Firm Description

Gasber Financial Advisors, Inc., hereinafter ("GFA") was founded in 1995 and is an SEC registered investment adviser.

GFA is a fee-only financial planning and investment management firm. The firm does not sell securities or insurance on a commission basis and is not affiliated with entities that sell financial products, securities or insurance.

GFA provides personalized confidential financial planning and investment management to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations and small businesses.

GFA does not act as a custodian of client assets as the client always maintains asset control.

Other professionals (e.g., lawyers, accountants, insurance agents, etc.) are engaged directly by the client on an as-needed basis. Any conflicts of interest arising out of GFA's or its associated persons are disclosed in this brochure.

Principal Owners

Gerald E. Gasber is a 80% stockholder

Karen Miller is a 20% stockholder

Types of Advisory Services

GFA provides comprehensive personal financial planning services for a fee to a variety of clients. GFA also provides investment supervisory services, also known as asset management services and furnishes investment advice through consultations. As part of the financial planning service, GFA furnishes advice to clients on matters not involving securities, such as taxation issues, retirement planning, cash flow and related matters.

GFA does not act as a sponsor or provide investment management services to a WRAP program.

As of December 2020, GFA managed approximately $135,779,018. in assets. Approximately $129,429,056 is managed on a discretionary basis, and $6,349,962 is managed on a non-discretionary basis.

Tailored Relationships

The goals and objectives for each client are documented in their Financial Plan or Investment Policy Statement. Written Investment Policy Statements reflect an understanding of GFA's and the client's respective roles and responsibilities related to investment management services. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities or asset classes.

Assignment of Investment Management Agreements

Agreements may not be assigned without client consent.

Types of Agreements

The following agreements define the typical client relationships.

Financial Planning Agreement

GFA provides comprehensive personal financial planning services for a variety of individuals and families including business owners, professionals, corporate executives, inheritors and retirees. Use of our investment management services is not required of those who wish to use personal financial planning services although we believe clients whose use both are best served. Not all clients whose request financial planning as a sole service can be accommodated due to the time-consuming nature of this service.

The comprehensive planning process typically involves the following fundamental steps:

- Establishment/definition of the relationship with the client
- Gathering of client data and determination of client goals, objectives and risk tolerance
- Analysis and evaluation of client's current financial status
- Evaluation of alternative solutions
- Development and presentation of recommendations
- Assistance with implementation

Financial planning analysis and recommendations are tailored to the client's needs and circumstances and may include:

- Risk Management/Insurance (life, disability, medical, long-term care, property & casualty, liability, etc.)
- Employer and government benefits (Social Security, Medicare, etc.)
- Tax Planning
- Investment analysis and planning

- Retirement Planning (How much will I need to retire? When can I retire? Am I spending too much and in danger of running out of money?)
- Estate and Philanthropic planning, family gifting
- Savings, Budgeting, Debt Management, Saving for College

Clients will receive a written copy of the financial plan. A comprehensive financial plan does not include recommendations on specific individual investments. Specific investment recommendations are considered part of the Investment Management or Wealth Management service. Although insurance is at the core of risk management and is an essential element of the financial planning process, GFA does not sell insurance or insurance products and receives no commissions, rebates or referral fees when its clients purchase such products from others. Because of the variety and complexity of insurance products, GFA prefers to be as involved as possible when its clients consider the purchase of such products to meet their financial planning needs. GFA does not provide legal or tax advice and does not prepare any kind of income tax, gift or estate tax return or any legal document.

Investment Management Agreement (Non-Qualified)

GFA provides investment management services exclusively on a fee basis. These services include:

- Determination of the client's investment goals and risk tolerance
- Design of an asset allocation appropriate to the client's individual circumstances
- Development of an Investment Policy Statement
- Determination of individual securities to be bought or sold and selection of appropriate managers
- Buy-sell trades as determined by the above steps
- Monitoring of the investments and asset allocation with bi-weekly review and rebalancing as required
- Regular annual review meetings with the client
- Re-assessment of client's risk tolerance on a three-year cycle

The vast majority of investments recommended by GFA are in the form of no load mutual funds or Exchange Traded Funds or equivalent investment products. When such securities are employed, the fund companies charge each fund shareholder an investment management fee that is disclosed in the fund prospectus. If a brokerage/custodian is used to purchase a mutual fund, the brokerage/custodian may charge a transaction fee. The brokerage/custodian may also charge a fee or mark-up or mark-down for stock and bond trades. GFA does not share in any of these fees and does not receive any compensation from fund or brokerage/custodian companies for these services.

