We are also notice filed with the States of Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and Wisconsin.

As of 12/31/2020, Heritage Investment Group, Inc. manages $1,388,116,487 of client assets on a discretionary basis serving approximately 756 clients.

Heritage Investment Group, Inc., (“Heritage”) offers the following separate and distinct investment advisory services to clients.

1. DISCRETIONARY INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT SERVICES:

Heritage provides discretionary professional investment management of a client’s individual account(s) and can recommend any number of securities which meet your needs, risk tolerance, objectives, net worth, income, and other relevant factors. Primarily, client portfolios consist of select, institutional mutual funds (no-load) with various objectives. Our service (at a minimum) provides for an annual re-allocation of assets and counseling with you. To enhance client asset security, Heritage will not act as a qualified custodian holding your funds.

2. MISCELLANEOUS SERVICES

It should be noted that, in prior years, Heritage offered 1) Non-Discretionary Investment Consulting and Performance Measurement and 2) acted as a Solicitor for several other Registered Investment Advisers located around the country. Heritage no longer offers these services to new clients: however, by agreement and prior to elimination, some existing clients remain with Heritage under these services.

3. TRUST PROTECTOR SERVICES

As part of our wealth management process, we offer trust protector services through our affiliate, Heritage Trust Protector Services, LLC (“HTPS”). A trust protector is an entity appointed in a trust document who has certain powers within the trust to help ensure the grantor's intent is carried out and that the best interests of beneficiaries are maintained. One of the primary functions would be to remove and replace a trustee. Please see Item 10 for more detailed information.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Fee Schedule:

The following is Heritage's standard fee schedule, per account, where Heritage's advisory services have been contracted. Fees may be negotiable and in certain circumstances, fees may be waived at Heritage's discretion. The annual fee is divided in installments and billed quarterly in advance based (rounded to the nearest dollar) on the account's beginning value as of the first day of each calendar quarter. If the account is opened after the start of a calendar quarter, the initial fee will be prorated from the date of the first trade placed in the account through the end of the quarter (or other similar start period of the investment advisory services). Thereafter, unless otherwise provided, all fees are determined on the basis of the market value of the portfolio assets as of the last day of the previous quarter.

Advisory Fee/Equity and Balanced Account Management

Asset Value -Annual Advisory Fee:

First $500,000	1.25%
Next $500,000 ($500,000 to $1,000,000)	1.00%
Next $2,000,000 ($1,000,000 to $3,000,000)	0.85%
Next $2,000,000 ($3,000,000 to $5,000,000)	0.70%
Next $20,000,000 ($5,000,000 to $25,000,000)	0.50%
Next $25,000,000 ($25,000,000 to $50,000,000)	0.45%
Next $50,000,000 ($50,000,000 to $100,000,000)	0.40%
Over $100,000,000	0.30%

As a client, you may terminate the contract(s) with Heritage upon five (5) days written notice without the imposition of any penalty. Heritage Investment Group, Inc. will refund the pro rata, unearned portion of the advisory fees paid in advance. You, the client, will receive a full refund should you terminate the agreement within five (5) business days of signing with Heritage. Clients generally grant the authority to pay Heritage its quarterly fees directly from the client's account held by an independent custodian. Accordingly, you, the client, will provide, in writing, limited authorization to withdraw the contractually agreed upon fees from the account. The custodian of the account is advised in writing of the limitation on Heritage's access to the account. The custodian will also send to you, the client, a statement, at least quarterly, indicating all the amounts disbursed from the account including the amount of advisory fees paid directly to the Heritage.

Management fees charged are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds which may be recommended to you. A description of these and other expenses are available in each fund's prospectus. Certain investments recommended and utilized in your account(s) may be available via other sources. In addition, you may incur certain charges imposed by third parties other than Heritage (such as brokerage fees, transaction costs, custody fees, etc.). All information and advice furnished by either to the other, including their agents and employees, shall be treated as confidential and not disclosed to third parties except as agreed upon in writing or required by law.

We will deliver the applicable disclosure brochure(s), or Form ADV Part 2A-2B and Form CRS, to you before or at the time we enter into an investment advisory contract with you.

