Item 4

Advisory Business

Sierra Nevada Wealth Management, LLC (SNWM) has been providing various financial planning and investment advisory services since 2007. SNWM provides these services to individuals, trusts, estates, and businesses. Financial planning is provided to Clients, either as a precursor to investment management or as an element of the portfolio construction component of the investment management process, commensurate with each individual Client's needs. The principal owner of SNWM is Gregory Crawford, CFP®.

Services provided:

1. Investment Management

SNWM provides professional management of various securities such as, stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange traded funds and many others. The management approach of Client assets is based on: (1) an evaluation of your risk preference and rate of return objectives, (2) asset selections, liquidity, and cost constraints required in the development of the long-term portfolio strategy and (3) an attempt to match established policies and objectives with your risk and return preferences.

SNWM will tailor a program for each individual client. This will include an interview session to get to know the client's specific needs and requirements as well as a plan that will be executed by SNWM on behalf of the client. SNWM may use model allocations, together with a specific set of recommendations for each client based on their personal restrictions, needs, and targets. Clients may impose restrictions in investing in certain securities or types of securities in accordance with their values or beliefs. However, if the restrictions prevent SNWM from properly servicing the client account, or if the restrictions would require SNWM to deviate from its standard suite of services, SNWM reserves the right to end the relationship.

A wrap fee program is an investment program wherein the investor pays one stated fee that includes management fees, transaction costs, and certain other administrative fees. SNWM does not participate in any wrap fee programs.

Asset Management Types:

SNWM manages Clients assets in two ways.

1. Discretionary

Client authorizes SNWM to investigate, purchase, and sell on behalf of Client, various securities and investments. SNWM is authorized to execute purchases and sales of securities on Client's behalf without consulting Client regarding each sale or purchase.

SNWM has entered into a discretionary investment advisory services agreement with Alliance Trust Company, LLC (Institutional Banking Client). A monthly fee of $1000 will be charged per month, payable on the first day of the month following a quarter of services. This service is negotiable and is subject to change from time to time based on the needs of the client.

2. Non-Discretionary

SNWM is authorized to execute purchases and sales of securities only after consulting with Client regarding each transaction.

Prior to entering into contract, SNWM and the Client will discuss which type of management best fits with the Client's needs and goals.

As of December 2020, SNWM manages $ 19,671,039 of non-discretionary assets and $ 18,549,468 of discretionary assets, for a total asset under management of $ 38,220,507.

Item 5Fees and Compensation

All Fees are negotiable. Lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources.

The compensation of SNWM for its services rendered shall be calculated quarterly. Client shall be given thirty (30) days' prior written notice of any increase in fees. SNWM reserves the right to deviate from the normal INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES indicated below by executive approval. All INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES fees are disclosed in each client's INVESTMENT ADVISORY CONTRACT.

Clients are responsible for the payment of all third party fees (i.e., custodian fees, commissions, brokerage fees, mutual fund fees, transaction fees, etc.). Those fees are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by Sierra Nevada Wealth Management, LLC. Please see Item 12 of this brochure regarding broker-dealer/custodian.

INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES

Fees for these services will be based on a percentage of Assets Under Management as follows:

| ASSETS UNDER MANAGEMENT | ANNUAL FEE | |
|---------------------------|------------|---------------------------------|
| $1 - $500,000 | 1.50% | or based on Hourly Consultation |
| $500,000 - $1,000,000 | 1.25% | |
| $1,000,000 - $3,000,000 | 1.00% | |
| $3,000,000 and above | 0.75% | |

Computing fees for investment supervisory services:

Fees for investment supervisory services are calculated quarterly (every 3 months). SNWM will use the closing prices of the last day in the quarter when computing fees. Investment supervisory fees are charged in advance (1 quarter only) and the Client can either choose to have the fees deducted directly from their account or be billed in advance for the services.

Example of fee calculation:

Client: John Doe

Assets with SNWM: $500,000.00 (Value as of Dec 31st, 2010)

Annual Fee: 1.50%

Quarterly Fee: $1.50\% / 4 = .3750\%$ per quarter or $$500,000.00 * .3750\% = $1,875.00$

Fee charged in advance for the 1st quarter in 2011: Jan 1st – March 31st 2011

Account valuation is done by the brokerage that SNWM uses to custody Client assets.

