Item 4 – Advisory Business

One Thousand & One Voices Management, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("One Thousand & One Voices Management"), is an alternative investment manager that commenced operations in May 2013 and is owned by Hendrik F. Jordaan. One Thousand & One Voices Management and together with its affiliated investment advisers, One Thousand & One Voices Management (Mauritius, Ltd.) (the "Mauritius Manager") and One Thousand & One Voices Advisory Services Proprietary Limited (the "South African Manager"), are registered investment advisers that provide investment advisory services to One Thousand & One Voices Africa Fund I, L.P. ("the Fund"), and may provide similar services to other investment vehicles in the future. Hendrik Jordaan serves as Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") and manager since inception and as Chief Compliance Officer ("CCO") since January 15, 2019.

One Thousand & One Voices Africa Fund I Investors, L.P. (the "General Partner," and together with One Thousand & One Voices Management, the Mauritius Manager and the South African Manager, and their affiliated entities, "One Thousand & One Voices"), serves as the Fund's general partner. The General Partner is subject to the Advisers Act pursuant to One Thousand & One Voices Management's registration in accordance with SEC guidance. This Brochure also describes the business practices of the General Partner, which operates as a single advisory business together with One Thousand & One Voices Management, the Mauritius Manager and the South African Manager.

The Fund is structured as a private equity fund that invests through negotiated transactions in operating entities, generally referred to herein as "portfolio companies." One Thousand & One Voices seeks to invest the Fund primarily in controlling or influential minority positions in growth equity opportunities and mezzanine debt investments in private companies formed, or with operations in, Sub-Saharan Africa (the "Investments"). One Thousand & One Voices' investment management services include analyzing, selecting, monitoring and maintaining the Investments. Principals of One Thousand & One Voices and principals of its affiliates typically also serve on the board of directors for Investments.

One Thousand & One Voices has raised capital for the Fund from influential families and other investors from around the globe as part of a movement to provide Relational Capital, Intellectual Capital and Patient Financial Capital, or "Three-Dimensional Capital™", to profitably accelerate prosperity in rising markets.

One Thousand & One Voices' advisory services are tailored to the Fund and will be tailored to future funds. Investors in the Fund (the "Investors" or "Limited Partners") do not enter into investment management agreements with One Thousand & One Voices and are not considered advisory clients. Investors may not impose restrictions on the Fund's investment in certain securities or types of securities, however, Investors may be excused from a particular Investment due to legal, regulatory or other applicable constraints. This Brochure is provided to the Investors and is also qualified in its entirety by the Fund's offering memorandum (the "Offering Memorandum"), limited partnership agreement (the "Limited Partnership Agreement" and subscription documents (collectively with the Offering Memorandum and Limited Partnership Agreement, the "Offering Documents").

The General Partner has entered into side letters or other similar arrangements with Limited Partners that provide more favorable terms to these Investors than those described in the Offering Documents. These terms include, among others, reduction in management fees and/or performance allocations, special rights with respect to future contributions, future investments and supplemental reporting.

As of the year ended December 31, 2020, One Thousand & One Voices managed gross asset of the Fund on a discretionary basis in the amount $ 136,119,642 (including capital commitments).

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

One Thousand & One Voices earns an annual management fee paid by the Fund of 2% of the total committed capital until the earlier of the termination of the Fund's investment period or launch of a successor fund, as described in the Fund's Limited Partnership Agreement and thereafter, a 2% of the total invested capital (total commitments drawn reduced by the amount of capital contributions attributable to Investments that have been disposed of (and which not been reinvested) or written off) (the "Management Fee"). In limited circumstances, One Thousand & One Voices has negotiated lower Management Fees with certain strategic investors. One Thousand & One Voices invoices the Fund on a quarterly basis in advance to pay such Management Fees. The Management Fee is paid whether or not the Fund is profitable. The General Partner also receives a carried interest which is discussed below in "Performance Based Fees."