Item 12 further describes the factors that Heritage Investment Group, Inc. considers in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

It should be noted that legal and/or accounting fees for Heritage's affiliated parties, MacLean & Ema P.A. and Hinkle, Richter & Rhine, LLP are separate and distinct from investment related fees and expenses.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Currently, Heritage Investment Group, Inc. does NOT offer any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7 – Types of Clients

Heritage Investment Group, Inc. generally provides portfolio management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, Trusts, Charitable Institutions, Foundations, Endowments, Corporate Pension, and Profit-Sharing Plans. To open and maintain an account, Heritage has a minimum account size of $1,000,000, but at its discretion, accepts accounts/clients below this minimum.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Heritage’s portfolio management process is based upon four central concepts:

Investing Should Be Scientific Rather Than Speculative – Markets work. Traditional money managers attempt to outperform the markets by predicting the future, despite overwhelming evidence that such practices are detrimental to portfolio returns. Heritage instead uses scientific, engineered portfolios to harness the power of thousands of stocks, bonds, and commodities from around the world. We do not engage in market timing or any other form of speculation, and we do not pretend to have a crystal ball. Our philosophy emphasizes rationality, investment science, and diversification.

Risk and Return Are Related – Investment science has demonstrated that risk and return are inseparable. However, the vast majority of the emphasis on Wall Street is dedicated to portfolio returns, while risk is often ignored. At Heritage, we focus our efforts on the science of risk control rather than on misguided and futile attempts to control returns by predicting the future. We use global, comprehensive diversification to eliminate risks that are not worth taking, while we deliberately structure our portfolios to take advantage of other risks with the potential to compensate our clients with higher returns.

Markets and Investment Science Are Constantly Evolving – As with any science, the science of investing is constantly evolving, and the Heritage portfolio strategy evolves with it. We maintain an open dialogue with prominent university professors in the field of financial economics, and our portfolio strategies will change as new evidence on the nature of capital markets is uncovered. The strategy is always moving forward, but the work is never finished.

Discipline Is Critical and Emotions Can Be Dangerous – Even a properly structured portfolio is rendered ineffective if its integrity is not maintained over time. The emotional aspects of the markets often work against investors, causing them to make poor decisions based upon feelings of fear, greed or regret rather than upon a rational portfolio strategy. Heritage utilizes an approach that minimizes emotional pitfalls by establishing discipline at the outset and by relying on sound, scientific fundamentals to guide the process. We ignore the Wall Street media machine and instead approach portfolio management with objectivity, patience, and rationality.

Legal and Regulatory Matters Risks - Legal developments which may adversely impact investing and investment-related activities can occur at any time. “Legal Developments” means changes and other developments concerning foreign, as well as US federal, state and local laws and regulations, including adoption of new laws and regulations, amendment or repeal of existing laws and regulations, and changes in enforcement or interpretation of existing laws and regulations by governmental regulatory authorities and self-regulatory organizations (such as the SEC, the US Commodity Futures Trading Commission, the Internal Revenue Service, the US Federal Reserve and the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority). Our management of accounts may be adversely affected by the legal and/or regulatory consequences of transactions effected for the accounts. Accounts may also be adversely affected by changes in the enforcement or interpretation of existing statutes and rules by governmental regulatory authorities or self-regulatory organizations.

System Failures and Reliance on Technology Risks - Our investment strategies, operations, research, communications, risk management, and back-office systems rely on technology, including hardware, software, telecommunications, internet-based platforms, and other electronic systems. Additionally, parts of the technology used are provided by third parties and are, therefore, beyond our direct control. We seek to ensure adequate backups of hardware, software, telecommunications, internet-based platforms, and other electronic systems, when possible, but there is no guarantee that our efforts will be successful. In addition, natural disasters, power interruptions and other events may cause system failures, which will require the use of backup systems (both on- and off-site). Backup systems may not operate as well as the systems that they back-up and may fail to properly operate, especially when used for an extended period. To reduce the impact a system failure may have, we continually evaluate our backup and disaster recovery systems and perform periodic checks on the backup systems' conditions and operations. Despite our monitoring, hardware, telecommunications, or other electronic systems malfunctions may be unavoidable, and result in consequences such as the inability to trade for or monitor client accounts and portfolios. If such circumstances arise, Heritage will consider appropriate measures for clients.

Cybersecurity Risk - A portfolio is susceptible to operational and information security risks due to the increased use of the internet. In general, cyber incidents can result from deliberate attacks or unintentional events. Cyberattacks include, but are not limited to, infection by computer viruses or other malicious software code, gaining unauthorized access to systems, networks, or devices through "hacking" or other means for the purpose of misappropriating assets or sensitive information, corrupting data, or causing operational disruption. Cybersecurity failures or breaches by third-party service providers may cause disruptions and impact the service providers' and our business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses, the inability to transact business, violations of applicable privacy and other laws, regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement, or other compensation costs, and/or additional compliance costs. While we have established business-continuity plans and risk management systems designed prevent or reduce the impact of such cyberattacks, there are inherent limitations in such plans and systems due in part to the everchanging nature of technology and cyberattack tactics.