The investment selection offered to clients may be limited by the knowledge and experience of the personnel of GFA and/or the resources available to it as a result of its relationships with custodians and other providers in the broader financial industry. As a result of these resources, certain investments may be available to clients of GFA that might not be available to members of the public at large. GFA believes that the breadth of choices available to it is sufficiently wide so as to effectively make available the full range of investment options that might conceivably be important for all but the rarest client.

GFA may offer advice on securities that include but are not limited to stocks, bonds and mutual funds, exchange traded funds, exchange traded notes, hedge funds, venture capital opportunities, derivative debt and equity securities, private and public REIT's, and other partnership interests such as those investing in mortgages or venture capital. GFA may also offer advice on other types of investments such as business opportunities. Should such advice be offered by GFA when the investment is unlikely to end up in the GFA-managed portfolio, then the analysis of such opportunities is considered a financial planning service and would be subject to all guidance, limitations and fees described in the financial planning section.

Wealth Management Agreement

Financial planning should be an ongoing, life-long process. After the initial financial plan is completed and recommendations are presented, clients may subscribe to GFA's Wealth Management services.

Wealth Management includes financial plan implementation, ongoing maintenance and updating of the financial plan, general financial advice, investment advice and investment management services. An exception to this rule may arise if a client wishes GFA to provide advice and analysis well beyond GFA's normal financial planning services. Planning services directed at previously unaddressed topics, extraordinary research or analysis may involve additional costs, which will be negotiated on an individual basis prior to beginning such work.

Investment Management & Services Agreement (Qualified Plans)

GFA provides investment management and other services exclusively on a fee basis to Qualified Plans including Pension, Profit Sharing and 401(k) Plans. These services include:

- Development of an Investment Policy Statement
- Design of an appropriate asset allocation and/or model portfolios
- Determination of individual securities to be bought or sold and selection of appropriate managers
- Qualified Default Investment Alternative selection

- Monitoring of the investments and asset allocation with review and rebalancing as determined
- Regular review meetings with the client no less frequently than semi-annually
- Plan investment performance benchmarking
- Plan Fee & Expense benchmarking
- Plan design consultation
- Employee enrollment and education

GFA generally recommends no load mutual funds, Exchange Traded Funds or equivalent investment products. When such securities are employed, the fund companies charge each fund shareholder an investment management fee that is disclosed in the fund prospectus. If a brokerage/custodian is used to purchase a mutual fund, the brokerage/custodian may charge a transaction fee. GFA does not share in any of these fees and does not receive any compensation from fund or brokerage/custodian companies for these services.

The investment selection offered to client's may be limited by the knowledge and experience of the personnel of GFA and/or the resources available to it as a result of its relationships with custodians and other providers in the broader financial industry. As a result of these resources, certain investments may be available to clients of GFA that might not be available to members of the public at large. GFA believes that the breadth of choices available to it is sufficiently wide so as to effectively make available the full range of investment options that might conceivably be important for all but the rarest client.

Insurance Services

When appropriate, Gasber may recommend that a client obtain insurance as part of an overall financial plan. Gasber has a relationship with DPL Financial Partners, LLC ("DPL"). By working with DPL, Gasber can provide access to insurance reviews/analyses, education, and planning.

DPL is a third-party provider of a platform of insurance consultancy services to SEC-registered investment advisers ("RIAs") that have clients with a current or future need for insurance products. DPL offers RIAs memberships to its platform for a fixed annual fee and, through its licensed insurance agents who are also registered representatives of The Leaders Group, Inc. ("The Leaders Group"), an unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer and FINRA member, offers members a variety of services relating to fee-based insurance products.

