Item 4 Advisory Business

Front Financial, Inc. a Delaware corporation, was established in 2020 with an office in San Francisco, CA. The firm's principal owner is Bam Azizi who also serves as Chief Executive Officer.

Front provides an interactive investment platform through a user-friendly application (the "app") that provides clients with tools to assist in managing their investments. The app is designed to help clients build their portfolio by providing recommendations with respect to diversification and investment strategies based upon each individual user's preferences, objectives, and risk tolerance. Front collects information from each client when they sign up for the app, including specific information about a client's financial situation, investment experience and overall investment objectives. In addition, clients have the option of granting Front access to view their brokerage account information via secure connections that are linked to the app. Investment recommendations are then generated and presented to the client based on the information provided. The investment recommendations are generated by the algorithms utilized in the app. Clients are responsible for evaluating the investment recommendations and making the determination as to whether they choose to execute one or more transactions as a result of such recommendations.

At no time do clients share their third-party login credentials with Front, nor are they ever accessed or stored by Front.

Front currently provides recommendations only with respect to exchange listed equity securities.

Front does not participate in wrap fee programs.

Front is an internet-based adviser registered with the SEC under the multi-state adviser exemption and currently does not have any authority over client assets. Front may, in the future, have the ability to execute transactions with a client's broker via the secure connections within the app based upon recommendations that were made to such clients.

In addition, in June 2021, Front launched its Social Platform within the App. The platform is a community where the clients as well as Front employees can discuss their portfolios, investing, and the financial market in general. clients are not required to participate in the Social Platform when utilizing the App. Front permits paid endorsements and testimonials on the Social Platform, with appropriate disclosures in compliance with the Adviser's Act, as describes in the Fees and Compensation section, below.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

Front does not currently charge any fees for basic advisory services and/or access to the app. Currently, basic services include establishing a user account on the app, provision of single stock Front Scores, linking of outside brokerage accounts, and provision of aggregated Front Score for such portfolios. Front is introducing a premium service for which it will charge an access fee for activities such as Front Score-based portfolio optimization. Fees for such premium services are assessed at the time of service where clients elect a single-service option and on a monthly basis, in advance where clients elect to purchase a subscription to such services. Clients will incur brokerage and other transaction costs associated with their accounts as agreed upon with each of their respective brokers and custodians. Front does not currently receive any payments from brokers, custodians or any other third parties relating to its provision of investment advisory services.

Front compensates individuals for reviews, feedback, social media “mentions” (i.e., naming or discussing Front on an individual or group’s social media profile), and opinions about Front and its platform and related services. Any client’s statement of his or her experience with, or approval of Front will be treated as testimonial, and any statement or endorsement made by a third-party about Front’s services will be treated as an endorsement. Such endorsements or testimonials inherently pose a conflict of interest and are considered misleading without proper disclosure and due diligence.

In addition, Front engages in cross-promotion with select third-parties whose services Front recommends to clients. This creates a conflict of interest due to the fact that such cross-promotion and related revenue sharing between third-parties and Front incentivizes Front to recommend such third-party services to clients. All such relationships and related conflicts are disclosed to clients at the time of promotion or recommendation of third-party services. Front associates itself with reputable vendors who Front believes will provide beneficial services to clients.

Any arrangement whereby individuals or groups post reviews or opinions for which they were compensated by Front are disclosed as such, as well as the fact that the review, feedback, or opinion is representative of the reviewer’s own experience and not necessarily that of every Front Financial client. Front performs due diligence to screen for “bad actors” prior to entering into any agreement regarding testimonials and/or endorsements. Front is not responsible for providing disclosure for unsolicited endorsements posted by third-parties and may share articles or statements relating to such endorsements, provided they do not also include statements made by clients regarding their experience with Front (i.e., testimonials).

Front’s management of its own social platform also poses a conflict of interest due to Front’s control of the content. Front monitors content and reserves the right to remove harmful or abusive commentary or any comments or posts that violate its Community Standards from its Social Platform. However, Front does not remove negative opinions about Front or display positive comments to visible locations on the platform. All commentary on the Social Platform is displayed fairly in equal measure.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

Front does not charge performance-based fees.

Item 7 Types of Clients

Front provides advice to individuals of all income levels and does not impose any account minimums.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Investment Strategies and Methods of Analysis

Front utilizes proprietary, automated computer algorithms to build strategies and recommendations based on a user's preference and risk tolerance. Front will present clients with recommended investments based on the financial information and investment preferences shared when signing up for the app. Recommendations may be presented in the form of a single stock to trade, and may also include details such as a recommended price target and/or type of order (e.g. market order, limit order, etc.). All recommendations have a quality rating by way of an associated FISCO score, which is Front's proprietary investment security rating model that uses a numerical range.

As previously noted, Front does not have any authority or discretion over client assets. Once a client receives their recommendation(s), they make the decision whether or not to make any changes to their portfolio, including whether they should seek advice from any third-party advisors. Clients are responsible for executing any transactions which may be done from within their third-party brokerage accounts previously connected within the app or directly with third-party brokerage accounts not connected to the app.

Access to the app provides clients with a variety of information, including but not limited to, the following:

- An update on the current market environment that includes stock prices, news and a proprietary score for each stock.
- An overview of their portfolio in order to evaluate risk parameters and performance.
- A planning section that presents potential changes to the portfolio in conjunction with certain risk/reward parameters.