Pandemic Risks - The recent outbreak of the novel coronavirus rapidly became a pandemic and has resulted in disruptions to the economies of many nations, individual companies, and the markets in general, the impact of which cannot necessarily be foreseen at the present time. This has created closed borders, quarantines, supply chain disruptions and general anxiety, negatively impacting global markets in an unforeseeable manner. The impact of the novel coronavirus and other such future infectious diseases in certain regions or countries may be greater or less due to the nature or level of their public health response or due to other factors. Health crises caused by the recent coronavirus outbreak or future infectious diseases may exacerbate other pre-existing political, social, and economic risks in certain countries. The impact of such health crises may be quick, severe and of unknowable duration.

This pandemic, and other epidemics and pandemics that may arise in the future, could result in continued volatility in the financial markets and could have a negative impact on investment performance.

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of Heritage Investment Group, Inc. or the integrity of Heritage’s management.

Heritage Investment Group, Inc. has NO information to disclose applicable to this Item.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Neither Heritage nor any of our management persons are registered, or have an application pending to register, as a broker-dealer, futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, commodity trading adviser or as an associated person (or registered representative) of the foregoing entities.

In addition, neither Heritage nor any of our management persons have any arrangement that is material to our advisory business or to our clients that Heritage or any of our management persons have with any related person that is a:

- Broker-dealer, municipal securities dealer, or government securities dealer or broker,
- Investment company or other pooled investment vehicle,
- Investment Adviser or Financial Planner

- Futures commission merchant (or commodity pool operator or commodity trading advisor),
- Banking or thrift institution
- Insurance company or agency,
- Pension consultant,
- Real estate broker or dealer, or
- Sponsor or syndicator of limited partnerships.

The following related persons have a financial relationship with Heritage that may encourage them to refer clients to our firm:

Darryl L. Hinkle, Wealth Manager with Heritage, is an owner of Hinkle, Richter and Rhine, an independent accounting and consulting firm providing audit, compliance, and tax consulting services. Mr. Hinkle is a Wealth Manager at Heritage and receives ongoing compensation from Heritage for referrals of customers.

Anne B. MacLean and Frederick R. MacLean, Sr., Heritage-Advisor Representatives, are associated with the law firm of MacLean & Ema P.A. Heritage's services are made available to the clients of the law firm. Anne B. MacLean and Frederick R. MacLean, Sr., receive ongoing compensation from Heritage for consulting services. In addition, Laura G. MacLean, a Trustee for two of Heritage's beneficial owners, is a member of the law firm of MacLean & Ema P.A. and married to Heritage's President, Frederick R. MacLean, Jr.

It should be noted that Heritage may recommend to you the use of legal and accounting services provided by these affiliated persons and their firms. Although this practice is helpful in the coordination of wealth management of client assets, it represents a potential conflict of interest in that each affiliated party benefits financially from your use of each respective service should you choose to engage them. To address this potential conflict, Heritage has developed and implement a compliance program, administered by our Chief Compliance Officer, which includes initial and periodic reviews of customer accounts to help ensure that investment objectives are being met and we are acting in your best interest.

As referenced in Item 4, HTPS acts as a corporate trust protector under a trust agreement, which was established to accommodate certain clients. Messrs. MacLean, Jr., McCarver and Taylor are the managers of HTPS. When engaged, HTPS will be selected by the grantor to represent the grantor's interests in making trust decisions in a non-fiduciary capacity. HTPS has the authority to:

- a. question and approve, in writing, the fees of any corporate trustee;
- b. remove a corporate trustee without any judicial approval.
- c. appoint a successor corporate trustee to fill any vacancy where no successor is named in the trust, but in no event shall the appointed successor be an affiliate of Heritage; and
- d. appoint a successor trust protector trustee to fill any vacancy where no successor is named in the trust.

The fiduciary responsibilities under the trust would remain with the trustee; not Heritage or HTPS. Heritage will never serve as the trustee. HTPS would not be named as the owner of any trust or fiduciary account, or otherwise hold or control any trust assets. Every trust under which HTPS will serve as a trust protector will have a named corporate trustee. The trustee will be solely responsible for all trust decisions, including preparation of fiduciary accountings to the beneficiaries, responsibility for distributions, tax preparation, the engagement of professionals, and the general administration of the trust. HTPS will not engage in trust business and is not a Florida trust company.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading Heritage has adopted a firm wide Policy, Procedures and Code of Ethics Manual ("manual") describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to you, our client. The manual includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at Heritage must acknowledge the terms of the manual annually, or as amended.

