Advisory Business

Firm Description

T.T.G. Financial, Inc., ("TTG") was founded in 2006.

TTG provides personalized confidential financial planning and investment management to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations and small businesses. Advice is provided through consultation with the client and may include: determination of financial objectives, identification of financial problems, cash flow management, tax planning, insurance review, investment management, education funding, retirement planning, and estate planning.

TTG is strictly a fee-only financial planning and investment management firm. The firm does not sell annuities, insurance, stocks, bonds, mutual funds, limited partnerships, or other commissioned products. The firm is not affiliated with entities that sell financial products or securities. No commissions in any form are accepted. No finder's fees are accepted.

Investment advice is an integral part of financial planning. In addition, TTG advises clients regarding cash flow, college planning, retirement planning, tax planning, estate planning and business planning.

Except for collecting fees quarterly TTG does not act as a custodian of client assets. The client always maintains asset control. TTG places trades for clients under a limited power of attorney.

Periodic reviews are also communicated to provide reminders of the specific courses of action that need to be taken. More frequent reviews occur but are not necessarily communicated to the client unless immediate changes are recommended.

Other professionals (e.g., lawyers, accountants, insurance agents, etc.) are engaged directly by the client on an as-needed basis. Conflicts of interest will be disclosed to the client in the unlikely event they should occur.

The initial meeting, which may be by telephone, is free of charge and is considered an exploratory interview to determine the extent to which financial planning and investment management may be beneficial to the client.

Principal Owners

James Kotagides is a 50% stockholder. James L. Evans is a 50% stockholder.

Types of Advisory Services

TTG provides investment supervisory services, also known as asset management services; furnishes investment advice through consultations.

On more than an occasional basis, TTG furnishes advice to clients on matters not involving securities, such as financial and business planning matters, taxation issues, and trust services that often include estate planning.

As of 12/31/2020, TTG manages approximately $ 120 million in assets for approximately 155 clients. Approximately $120 million is managed on a discretionary basis, and $0 is managed on a non-discretionary basis.

Tailored Relationships

Assets are managed based on one of five risk groups detailed in our Investment policy statement. Clients are interviewed and complete the TTG Rick Profile to determine the risk group appropriate to them. Agreements may not be assigned without client consent.

Types of Agreements

The following agreements define the typical client relationships.

Hourly Planning Engagements

TTG provides hourly planning services for clients who need advice on a limited scope of work. The hourly rate for limited scope engagements is $200.

Asset Management

Stocks and bonds are purchased or sold through a brokerage account when appropriate. The brokerage firm charges a fee for stock and bond trades. TTG does not receive any compensation, in any form, from brokerage or fund companies.

Investments may also include: equities (stocks), warrants, corporate debt securities, commercial paper, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, investment company securities (variable life insurance, variable annuities, and mutual funds shares), U. S. government securities, options contracts, futures contracts, and interests in partnerships.

The annual Asset Management Agreement fee is based on a percentage of the investable assets according to the following schedule:

- 1.10%_ on the first $250,000 of assets;
- _0.80%_ on the next $250,000 of assets;
- _0.60%_ on the next $500,000 of assets;
- _0.35%_ on the next $1,500,000 of assets;
- _0.25%_ on the next $2,500,000 of assets;
- _0.15%_ on the next amount of assets greater than $5,000,000

Current client relationships may exist where the fees are higher or lower than the fee schedule above.

TTG reserves the right to change the fee schedule at any time after written notice has been provided to our clients.

Termination of Agreement

A Client may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying TTG in writing. If the client made an advance payment, TTG will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment. TTG does not typically charge fees in advance.

TTG may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying the client in writing. If the client made an advance payment, TTG will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment. TTG does not typically charge fees in advance.

Fees and Compensation

Description

TTG bases its fees on a percentage of assets under management, hourly charges and fixed fees.

Financial and Business plans are priced according to the degree of complexity associated with the client's situation.

Except where expressly stated fees are not negotiable.

Fee Billing

Investment management fees are billed quarterly, in arrears, meaning that we invoice you after the three-month billing period has ended. Payment in full is expected upon invoice presentation. Fees are usually deducted from a designated client account to facilitate billing. The client must consent in advance to direct debiting of their investment account.