A Client may terminate their account with SNWM with 30 days notice and receive a refund for fees charged in advance. Refunds are pro-rated based on the days remaining in a quarter at the point of termination.

Example of pro-rated calculation:

Client: John Doe

Assets with SNWM: $500,000.00 (Value as of Dec 31st, 2010)

Quarterly Fee: $$500,000.00 * .3750\% = $1,875.00$

Fee charged in advance for the 1st quarter in 2011: Jan 1st – March 31st

Client gives 30 days written notice to terminate account on March 3rd, 2011

Pro-rated refund: $\text{Days left in quarter termination date (28)} / \text{Total days in 1st quarter (90)} = 31.1\%$

SNWM refunds $583.33 or $($1,875.00 * 31.1\%)$ to Client.

Other fees associated with investment supervisory services:

In addition to fees charged by SNWM, Clients will be subject to additional fees such as custodian fees or management fees charged by a fund company that SNWM and the Client choose.

Investment advice not involving supervision:

Depending upon the complexity of the situation and the needs of the client, the hourly fee for these services is $250 to $450 an hour. The fees are negotiable. Fees are paid in arrears upon completion. Fees that are charged in arrears are not eligible for refunds. Clients may terminate their accounts without penalty, for full refund, within 5 business days of signing the advisory contract.

Fund company fees:

Information on the ongoing fees charged by a mutual fund, exchange traded fund or other security where applicable can be found in the fund's prospectus. Clients can request a prospectus from SNWM or directly from the fund company.

Custodian Fees:

Clients are responsible for the payment of all third party fees (i.e., custodian fees, commissions, brokerage fees, mutual fund fees, transaction fees, etc.). Those fees are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by Sierra Nevada Wealth Management, LLC. Please see Item 12 of this brochure regarding broker-dealer/custodian.

Charles Schwab Brokerage fees are subject to change at any time. Please contact your SNWM representative for the most up-to-date information or visit www.schwab.com.

Investment Objectives:

The investment objective for your portfolio will be developed in conjunction with a review of your financial resources and goals, an evaluation of your risk preference and rate of return objectives, asset selections, liquidity, and cost constraints required in the development of the long-term portfolio strategy.

Methods of Analysis:

SNWM uses a fundamental diversified asset allocation model for managing investments. Fundamental investment strategies uses qualitative and quantitative valuation methods to determine the economic well-being and prospects for business, industries, sectors, asset classes and the broader economy.

It is our practice to explain to all clients that securities investing, including diversified portfolios, involves risk and risk of loss. Diversification does not guarantee a profit or guarantee against risk of loss.

General Investment Strategies:1. Aggressive

The Aggressive Portfolio objective is primarily oriented towards growth of principal with less emphasis on portfolio income. Investments could include equities, debt instruments, derivatives and cash or cash equivalents for diversification and risk management.

Portfolios classified as aggressive are subject to extremely wide fluctuations in share prices. The unusually high volatility associated with these funds may stem from one or more of the following strategies: a concentration of fund holdings in a relatively low number of individual stocks, or in a particular sector of the stock market, or in a particular geographical region of the world; a heavy emphasis on small-capitalization stocks or growth stocks with relatively high market valuations; holdings of international stocks or bonds, which are subject to price declines caused by changes in the value of the U.S. dollar against foreign currencies; or investments in bonds that have exceptionally long average durations, whose prices are highly sensitive to changes in interest rates.

Who Should Invest:

- Investors seeking the potential of high capital growth.
- Investors seeking growth of capital over the long term—at least five years.
- Investors willing to experience substantial fluctuations in portfolio value.

Who Should Not Invest:

- Investors unwilling to accept significant fluctuations in portfolio valuation.
- Investors seeking current income from the portfolio.
- Investors seeking more conservative investment strategies.

2. Balanced

A Balanced Portfolio's objective is to provide a combination of income, capital appreciation and capital protection by investing in a mix of stocks and bonds. Because prices of stock and bonds have historically responded differently to various economic events and influences, a balanced portfolio should experience less risk than a portfolio invested exclusively in stocks. However, there are other risks associated with a balanced portfolio.