Heritage anticipates that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with your investment objectives, it will cause accounts over which Heritage has management authority to effect, and will recommend to you, our client, or prospective client, the purchase or sale of securities in which Heritage, its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position of interest. Heritage's employees and persons associated with Heritage are required to follow Heritage's manual. Subject to satisfying its policies and applicable laws, officers, directors and employees of Heritage and its affiliates may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for Heritage's clients. The manual is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of Heritage will not interfere with (1) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (2) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the manual, certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of Heritage's clients. In addition, the manual requires pre-clearance of many transactions, and restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Employee trading is continually monitored to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between Heritage and its clients.

Separately, from time to time, Heritage donates to charitable organizations that are affiliated with or supported by clients. In general, such charitable donations are made in response to specific client requests. Because Heritage's contributions may result in the potential recommendation of Heritage or its services, such contributions may raise a potential conflict of interest. As a result, Heritage's Chief Compliance Officer reviews requested contributions to ensure no contribution will be made so as to imply that Heritage is to benefit from the charitable contribution or require a quid pro quo arrangement.

You, our client or prospective client, may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting S. Hardy Taylor, VP, CCO at (954) 785-5400.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Heritage does not act as a broker/dealer or qualified custodian of client assets. In light of this, Heritage strongly recommends that clients choose a large, financially strong, low-cost, independent broker/dealer-custodian, such as Charles Schwab, Fidelity, or TD Ameritrade. In light of these recommendations, Heritage participates in, and has agreements with, these respective firms whereby they offer their services to Heritage clients (and other independent investment advisors). These firms offer a range of services and products which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance, transaction settlement, tax and portfolio reporting, branch offices etc. Heritage does NOT receive any direct monetary compensation from any custodian for trade execution. However, Fidelity, Schwab, and TD Ameritrade, each offer Heritage clients a variety of services with varying commission and fee schedules that change from time to time. The fee schedules vary between these broker/custodians so Heritage clients with accounts at different custodians will have varying costs. Depending on the circumstances, the broker/custodial costs may be higher or lower than other broker/custodians. In addition, each broker/custodian may not offer the exact same securities for trading, services, etc., so individual securities in client accounts may vary within investment programs. Heritage, at the time of client engagement, will present the services and costs of each broker/custodian firm and allow clients to select (or decline) the firm they believe best meets their specific needs. In addition, Heritage incurs direct costs from these broker/custodians that vary, and they reduce these costs when a specified asset threshold is reached. This causes a potential conflict of interest because Heritage has an incentive to recommend the broker/custodian that will waive certain costs once a specified asset level is reached. To address this conflict, Heritage will present to each client the services and costs of each broker/custodian as previously noted. As always, Heritage endeavors to do what is best for each clients based on their specific needs.

Heritage maintains NO formal soft dollar arrangements with any custodian (i.e., a written agreement with a custodian/brokerage firm whereby Heritage receives a variety of services paid for by said brokerage firm). However, Heritage may receive, from various client selected brokerage firms, benefits it may not otherwise have received had there not been an association with the client. These benefits are not based on the amount of assets or transactions in corresponding client accounts. These benefits may include duplicate client confirmations, duplicate client statements, information on a variety of investment issues, electronic access to account information, access to mutual funds generally available only to institutional investors. In fulfilling our duties to you, we endeavor at all times to put your interest first. You should be aware; however, that our receipt of economic benefits from a custodian creates a conflict of interest since these benefits may influence our choice of custodian over another custodian that does not furnish similar access, systems support, or services.

In evaluating whether to recommend that client's custody their assets at a particular custodian, we take into account the availability of the foregoing products and services and other arrangements as part of the total mix of factors it considers and not solely the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by a custodian. As stated above, clients should be aware that the receipt of such economic benefits by us in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence our choice of custodian for custody and brokerage services. To address these potential conflicts of interest, we have developed and implemented a Compliance Program, which includes a review of the services and execution quality we receive from each custodian.

Heritage may enter trades as a block when advantageous to clients whose accounts have a need to buy or sell shares of the same security. This method permits the trading of aggregate blocks of securities composed of assets from multiple client accounts. It allows Heritage to execute trades in a timely, equitable manner, and may reduce overall costs to clients.

Heritage will only aggregate transactions when it believes that aggregation is consistent with its duty to seek best execution (which includes the duty to seek best price) for its clients. No advisory client will be favored over any other client; each client that participates in an aggregated order will participate at the average share price for all Heritage's transactions in a given security on a given business day held at the same custodian. Transaction costs for participating accounts will be assessed at the custodian's commission rate applicable to each account; therefore, transaction costs may vary among accounts. Accounts may be excluded from a block due to tax considerations, client direction or other factors making the account's participation ineligible or impractical.

