Item 4 – Services Fees and Compensation

A. Services

Perigon Wealth Management, LLC (“Perigon” or the “Advisor”) provides customized investment advisory services for its Clients. This Wrap Fee Program Brochure is provided as a supplement to the Perigon Disclosure Brochure (Form ADV 2A). This Wrap Fee Program Brochure is provided along with the complete Disclosure Brochure to provide full details of the business practices and fees when selecting Perigon as your investment advisor.

As part of the investment advisory fees noted in Item 5 of the Disclosure Brochure, Perigon includes securities transaction fees, securities transaction fees for certain mutual funds, custody fees, commission fees, redemption fees, trade away fees, and other fees and expenses (herein “Covered Costs”) as part of the overall investment advisory fee. Securities regulations often refer to this combined fee structure as a “Wrap Fee Program.” The Advisor’s recommended Custodian does not charge securities transaction fees for exchange-traded equities (“ETFs”) and equity trades in Client accounts but typically charges for mutual funds and other types of investments. The Advisor sponsors the Perigon Wrap Fee Program.

The primary purpose of this Wrap Fee Program Brochure is to provide additional disclosure relating to the combination of Covered Costs into a single “bundled” investment advisory fee. This Wrap Fee Program Brochure references back to the Perigon Disclosure Brochure in which this Wrap Fee Program Brochure serves as an Appendix. Please see Item 4 – Advisory Services of the Disclosure Brochure for details on Perigon’s investment philosophy and related services.

B. Program Costs

Advisory services provided by Perigon are offered in a wrap fee structure whereby Covered Costs are included in the overall investment advisory fee paid to Perigon. As the level of activity in a Client’s account[s] may vary from year to year, the annual cost to the Client may be more or less than engaging for advisory services where the Covered Costs are borne separately by the Client. The cost of the Wrap Fee Program varies depending on services to be provided to each Client; however, the Client is not charged more if there is higher trading activity or other Covered Costs. A Wrap Fee structure presents a conflict of interest as the Advisor is incentivized to limit the number of trades placed in the Client’s account[s] or to utilize securities that do not have transaction fees. As noted above, the Advisor’s recommended Custodian does not charge securities transaction fees for ETF and equity trades in Client accounts but typically charges for mutual funds and other types of investments. As such, the Advisor is incentivized to utilize ETFs and other equity securities to limit the overall cost to the Advisor. The Advisor will only place Client assets into a Wrap Fee Program when it is believed to be in the Client’s best interest. Please see Item 5 – Fees and Compensation of the Disclosure Brochure for complete details on fees.

C. Fees

Wealth Management Services

Wealth management fees are paid quarterly in advance of each calendar quarter pursuant to the terms of the wealth management agreement. Wealth management fees are based on the market value of assets under management at the end of the prior calendar quarter. Wealth management fees range from 0.20% to 2.00% annually, and the Advisor has multiple tiered fee schedules that fall within the range of fees. Wealth management fees are based on several factors, including the complexity of the services to be provided, the level of assets to be managed, and the overall relationship with the Advisor. Relationships with multiple objectives, specific reporting requirements, portfolio restrictions, and other complexities may be charged a higher fee.

The wealth management fee in the first quarter of service is prorated from the inception date of the account[s] to the end of the first quarter. Fees may be negotiable at the sole discretion of the Advisor. The Client’s fees will take into consideration the aggregate assets under management with the Advisor. All securities held in accounts managed by Perigon will be independently valued by the Custodian. Perigon will conduct periodic reviews of the Custodian’s valuations.

Clients may make additions to and withdrawals from their account[s] at any time, subject to Perigon’s right to terminate an account or the overall relationship. Additions may be in cash or securities provided that Perigon reserves the right to liquidate any transferred securities or decline to accept particular securities into a Client’s account[s]. Clients may withdraw account assets on notice to Perigon, subject to the usual and customary securities settlement procedures. However, Perigon designs its portfolios as long-term investments, and the withdrawal of assets may impair the achievement of a Client's investment objectives. Perigon may consult with the Client about certain implications of such transactions. Clients are advised that when such securities are liquidated, they may be subject to transaction fees, short-term redemption fees, fees assessed at the mutual fund level (i.e., contingent deferred sales charge), and/or tax ramifications. If assets in excess of $500,000 are deposited into or withdrawn from the Client's account[s], The Advisor's fee will be adjusted the next billing period to reflect the fee difference. The Advisor may negotiate a fee that differs from the schedule above for certain account[s] or holdings.