Who Should Invest:

- Investors seeking long term income growth.
- Investors seeking current and sustainable income growth.
- Investors seeking moderate capital growth.

Who Should Not Invest:

- Investors seeking the potential of high capital growth.
- Investors seeking investments with long-time horizons, at least five and up to 10 years.
- Investors willing to experience substantial fluctuations in portfolio value.

3. Conservative

A Conservative Portfolio's objective is to provide a combination of income, low volatility and capital protection by investing in a mix of stocks and bonds. Because prices of stock and bonds have historically responded differently to various economic events and influences, a conservative portfolio should experience less risk than a portfolio invested exclusively in stocks.

Who Should Invest:

- Investors seeking income.
- Investors seeking current and sustainable income growth.
- Investors seeking low volatility.

Who Should Not Invest:

- Investors seeking the potential of high capital growth.
- Investors seeking investments with long-time horizons, at least five and up to 10 years.
- Investors willing to experience substantial fluctuations in portfolio value.

Risks Associated With Investing:

Investing in securities involved risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Stock market risk: The chance that stock prices overall will decline. Stock markets tend to move in cycles, with periods of rising stock prices and periods of falling stock prices.

Bond market risk: The risk that overall bond prices will fall as a result of rising interest rates. Future income risk exists if interest rates fall and bond cash flows are reinvested at a lower rate. Credit risks, the ability or perceived of a bond issuer to pay interest and principal, and call-risk, the prepayment of a bond, are also potential bond market risks.

Manager risk: The chance that poor security selection will cause the fund to underperform relevant benchmarks or other funds with a similar investment objective.

SPECIAL RISKS

Alternative Investments: There may be specific risks associated with alternative investments such as higher fees, limited liquidity, increased volatility, lesser reporting requirements, the use of leverage and concentration with a specific manager.

International Investments: There may be specific risks associated with investing internationally such as changes in currency rates, foreign taxation, differences in auditing and financial standards, and other risks which may be associated with specific country investments.

Concentration of Investments: There may be increased risk and volatility in concentrating investments in one economic sector or geographical region.

Investing in Exchange Traded Funds: SNWM primarily uses Exchange Traded Funds (ETF) when constructing portfolio's for Clients. Below is a discussion about what an ETF is and the risks associated with using this product.

What is an ETF: An exchange traded fund (ETF) is an investment vehicle that combines key features of traditional mutual funds and individual stocks. Like index mutual funds, ETFs represent diversified portfolios of securities that track specific indexes. Like stocks, they can be bought and sold (long or short) on an exchange throughout the trading day.

Risks Associated with Investing in an ETF:

Tracking Error Risk. As an index fund, an ETF seeks to track the performance of its benchmark index, although it may not be successful in doing so. The divergence between the performance of the ETF and its benchmark index, positive or negative, is called "tracking error." Tracking error can be caused by many factors and it may be significant.

Derivatives Risk. The ETF's use of derivative instruments involves risks different from, or possibly greater than, the risks associated with investing directly in securities and other traditional investments and could cause the ETF to lose more than the principal amount invested. In addition, investments in derivatives may involve leverage, which means a small percentage of assets invested in derivatives can have a disproportionately larger impact on the ETF.

Liquidity Risk. A particular investment may be difficult to purchase or sell. The ETF may be unable to sell illiquid securities at an advantageous time or price.

Securities Lending Risk. Securities lending involves the risk of loss of rights in the collateral or delay in recovery of the collateral if the borrower fails to return the security loaned or becomes insolvent.

Concentration Risk. To the extent that the ETF's or the index's portfolio is concentrated in the securities of issuers in a particular market, industry, group of industries, sector or asset class, the ETF may be adversely affected by the performance of those securities, may be subject to increased price volatility and may be more susceptible to adverse economic, market, political or regulatory occurrences affecting that market, industry, group of industries, sector or asset class.

Market Trading Risk. Although ETF shares are listed on national securities exchanges, there can be no assurance that an active trading market for ETF shares will develop or be maintained. If an active market is not maintained, investors may find it difficult to buy or sell ETF shares.