We may also aggregate trades within household client accounts even if we are not aggregating across multiple client accounts, as discussed above. Certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with your accounts on an aggregated basis when consistent with Heritage's obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the affiliated and your accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. Heritage will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the order.

Heritage does not routinely recommend, request, or require that you direct us to execute transactions through a specified broker-dealer. In directed brokerage arrangements, the client is responsible for negotiating the commission rates and other fees to be paid to the broker. Accordingly, a client who directs brokerage should consider whether such designation may result in certain costs or disadvantages to the client, either because the client may pay higher commissions or obtain less favorable execution, or the designation limits the investment options available to the client.

It is Heritage's policy that the firm will not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts. Heritage will also not cross trades between client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an adviser, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to any advisory client. A principal transaction may also be deemed to have occurred if a security is crossed between an affiliated hedge fund and another client account. An agency cross transaction is defined as a transaction where a person acts as an investment adviser in relation to a transaction in which the investment adviser, or any person controlled by or under common control with the investment adviser, acts as broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Reviews of your accounts will be conducted on a quarterly basis, at a minimum, by one or more of the following: President, Frederick R. MacLean, Jr.; by Vice President-CCO, Samuel Hardy Taylor; Treasurer, Robert I. McCarver; Chief Investment Officer, Timothy G. Slattery, Wealth Managers, Craig C. Chuang; Stacy Bliss; Darryl Hinkle; Erik Johnson; David K. Teas; and Nicklaus Mattingly; and Associate Wealth Manager-Jeff Realejo. There is no minimum number of accounts assigned for each reviewer. The review process contains each of the following elements:

- a. determine/review your goals and objectives;
- b. evaluate the strategy which has been employed; and
- c. monitor the portfolio.

Account reviews may be triggered by any one or more of the following events:

- a. specific requests;
- b. change in your goals and objectives; and
- c. changes in investment policy limits.

For all discretionary client accounts, Heritage will provide you a written quarterly report(s) of how your assets have performed (time weighted rates of return). We encourage you to compare the account statements you receive from your independent qualified custodian with those you receive from Heritage.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

1) Prior to May 21, 2021, Heritage periodically received client referrals from Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (“Schwab”) through Heritage’s participation in Schwab Advisor Network (“the Service”). The Service was designed to help investors find an independent investment advisor. Schwab is a broker-dealer independent of and unaffiliated with Heritage. Schwab does not supervise Heritage and has no responsibility for Heritage’s management of your portfolios or Heritage’s other advice or services. Currently, Heritage is no longer participating in the Service for purposes of receiving new client referrals, but continues to service existing client referrals and is obligated to pay Schwab an on-going fee (“Participation Fee”) for each successful client relationship established as a result of past referrals. This fee is usually a percentage of the advisory fee that the client pays to Heritage. Heritage’s participation in the Service had raised potential conflicts of interest described below.

Heritage continues to pay Schwab a Participation Fee on all past referred client accounts that are maintained in custody at Schwab, and (if applicable) a Non-Schwab Custody Fee on all accounts that are maintained at, or transferred to, another custodian. The Participation Fee paid by Heritage is a percentage of the fees you owe to Heritage or a percentage of the value of the assets in your account. Heritage pays Schwab the Participation Fee for so long as the referred client’s account remains in custody at Schwab. The Participation Fee is billed to Heritage quarterly and may be increased, decreased or waived by Schwab from time to time. The Participation Fee is paid by Heritage and not by you. Heritage does not charge clients referred through the Service fees or costs greater than the fees or costs Heritage charges clients with similar portfolios who were not referred through the Service. Heritage generally pays Schwab a Non-Schwab Custody Fee if custody of a referred client’s account is not maintained by, or assets in the account are transferred from Schwab. This Fee does not apply if the client was solely responsible for the decision not to maintain custody at Schwab. The Non-Schwab Custody Fee is a one-time payment equal to a percentage of the assets placed with a custodian other than Schwab. The Non-Schwab Custody Fee is higher than the Participation Fees Heritage generally would pay in a single year. Thus, for clients that were referred to Heritage via the Service, Heritage had an incentive to recommend that client accounts be held in custody at Schwab. The Participation and Non-Schwab Custody Fees are based on assets in accounts of Heritage’s clients who were referred by Schwab, and those referred clients’ family members living in the same household. Thus, Heritage had an incentive to encourage household members of clients referred through the Service to maintain custody of their accounts and execute transactions at Schwab and to instruct Schwab to debit Heritage’s fees directly from the accounts. For accounts of Heritage’s clients maintained in custody at Schwab, Schwab will not charge the client separately for custody but will receive compensation from Heritage’s clients in the form of commissions or other transaction-related compensation on securities trades executed through Schwab. Schwab also will receive a fee (generally lower than the applicable commission on trades it executes) for clearance and settlement of trades executed through broker-dealers other than Schwab. Schwab’s fees for trades executed at other broker-dealers are in addition to the other broker-dealer fees. Thus, Heritage has an incentive to cause trades to be executed through Schwab rather than another broker-dealer. Heritage, nevertheless, acknowledges its duty to seek best execution of trades for client accounts. Trades for client accounts held in custody at Schwab may be executed through a different broker-dealer than trades for Heritage's other clients. Thus, trades for accounts custodied at Schwab may be executed at different times and different prices than trades for other accounts that are executed at other broker-dealers. In addition, Heritage periodically participates in seminars/meetings with local Schwab office representatives and their clients in which materials related to investment management services are presented. Historically, the costs of hosting such events (i.e., meals, drinks, location, etc.) have been paid for by Charles Schwab and Company. In the future, Heritage anticipates similar events that may be paid for in part or in whole by Heritage or its affiliates. In addition to seminars/meetings, Heritage or its affiliates, periodically purchase meals/drinks for local Schwab representatives and/or their clients. Heritage or its affiliates also send holiday gift baskets to Schwab offices/representatives all of which may present a conflict of interest if said Schwab representative refer their clients to Heritage or its affiliates.

