DPL is a third-party provider of a platform of insurance consultancy services to SEC-registered investment advisers (“RIAs”) that have clients with a current or future need for insurance products. DPL offers RIAs memberships to its platform for a fixed annual fee and, through its licensed insurance agents who are also registered representatives of The Leaders Group, Inc. (“The Leaders Group”), an unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer and FINRA member, offers members a variety of services relating to fee-based insurance products. These services include, among others, providing members with analyses of their current methodology for evaluating client insurance needs, educating and acting as a resource to members regarding insurance products generally and specific insurance products owned by their clients or that their clients are considering purchasing, and providing members access to and product marketing support regarding fee-based products that insurers have agreed to offer to members’ clients through DPL’s platform. For providing platform services to RIAs, DPL receives service fees from the insurers that offer their fee-based products through the platform. These service fees are based on the insurance premiums received by the insurers. DPL is licensed as an insurance producer in Kentucky and other jurisdictions where required to perform the platform services. Its representatives are also licensed as insurance producers, appointed as insurance agents of the insurers offering their products through the platform, and registered representatives of The Leaders Group.

Tailored Relationships

At Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC, advisory services are tailored to the individual needs of the clients. The investment policy for each client is documented in our client relationship management system and in client files, either in hard copy or electronic files.

Clients can impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities. This must be done in writing and signed by the client and Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC.

Assets Under Management

As of December 31, 2021, Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC managed $348,813,355 in assets for 514 accounts or 165 client households. $309,345,865 is managed on a discretionary basis and $39,467,490 on a non-discretionary basis.

Fees and Compensation

Fee Schedule

Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC bases our fees on a percentage of Assets Under Management, a negotiated fixed fee or retainer depending on the client mandate and engagement. Fees may be negotiable on a case-by-case basis based on the aggregate size of the client relationship.

Our standard fee schedule is based on a percentage of assets under management as follows:

Assets	Annual Fee
<$10,000,000	1.00%
$10,000,001 -- $30,000,000	0.80%
$30,000,001 -- $50,000,000	0.60%
>$50,000,000	Negotiated

Fee Billing

Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC advisory fees are billed quarterly in advance based on the prior quarter end aggregate market value. For a 1.00% annual fee, a client will be charged 0.25% on the account market value as of March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31. Upon initial engagement, we use a prorated calculation from the contract date through the end of the quarter. Upon termination, a portion of a client's pre-paid management fee will be refunded to them. The refund is determined by the amount of days remaining in the billing period and what the daily management fee for the billing period was for the client. The refund will be credited back to the client's account or the client will be mailed a check. For clients with a margin balance on the billing date, Silverleaf will bill on the higher margin value as opposed to the net market value. This does create a conflict of interest as Silverleaf will earn a higher fee if the client is not encouraged to paydown or payoff the margin balance. In a Silverleaf managed portfolio, cash is considered as asset class and as a result it will be included in the fee calculation.

Our agreement can be terminated at any time by either party upon 30 day written notice to the other party. Fees will be prorated to date of termination. In the event of termination of this Agreement, we shall have no obligation whatsoever to recommend any action with respect to or to liquidate the assets in the Account(s). Our fees shall be due and payable in connection with its services provided hereunder prorated through the date of such termination. Upon written termination notice from the client, we will continue to manage client assets as engaged unless instructed otherwise.

Direct Debit of Fees

As provided in our client agreement and custodial agreements, Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC will provide the custodian instruction to direct debit client accounts on a quarterly basis in advance for fee billings and on an annual basis for performance fee billings.

Other Fees

In connection with our advisory services, clients will incur and are responsible for the fees and expenses charged by their custodians and imposed by broker-dealers. Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases and sales of securities. These transaction charges are typically small and are incidental to the purchase or sale of a security. However, our investment advice affects transactions that are performed at a broker-dealer or custodian, and the fees will be levied to clients. Please see Brokerage Practices for more information on our approach to clients' brokerage and custody options. In addition, we often use exchange traded funds in implementing our investment portfolios which have varying rates of expense ratios.

Performance-Based Fees

Performance-based fees are based on a percentage of the capital appreciation of the assets in a fund or account. Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC also offers certain “Qualified Clients” as defined in Rule 205-3 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, a flat .50% base asset management fee plus an additional performance fee of 10% of the annual cumulative net profit to the account. The performance fee is payable and billed once per year following the calendar year end and is only paid if the annual cumulative net profit exceeds the current “high water mark”. Contributions and withdrawals are excluded from the “high water mark” calculation. Because Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC manages accounts that are charged an asset-based fee and accounts that are charged a performance-based fee, there is an incentive for Silverleaf to favor accounts for which we receive a performance-based fee and/or to make investments that are riskier or more speculative than would be the case in the absence of such a compensation framework. Please refer to the Brokerage Practices section for additional information on how Silverleaf mitigates such presented conflicts by aggregating orders.

