Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. is in the business of selling annuities, insurance, stocks, bonds, mutual funds, or other commissioned products. Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. receives commissions from a non-client in connection with giving advice to clients. Investment advice is an integral part of financial planning. In addition, Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. advises clients regarding cash flow, college planning, and retirement planning.

Investment advice is provided, with the client making the final decision on investment selection. Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. does not act as a custodian of client assets. A written evaluation of each client's initial situation is provided to the client. Periodic reviews are also communicated to provide reminders of the specific courses of action that need to be taken. More frequent reviews occur but are not necessarily communicated to the client unless immediate changes are recommended.

Other professionals (e.g., lawyers, accountants, insurance agents, etc.) are engaged directly by the client on an as-needed basis. Conflicts of interest will be disclosed to the client in the unlikely event they should occur.

The initial meeting, which may be by telephone, is free of charge and is considered an exploratory interview to determine the extent to which financial planning and investment management may be beneficial to the client.

Agreements may not be assigned without client consent.

Types of Agreements

The following agreements define the typical client relationships.

Advisory Service Agreement

Most clients choose to have Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. manage their assets to obtain ongoing in-depth advice and life planning. All aspects of the client's financial affairs are reviewed, including those of their children. Realistic and measurable goals are set and objectives to reach those goals are defined. As goals and objectives change over time, suggestions are made and implemented on an ongoing basis.

The scope of work and fee for an Advisory Service Agreement is provided to the client in writing prior to the start of the relationship. An Advisory Service Agreement includes cash flow management; insurance review; investment management (including performance reporting); education planning; and retirement planning, as well as the implementation of recommendations within each area.

The annual Advisory Service Agreement fee is based on a percentage of the investable assets according to the following schedule:

ASIA PACIFIC FINANCIAL FEE SCHEDULE
Aggregate Account Value	Annualized Fee
First $500,000	2.25%
Next $500,000	1.75%
Next $4,000,000	1.25%
Amounts over $5,000,000	1.00%

Current client relationships may exist where the fees are higher or lower than the fee schedule above.

Although the Advisory Service Agreement is an ongoing agreement and constant adjustments are required, the length of service to the client is at the client's discretion. The client or the investment manager may terminate an Agreement by written notice to the other party. At termination, fees will be billed on a pro rata basis for the portion of the quarter completed. The portfolio value at the completion of the prior full billing quarter is used as the basis for the fee computation, adjusted for the number of days during the billing quarter prior to termination.

Investment Management Agreement

An Investment Management Agreement may be executed when financial planning is not provided as part of the relationship. For the annual fee for an Investment Management Agreement, please see the fee schedule above.

Asset Management

Assets are invested primarily in no-load or low-load mutual funds and exchange-traded funds, usually through discount brokers or fund companies. Fund companies charge each fund shareholder an investment management fee that is disclosed in the fund prospectus. Discount brokerages may charge a transaction fee for the purchase of some funds.

Stocks and bonds may be purchased or sold through a brokerage account when appropriate. The brokerage firm charges a fee for stock and bond trades. Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. does not receive any compensation, in any form, from fund companies.

Investments may also include equities (stocks), warrants, corporate debt securities, commercial paper, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, investment company securities (variable life insurance, variable annuities, and mutual funds shares), U. S. government securities, options contracts, futures contracts, and interests in partnerships.

Initial public offerings (IPOs) are not available through Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc.

Termination of Agreement

A Client may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. in writing and paying the rate for the time spent on the investment advisory engagement prior to notification of termination. If the client made an advance payment, Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying the client in writing. If the client made an advance payment, Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

Fees and Compensation

Description

Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. bases its fees on a percentage of assets under management, fixed fees, and commissions.

Fees are negotiable.

Fee Billing

Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. management fees are billed in two separate ways.