Pricing Risk. Shares of the ETF may trade at prices other than NAV. ETF shares may be bought and sold in the secondary market at market prices. Although it is expected that the market price of the shares of the ETF will approximate the ETF's net asset value (NAV), there may be times when the market price and the NAV vary significantly. You may pay more than NAV when you buy shares of the ETF in the secondary market, and you may receive less than NAV when you sell those shares in the secondary market.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Neither SNWM nor its representatives are registered as, or have pending applications to become, a broker/dealer or a representative of a broker/dealer.

Neither SNWM nor its representatives are registered as or have pending applications to become either a Pool Operator, or Commodity Trading Advisor or an associated person of the foregoing entities.

SNWM members Gregory Crawford and Philip Brown independently own 50% of Alliance Trust Company, LLC, a Nevada licensed trust company. The trust company is governed and audited by the Nevada Financial Institutions Division.

The owners of Sierra Nevada Wealth Management, LLC also own interests in Alliance Trust Company, LLC, a state-chartered trust company in Nevada. If clients request trustee services (with or without investment advisory services), they may elect to work with Alliance Trust Company, LLC. Sierra Nevada Wealth Management, LLC does not provide trustee services, only investment advisory services. For investment advisory services, the portfolio models and fees charged are identical at the two companies.

All material conflicts of interest under California Code of Regulations Section 260.238(k) are disclosed regarding the investment adviser, its representatives or any of its employees, which could be reasonably expected to impair the rendering of unbiased and objective advice.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics Statement

Our Code of Ethics is available free upon request to any client or prospective client.

SNWM has adopted a code of ethics to:

1. set forth standards of conduct expected of advisory personnel (including compliance with federal and state securities laws);
2. safeguard material non-public information about Client transactions; and
3. require “access persons” to report their personal securities transactions. In addition, the activities of an investment adviser and its personnel must comply with the broad antifraud provisions of Section 206 of the Advisers Act.

As an investment adviser firm, we have an overarching fiduciary duty to our Clients. We have an obligation to uphold that fiduciary duty and see that our personnel do not take inappropriate advantage of their positions and the access to information that comes with their positions.

SNWM holds their directors, officers, and employees accountable for adhering to and advocating the following general standards to the best of their knowledge and ability:

- Always place the interest of the Clients first and never benefit at the expense of advisory Clients.
- Always act in an honest and ethical manner, including in connection with, and the handling and avoidance of, actual or potential conflicts of interest between personal and professional relationships.
- Always maintain the confidentiality of information concerning the identity of security holdings and financial circumstances of Clients.
- Fully comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations of federal, state and local governments and other applicable regulatory agencies.
- Proactively promote ethical and honest behavior with the Adviser, including, without limitation, the prompt reporting of violations of, and being accountable for adherence to, this Code of Ethics.

Failure to comply with the Code of Ethics may result in disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

Conflicts of Interest

Sierra Nevada Wealth Management, LLC has an affirmative duty of care, loyalty, honesty, and good faith to act in the best interest of its Clients. All supervised persons must refrain from engaging in any activity or having a personal interest that presents a “conflict of interest.” A conflict of interest may arise if your personal interest interferes, or appears to interfere, with the interests of the Adviser or its Clients. A conflict of interest can arise whenever you take action or have an interest that makes it difficult for you to perform your duties and responsibilities for the Adviser honestly, objectively and effectively.

While it is impossible to describe all of the possible circumstances under which a conflict of interest may arise, listed below are situations that most likely could result in a conflict of interest and that are prohibited under this Code of Ethics:

- Access persons may not favor the interest of one Client over another Client (e.g., larger accounts over smaller accounts, accounts compensated by performance fees over accounts not so compensated, accounts in which employees have made material personal investments, accounts of close friends or relatives of supervised persons). This kind of favoritism would constitute a breach of fiduciary duty.
- Access persons are prohibited from using knowledge about pending or currently considered securities transactions for Clients to profit personally, directly or indirectly, as a result of such transactions, including by purchasing or selling such securities.