For Client account[s] implemented through an unaffiliated investment manager or investment platform (collectively "Independent Manager"), the Client's overall fees may include Perigon's investment advisory fee (as noted above) plus advisory fees and/or platform fees charged by the Independent Manager[s], as applicable. The Independent Manager may assume responsibility for calculating the Client's fees and deducting all fees from the Client's account[s]. In such instances, Perigon will not charge its fee separately on those assets.

As noted above, the Wrap Fee Program includes Covered Costs incurred in connection with the discretionary investment management services provided by Perigon as part of its overall investment advisory fee.

Clients may incur certain fees or charges imposed by third parties in connection with investments made on behalf of the Client's account[s]. Under this Wrap Fee Program, Perigon includes securities transactions costs as part of its overall investment advisory fee.

As mentioned in Item 4.B. in Form ADV 2A – Disclosure Brochure (included with this Wrap Fee Program Brochure), the Client may be invested into share classes of a mutual fund that have a higher expense ratio than a different share class, including but not limited to 12b-1 fees. This may result in Clients paying higher expense ratio[s]. For a complete discussion of expenses related to each mutual fund, please read a copy of the prospectus issued by that particular fund.

In addition, all fees paid to Perigon for investment advisory services or part of the Wrap Fee Program are separate and distinct from the expenses charged by mutual funds and exchange-traded funds to their shareholders, if applicable. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees and expenses will generally be used to pay management fees for the funds, other fund expenses, account administration (e.g., custody, brokerage, and account reporting), and a possible distribution fee. Securities transaction fees for Client-directed trades will be charged back to the Client. In connection with the discretionary investment management services provided by Perigon, the Client will incur other costs assessed by the Custodian or other third parties, other than the Covered Costs noted above, such as wire transfer fees, fees for trades executed away from the Custodian, and other fees. The Advisor does not control nor share in these fees. The Client should review both the fees charged by the fund[s] and the fees charged by Perigon to fully understand the total fees to be paid. Please see Item 5.C. – Other Fees and Expenses in the Disclosure Brochure (included with this Wrap Fee Program Brochure).

D. Compensation

Perigon is the sponsor and portfolio manager of this Wrap Fee Program. Perigon receives investment advisory fees paid by Clients for participating in the Wrap Fee Program and pays the Covered Costs associated with the management of the Client's account[s].

Item 5 – Account Requirements and Types of Clients

Perigon offers investment advisory services to individuals, high net worth individuals, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, businesses. Perigon generally does not impose a minimum account size for establishing a relationship. Please see Item 7 – Types of Clients in the Disclosure Brochure for additional information.

Item 6 – Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

Portfolio Manager Selection

Perigon serves as sponsor and as portfolio manager for the services under this Wrap Fee Program. The Advisor also serves as the sponsor in conjunction with Independent Managers for the Wrap Fee Program.

The Advisor may also recommend that a Client utilize an Independent Manager for all or a portion of a Client's investment portfolio. The Advisor will assist in the development of the initial policy recommendations and managing the ongoing Client relationship. The Advisor will also perform initial and ongoing oversight and due diligence over the selected Independent Managers to ensure the Independent Managers' strategies and target allocations remain alight with its Clients' investment objectives and overall best interests.

Related Persons

Perigon personnel serve as portfolio managers for this Wrap Fee Program. Perigon does not serve as a portfolio manager for any third-party Wrap Fee Programs.

Performance-Based Fees

Perigon does not charge performance-based fees for its investment advisory services. The fees charged by Perigon are as described in Item 5 – Fees and Compensation of the Disclosure Brochure and are not based upon the capital appreciation of the funds or securities held by any Client. Perigon does not manage any proprietary investment funds or limited partnerships (for example, a mutual fund or a hedge fund) and has no financial incentive to recommend any particular investment options to its Clients.

Supervised Persons

Perigon Advisory Persons serve as portfolio managers for all accounts, including the services described in this Wrap Fee Program Brochure. Details of the advisory services provided are included in Item 4.A. of the Disclosure Brochure.

Methods of Analysis

Please see Item 8 of the Disclosure Brochure (included with this Wrap Fee Program Brochure) for details on the research and analysis methods employed by the Advisor.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves certain investment risks. Securities may fluctuate in value or lose value. Clients should be prepared to bear the potential risk of loss. Perigon will assist Clients in determining an appropriate strategy based on their tolerance for risk and other factors noted above. However, there is no guarantee that a Client will meet their investment goals.

