Item 4 Advisory Business

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions is a fee based only advisory firm that manages investment portfolios for individuals and organizations on a continuous basis. The firm's two principal owners are Geoffrey Lenk and John Ladner. The firm began servicing client's needs in June 1993. We primarily invest in stocks, bonds, mutual funds and exchange traded funds (ETF) to help achieve your investment objectives. Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions maintains a conservative investment philosophy with a long-term approach towards investing. Our strategy is to identify sound companies with good growth prospects. We seek growth at a reasonable price and typically purchase companies with increasing earnings that regularly increase dividends for solid results. However, companies that do not pay a dividend are not excluded. Our investment strategy seeks total return (appreciation and income) with minimal emphasis on short term trading.

In selecting investments for our clients, our judgment is based entirely on how we can best achieve a client's objectives. A wide variety of investment research sources are utilized to develop an independent opinion regarding our client's portfolio. While understanding each client's portfolio may be unique; we often maintain positions held by such clients for years. We stress tax efficiencies and seek long-term accumulation of wealth while achieving a growing income stream.

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions does not participate in any wrap fee programs nor do we have any soft dollar broker-dealer agreements (the exchange of research for brokerage business at specific brokerage firms).

The firm currently manages $234,069,616 on a discretionary and non-discretionary basis. 307 accounts are managed on a discretionary basis totaling $196,213,909 and 43 accounts are managed on a non-discretionary basis totaling $37,855,707. This information was compiled on March 9, 2022.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions is a fee based only Advisory Firm. Our investment management fees are based upon the following tiered fee schedule:

Tier	Portfolio Value	Percent
First	$500,000	1.00%
Next	$500,000-$1,000,000	0.75%
Next	$1,000,000-$2,000,000	0.60%
Next	$2,000,000-$4,000,000	0.50%
Next	$4,000,000 and above	0.40%

Management consultation fees are $175.00 per hour and Administrative fees are $85.00 per hour with a two-hour minimum for individuals that are not clients.

All fees are negotiable.

Fees are generally invoiced in arrears on a quarterly basis, but not necessarily a calendar quarter, unless otherwise agreed upon. The calculation is determined by the custodian's month end valuations as indicated on the client's statement(s). The fee may be pro-rated for the quarter in which the account is opened or terminated.

While Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions charges a management fee for services rendered, it should be noted that clients do pay additional fees to the custodian. These types of fees may include (but are not limited to) commissions or transaction fees on security trades, services such as a wire transfer of funds or incoming transfer of assets. Clients holding mutual funds will incur fees charged by the Investment Companies. These operating expenses or expense ratios vary from fund to fund and are disclosed in a mutual fund's prospectus. Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions does not receive any portion of these commissions or fees, which are customary fees of a custodian (broker-dealer) where client assets are held. Our firm does take these additional costs into consideration in recommending securities as part of the investment selection process and we try to minimize them as much as possible. Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions does not assess a termination fee.

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions does not accept compensation for the sale of investment products, such as asset-based sales charge or loaded sale charges of mutual funds.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions does not offer a performance-based fee structure (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7 Types of Clients

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions will provide investment advice to individuals, high net worth individuals, individual retirement accounts, trusts, estates and charitable organizations. We suggest a minimum account size of $500,000 for taxable investment accounts and accompanying retirement accounts have no minimum restrictions. Exceptions may be made to these stated minimums at the discretion of the investment advisor.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

In selecting investments for our clients, our judgment is based entirely on how we can best achieve a client's objectives. We utilize multiple sources for our investment research to develop an independent opinion regarding your portfolio. We understand each client's portfolio is unique and will often maintain positions held by clients for years. We stress tax efficiencies when we can and seek long term accumulation of wealth while achieving a growing income stream. However, there may be less emphasis on the income stream in growth oriented portfolios.

We use a wide variety of investment research, which includes newspapers, periodicals, magazines, subscription research and online services, (to name a few). Our client portfolios consist of numerous securities and we explain to the client that investing in securities involves different types of risk. The client should understand the risk of loss is possible in investing in any security while the degree of risk varies considerably in securities. In selecting investments for each client, his/her risk profile is a primary consideration.

Each portfolio manager uses his or her discretion as to when to buy or sell securities for clients. This 'discretion' may vary from client to client depending upon the nature of the relationship. Each manager may or may not be purchasing the same securities at the same time for clients. The relationship each manager has with their clients is unique and the timing of transactions is not necessarily similar, nor are the positions held by each manager for his or her clients always the same. It may be at the discretion of the client to impose any restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities or conversely recommend the manager to purchase or sell may be at odds with the manager's opinion.

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions adheres to an Investment Policy that stipulates a number of elements that may be considered to maintain proper diversification and diminish risk. The Policy also sets guidelines for the purchase of stocks and bonds. One such element is the use of investment grade bonds (by a nationally recognized rating agency such as S & P or Moody's).

Several different but common types of risks are associated with investing are described as follows;

Interest rate risk is the potential for loss (or gain) from the fluctuation of interest rates relative to the bond a person may be holding. There is an inverse relationship between interest rates and bond prices. Therefore, a rise in interest rates will negatively affect the value of existing bonds (prices will go down) the degree of price fluctuation is amplified by the length of maturity. The longer the bond maturity the greater the price fluctuation will be.

Credit risk is the potential loss of principal stemming from a borrower's failure to repay a loan or debt offering (a contractual obligation). Credit risk arises whenever a borrower is expecting to use future cash flows to pay a current debt. Credit risk affects the potential return of an investment. The yields on bonds correlate strongly to their perceived credit risk.

Market risk pertains to the daily price fluctuation of securities. Prices may vary as a result of political, economic, global, catastrophic, industry or company related news. Market risk also known as systematic risk cannot be diversified away.