Types of Clients

Description

Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC provides portfolio management and investment advice to individuals, high net worth individuals, families, trusts, and estates. Our services would also benefit charitable organizations, non-profit organizations, foundations, corporations and retirement plans (included but not limited to pension and profit-sharing plans). Advice and service often extends to entities related to the client, such as businesses and charitable organizations. Client relationships will vary in scope and service.

Account Minimums

Client relationships must have a minimum aggregate value of $2,000,000 or $20,000 minimum annual fee to be accepted as advisory relationships. Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC reserves the sole discretion to make exceptions to minimum values.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

At Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC, we utilize fundamental analysis of macroeconomic trends (GDP, LEI, inflation, demographics, etc.) across 44 developed and emerging global economies to determine thematic investment options across various asset classes (global equity, real estate, commodities, fixed income, cash and currency). Our Investment Committee (IC) discusses these themes to determine where and how we want to deploy portfolio assets for participation. Further, we combine a macroeconomic indicator based on the Conference Board's Leading Economic Index with technical analysis, including moving averages, relative strength and Moving Average Convergence/Divergence (MACD) and volumes, to determine current directional trend and historical effectiveness of trend identification. We primarily use Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) and individual stocks for the implementation of the vast majority of our investment portfolios. If our internal signals show high odds of an economic recession and weak markets, Silverleaf client portfolios could potentially hold a large amount of cash.

In forming our investment opinion, we use a variety of information, research and data sources including Bloomberg, Standard & Poor's, MarketEdge, Dow Jones, Barron's, Argus, fund prospectuses, Decision Economics, Morningstar, Bank Credit Analyst, financial newspapers and magazines, other third party research, annual reports and SEC filings.

Investment Strategies

Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC utilizes defined investment portfolios based on our fundamental, macroeconomic research and technical overlay. Our defined investment portfolios scale in volatility, risk and opportunity from conservative to aggressive. Clients may invest assets in one or several portfolios to meet their stated objectives and risk profile. The composition of these portfolios will be diversified across global asset classes, issuers, currencies, opportunities, geopolitical risks and themes. We primarily use exchange traded funds and individual stocks as the investment vehicle of choice, where and when appropriate and available. Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC considers many factors in the due diligence process of security selection including market capitalization, liquidity - average daily volume, expense ratios, issuer reputation and strength as well as any counterparty risks with regard to ETFs. Fundamental analysis of individual stocks includes but is not limited to free cash flow, relative valuations, and dividend yield and policy. Although ETFs and individual stocks are the primary investment vehicles, we seek to find the best investment vehicle to capture our objective opportunity while maintaining liquidity for our portfolios, including the use of individual stock and ETF call and put options.

Risk of Loss

Although Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC makes every effort to preserve each client's capital and achieve real growth of wealth, investing in the stock markets involves risk of loss that each client should be prepared to bear.

Stock values fluctuate in response to the activities of individual companies and general market and economic conditions, domestically and abroad. Foreign investments typically involve greater risks than U.S. investments, including political and economic risks and the risk of currency fluctuations, all of which may be magnified in emerging markets. Although bonds generally present less short-term risk and volatility than stocks, bonds do contain interest rate risk (as interest rate rise, bond prices usually fall and vice versa) and the risk of default, or the risk that an issuer will be unable to make income or principal payments. Additionally, bonds and short-term investments entail greater inflation risk, or the risk that the return of an investment will not keep up with increases in the prices of goods and services, than stocks.

Exchange Traded Fund Risk: The Shares may trade above or below their NAV. The NAV of each ETF will generally fluctuate with changes in the market value of the ETF's holdings. The market prices of Shares, however, will generally fluctuate in accordance with changes in NAV as well as the relative supply of, and demand for, Shares on the Exchange. The trading price of Shares may deviate significantly from NAV during periods of market volatility. The Manager cannot predict whether Shares will trade below, at or above their NAV. Price differences may be due, in large part, to the fact that supply and demand forces at work in the secondary trading market for Shares will be closely related to, but not identical to, the same forces influencing the prices of the securities held by an ETF. However, given that Shares can be purchased and redeemed in Creation Units (unlike shares of closed-end funds, which frequently trade at appreciable discounts from, and sometimes at premiums to, their NAV), and the ETFs' portfolio holdings are disclosed on a daily basis, the Manager believes that large discounts or premiums to the NAV of Shares should not be sustained.