These services include, among others, providing members with analyses of their current methodology for evaluating client insurance needs, educating and acting as a resource to members regarding insurance products generally and specific insurance products owned by their clients or that their clients are considering purchasing, and providing members access to and product marketing support regarding fee-based products that insurers have agreed to offer to members' clients through DPL's platform.

For providing platform services to RIAs, DPL receives service fees from the insurers that offer their fee-based products through the platform. These service fees are based on the insurance premiums received by the insurers. DPL is licensed as an insurance producer in jurisdictions where it is required to perform the platform services. Its representatives are also licensed as insurance producers, appointed as insurance agents of the insurers offering their products through the platform, and registered representatives of The Leaders Group.

Clients are under no obligation to use DPL's service, and may seek insurance advice from any licensed agent. The insurance products and fee structures available from DPL may differ from those available from other third-party insurance agents. Gasber recommends that you fully evaluate products and fee structures to determine which arrangements are most favorable to you prior to making an investment decision. We do not receive compensation for insurance products selected by the client, whether secured through DPL or any other agent.

Hourly Engagements

GFA provides hourly financial planning services at its sole discretion for certain clients who need advice on a limited scope of work. Hourly rates can be found in the "Fees and Compensation" section of this brochure

Termination of Agreement

An advisory client will have a period of five (5) business days from the date of signing the investment advisory agreement to unconditionally rescind the agreement and receive a full refund of all fees. Subsequently, A Client may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by providing 30 days notice to GFA in writing. Clients shall be charged pro rata for services provided through to the effective date of termination. If the client made an advance payment, GFA will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

GFA may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by providing 30 days notice to the Client in writing. Clients shall be charged pro rata for services provided through to the effective date of termination. If the client made an advance payment, GFA will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

GFA reserves the right to terminate any financial planning engagement where a client has willfully concealed or has refused to provide pertinent information about financial situations when necessary and appropriate, in GFA's judgment, to providing proper financial advice. Any unused portion of fees collected in advance will be refunded.

Item 5 - Fees and Compensation

Compensation paid to GFA for financial planning, wealth management and investment management services are described below.

Financial Planning

Based on the nature and scope of the planning work to be performed and at GFA's discretion, clients may pay for the planning services provided in one of the following ways:

Hourly fees. Hourly fees are typically recommended for short term consulting requests or limited financial planning and analysis. Hourly rates are:

Professional	$175-$350/hour
Para-planner	$125/hour
Clerical	$75/hour

Hourly rates are not negotiable, although GFA may agree to limit the number of hours to a particular task at the client's request.

Project fees. Project fees are fixed at the beginning of the engagement and are based on an estimate of the time required to complete the work. The fees for the initial financial planning engagement generally range between $2,000 and $5,000 and are negotiable based on the nature of the planning. Certain planning engagements may charge a project fee outside of the above range due to factors specific to that engagement.

A deposit of 50% of the project fee is due at the signing of the engagement letter with 50% of the balance due 45 days after signing and the balance due 90 days after signing. GFA does not accept $500 or more six months in advance of performing any services. GFA may at its sole discretion elect to waive all or any portion of its financial planning fees for any client.

Retainer fees. GFA charges a retainer fee for ongoing financial planning services. The retainer is based on the scope of the work to be performed, is billed quarterly and can be updated annually.

Investment Management (Non-Qualified)

Clients pay investment management fees in advance each quarter as described in the client services agreement. Fees are payable on the first day of the quarter and GFA calculates the fees on the portfolio value as of the last business day of the prior quarter. Additional account deposits are subject to the same fee procedures and may be pro-rated for the purpose of determining the quarter's fee. The initial fee will be prorated if the investment falls during the calendar quarter. Once each year, with prior notice to the Client, the fee schedule may be adjusted to reflect increases in the cost of doing business or anticipated changes in the scope of the work to be done.

The following fee schedule will apply to aggregate portfolio assets under management.