Access persons are prohibited from recommending, implementing or considering any securities transaction for a Client without having disclosed any material beneficial ownership, business or personal relationship, or other material interest in the issuer or its affiliates, to the Chief Compliance Officer, Gregory Crawford, CFP® (“CCO”). If the CCO deems the disclosed interest to present a material conflict, the investment personnel may not participate in any decision-making process regarding the securities of that issuer.

From time to time, representatives of SNWM may buy or sell securities for themselves that they also recommend to clients. This may provide an opportunity for representatives of SNWM to buy or sell the same securities before or after recommending the same securities to clients resulting in representatives profiting off the recommendations they provide to clients. Such transactions may create a conflict of interest. SNWM will always document any transactions that could be construed as conflicts of interest and will never engage in trading that operates to the client’s disadvantage when similar securities are being bought or sold.

From time to time, representatives of SNWM may buy or sell securities for themselves at or around the same time as clients. This may provide an opportunity for representatives of SNWM to buy or sell securities before or after recommending securities to clients resulting in representatives profiting off the recommendations they provide to clients. Such transactions may create a conflict of interest; however, SNWM will never engage in trading that operates to the client's disadvantage when similar securities are being bought or sold.

Conflicts of interests may arise out of the relationship between SNWM and Charles Schwab. Disclosures pertaining to this relationship may be found in Item 12: Brokerage Practices.

Sierra Nevada Wealth Management, LLCs members Gregory Crawford and Philip Brown independently own 50% of Alliance Trust Company, LLC, a Nevada licensed trust company. The trust company is governed and audited by the Nevada Financial Institutions Division.

Many of the services of SNWM can be performed by Alliance Trust Company. This may pose a conflict of interest which SNWM and Alliance Trust Company attempts to mitigate. Both companies attempt to mitigate the potential conflict of interest by having the same fee schedule for advisory services at each firm. Additionally, unless requested in writing by a SNWM client, each new account opened through the normal course of business will stay at SNWM.

The Custodian and Brokers We Use:

SNWM (“we”/“our”) does not maintain custody of your assets that we manage, although we may be deemed to have custody of your assets if you give us authority to withdraw assets from your account (see Item 15 – Custody, below). Your assets must be maintained in an account at a “qualified custodian,” generally a broker dealer or bank. We require that our Clients use Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (Schwab), a registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, as the qualified custodian. We are independently owned and operated and are not affiliated with Schwab. Schwab will hold your assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when we or you instruct them to. While we require that you use Schwab as custodian/broker, you will decide whether to do so and will open your account with Schwab by entering into an account agreement directly with them. We do not open the account for you, although we may assist you in doing so. If you do not wish to place your assets with Schwab, then we cannot manage your account. Even though your account is maintained at Schwab, we can still use other brokers to execute trades for your account as described below (see “Your Brokerage and Custody Costs”).

Although SNWM manages client assets of Alliance Trust Company, LLC on a discretionary basis, SNWM does not handle custodial services. Alliance Trust Company, LLC is responsible for all custodial services for clients under the agreement. Alliance Trust Company, LLC does not require its clients to custody with Charles Schwab.

SNWM receives no referrals from a broker-dealer or third party in exchange for using that broker-dealer or third party.

SNWM will require clients to use a specific broker-dealer to execute transactions.

If SNWM buys or sells the same securities on behalf of more than one client, it might, but would be under no obligation to, aggregate or bunch, to the extent permitted by applicable law and regulations, the securities to be purchased or sold for multiple clients in order to seek more favorable prices, lower brokerage commissions or more efficient execution. In such case, SNWM would place an aggregate order with the broker on behalf of all such clients in order to ensure fairness for all clients; provided, however, that trades would be reviewed periodically to ensure that accounts are not systematically disadvantaged by this policy. SNWM would determine the appropriate number of shares to place with brokers and will select the appropriate brokers consistent with SNWM’s duty to seek best execution, except for those accounts with specific brokerage direction (if any). When SNWM does not or cannot aggregate trades, clients may receive less favorable prices, pay higher brokerage commissions, or experience less efficient trade execution.