In addition, Heritage may manage investment portfolios for employees of Schwab. All Schwab employee managed portfolios receive no special treatment or pricing in the administration of their Heritage account(s).

2) Heritage has arrangements with non-affiliated, consultants and registered investment advisers ("solicitor(s)") in which compensation may be paid by Heritage to these parties for bringing a client to Heritage. Such agreements will comply with the requirements set out in Rule 206(4)-3 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 and any applicable corresponding state securities/banking law requirements. Such referral fees shall be paid solely from Heritage's management fee and shall not result in any additional charge to the client greater than the fees or costs Heritage charges its advisory clients who were not introduced by the solicitor and have similar portfolios under management with Heritage. When a client is introduced to Heritage by an unaffiliated solicitor, the solicitor at the time of the solicitation, shall disclose the nature of its solicitor relationship, and shall provide each prospective client with a copy of Heritage's written brochure as required, together with a copy of a separate written disclosure statement from the solicitor to the client disclosing the terms of the solicitation arrangement between Heritage and the solicitor, including the compensation to be received by the solicitor from Heritage.

One of our arrangements described above, is with Zoe Financial, Inc., through their Zoe Advisor Network (ZAN). Zoe Financial, Inc. is independent of and unaffiliated with Heritage and there is no employee relationship between them. Zoe Financial established the Zoe Advisor Network as a means of referring individuals and other investors seeking fee-only personal investment management services or financial planning services to independent investment advisors. Heritage pays Zoe Financial an on-going fee for each successful client referral. This fee is usually a percentage of the advisory fee that the client pays to Heritage ("Solicitation Fee"). Heritage will not charge clients referred through the Zoe Advisor Network any fees or costs higher than its standard fee schedule offered to its clients. For information regarding additional or other fees paid directly or indirectly to Zoe Financial Inc., please refer to the Zoe Financial Disclosure and Acknowledgement Form (if applicable).

Item 15 – Custody

To diminish the possibility of fraud, Heritage does not act as a qualified custodian for your assets. All client accounts are held at an independent brokerage firm, custodian, or bank that provides a separate monthly or quarterly accounting directly to you, the client, or your independent representative. In addition to the above, the following custody related items should be noted:

Custody -Not Subject to Exam:

To assist clients with their desired disbursement of funds held at their respective custodian(s), Heritage clients (in many instances) have provided Heritage the standing written authority to move client funds to an account or party of the client's specific designation (custody of assets-not subject to exam). In order to facilitate this common desire by clients for assistance with these disbursements, Heritage (and the respective client qualified custodians) has adopted a seven-step criteria to minimize the possibility of fund misappropriation. These steps include 1) the client providing written instruction to the custodian that includes the client signature, receiving third party's name with address or account number; 2) the client (to the custodian) specifically authorizing Heritage in writing to direct these transfers; 3) the client's custodian performs an appropriate verification and provides notice of transfer to the client promptly after each transfer; 4) the client may change or terminate this authorization with the custodian at any time; 5) Heritage has no authority to modify the receiving party information; 6) Heritage maintains records showing that Heritage or a related party to Heritage is not the recipient; and 7) the client's custodian sends an initial notice to the client confirming the instructions as well as an annual notice to reconfirm the instruction.