Foreign Investing Risk: Overseas investing carries potential risks not associated with domestic investments. Such risks include, but are not limited to: (1) currency exchange rate fluctuations, (2) social, political and financial instability, (3) less liquidity of foreign investments, (4) lack of uniform accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards, (5) less government regulation and supervision of foreign stock exchanges, brokers and listed companies, (6) increased price volatility, (7) delays in transaction settlement in some foreign markets, and (8) less availability of information for an investment sub-adviser to determine a company's financial condition.

Derivatives Risk: Derivatives are financial contracts whose value depend on, or are derived from, the value of underlying assets, such as a reference security, rate or index. Since the value of derivatives is calculated and derived from the value of other assets, instruments or references, there is a risk that they will be improperly valued. The ETF may use derivatives, such as futures contracts and foreign currency forward contracts, as a hedge against foreign currency fluctuations. If one of the investment sub-advisers incorrectly forecasts currency exchange rates in utilizing a derivatives strategy for an ETF, the ETF could lose money. For certain derivatives, it is possible to lose more than the amount invested in the derivative. There can be no assurance that any strategy used will succeed.

Derivatives also are subject to market risk, liquidity risk, and credit and counterparty risk. Counterparty risk is the risk that the counterparty on a derivative transaction will be unable to honor its financial obligations to the ETF. Derivatives also involve the risk that changes in their value may not correlate perfectly with the assets, rates, or indices they are designed to hedge or closely track. The ETFs' Statement of Additional Information contains a description of the various derivatives the ETF may utilize.

Trading Risk: Although the Shares will be listed on the Exchange, there can be no assurance that an active or liquid trading market for them will develop or be maintained. In addition, trading in Shares on the Exchange may be halted due to market conditions or for reasons that, in the view of the Exchange, make trading in Shares inadvisable. Further, trading in Shares on the Exchange is subject to trading halts caused by extraordinary market volatility pursuant to the Exchange "circuit breaker" rules. There can be no assurance that the requirements of the Exchange necessary to maintain the listing of the ETF will continue to be met or will remain unchanged.

Options Risk: Options are leveraged products that involve risk and are not suitable for all investors. Writing and purchasing call and put options are highly specialized activities and entail greater than ordinary investment risks. The successful use of options depends in part on the future price fluctuations and the degree of correlation between the options and the securities markets. The value of positions in options fluctuates in response to changes in the value of the underlying security. There is also risk losing all or part of the cash paid for purchasing call and put options. Assets covering written options cannot be sold while the option is outstanding, unless replaced with similar assets. As a result, there is a possibility that segregation of a large percentage of the assets could affect its portfolio management as well as the ability of to meet other current obligations. Unusual market conditions or lack of a ready market for any particular option at a specific time may reduce the effectiveness of the option strategies, and for these and other reasons option strategies may not reduce the volatility to the extent desired. A reduction in holdings of put options may result in an increased exposure to a market decline. Before committing capital to any options strategy, read the "Characteristics & Risks of Standardized Options" provided by the Options Industry Council to consider whether options are appropriate for your financial position and risk tolerance.

Brokerage Practices

Selecting Brokerage Firms

Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC does not have any affiliation with any brokerage firms. Specific custodian recommendations are made to clients based on their need for such services. Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC recommends custodians based on the proven integrity and financial responsibility of the firm, best execution of orders at reasonable commission rates, manual and electronic access trading algorithms, and the quality of client service. We generally recommend discount brokerage firms such as Fidelity Investments and Charles Schwab Company.

Directed Brokerage

Clients can request their accounts to be held at a custodian acceptable to Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC but not necessarily recommended by our firm. If clients direct brokerage, Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC will be unable to achieve most favorable execution in client transactions. Directing brokerage may cost clients more money for transactions, make them ineligible for block execution and average price allocation.

Best Execution

Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC reviews the execution of trades and the fees charged at custodians at least semiannually. We take into consideration, order aggregation, electronic or manual access to trading algorithms, access to specialists on trading desks, connectivity to our third party order management system, electronic data feeds and custodial reconciliation, trading costs, access to third party execution quality analysis, and overall custodial service for the trading process.

Soft Dollars

Silverleaf Capital Partners, LLC does not receive soft dollar benefits from custodians to whom we recommend clients or trade securities.

Order Aggregation

Our practice is to aggregate client orders whenever possible and when advantageous for the clients for the same securities traded on the same day and block trade them by custodian. Our order management system software efficiently executes this practice while allocating an average price upon full or partial execution of the securities pro-rata to each client account involved in the purchase or sale of the securities.

In the instance of a partial order fill, clients will receive a pro-rata allocation of the executed order.

Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

---