How We Select Brokers/Custodians:

We seek to use a custodian/broker who will hold your assets and execute transactions on terms that are, overall, most advantageous when compared to other available providers and their services. We consider a wide range of factors, including, among others:

- Combination of transaction execution services and asset custody services (generally without a separate fee for custody)
- Capability to execute, clear, and settle trades (buy and sell securities for your account)
- Capability to facilitate transfers and payments to and from accounts (wire transfers, check requests, bill payment, etc.)
- Breadth of available investment products (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds [ETFs], etc.)
- Availability of investment research and tools that assist us in making investment decisions
- Quality of services
- Competitiveness of the price of those services (commission rates, margin interest rates, other fees, etc.) and willingness to negotiate the prices
- Reputation, financial strength, and stability
- Prior service to us and our other Clients
- Availability of other products and services that benefit us, as discussed below (see “Products and Services Available to Us From Schwab”).

Your Brokerage and Custody Costs:

For our Clients’ accounts that Schwab maintains, Schwab generally does not charge you separately for custody services but is compensated by charging you commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that settle into your Schwab account. Schwab’s commission rates applicable to our Client accounts were negotiated based on the condition that our Clients collectively maintain a total of at least $10,000,000 of their assets in accounts at Schwab. This commitment benefits you because the overall commission rates you pay are lower than they would be otherwise. In addition to commissions, Schwab charges you a flat dollar amount as a “prime broker” or “trade away” fee for each trade that we have executed by a different broker-dealer but where the securities bought or the funds from the securities sold are deposited (settled) into your Schwab account. These fees are in addition to the commissions or other compensation you pay the executing broker-dealer. Because of this, in order to minimize your trading costs, we have Schwab execute most trades for your account. We have determined that having Schwab execute most trades is consistent with our duty to seek “best execution” of your trades. Best execution means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above (see “How We Select Brokers/Custodians”).

Products and Services Available to Us From Schwab:

Schwab Advisor Services™ (formerly called Schwab Institutional®) is Schwab’s business serving independent investment advisory firms like us. They provide us and our Clients with access to its institutional brokerage—trading, custody, reporting, and related services—many of which are not typically available to Schwab retail customers. Schwab also makes available various support services. Some of those services help us manage or administer our Clients’ accounts, while others help us manage and grow our business. Schwab’s support services generally are available on an unsolicited basis (we don’t have to request them) and at no charge to us as long as our Clients collectively maintain a total of at least $10 million of their assets in accounts at Schwab. If our Clients collectively have less than $10 million in assets at Schwab, Schwab may charge us quarterly service fees of $1,200.

Following is a more detailed description of Schwab’s support services:

Services That Benefit You:

Schwab’s institutional brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of Client assets. The investment products available through Schwab include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our Clients. Schwab’s services described in this paragraph generally benefit you and your account. Services That May Not Directly Benefit You. Schwab also makes available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our Clients’ accounts. They include investment research, both Schwab’s own and that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or a substantial number of our Clients’ accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab. In addition to investment research, Schwab also makes available software and other technology that:

- Provide access to Client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements)
- Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple Client accounts
- Provide pricing and other market data
- Facilitate payment of our fees from our Clients’ accounts
- Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and Client reporting services

Services That Generally Benefit Only Us:

Schwab also offers other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. These services include:

- Educational conferences and events
- Consulting on technology, compliance, legal, and business needs
- Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession
- Access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants and insurance providers

Schwab may provide some of these services itself. In other cases, it will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to us. Schwab may also discount or waive its fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party’s fees. Schwab may also provide us with other benefits, such as occasional business entertainment of our personnel.

We use the products and services available from Schwab in a variety of ways. In the course of our investment supervisory services, we will from time to time use Schwab provided unsolicited research reports. Schwab also provides independent firms with business support in the form of training and marketing techniques to help us grow our business.

Our Interest in Schwab’s Services

The availability of these services from Schwab benefits us because we do not have to produce or purchase them. We don’t have to pay for Schwab’s services so long as our Clients collectively keep a total of at least $10 million of their assets in accounts at Schwab. Beyond that, these services are not contingent upon us committing any specific amount of business to Schwab in trading commissions or assets in custody.