Currency risk is a form of risk that arises from the change in price of one currency compared to another. Whenever investors or companies have assets or business operations across national borders, they face currency risk. Companies are able to address such risk by hedging their positions against currency changes.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to the evaluation of Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions or the integrity of Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions management.

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions is not, nor has been, subject to any disciplinary actions.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

No employee of Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions is registered, or has an application pending to register, as a broker-dealer or a registered representative of a broker-dealer.

No employee of Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions is registered, or has an application pending to register, as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, a commodity-trading advisor, or an associated person of the foregoing entities.

Neither Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions nor its employees have any relationship or arrangement that is material to our advisory business or to our clients with any third party that is a related person. Examples of third party may be a broker dealer, accountant, lawyer, insurance person, real estate broker, pension consultant or financial planner.

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions only receives compensation directly from client fees. We do not receive any outside compensation from the sale or recommendation of products or referral of services. We do not have any conflicts of interest with any outside party.

Item 11 Code of Ethics

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumormongering, acceptance of gifts, personal securities trading procedures among other things. All supervised persons at Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended. Clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions at 508-428-1645.

Employee or related person trading may be executed simultaneously with client trades as a block trade. This assures the same price is for all parties. In the event of single transaction trades, a client's order will always be fulfilled first, and an employee or related person may transact the same security after the client's order is filled. The potential conflict may be a price differential, but our policy is to fulfill the client's order first. With widely held security positions an employee or related person may sell their position at anytime. Factors that may influence these decisions may be, the holding period (long term or short term), taxability (taxable account or non-taxable account), tax efficiency (year-end balancing) or individual needs. However, our general policy is to transact block trades of employees and related persons with client accounts simultaneously.

LLIS has a strong reputation for integrity, honesty, and professionalism. This Code of Ethics is a statement of the firm, its partners and employees commitment to this reputation. Any failure to comply with The Code may result in disciplinary action, including but not limited to, a warning, suspension, demotion, or termination of employment. In addition to sanctions, violations may result in referral to civil or criminal authorities where appropriate.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions requires client assets to be held in an account by a "qualified custodian", generally a broker dealer or bank. Since inception of the firm in 1993 we have suggested our clients use Charles Schwab & Co., Inc (Schwab). They are a global, well recognized, and respected discount brokerage firm that provides a broad range of services to the Independent Investment Advisor community. Schwab is a registered broker-dealer, member SIPC and is a qualified custodian. Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions is independently owned and operated and is not affiliated with Schwab. Schwab will hold assets in a brokerage account, in the client's name, and the client authorizes Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions to handle transactions and receive account information via limited power of attorney (LPOA) fully disclosed in writing, as part of the application process. While we recommend using Schwab as custodian it is not required. Clients may choose other custodians for their assets, but they must realize they may incur higher transaction fees, impaired security transaction execution or other charges beyond Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions' control.

In selecting Schwab as a custodian, Lenk Ladner evaluated a wide range of factors including: custody services, trade execution (price execution efficiency), trade settlement (settle buy and sell orders efficiently), ability to facilitate transfers of securities to and from accounts to other broker dealer firms. We evaluated their ability to custody a wide variety of asset classes (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, REITs etc.), competitive pricing of services (commissions rates, bond pricing, their ability to negotiate fees and other fees) as well as a high quality of customer service. Schwab has a very good reputation in the industry for its financial strength and proven commitment of financial and capital resources to technology and a secure web based Investment Advisor platform.

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions does not participate in any wrap fee programs nor do we have any soft dollar broker-dealer agreements (the exchange of research for brokerage business at specific brokerage firms).

Schwab does not charge clients separately for custody services but is compensated by commissions on trades and service fees related to Schwab managed money market funds.

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions may aggregate the purchase or sale of securities (block trade) for client accounts, which can result in better price execution for clients. Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions will always put the client's needs first in executing trades. Clients who require prior approval on any transaction or have directed brokerage to another custodian may not always receive the same execution as other clients.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions review client accounts on a regular and ongoing basis but at least on a quarterly basis during statement reviews and more formally during client meetings as necessary. The portfolio managers (firm principals) review their own accounts and factors that trigger a more frequent look may include the reviewing cash balances, bond maturities and stock positions that are under consideration for purchase or sale in portfolios. The review of accounts is an ongoing process.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions or our employees do not accept sales awards or other prizes from any third party for providing investment advice or other advisory services to our clients, nor do we receive or provide any referral fees for the recommendation of clients or prospective clients.

Item 15 Custody

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions does not maintain custody of client funds. Clients receive statements, at least quarterly from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions usually receives discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship. This gives the advisor the authority to make decisions and implement trades for the client. Each relationship is unique and may involve various degrees of communication as we select securities to be bought or sold. In all cases, however, such discretion is exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client. A non-discretionary relationship is when the client maintains more control of securities to be traded and when trades are done in their portfolio. The advisor will execute trades but with the client's approval.

When selecting securities and determining amounts, Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions observes its investment policy as well as any limitations and restrictions of the clients for whom it advises. Specific purchases dictated by a client, or that are initiated online by the client, that may be deemed outside of their objectives or are not recommended by the account manager are considered unsolicited transactions.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

It is our policy at Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions not to vote proxies on behalf of our advisory clients. Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions may provide advice on the proxy at the request of the client, but it is the clients' responsibility to maintain and vote their proxies.

Item 18 Financial Information

Lenk Ladner Investment Solutions has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

Additional Information and Professional Designations

CFP® Certification Explanation Statement

The CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™, CFP® and federally registered CFP (with flame design) marks (collectively, the "CFP® marks") are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. ("CFP Board").

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 71,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must currently satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a Bachelor’s Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination, administered in 6 hours, includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board’s enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.