Account Value From	Account Value To	Per Quarter	Annualized
$0	$1,000,000	0.2500%	1.00%
$1,000,001	$2,000,000	0.1875%	0.75%
$2,000,001	$5,000,000	0.1500%	0.40%
$5,000,001	$10,000,000	0.0750%	0.30%
Over $10,000,000		0.05000%	0.20%

At termination, fees will be billed on a pro rata basis for the portion of the quarter completed. The portfolio value at the completion of the prior full billing quarter is used as the basis for the fee computation, adjusted for the number of days during the billing quarter prior to termination. Clients may and are paying fees different from the above schedule of fees when they are related to GFA or the client may be paying less or more under a legacy fee schedule.

Wealth Management

Wealth Management fees are composed of two components; an asset-based investment management fee and a financial planning fee. Clients pay Wealth Management fees in advance each quarter as described in the client services agreement. Fees are payable on the first day of the quarter and GFA calculates the investment management component on the portfolio value as of the last business day of the prior quarter using the Investment Management (Non-Qualified) fee schedule. Additional account deposits are subject to the same fee procedures and may be pro-rated for the purpose of determining the quarter's fee. The initial investment management fee will be prorated if the investment falls during the calendar quarter.

In addition to the asset-based investment management fee there is a flat quarterly financial planning retainer which may be negotiable where unique circumstances apply. At termination, investment management fees will be billed on a pro rata basis for the portion of the quarter completed. The portfolio value at the completion of the prior full billing quarter is used as the basis for the fee computation, adjusted for the number of days during the billing quarter prior to termination. Clients may and are paying fees different from the above schedule of fees when they are related to GFA or the client may be under a legacy fee schedule.

Once each year, with prior notice to the Client, the investment management fee schedule and the financial planning retainer may be adjusted to reflect increases in the cost of doing business or anticipated changes in the scope of the work to be done.

Investment Management & Services (Qualified Plans)

The initial fee will be set forth in the Client services agreement. Clients may pay management fees in advance or arrears each quarter as described in the client services agreement. Fees are payable on the first day of the quarter and are calculated on the portfolio value as of the last business day of the prior quarter. Additional account deposits are subject to the same fee procedures and may be pro-rated for the purpose of determining the quarter's fee. The initial fee will be prorated if the investment falls during the calendar quarter. Once each year, with prior notice to the Client, the fee schedule may be adjusted to reflect increases in the cost of doing business or anticipated changes in the scope of the work to be done.

The following fee schedule will apply to aggregate portfolio assets under management with a minimum annual fee of $5,000.

	Account Value	Per Quarter	Annualized
First	$500,000	0.25%	1.00%
Next	$500,000	0.225%	0.90%
Next	$2,000,000	0.1750%	0.70%
Next	$2,000,000	0.150%	0.60%
Next	$2,000,000	0.125%	0.50%
Next	$3,000,000	0.100%	0.40%

At termination, fees will be billed on a pro rata basis for the portion of the quarter completed. The portfolio value at the completion of the prior full billing quarter is used as the basis for the fee computation, adjusted for the number of days during the billing quarter prior to termination. Clients may and are paying fees different from the above schedule of fees if they are under a legacy fee schedule.

Conflict of Interest Between Different Fee Structures

GFA offers different financial planning and investment management services detailed in this brochure that compensate GFA differently depending on the service selected. There is a conflict of interest for GFA and its associated personnel to recommend the services that offer a higher level of compensation to the Firm through either/both higher management fees or reduced administrative expenses. GFA mitigates this conflict through its procedures to review client accounts relative to the client or investors personal financial situation to ensure the service provided is appropriate. Further, GFA is committed to its obligation to ensure associated persons adhere to the Firm's Code of Ethics and to ensure that the Firm and its associated persons fulfill their fiduciary duty to clients or investors.

Item 6 - Performance Fees

Fees are not based on a share of the capital gains or capital appreciation of managed securities. However, GFA may employ certain types of investments that do charge a performance fee in which GFA does not participate. For these investments, refer to their offering or private placement memorandum for an explanation and amounts of the performance fees.

Item 7 - Types of Clients

Description

GFA generally provides investment advice to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, or charitable organizations and corporations or business entities. Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Item 8 - Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods may include fundamental analysis. The main sources of information include financial newspapers and magazines, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and company press releases.