Hourly fees are billed in arrears. Occasionally at our discretion we may require a retainer before beginning work on a case or project.

TTG reserves the right to change the fee schedule at any time after written notice has been provided to our clients.

Other Fees

Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of certain mutual funds and exchange-traded funds. These transaction charges are usually small and incidental to the purchase or sale of a security. The selection of the security is more important than the nominal fee that the custodian charges to buy or sell the security.

TTG, in its sole discretion, may occasionally provide advice on a pro bono or discounted basis.

Expense Ratios

Mutual funds and Exchange Traded Funds generally charge a management fee for their services as investment managers. The management fee is called an expense ratio. For example, an expense ratio of 0.50 means that the mutual fund company charges 0.5% per year for their services. These fees are in addition to the fees paid by you to TTG.

Performance figures quoted by mutual fund companies in various publications are after their fees have been deducted.

Past Due Accounts and Termination of Agreement

TTG reserves the right to stop work on any account that is more than 30 days overdue. In addition, TTG reserves the right to terminate any financial planning engagement where a client has willfully concealed or has refused to provide pertinent information about financial situations when necessary and appropriate, in TTG's judgment, to providing proper financial advice. Any unused portion of fees collected in advance will be refunded as soon as practicable. TTG does not typically charge fees in advance.

Performance Based Fees

TTG does not charge or accept performance based fees.

Types of Clients

Description

TTG generally provides investment advice to individuals, banks or thrift institutions, investment companies, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, or charitable organizations and corporations or business entities.

Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

The minimum account size is $500,000 of assets under management, which equates to an annual fee of $4750.

TTG has the discretion to waive the account minimum. Accounts of less than $500,000 may be set up when the client and the advisor anticipate the client will add additional funds to the accounts bringing the total to $500,000 within a reasonable time. TTG may make other exceptions at its sole discretion.

TTG does not have a minimum fee.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods may include charting, fundamental analysis, technical analysis, and cyclical analysis.

The main sources of information include financial newspapers and magazines, inspections of corporate activities, research materials prepared by ourselves and others, corporate rating services, timing techniques, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and company press releases.

Investment Strategies

Our investment strategy is detailed in our Investment Policy Statement. The IPS is provided to each new client.

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.

- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Note: The list above is intended to represent some of the main risks involved with investing. It should not be considered a comprehensive.

Disciplinary Information

Legal and Disciplinary

The firm and its employees have not been involved in legal or disciplinary events related to past or present investment clients.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Financial Industry Activities

TTG has withdrawn its' registration as Commodity Trading Advisor as of May 2017.

Affiliations

TTG is an independent Registered Investment Advisor.

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

Each employee signs off on the following Code of Ethics:

- 1) As an employee of TTG Financial, Inc. you pledge at all times to put the clients' interests ahead of your own interests or the interests of the firm.
- 2) You pledge to treat clients in the same manner that you wish to be treated.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

TTG and its employees may buy or sell securities that are also held by clients. Employees may not trade their own securities ahead of client trades. Employees comply with the provisions of the TTG Compliance Manual.

Personal Trading

The Chief Compliance Officer of TTG is Jim Evans. He reviews all employee trades periodically. His trades are reviewed by Jim Kotagides. The personal trading reviews ensure that the personal trading of employees does not affect the markets, and that clients of the firm receive preferential treatment. Since most employee trades are small, the trades do not affect the securities markets.

Brokerage Practices

Selecting Brokerage Firms

TTG does not have any affiliation with product sales firms. Specific custodian recommendations are made to Clients based on their need for such services. TTG recommends custodians based on the proven integrity and financial responsibility of the firm and the best execution of orders at reasonable commission rates.

TTG recommends discount brokerage firms and trust companies (qualified custodians), such as Charles Schwab & Co.

TTG does not receive fees or commissions from any of these arrangements.

Best Execution

TTG reviews the execution of trades at each custodian periodically. Trading fees charged by the custodians are reviewed on a periodic basis. TTG does not receive any portion of the trading fees.