While the methods of analysis help the Advisor in evaluating a potential investment, it does not guarantee that the investment will increase in value. Assets meeting the investment criteria utilized in these methods of analysis may lose value and may have negative investment performance. The Advisor monitors these economic indicators to determine if adjustments to strategic allocations are appropriate. More details on the Advisor's review process are included below in Item 13 – Review of Accounts.

Each Client engagement will entail a review of the Client's investment goals, financial situation, time horizon, tolerance for risk, and other factors to develop an appropriate strategy for managing a Client's account. Client participation in this process, including full and accurate disclosure of requested information, is essential for the analysis of a Client's account[s]. The Advisor shall rely on the financial and other information provided by the Client or their designees without the duty or obligation to validate the accuracy and completeness of the provided information. It is the responsibility of the Client to inform the Advisor of any changes in financial condition, goals, or other factors that may affect this analysis.

The risks associated with a particular strategy are provided to each Client in advance of investing Client accounts. The Advisor will work with each Client to determine their tolerance for risk as part of the portfolio construction process. Following are some of the risks associated with certain components of the Advisor's strategies.

Market Risks

The value of a Client's holdings may fluctuate in response to events specific to companies or markets, as well as economic, political, or social events in the U.S. and abroad. This risk is linked to the performance of the overall financial markets.

ETF Risks

The performance of ETFs is subject to market risk, including the possible loss of principal. The price of the ETFs will fluctuate with the price of the underlying securities that make up the funds. In addition, ETFs have a trading risk based on the loss of cost efficiency if the ETFs are traded actively and a liquidity risk if the ETFs have a large bid-ask spread and low trading volume. The price of an ETF fluctuates based upon the market movements and may dissociate from the index being tracked by the ETF or the price of the underlying investments. An ETF purchased or sold at one point in the day may have a different price than the same ETF purchased or sold a short time later.

Bond ETFs

Bond ETFs are subject to specific risks, including the following: (1) interest rate risks, i.e., the risk that bond prices will fall if interest rates rise, and vice versa, the risk depends on two things, the bond's time to maturity, and the coupon rate of the bond. (2) reinvestment risk, i.e., the risk that any profit gained must be reinvested at a lower rate than was previously being earned, (3) inflation risk, i.e., the risk that the cost of living and inflation increase at a rate that exceeds the income investment thereby decreasing the investor's rate of return, (4) credit default risk, i.e., the risk associated with purchasing a debt instrument which includes the possibility of the company defaulting on its repayment obligation, (5) rating downgrades, i.e., the risk associated with a rating agency's downgrade of the company's rating which impacts the investor's confidence in the company's ability to repay its debt and (6) Liquidity Risks, i.e., the risk that a bond may not be sold as quickly as there is no readily available market for the bond.

Mutual Fund Risks

The performance of mutual funds is subject to market risk, including the possible loss of principal. The price of the mutual funds will fluctuate with the value of the underlying securities that make up the funds. The price of a mutual fund is typically set daily; therefore, a mutual fund purchased at one point in the day will typically have the same price as a mutual fund purchased later that same day.

Options Contracts

Investments in options contracts have the risk of losing value in a relatively short period of time. Options contracts are leveraged instruments that allow the holder of a single contract to control many shares of an underlying stock. This leverage can compound gains or losses.

Margin Borrowings

The use of short-term margin borrowings may result in certain additional risks to a Client. For example, if securities pledged to brokers to secure a Client's margin accounts decline in value, the Client could be subject to a "margin call" pursuant to which it must either deposit additional funds with the broker or be the subject of mandatory liquidation of the pledged securities to compensate for the decline in value.

Quantitative/Algorithmic Investing

The Advisor's investment recommendations are based on proprietary algorithms. The risks associated with this type of investing are as follows:

- Quantitative Risk: The risk that the effectiveness of the quantitative strategy can dissipate over time as similar strategies are adopted and as the market becomes more efficiently priced.
- Input Data Risk: The risk that the information and data supplied to the algorithm is subject to input and quality errors. The Advisor's strategies depend on the accuracy and reliability of the data, and the strategies may not function properly if the data proves to be incorrect or incomplete or is input incorrectly.
- Programming Risk: The Advisor's research and strategy development process is extremely complex, and the results of that process must then be translated into computer code. Although the Advisor seeks to hire individuals skilled in each of these functions and to provide appropriate levels of oversight, the complexity of the individual tasks, the difficulty of integrating such tasks, and the limited ability to perform “real world” testing of the end product raises the chances that the finished algorithm may contain an error; one or more of such errors could adversely affect a Client’s portfolio.