Investment Strategies

Strategies employed are generally long-term in nature. The primary investment strategy used on client accounts is strategic asset allocation utilizing evidence-based management strategies. GFA uses evidence-based, index and exchange-traded funds to globally diversify the portfolios and to control the risk associated with traditional markets.

The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time. Each client executes an Investment Policy Statement that documents their objectives and their desired investment strategy.

GFA's strategies do not involve frequent trading.

Market, Security and Regulatory Risks

Any securities investment program entails the risk of loss. While GFA makes every effort to minimize the risk of loss, there have been numerous periods of securities markets loss in the past and there will be others in the future. All securities investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor which are described below:

Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.

Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.

Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar next year will not buy as much as a dollar today, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.

Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.

Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.

Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.

Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases a company's risk, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value for the securities issued by such companies.

Item 9 - Legal and Disciplinary

The firm and its employees have not been involved in legal or disciplinary events related to past or present investment clients.

Item 10 - Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

GFA and its associated persons are not currently affiliated with any other financial services firms nor do they have a material relationship with any outside firms that would create a conflict in interest with the services provided at GFA.

Item 11 - Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

GFA has adopted a Code of Ethics which establishes standards of conduct for its supervised persons. The Code of Ethics includes general requirements that such supervised persons comply with their fiduciary obligations to clients and applicable securities laws, and specific requirements relating to, among other things, personal trading, insider trading, conflicts of interest and confidentiality of client information. It requires supervised persons to report their personal securities transactions and holdings quarterly to GFA's Compliance Officer, and requires the Compliance Officer to review those reports. It also requires supervised persons to report any violations of the Code of Ethics promptly to GFA's Compliance Officer. Each supervised person of GFA receives a copy of the Code of Ethics and any amendments to it and must acknowledge in writing having received the materials. Annually, each supervised person must certify that he or she complied with the Code of Ethics during that year. Clients and prospective clients may obtain a copy of GFA's Code of Ethics by contacting the Compliance Officer of GFA.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

Under GFA's Code of Ethics, GFA and its managers, members, officers and employees may invest personally in securities of the same classes as are purchased for clients and may own securities of the issuers whose securities are subsequently purchased for clients. If an issue is purchased or sold for clients and any of GFA, managers, members, officers and employees on the same day purchase or sell the same security, either the clients and GFA, managers, members, officers or employees shall receive or pay the same price or the clients shall receive a more favorable price. GFA and its managers, members, officers and employee may also buy or sell specific securities for their own accounts based on personal investment considerations, which GFA does not deem appropriate to buy or sell for clients.

Personal Trading

The Chief Compliance Officer of GFA is Gerald Gasber. He reviews all employee trades each quarter. The personal trading reviews ensure that the personal trading of employees does not affect the markets, and that clients of the firm receive preferential treatment. Karen Miller will monitor Gerald's personal trading.

Item 12 - Brokerage Practices

Brokerage Selection and Soft Dollars

GFA may recommend brokerage firms as qualified custodians and for trade execution. In selecting brokers or dealers to execute transactions, Adviser will seek to achieve the best execution possible but this does not require it to solicit competitive bids and does not have an obligation to seek the lowest available commission cost. Adviser is not required to negotiate "execution only" commission rates, thus the client may be deemed to be paying for research and related services (i.e., "soft dollars") provided by the broker which are included in the commission rate. It is the policy and practice of GFA to strive for the best price and execution for costs and discounts which are competitive in relation to the value of the transaction and which comply with Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Nevertheless, it is understood that GFA may pay compensation on a transaction in excess of the amount of compensation that another broker or dealer may charge so long as it is in compliance with Section 28(e), and GFA makes no warranty or representation regarding compensation paid on transactions. In negotiating mark-ups or mark-downs, GFA will take into account the financial stability and reputation of brokerage firms and the brokerage and research services provided by such brokers, although the client may not, in any particular instance, be the sole direct or indirect beneficiary of the research services provided. GFA has no obligation to deal with any broker or group of brokers in executing transactions in portfolio securities.