RBC Clearing & Custody's (RBC) quarterly Fee is charged in advance, is based on the Account Value as of the last business day of the previous calendar quarter, and becomes due the business day following the last business day of the previous calendar quarter. If cash or securities, or a combination thereof, are deposited to or withdrawn from Client's Account on an individual business day in the first two months of the quarter, Client authorizes Adviser to: (i) assess a Fee to the deposited assets based on the value of the assets on the date of deposit for the pro rata number of days remaining in the quarter, or (ii) refund prepaid Fees based on the value of the assets on the date of withdrawal for the pro rata number of days remaining in the quarter. No additional Fee or adjustments to previously assessed Fees will be made in connection with deposits or withdrawals that occur during the last month of the quarter unless requested by Client. Notwithstanding the above, RBC reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to process or not process fee adjustments, as applicable, when the source and destination of deposits and withdrawals involve Client's other fee-based advisory accounts. In addition, RBC may, in its sole discretion, take any action it considers fair and reasonable with respect to the application of Fee adjustments based upon its review of the timing and amounts of deposits to and withdrawals from Client's Account.

Client authorizes and directs custodian to deduct Fees from the Account. Client further authorizes and directs the custodian to send a quarterly statement to Client which shows all amounts disbursed from Client's Account, including Fees paid from Account assets. The statement supplied to Client by RBC will show the amount of the Fee, the Account Value on which the Fee was based, and the way the Fee was calculated. For the purposes of this Program Agreement, the term "Account Value" shall mean the total absolute value of the securities in the Account, long or short, plus all credit balances, with no offset for any margin or debit balances.

All other investment management fees are billed quarterly, in arrears, meaning that we invoice you after the three-month billing period has ended. Payment in full is expected upon invoice presentation. Fees are usually deducted from a designated client account to facilitate billing. The client must consent in advance to direct debiting of their investment account.

Other Fees

Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of certain mutual funds and exchange-traded funds. These transaction charges are usually small and incidental to the purchase or sale of a security. The selection of the security is more important than the nominal fee that the custodian charges to buy or sell the security.

Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc., in its sole discretion, may waive its minimum fee and/or charge a lesser investment advisory fee based upon certain criteria (e.g., historical relationship, type of assets, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amounts of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, negotiations with clients, etc.).

New Advisory Service Agreement fees are calculated on a formula basis and adjusted for complexity of individual situations. The formula is based on, gross assets and other financial considerations.

Expense Ratios

Mutual funds generally charge a management fee for their services as investment managers. The management fee is called an expense ratio. For example, an expense ratio of 0.50 means that the mutual fund company charges 0.5% for their services. These fees are in addition to the fees paid by you to Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc.

Performance figures quoted by mutual fund companies in various publications are after their fees have been deducted.

Past Due Accounts and Termination of Agreement

Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. reserves the right to stop work on any account that is more than 30 days overdue. In addition, Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. reserves the right to terminate any financial planning engagement where a client has willfully concealed or has refused to provide pertinent information about financial situations when necessary and appropriate, in Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc.'s judgment, to providing proper financial advice. Any unused portion of fees collected in advance will be refunded within 30 days.

Types of Clients

Description

Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. generally provides investment advice to individuals, banks or thrift institutions, investment companies, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates, or charitable organizations, corporations or business entities.

Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. has the discretion to waive the account minimum.

Clients receiving ongoing asset management services will be assessed no minimum annual fee. Clients with assets below the minimum account size may pay a higher percentage rate on their annual fees than the fees paid by clients with greater assets under management.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods may include charting, fundamental analysis, technical analysis, and cyclical analysis.

The main sources of information include financial newspapers and magazines, inspections of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, timing services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and company press releases.

Other sources of information that Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc., may use include Morningstar Principia mutual fund information, Morningstar Principia stock information, RBC research reports, and the World Wide Web.

Investment Strategies

The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. We may use exchange-traded funds then add actively managed funds where there are greater opportunities to make a difference. Portfolios are globally diversified to control the risk associated with traditional markets. Other strategies may include long-term purchases, short-term purchases, and trading. The client may change these objectives at any time. Each client executes an Investment Policy Statement that documents their objectives and their desired investment strategy.

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e., interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.