- System Risk: The Advisor relies extensively on computer programs and systems in its proprietary algorithms to evaluate securities, monitor its portfolio, and generate reports that are critical to the oversight of its activities. In addition, certain systems are operated by third-party service providers. The Advisor may not always be in the best position to verify the risks or reliability of such third-party systems. These programs or systems, whether operated by a third party or not, may be subject to certain defects, failures or interruptions, including but not limited to those caused by computer “worms,” viruses, and power failures. Any such defect or failure could have a material adverse effect on the Advisor’s activities. For example, such failures could cause the settlement of trades to fail, lead to inaccurate accounting, recording or processing of trades, and cause inaccurate reports, which may affect the Advisor’s ability to monitor its investment portfolios and its risks.
- Operational Risk: The Advisor has developed systems and procedures to control operational risk. Operational risks arising from mistakes made in the trading confirmation or settlement of transactions, from transactions not being properly booked, evaluated, or accounted for, or other similar disruption in The Advisor’s operations may cause the Advisor to suffer financial loss; the disruption of its business; liability to Clients or third parties; regulatory intervention; or reputational damage. The Advisor relies heavily on its financial, accounting, and other data processing systems.

Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns. Investing in securities and other investments involve a risk of loss that each Client should understand and be willing to bear. Clients are reminded to discuss these risks with the Advisor.

Proxy Voting

Perigon accepts proxy-voting responsibility for securities held in Client accounts when provided by the Client. The advisory agreement between Perigon and the Client will generally specify whether or not Perigon has the authority to vote proxies on behalf of a particular Client.

Proxy Voting Policy and Procedures

Perigon shall vote proxies in the best interest of its Clients and shall not subrogate the Client’s interest to its own. Perigon monitors corporate actions through the Custodian. Perigon receives notice of upcoming proxy votes, meeting and record dates, and other information on upcoming corporate actions by companies in which Perigon Clients are shareholders. Clients may request a copy of Perigon’s proxy voting records, free of charge, by contacting Perigon.

Conflicts of Interest in the Voting Process

On occasion, a conflict of interest may exist between the Advisor and the client regarding the outcome of certain proxy votes. In such cases, the Advisor is committed to resolving the conflict in the best interest of the Clients before voting the proxy in question.

Client Direction of Voting

Although most of Perigon’s Clients for whom the Advisor votes proxies authorize Perigon to vote in accordance with its proxy voting policy, a Client may request that the Advisor votes its proxies in accordance with a different policy. The Advisor will try to accommodate such requests. In addition, a Client may direct Perigon to vote its securities in a particular way on a particular proposal, and the Advisor will seek to do so, assuming timely receipt of the instruction.

Item 7 – Client Information Provided to Portfolio Managers

Clients participating in the Wrap Fee Program generally grant Perigon the authority to discuss certain non-public information with the Independent Managers engaged in managing their accounts. Depending upon the specific arrangement, the Advisor is authorized to disclose various personal information including, without limitation: names, phone numbers, addresses, social security numbers, driver’s license, tax identification numbers, and account numbers. Perigon may also share certain information related to its Clients’ financial positions and investment objectives in an effort to ensure that the Independent Managers’ investment decisions remain aligned with its Clients’ best interests. This information is communicated on an initial and ongoing basis or as otherwise necessary to the management of its Clients’ portfolios.

Item 8 – Client Contact with Portfolio Managers

Perigon is a full-service investment management advisory firm. Clients always have direct access to the Portfolio Managers at Perigon.

Item 9 – Additional Information

Investments in Client accounts are monitored on a regular and continuous basis by Advisory Persons of Perigon under the supervision of the Chief Compliance Officer ("CCO"). Details of the review policies and practices are provided in Item 13 of the Form ADV Part 2A – Disclosure Brochure.

Other Compensation

Participation in Institutional Advisor Platform (Schwab)

Perigon has established an institutional relationship with Schwab through its "Schwab Advisor Services" unit, a division of Schwab dedicated to serving independent advisory firms like Perigon. As a registered investment advisor participating on the Schwab Advisor Services platform, Perigon receives access to software and related support without cost because the Advisor renders investment management services to Clients that maintain assets at Schwab. Services provided by Schwab Advisor Services benefit the Advisor and many, but not all services provided by Schwab will benefit Clients. In fulfilling its duties to its Clients, the Advisor endeavors at all times to put the interests of its Clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits from a custodian creates a conflict of interest since these benefits may influence the Advisor's recommendation of this Custodian over one that does not furnish similar software, systems support, or services.