Soft Dollars

TTG does not receive soft dollar benefits. Various firms whom we use for trade executions may from time to time provide us with research, however, we believe the research we receive is generally available to the public and does not present an actual valuable consideration.

Order Aggregation

Bond and equity trades are often aggregated and then allocated to individual client accounts. Particularly for fixed income transactions, aggregation often helps us find better execution.

Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

Account reviews are performed quarterly by advisors Jim Kotagides, President, Jim Evans, Vice president and Brandon Decastro, Investment Advisor Representative. Account reviews are performed more frequently when market conditions dictate.

Review Triggers

Other conditions that may trigger a review are changes in the tax laws, new investment information, and changes in a client's own situation.

Regular Reports

Investment Management Clients receive periodic communications on at least a quarterly basis. The written updates may include a portfolio statement with a performance update and market commentary.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Incoming Referrals

TTG compensates certain parties known as 'Solicitors' for referrals. If a 'Solicitor' is involved with a client then the clients is presented a Solicitor Disclosure Statement detailing the relationship with the Solicitor and the compensation involved.

Referrals Out

TTG does not accept referral fees or any form of remuneration from other professionals when a prospect or client is referred to them.

Custody

Account Statements

All assets are held at qualified custodians, which means the custodians provide account statements directly to clients at their address of record at least quarterly.

Performance Reports

Clients are urged to compare the account statements received directly from their custodians to the performance report statements provided by TTG.

Implied Custody

Regulatory authorities deem certain activities to be de facto Custody. Among the deemed activities is debiting client accounts for fees. If our Custody is limited to debiting fees only and we meet certain exceptions set forth by the regulators then TTG may avoid costly annual audits.

It is TTG's intent to limit its' Custody to the debiting of fees only and to further comply with all the Regulator exceptions in order to avoid the necessity of an Annual audit.

In order to comply with these exceptions TTG will not enter into a standing agreement to move moneys from a client account to a third party. Each third party transfer request must be signed by the client at the time of the request.

Investment Discretion

Discretionary Authority for Trading

TTG accepts discretionary authority to manage securities accounts on behalf of clients. TTG has the authority to determine, without obtaining specific client consent, the securities to be bought or sold, and the amount of the securities to be bought or sold.

The client approves the custodian to be used and the commission rates paid to the custodian. TTG does not receive any portion of the transaction fees or commissions paid by the client to the custodian on certain trades.

Discretionary trading authority facilitates placing trades in your accounts on your behalf so that we may promptly implement the investment policy that you have approved in writing.

Limited Power of Attorney

A limited power of attorney is a trading authorization that allows us to trade your account on a discretionary basis.. You sign a limited power of attorney so that we may execute the trades and manage your account per our agreement with you.

Voting Client Securities

Proxy Votes

TTG would vote all shares as directed by the Boards of Directors. If there were disagreement with the recommendations of the Boards, or the direction the company were taking, TTG would sell off the position in all portfolios.

Financial Information

Financial Condition

TTG does not have any financial impairment that will preclude the firm from meeting contractual commitments to clients.

A balance sheet is not required to be provided because TTG does not serve as a custodian (except for debiting client accounts for fees) for client funds or securities, and does not require prepayment of fees of more than $500 per client, and six months or more in advance.

Small Business Association Payroll Protection Loan

At the beginning March of 2020 the US and indeed the world experienced a pandemic. The pandemic was met with both state and government responses of 'shut down' and 'stay-at-home' orders. These orders essentially shuttered many businesses and heavily curtailed many others. This led to unprecedented unemployment claims and general economic contraction. TTG projected in mid-march a 12% reduction in top line revenue.

TTG, like most small businesses, is self-funded. That is to say we do not borrow moneys from a third party nor do we sell shares of TTG to third parties. Jim Evans and Jim Kotagides (the shareholders) fund the operations of TTG. Fortunately, for the last decade TTG's operations are more than adequate to meet its' expenses plus a profit. The shareholders also make a certain amount of their personal savings available to TTG to smooth out operational cash flow.