GFA maintains an affiliation with TD Ameritrade Institutional Services. While there is no direct link between the investment advice given and the affiliation with any of these organizations, economic benefit is received which would not be received if GFA did not give investment advice to clients and also use the services of these organizations. Examples of these benefits include receipt of duplicate client confirmations and statements, access to a trading desk serving institutional service participants exclusively, ability to have investment management fees deducted directly from client accounts, access to an electronic communications network for client order entry and account information, receipt of compliance publications, and access to mutual funds which generally may require a higher minimum initial investment and/or which are generally available only to institutional investors, among other benefits. The benefits received from these organizations may or may not be dependent upon the nature and volume of transactions placed or assets managed by GFA.

GFA may have access to and take advantage of certain group discounts on publications and investment research that is available through the institutional service units.

Order Aggregation

GFA does not aggregate securities transactions across client accounts. An appropriate order aggregation policy shall be implemented and disclosed in this brochure prior to the adoption of order aggregation trading.

Item 13 - Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

Brokerage statements are sent directly from the account custodian. These reports list the account positions, activity in the account over the covered period, and other related information. Clients are also sent confirmations following each brokerage account transaction unless confirmations have been waived; but clients receive confirmations at least quarterly. Accounts are reviewed for consistency with the investment strategy, performance and allocation. Under the Wealth Management service financial plans are updated on a regular basis.

Review Triggers

Accounts are generally reviewed quarterly or more frequently when market conditions dictate. Other conditions that may trigger a review are changes in the tax laws, new investment information, and changes in a client's financial or personal situation.

Regular Reports

GFA produces a quarterly performance report that is emailed or mailed to the client. This performance report lists account positions as well as portfolio and individual security performance. The written reports may include account valuation, performance stated in dollars and as a percent and a portfolio statement. Clients receive statements of account positions no less than quarterly from the custodian of the account.

Item 14 - Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Incoming Client Referrals

GFA may employ solicitors to whom it will pay cash or a portion of the advisory fees paid by clients referred to it by those solicitors. In such cases, this practice will be disclosed in writing to the client and GFA will comply with the other requirements of Rule 206(4)-3, under the Investment Advisors Act of 1940, as amended.

Item 15 - Custody Policy

GFA does not accept or permit the Firm or its associated persons from obtaining custody of client assets including cash, securities, acting as trustee, provide bill paying service, have password access to control account activity or any other form of controlling client assets. All checks or wire transfer to fund client accounts are required to be made out to/sent to the account custodian.

Account Statements

All assets are held at qualified custodians and the custodians provide account statements not less than quarterly to clients at their address of record. Clients should carefully review such statements for any discrepancies or inaccuracies.

Performance Reports

Pursuant to recent amendments to Rule 206(4) under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, the Securities and Exchange Commission now requires advisers to urge clients to compare the information set forth in their statement from GFA with the statements received directly from the custodian to ensure accuracy of all account transactions.

Item 16 - Investment Discretion

GFA contracts for limited discretionary authority to transact portfolio securities accounts on behalf of clients. Discretionary authority is granted either by GFA's investment management agreement and/or by a separate limited power of attorney where such document is required. GFA has the authority to determine, without obtaining specific client consent, the securities to be bought or sold, and the amount of the securities to be bought or sold. The firm's discretionary authority regarding investments may however be subject to certain limitations. These limitations are recognized as the restrictions and prohibitions placed by the Client on transactions in certain types of business or industries. All such restrictions are to be agreed upon in writing at the account's inception.

GFA will consult with the client where discretion is not obtained prior to each trade in order to obtain client approval for the transaction(s).

The client authorizes the discretion to select the custodian to be used. GFA does not receive any portion of the transaction fees or commissions paid by the client to the custodian on certain trades.

Item 17 - Voting Client Securities

GFA will not vote nor advise clients how to vote proxies for securities held in client accounts. The client clearly keeps the authority and responsibility for the voting of these proxies. GFA does not give any advice or take any action with respect to the voting of these proxies. For accounts subject to the provisions of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA"), the plan fiduciary specifically keeps the authority and responsibility for the voting of any proxies for securities held in plan accounts.

Item 18 - Financial Condition

GFA does not have any financial impairment that will preclude the firm from meeting contractual commitments to clients and GFA meets all net capital requirements that it may be subject to. GFA has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition in the last 10 years.