Custody Subject to Exam:

In a limited number of instances, and under a specific written request or appointment, a member of Heritage may act as a Trustee, Trust Protector, Executor, Personal Representative or Guardian for specific client accounts. In these instances, (where Heritage is deemed to have custody of assets subject to exam), safeguards have been implemented to ensure that an independent representative of each account(s) is able to independently monitor the account(s) activity on a regular basis. In addition, on an annual basis, these accounts are subject to a random, surprise examination by an independent certified public accountant. The results of these surprise annual examinations can be found on the SEC website.

Advisory Fees:

Furthermore, as part of our billing process for certain clients, the custodian is advised of the amount of the fee to be deducted from that client's account, and the custodian is authorized to pay Heritage its fee directly. As a result, you should receive at least quarterly statements from the independent broker-dealer, bank, or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains your investment assets. Heritage urges you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that we may provide to you. Our supplemental statements may vary from the qualified custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, valuation methodologies or other differences in reporting of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Heritage receives written discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account. When selecting securities, and determining amounts, Heritage observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions (as amended from time to time) of the clients for which it advises. It should be noted that in certain instances where Heritage deems that best execution of a trade may be obtained from a party other than your designated broker/custodian, you authorize Heritage to execute a trade with that 3rd party. However, to ensure the safety of your assets, settlement of all trades will occur inside your respective qualified custodial account.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

To avoid material conflicts between Heritage and you, Heritage Investment Group, Inc. is precluded from voting proxy materials on your behalf. You, our client, retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in your portfolio(s). However, if asked, Heritage may provide general information regarding the voting of proxies.

Separately, although not involved directly, it is further noted that Heritage, upon client request, may assist clients with the preparation and submission of historical data needed in the filing of class action claims.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Heritage Investment Group, Inc. is not required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about Heritage's financial condition because:

- Heritage has NO financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients and has NOT at any time during the past ten years been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
- We do not require or solicit prepayment of client fees of more than $1,200 per client and six months or more in advance.

However, due to unforeseen, ongoing, and unpredictable circumstances surrounding the Covid-19 Pandemic, Heritage Investment Group applied for and received a $358,992.91 loan under the U.S. Treasury Department's Payroll Protection Program. Per the terms of the loan, Heritage is using the proceeds to maintain employee salaries and other payments designated by the program. Heritage believes that this loan, and the potential requirement to repay it, will have no impact on its ability to provide its services to clients. While it is not anticipated, should our financial condition change we will notify you and explain the steps we intend to take to address them.

Item 19 – Privacy Statement

Heritage Investment Group, Inc., an independent Registered Investment Adviser, is committed to safeguarding the confidential information of its clients. We hold all personal information provided to our firm in the strictest confidence. These records include all personal information that we collect from you in connection with any of the services provided by Heritage Investment Group, Inc. As you know, we use health and financial information that you provide to us to help you meet your personal financial goals while guarding against any real or perceived infringements of your rights of privacy. Our policy with respect to personal information about you is listed below.

- We limit employee and agent access to information only to those who have a business or professional reason for knowing, and only to nonaffiliated parties as permitted by law. (For example, federal regulations permit us to share a limited amount of information about you with a brokerage firm in order to execute securities transactions on your behalf, or so that our firm can discuss your financial situation with your accountant or lawyer.)
- We maintain a secure office and computer environment to ensure that your information is not placed at unreasonable risk.
- The categories of nonpublic personal information that we collect from a client depend upon the scope of the client engagement. It will include information about your personal finances, information about your health to the extent that it is needed for the planning process, information about transactions between you and third parties, and information from consumer reporting agencies.

- For unaffiliated third parties that require access to your personal information, including financial service companies, consultants, and auditors, we also require strict confidentiality in our agreements with them and expect them to keep this information private. Federal and State regulators also may review firm records as permitted under law.
- We do not provide your personally identifiable information to mailing list vendors or solicitors for any purpose.
- Personal identifiable information about you will be maintained during the time you are a client, and for the required time thereafter that such records are required to be maintained by federal and state securities laws. After this required period of record retention, all such information will be destroyed.