One Thousand & One Voices and their principals may receive compensation attributable to the Fund's Investments, including director fees, transaction fees and other fees. A portion of these additional fees is used to offset and reduce the Management Fee paid to One Thousand & One Voices.

In general, the Fund bears certain costs, expenses, liabilities and obligations in connection with its operation, activities and investments of the Fund including but not limited to (a) the Management Fee and organizational expenses; (b) the costs and expenses relating to temporary investments or Investments (including travel expenses and all liabilities and obligations related to all leverage), including the identification, evaluation, negotiation, due diligence, acquisition, holding, monitoring and disposition thereof; (c) unconsummated transaction expenses; (d) premiums for insurance protecting the Fund, One Thousand & One Voices, any of their respective affiliates, and any of their respective officers, directors, members, partners, employees and agents, from liabilities to third persons in connection with the affairs of the Fund; (e) legal, custodial, consulting and accounting expenses; (f) auditing and tax expenses; (g) appraisal expenses; (h) expenses related to organizing and maintaining entities (including any holding vehicle or alternative investment vehicle) through or in which Investments will be made; (i) reasonable expenses of the Fund's investment committee, conflicts review board and advisory board; (j) costs and expenses that are classified as extraordinary expenses under generally accepted accounting principles; (k) damages suffered or incurred by the Fund; (l) taxes or other governmental charges payable by or on behalf of the Fund; (m) costs of reporting to the Limited Partners and of the annual meeting of the Limited Partners; (n) costs of winding up, liquidating and dissolving the Fund; (o) all fees, costs, expenses, liabilities and obligations with respect to obtaining leverage, (p) any reserves established by the Fund to fund any of the foregoing costs and expenses and (q) all costs and expenses arising out of the Fund's indemnification obligations.

Item 6 – Performance Based Fees

The General Partner is entitled to receive from the Fund a carried interest, or distributions of the net profits in excess of a preferred return, which is described in more detail in the Fund's Limited Partnership Agreement. At this time One Thousand & One Voices only advises a single Fund but anticipates a similar compensation structure for future funds. A carried interest may create an incentive for One Thousand & One Voices and the General Partner to make investments that are more speculative than would be the case in the absence of performance-based compensation.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

One Thousand & One Voices provides investment advice to pooled-investment vehicles formed under US or foreign law. The Fund is an exempted limited partnership formed in the Cayman Islands and offered primarily to family offices and high-net worth individuals on a private placement basis. Limited Partners include, but are not limited to, family partnerships, individuals, trusts, endowments and foundations.

One Thousand & One Voices requires Limited Partners to be “accredited investors” as that term is defined in Regulation D under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended and “qualified clients” as defined under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended. The Fund has a $10 million minimum commitment which may be waived by the General Partner in its sole discretion.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

General Methods of Analysis

As discussed briefly in “Advisory Business,” One Thousand & One Voices’ investment model is designed to provide Three-Dimensional Capital™ to companies around the globe. First, Relational Capital leverages families’ connections and influence; second, Intellectual Capital leverages their business and industry knowledge; and third, Patient Financial Capital provides the funding that emerging market businesses need to grow.

The Fund is focused on companies in Sub-Saharan Africa that have demonstrated solid growth characteristics. The financial capital provided to these companies is intended to be sufficiently patient and tangibly accretive to promote growth, and, therefore, to accelerate prosperity of the Investments.

One Thousand & One Voices believes that the Fund’s Three-Dimensional Capital™ model has advantages over traditional private equity investing as well as many impact investment funds operating today. In particular, due to the patient capital structure of the Fund, exits of investments are likely not to be rushed. Additionally, the One Thousand & One Voices expects the Relational Capital and Intellectual Capital of investing families will result in more direct knowledge and firsthand experience than that of the third-party consultants and other vendors frequently deployed by other funds.