Services that Benefit the Client – Schwab's institutional brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of the Client's funds and securities. Through Schwab, the Advisor may be able to access certain investments and asset classes that the Client would not be able to obtain directly or through other sources. Further, the Advisor may be able to invest in certain mutual funds and other investments without having to adhere to investment minimums that might be required if the Client were to directly access the investments.

Services that May Indirectly Benefit the Client – Schwab provides participating advisors with access to technology, research, discounts, and other services. In addition, the Advisor receives duplicate statements for Client accounts the ability to deduct advisory fees, trading tools, and back-office support services as part of its relationship with Schwab. These services are intended to assist the Advisor in effectively managing accounts for its Clients but may not directly benefit all Clients.

Services that May Only Benefit the Advisor – Schwab also offers other services to Perigon that may not benefit the Client, including educational conferences and events, financial start-up support, consulting services, and discounts for various service providers. Access to these services creates a financial incentive for the Advisor to recommend Schwab, which results in a conflict of interest. Perigon believes, however, that the selection of Schwab as Custodian is in the best interests of its Clients. In addition, Schwab has provided the Advisor with financial support in the transition of new investment advisory representatives and reimbursements for various third-party service providers.

Participation in Institutional Advisor Platform (TD Ameritrade)

As disclosed under Item 12 of Form ADV 2A – Disclosure Brochure (included with this Wrap Fee Program Brochure), the Advisor participates in TD Ameritrade's institutional customer program, and the Advisor may recommend TD Ameritrade to Clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between the Advisor's participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its Clients, although the Advisor receives economic benefits through its participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors. These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate Client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving the Advisor participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to Client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from Client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for Client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to the Advisor by third-party vendors. TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by the Advisor's related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit the Advisor but may not benefit its Client accounts. These products or services may assist the Advisor in managing and administering Client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help the Advisor manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by the Advisor or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to Clients, the Advisor endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by the Advisor or its related persons in and of itself creates a conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the Advisor's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

Participation in Institutional Advisor Platform (Fidelity)

Perigon has established an institutional relationship with Fidelity Clearing and Custody Solutions and related divisions and entities of Fidelity Investments, Inc., including National Financial Services, LLC and Fidelity Brokerage Services, LLC (collectively "Fidelity"), a FINRA-registered broker-dealer and member SIPC. Fidelity will serve as the Client's "qualified custodian." Perigon maintains an institutional relationship with Fidelity, whereby the Advisor receives economic benefits from Fidelity.

Perigon has established an institutional relationship with Fidelity to assist the Advisor in managing Client account[s]. Access to the Fidelity platform is provided at no charge to the Advisor. The Fidelity platform includes brokerage, custody, administrative support, record keeping, technology, and related services designed to support registered investment advisors like Perigon in serving Clients. These services are intended to serve the best interests of the Advisor's Clients.

As part of the arrangement, Fidelity also makes available to the Advisor, at no additional charge to the Advisor, certain research and brokerage services, including research services obtained by Fidelity directly from independent research companies. The Advisor may also receive additional services and support from Fidelity. As a result of receiving such services for no additional cost, the Advisor may have an incentive to continue to use or expand the use of Fidelity's services. The Advisor examined this potential conflict of interest when it chose to enter into the relationship with Fidelity and has determined that the relationship is in the best interests of the Advisor's Clients and satisfies its Client obligations, including its duty to seek best execution. Please see Item 12 of Form ADV 2A – Disclosure Brochure (included as with this Wrap Fee Program Brochure).

The Advisor receives access to software and related support without cost because the Advisor renders investment management services to Clients that maintain assets at Fidelity. The software and related systems support may benefit the Advisor, but not its Clients directly. In fulfilling its duties to its Clients, the Advisor endeavors at all times to put the interests of its Clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits from a Custodian creates a conflict of interest since these benefits may influence the Advisor's recommendation of this Custodian over one that does not furnish similar software, systems support, or services.

Client Referrals from Solicitors

Perigon may engage and compensate unaffiliated third-party referral sources (each a “Solicitor”) for Client referrals. Clients will not pay a higher fee to Perigon as a result of such payments to a Solicitor. The Advisor shall enter into an agreement with the Solicitor, which requires that full disclosure of the compensation and other conflicts is provided to the prospective client prior to or at the time of entering into the advisory agreement.

Financial Information

Neither Perigon nor its management has any adverse financial situations that would reasonably impair the ability of Perigon to meet all obligations to its Clients. Neither Perigon nor any of its Advisory Persons have been subject to a bankruptcy or financial compromise. Perigon is not required to deliver a balance sheet along with this Disclosure Brochure as the Advisor does not collect advance fees of $1,200 or more for services to be performed six months or more in the future.