The $10 million minimum may give us an incentive to require that you maintain your account with Schwab, based on our interest in receiving Schwab's services that benefit our business rather than based on your interest in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of your transactions. This is a potential conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of Schwab as custodian and broker is in the best interests of our Clients. Our selection is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of Schwab's services (see "How We Select Brokers/Custodians") and not Schwab's services that benefit only us. Although we meet the minimum in Client assets under management at Charles Schwab (as of December 31st, 2016), and we do not believe that requiring our Clients to collectively maintain at least $10 million of those assets at Schwab in order to avoid paying Schwab quarterly service fees presents a material conflict of interest.

Item 13Review of Accounts

Your investment account will be monitored and reported to you on a quarterly basis. Your investment program will be reviewed at least annually by Gregory Crawford, Chief Compliance Officer, to assure that it continues to achieve your stated investment objectives and is within your tolerance for risk. We will continually review changes in your financial circumstances and investment profile to maintain equilibrium with your investment objectives. SNWM must be notified about changes in our client's financial situation. Each investment account will receive at least quarterly a written report that details the client's account including assets held and asset value, which will come from the custodian.

SNWM, when specifically engaged for financial planning services, will monitor the progress of implementation or review your financial profile annually. More frequent monitoring can be requested by the Client.

Review of Accounts:

SNWM reviews accounts at least quarterly, but more frequently when volatility in the investing markets is high relative to recent and historical standards.

Item 14Client Referrals and Other Compensation

We receive an economic benefit from Schwab in the form of the support products and services it makes available to us and other independent investment advisors whose Clients maintain their accounts at Schwab. These products and services, how they benefit us, and the related conflicts of interest are described above (see Item 12 – Brokerage Practices). The availability to us of Schwab's products and services is not based on us giving particular investment advice, such as buying particular securities for our Clients.

Referrals:

We, from time to time, receive referrals from Clients or other professionals (lawyers, accountants). SNWM never pays direct money or participates in soft dollar arrangements in consideration of a referral.

Item 15Custody

When advisory fees are deducted directly from client accounts at client's custodian, we will be deemed to have limited custody of client's assets. Because client fees will be withdrawn directly from client accounts, in states that require it, we will:

- (A) Possess written authorization from the client to deduct advisory fees from an account held by a qualified custodian.
- (B) Send the qualified custodian written notice of the amount of the fee to be deducted from the client's account and verify that the qualified custodian sends invoices to the client.
- (C) Send the client a written invoice itemizing the fee upon or prior to fee deduction, including the formula used to calculate the fee, the time period covered by the fee and the amount of assets under management on which the fee was based.

Clients will receive all account statements and billing invoices that are required in each jurisdiction, and they should carefully review those statements for accuracy. Clients are urged to compare the account statements they received from custodian with those they received from us.

Item 16Investment Discretion

There are two distinct ways a Client can engage SNWM for investment supervisory services:

1. Discretionary

Client authorizes SNWM to investigate, purchase, and sell on behalf of Client, various securities and investments. SNWM is authorized to execute purchases and sales of securities on Client's behalf without consulting Client regarding each sale or purchase.

2. Non-Discretionary

SNWM is authorized to execute purchases and sales of securities only after consulting with Client regarding each transaction.

When opening accounts with Charles Schwab, Client will grant SNWM limited power of attorney (LPOA). This allows SNWM to access information and trade in Client accounts on their behalf. Examples of the Schwab provided LPOA may be reviewed upon request.

Additionally, Client will enter into an Investment Advisory Contract with SNWM. It is in the Investment Advisory Contract that the Client will decide whether to grant SNWM discretionary or non-discretionary management. An example of an Investment Advisory Contract may be reviewed upon request.

Item 17Voting Client Securities

Unless otherwise mutually agreed in writing, SNWM will not be responsible for responding to proxies that are solicited with respect to annual or special meetings of shareholders of securities held in Clients' accounts. In the event a client has a question about a proxy solicitation, the client should contact his/her investment adviser representative.

Item 18Financial Information

SNWM neither requires nor solicits prepayment of more than $1,200/$500 in fees per client, six months or more in advance and therefore does not need to include a balance sheet with this brochure.

SNWM has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition in the last ten years