Master of Business Administration (MBA)-Florida Atlantic University (1994)

Bachelor of Arts (BA)-Political Science, Washington College (1991)

EMPLOYMENT:

President-Heritage Investment Group, Inc. (1993 to Present)

PROFESSIONAL DESIGNATIONS:

Chartered Financial Analyst (1999)

Certified Financial Planner (1996)

PROFESSIONAL DESIGNATION DISCLOSURES:

The Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) charter is a globally respected, graduate-level investment credential established in 1962 and awarded by CFA Institute — the largest global association of investment professionals. There are currently more than 90,000 CFA charter holders working in 134 countries. To earn the CFA charter, candidates must: 1) pass three sequential, six-hour examinations; 2) have at least four years of qualified professional investment experience; 3) join CFA Institute as members; and 4) commit to abide by, and annually reaffirm, their adherence to the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct. The CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct, enforced through an active professional conduct program, require CFA charter holders to:

- Place their clients' interests ahead of their own.
- Maintain independence and objectivity.
- Act with integrity.
- Maintain and improve their professional competence.
- Disclose conflicts of interest and legal matters.

Passing the three CFA exams is a difficult feat that requires extensive study (successful candidates report spending an average of 300 hours of study per level). Earning the CFA charter demonstrates mastery of many of the advanced skills needed for investment analysis and decision making in today's quickly evolving global financial industry. As a result, employers and clients are increasingly seeking CFA charter holders—often making the charter a prerequisite for employment. Additionally, regulatory bodies in 22 countries and territories recognize the CFA charter as a proxy for meeting certain licensing requirements, and more than 125 colleges and universities around the world have incorporated a majority of the CFA Program curriculum into their own finance courses. The CFA Program curriculum provides a comprehensive framework of knowledge for investment decision making and is firmly grounded in the knowledge and skills used every day in the investment profession. The three levels of the CFA Program test a proficiency with a wide range of fundamental and advanced investment topics, including ethical and professional standards, fixed-income and equity analysis, alternative and derivative investments, economics, financial reporting standards, portfolio management, and wealth planning. The CFA Program curriculum is updated every year by experts from around the world to ensure that candidates learn the most relevant and practical new tools, ideas, and investment and wealth management skills to reflect the dynamic and complex nature of the profession. To learn more about the CFA charter, visit www.cfainstitute.org.

The CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™, CFP® and federally registered CFP (with flame design) marks (collectively, the “CFP® marks”) are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”).

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 71,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services and attain a Bachelor’s Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and

- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board’s enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.

Earning the CFA charter demonstrates mastery of many of the advanced skills needed for investment analysis and decision making in today's quickly evolving global financial industry. As a result, employers and clients are increasingly seeking CFA charter holders—often making the charter a prerequisite for employment. Additionally, regulatory bodies in 22 countries and territories recognize the CFA charter as a proxy for meeting certain licensing requirements, and more than 125 colleges and universities around the world have incorporated a majority of the CFA Program curriculum into their own finance courses. The CFA Program curriculum provides a comprehensive framework of knowledge for investment decision making and is firmly grounded in the knowledge and skills used every day in the investment profession. The three levels of the CFA Program test a proficiency with a wide range of fundamental and advanced investment topics, including ethical and professional standards, fixed-income and equity analysis, alternative and derivative investments, economics, financial reporting standards, portfolio management, and wealth planning. The CFA Program curriculum is updated every year by experts from around the world to ensure that candidates learn the most relevant and practical new tools, ideas, and investment and wealth management skills to reflect the dynamic and complex nature of the profession. The CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™, CFP® and federally registered CFP (with flame design) marks (collectively, the “CFP® marks”) are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”).

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 71,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services and attain a Bachelor’s Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board’s enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.

PROFESSIONAL DESIGNATION DISCLOSURES:

Certified Public Accountant (CPA) CPAs are licensed and regulated by their state boards of accountancy. While state laws and regulations vary, the education, experience and testing requirements for licensure as a CPA generally include minimum college education (typically 150 credit hours with at least a baccalaureate degree and a concentration in accounting), minimum experience levels (most states require at least one year of experience providing services that involve the use of accounting, attest, compilation, management advisory, financial advisory, tax or consulting skills, all of which must be achieved under the supervision of or verification by a CPA), and successful passage of the Uniform CPA Examination. In order to maintain a CPA license, states generally require the completion of 40 hours of continuing professional education (CPE) each year (or 80 hours over a two-year period or 120 hours over a three-year period). Additionally, all American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) members are required to follow a rigorous Code of Professional Conduct which requires that they act with integrity, objectivity, due care, competence, fully disclose any conflicts of interest (and obtain client consent if a conflict exists), maintain client confidentiality, disclose to the client any commission or referral fees, and serve the public interest when providing financial services. The vast majority of state boards of accountancy have adopted the AICPA's Code of Professional Conduct within their state accountancy laws or have created their own.

The CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™, CFP® and federally registered CFP (with flame design) marks (collectively, the “CFP® marks”) are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”). The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 71,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services and attain a Bachelor’s Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and

- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board’s enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.