On March 23rd Ohio declared a stay at home order. Although TTG was able to work remotely to meet customer requests, calls, etc. our staff was mostly confined to their homes. Normally we receive approximately 90 hours of work from our staff but due to the stay at home order the hours TTG was actually receiving dropped to 10-12 hours. During this time all client requests and calls were still received and dealt with timely. All other work such as trading and research also continued uninterrupted. For obvious reasons our various marketing efforts were temporarily slowed and face to face client meetings were also discouraged. At this point the Shareholders indicated to our employees we would pay them their average wages through April 3, 2020 in spite of the hours limitations we were experiencing. The most correct way to look at this transaction is that we paid our employees from our personal savings. The shareholders then began considering whether or not to continue paying its employees if the stay at home order persisted. The order was in fact continued for all of April. Near the end of March; Congress passed and the President signed a relief bill then known as the Payroll Protection Loan program and now known as the Payroll Protection Program.

TTG examined the terms of the program through our banker and sought the advice from multiple counsel regarding the terms of this loan. The program was rolled out simply enough – the government would lend you 2.5 times your monthly payroll at a very low rate of interest. The proceeds were to be used to cover payroll, benefits and to a lesser extent rent and utilities. To the extent a business utilized the proceeds for these items that portion of the loan would be granted or forgiven. Many in leadership lauded that this program would help small businesses retain their employees while keeping them off the unemployment rolls.

These terms seemed fair enough to TTG and so we applied for and received a PPP loan for about $64,000. We informed our staff that come what may they would all be paid their full wages and benefits – regardless of hours worked – through June 30, 2020.

On or around the end of April of 2020 and after TTG had been approved for our PPP loan – certain government officials began expressing concern about some of the businesses that had received the PPP loans. Apparently, several large public enterprises – mostly from the hotel and restaurant sector had applied for and received PPP loans. These officials indicated that the PPP loan was actually met for businesses without other sources of capital. In our opinion this was a display of bad faith from the government. In fact, under the original terms of the PPP loan there is a specific waiver in regard to the ‘no other source of funds’ rule. The government also cited a specific certification: “Current economic uncertainty makes this loan request necessary to support the ongoing operations of the applicant.”

In TTG’s view continuing to pay our employees for hours that they were not working in order to help them and in some small part the overall economy was exactly aligned with this certification and indeed with the entire PPP program as it was initially introduced. We again sought counsel to affirm our view and again reached the conclusion that TTG was in alignment with the intent of the PPP program and in compliance with the loan document that we signed.

It is important to point out that TTG never had a ‘going concern’ issue – nor did most businesses that took the PPP loan. This makes sense – why lend money to a business that is on its’ last leg? Surely lending 2.5 times monthly payroll to a business that has no reserves and no revenue is only extending the inevitable closure of that business. On the other hand, lending 2.5 times payroll to a business that was otherwise healthy going into the pandemic would help them and their employees through a difficult period.

On or about the beginning of May both FINRA and the SEC opined on whether or not a disclosure of the PPP loan would be necessary for Registered Investment Advisors. We are not a FINRA member but FINRA still maintains records of all Investment Advisors via a Form U4. FINRA opined that no disclosure would be necessary. The SEC indicated that a disclosure would be required on Part II of the Form ADV.

And so it is that we make this disclosure of our participation in the Payroll Protection Program.

Business Continuity Plan

General

TTG has a Business Continuity Plan in place that provides detailed steps to mitigate and recover from the loss of office space, communications, services or key people.

Disasters

The Business Continuity Plan covers natural disasters such as snow storms, hurricanes, tornados, and flooding. The Plan covers man-made disasters such as loss of electrical power, loss of water pressure, fire, bomb threat, nuclear emergency, chemical event, biological event, communications line outage, Internet outage, railway accident and aircraft accident. Electronic files are backed up daily and archived offsite. Our communications service is virtual and may be forwarded to any location we desire.

Alternate Offices

Alternate offices are identified to support ongoing operations in the event the main office is unavailable. It is our intention to contact all clients within five days of a disaster that dictates moving our office to an alternate location.

Loss of Key Personnel

Jim Kotagides and Jim Evans have an agreement to continue servicing all clients if one or the other should become unable to provide said service. If both parties become unavailable Charles Schwab may service your account.