General Risks

Potential investors should be aware that an investment in a pooled investment vehicle such as the Fund involves a high degree of risk. There can be no assurance that the investment objectives will be achieved, or that an Investor will receive a return of its capital. In addition, there will be occasions when One Thousand & One Voices and its affiliates may encounter potential conflicts of interest in connection with the pooled investment vehicle strategy. Investors should carefully review information about risks of the Fund in the Offering Documents.

Risks Related to Investments in Emerging Markets

One Thousand & One Voices’ advice on investments in companies organized and/or operating in emerging markets will involve certain significant risks not typically associated with investments in the securities of companies organized and/or operating in more developed market economies. These risks are increased by the uncertainty of whether some of the information available on the rising market, including information used to prepare the Offering Documents, is reliable.

Emerging Markets. Investments in emerging markets involve a broad range of economic, foreign currency and exchange rate, political, legal and financial risks. Many of these risks are not quantifiable or predictable but may increase the expenses of the clients, materially adversely affect the value of the investments and materially adversely impact the One Thousand & One Voices’ investment program and strategy.

No Assurance of Returns. There can be no assurance that Investors will receive distributions from the Fund. The timing of profit realization is typically long-term and highly uncertain.

Long-Term Investments; Absence of Liquidity and Public Markets. Although investments in emerging markets may occasionally generate some current income, the return of capital and the realization of gains, if any, from an investment generally will occur only upon the partial or complete disposition of such investment. While an investment may be sold at any time, it is not generally expected that a liquidity event will occur for a number of years after the investment is made. It is unlikely that there will be a public market for the securities at the time of their acquisition. The Fund generally will not be able to sell the securities of portfolio companies publicly unless their sale is registered under applicable securities laws, or unless an exemption from such registration requirements is available. In addition, in some cases, the Fund may be prohibited by contract or regulatory reasons from selling certain securities for a period of time.

Potential Liabilities. In connection with its investments, the Fund typically negotiates the right to appoint one of the principals of One Thousand & One Voices as a member of the portfolio company's board of directors. Such membership on the board of directors of a company can result in the clients or the individual director being named as a defendant in litigation. Although, portfolio companies may have insurance to protect directors and officers, this insurance may be inadequate.

Contingent Liabilities on Disposition of Investments. In connection with the disposition of an investment in a portfolio company, the Fund could be required to make representations about the business and financial affairs of such company typical of those made in connection with the sale of a business. The Fund may be required to indemnify the purchasers of such investment to the extent that any such representations are inaccurate or misleading. These arrangements may result in the incurrence of contingent liabilities for which One Thousand & One Voices could establish reserves and escrows. If this occurs, distributions would be delayed or withheld until such reserve is no longer needed or the escrow period expires.

General Economic and Financial Market Conditions. The success of the Fund's investment strategy could be significantly impacted by changing external economic conditions in global economies. In recent years, global financial markets experienced considerable fluctuations in the valuations of equity and debt securities and in some cases an acute contraction in the availability of credit. The United States and other countries have experienced significant declines in employment, household wealth and lending. Global credit markets continue to experience disruption and liquidity shortages. As a result, certain government bodies and central banks worldwide, including the U.S. Treasury Department and the U.S. Federal Reserve, have undertaken unprecedented intervention programs the effects of which remain uncertain, and may undertake additional interventions in the future. In particular, the cost and availability of funding available has been and may continue to be uncertain. Continued turbulence in the U.S. and international markets and economy may adversely affect the liquidity and financial condition of portfolio companies and may adversely affect the Fund. These economic conditions may continue or worsen in the future.

Interest rates, general levels of economic activity, the price of securities, the price of commodities, the rate of inflation and participation by other investors in the financial markets may affect the value and number of investments considered for clients. Changing economic conditions could potentially adversely impact the valuation of portfolio holdings and their ability to secure attractive exits.

