which securities and the amounts of securities that are bought and sold. From time to time, clients may also provide PCM with written authority to determine the broker-dealer to use for client transactions and the commission costs that will be charged to clients for these transactions. Any limitations on the discretionary authority shall be included in this written authority statement. Clients may change/amend these limitations as required. Such amendments shall be submitted in writing.

Although PCM will typically not accept discretionary brokerage authority on behalf of its clients, certain clients may, from time to time, provide PCM with written authority to determine the broker-dealer to use for client transactions and the commission costs that will be charged to our clients for these transactions. For these clients, PCM will endeavor to select those brokers or dealers which will provide the best services at the lowest commission rates possible. The reasonableness of commissions is based on the broker's ability to provide professional services, competitive commission rates, research, financial responsibility, and responsiveness to PCM and other service attributes that will help PCM in providing the investment management services to clients. PCM may, therefore, recommend (or use) a broker who provides useful securities transaction services even though a lower commission may be charged by a broker which PCM believes offers less securities transactions assistance. Research services may be useful in servicing all PCM clients, and not all such research may be useful for the account for which the particular transaction was effected.

As disclosed above, PI is a FINRA member broker-dealer affiliated through common ownership and control with PCM. PCM may execute client securities transactions through PI pursuant to its discretionary authority granted by the client. Clients should be aware that by executing client transactions through PI, affiliates of PCM receive separate, yet customary, additional compensation. Clients should be aware that the receipt of additional compensation itself creates a conflict of interest, and may affect the judgment of PCM when making recommendations. Moreover, PCM may, from time to time, compensate PI for client referrals through payment of an ongoing referral fee.

PCM will not make commitments to compensate PI through brokerage or dealer transactions for client referrals; a potential conflict of interest, however, may arise between the client's interest in obtaining best price and execution and PCM's interest in receiving future referrals. Under such circumstances, clients should be aware of their various brokerage options, including utilizing the services of the referring broker, choosing another broker via a "Directed Brokerage" arrangement (as described above), or utilizing another firm recommended by PCM to provide custody and execution services. PCM is aware of the special considerations promulgated under Section 206(4)-3 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. As such, appropriate disclosure shall be made and all applicable Federal and State laws will be observed.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, PCM generally has authority to and does vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients unless the client has not granted that authority to PCM. Clients who do not grant this authority retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in the client portfolios. However, PCM may provide advice to clients regarding the clients' voting of proxies.

Insofar as PCM is obligated to vote proxies for its clients the following policies apply:

PCM, as a matter of policy and as a fiduciary to clients, has responsibility for voting proxies for portfolio securities consistent with the best economic interest of the clients. PCM maintains written policies and procedures as to the handling, research, voting and reporting of proxy voting and makes appropriate disclosures about the firm's proxy policies and practices. PCM's policy and practice include the responsibility to monitor corporate actions, receive and vote client proxies and disclose any potential conflicts of interest as well as making information available to clients about the voting of proxies for their portfolio securities and maintaining relevant and required records. In the absence of specific voting guidelines from the client, PCM will vote proxies in the best interest of each particular client. PCM's policy is to vote all proxies from a specific issuer the same way for each client absent qualifying restrictions from a client. Clients are permitted to place a reasonable restriction on PCM's voting authority in the same manner that they may place such restrictions on the actual selection of account securities.

PCM will identify any conflicts that exist between the interest of the advisor and the client by reviewing the relationship of PCM with the issuer of each security to determine if PCM or any of its employees has any financial, business or personal relationship with the issuer. If a material conflict of interest exists, PCM's Chief Investment Officer will determine whether it is appropriate to disclose the conflict to the affected clients, to give the clients an opportunity to vote the proxies themselves, or to address the voting issue through other objective means such as voting in a manner consistent with a predetermined voting policy or receiving an independent third party voting recommendation. PCM will maintain a record of the voting resolution of any conflict of interest.

Clients may request a full copy of this policy or information regarding how proxies relating to their securities were voted by contacting PCM's Chief Investment Officer at (315) 234-9716 or info@pcm-advisors.com.

Item 18: Financial Information

PCM is required in this item to provide certain financial information or disclosures about PCM's financial condition. PCM is wholly owned by parent company Pinnacle Holding Company, LLC (PHC). For 2020, PCM reported a gain of $40,400. PCM has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

PCM is not required to provide a balance sheet; PCM does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per client, and six months or more in advance.