Uncertainty of Financial Projections. The Fund generally will agree to the pricing of transactions and establish the capital structure of portfolio companies on the basis of financial projections for such portfolio companies. Projected operating results normally will be based primarily on management judgments. In all cases, projections are only estimates of future results that are based upon assumptions made at the time that the projections are developed. There can be no assurance that the projected results will be obtained, and actual results may vary significantly from the projections. General economic, political and market conditions, which are not predictable, can have a material adverse impact on the reliability of such projections.

No or Limited Availability of Insurance Against Certain Catastrophic Losses. Certain losses of a catastrophic nature, such as wars, earthquakes, typhoons, terrorist attacks or other similar events, may be either uninsurable or insurable at such high rates that to maintain such coverage would cause an adverse impact on the related investments. In general, losses related to terrorism are becoming harder and more expensive to insure against. Some insurers are excluding terrorism coverage from their all-risk policies. In some cases, the insurers are offering significantly limited coverage against terrorist acts for additional premiums, which can greatly increase the total cost of casualty insurance for a property. As a result, all investments may not be insured against terrorism. If a major uninsured loss occurs, clients could lose both invested capital in and anticipated profits from the affected investments.

Cybersecurity Risks. Recent events have illustrated the ongoing cybersecurity risks to which operating companies are subject, particularly operating companies in historically vulnerable industries. To the extent that a portfolio company is subject to cyber-attack or other unauthorized access is gained to a portfolio company's systems, such portfolio company may be subject to substantial losses in the form of stolen, lost or corrupted (i) customer data or payment information, (ii) customer or portfolio company financial information, (iii) portfolio company software, contact lists or other databases, (iv) portfolio company proprietary information or trade secrets, or (v) other items. In certain events, a portfolio company's failure or deemed failure to address and mitigate cybersecurity risks may be the subject of civil litigation or regulatory or other action. Any of such circumstances could subject a portfolio company, or the Fund, to substantial losses. In addition, in the event that such a cyber-attack or other unauthorized access is directed at One Thousand & One Voices or one of its service providers holding its financial or investor data, One Thousand & One Voices, its affiliates or the Fund may also be at risk of loss, despite any efforts to prevent and mitigate such risks under One Thousand & One Voices' policies.

Disease Outbreaks Risks. Disease outbreaks that affect local economies or the global economy may materially and adversely impact the Fund and its investments. For example, uncertainties regarding the novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak have resulted in serious economic disruptions. These types of outbreaks can be expected to cause severe decreases in core business activities such as manufacturing, purchasing, tourism, business conferences and workplace participation, among others. These disruptions lead to instability in the marketplace, including stock market losses and overall volatility, as has occurred in connection with COVID-19. In the face of such instability, governments may take extreme and unpredictable measures to combat the spread of disease and mitigate the resulting market disruptions and losses. The current market environment that has followed the emergence of COVID-19 may lead to a recession or depression in the United States or worldwide. This outcome is more likely to occur and be more severe if a weak economy is accompanied by significant changes in interest rates, stresses in the financial markets market or actual or potential changes in the legislative and regulatory environment. A recessionary economy may have an adverse effect on the Fund. In the event of a pandemic or an outbreak, there can be no assurance that One Thousand & One Voices and the Fund's service providers will be able to maintain normal business operations for an extended period of time or will not lose the services of key personnel on a temporary or long-term basis due to illness or other reasons. The full impacts of a pandemic or disease outbreak are unknown, resulting in a high degree of uncertainty for potentially extended periods of time.

Potential Conflicts of Interest

Various potential and actual conflicts of interest may arise from the overall investment activities of One Thousand & One Voices and its affiliates. The following briefly summarizes some of these conflicts, but is not intended to be an exclusive list of all such conflicts. Any references to One Thousand & One Voices and its affiliates in this section will be deemed to include its respective affiliates, partners, members, shareholders, officers, directors, managers and employees.

One Thousand & One Voices will undertake to manage client portfolio diligently in pursuit of the client's investment objective. When a conflict of interest arises, One Thousand & One Voices will endeavor to avoid or mitigate the conflict and seek to ensure that the conflict is resolved fairly.

Potential Conflicts of Interests Between Clients and Affiliates. In the event of a conflict of interest that is not otherwise addressed by the Limited Partnership Agreement, One Thousand & One Voices will be guided by its fiduciary responsibilities, compliance policies and procedures and good faith judgment as to the best interests of its clients.

Devotion of Time. While the officers and employees of One Thousand & One Voices or its affiliates will devote to the affairs of its clients such time as may be reasonably necessary to carry out their obligations, such officers and employees will also work on projects for their affiliates. Conflicts of interests may arise in allocating investment opportunities, management time, services and such functions among such affiliates.

Potential Conflicts Relating to Personal Securities Transactions of Management Personnel. Personal investment by investment professionals and other personnel of One Thousand & One Voices can present potential conflicts of interest for One Thousand & One Voices and its personnel. The directors, officers and employees of One Thousand & One Voices are permitted to buy and sell securities or other investments for their own accounts. As a result of differing investment strategies or constraints, or for other reasons, positions may be taken by One Thousand & One Voices personnel that are the same as, different from or made at different times than positions taken for clients. For the same reasons, directors, officers and employees of One Thousand & One Voices may invest in public or private companies, private equity funds, private venture capital funds, hedge funds, real estate funds, mutual funds and other investments. One Thousand & One Voices has established policies and procedures requiring certain approvals for investments in private companies and private funds by employees of One Thousand & One Voices and most personal securities transactions by One Thousand & One Voices personnel. However, the potential exists for personal securities transactions by One Thousand & One Voices personnel, including those which have been pre-cleared or approved in advance, to generate significantly higher investment returns to such personnel than any of the client's investment transactions generate for its own investors. Moreover, One Thousand & One Voices may determine that a company identified as a potential investment opportunity for clients is not suitable or appropriate for clients. The potential exists for One Thousand & One Voices personnel, other co-investors or competitors of One Thousand & One Voices to invest in such company and realize significantly higher investment returns than any of the client's investment transactions generate for its own investors.

Third-Party Relationships. Like other asset management firms, as part of One Thousand & One Voices' business, One Thousand & One Voices and its employees have developed many relationships with third parties, some of which could be viewed as significant, close, or personal, which have the potential to raise conflicts of interest. Such third parties include, but are not limited to, placement agents, investment bankers, consultants, private equity investors, co-investors, current and former directors, officers and employees of current and former portfolio companies, and former directors, officers and employees of One Thousand & One Voices. Certain of such third parties may: introduce investment opportunities to One Thousand & One Voices; arrange for, or facilitate financing in, the purchase or recapitalization of potential portfolio companies; introduce portfolio companies to potential acquisition or merger candidates; introduce One Thousand & One Voices to potential buyers of portfolio company securities; facilitate the disposition of portfolio company securities; provide investment banking, consulting or advisory services to One Thousand & One Voices or portfolio companies; perform investment banking services for issuers of private securities held by One Thousand & One Voices personnel or their friends and family members; introduce or recommend private investment opportunities to One Thousand & One Voices personnel or their friends and family members; or provide other significant business or investment services to One Thousand & One Voices personnel, and friends and family of One Thousand & One Voices personnel. One Thousand & One Voices has compliance policies and procedures designed to monitor and, as necessary, mediate such significant relationships, but no guarantee can be made that such policies will prevent actions, which are to the detriment of the Fund.

Material Non-Public Information. From time to time, One Thousand & One Voices, its affiliates and/or their members, officers and employees may come into possession of material non-public information concerning specific companies. Under applicable securities laws, this may limit One Thousand & One Voices' flexibility to buy or sell portfolio securities issued by such companies. Alternatively, One Thousand & One Voices and its affiliates may decline to receive material non-public information which it is entitled to receive on behalf of clients, in order to avoid investment restrictions for clients, even though access to such information might have been advantageous to clients and other market participants are in possession of such information.
