As used in this brochure, the words "we", "our" and "us" refer to Yeomans Consulting Group, Inc. and the words "you", "your" and "client" refer to you as either a client or prospective client of our firm. Also, you may see the term Associated Person or Investment Adviser Representative throughout this brochure. As used in this brochure, our Associated Persons or Investment Adviser Representatives are our firm's officers, employees, and all individuals providing investment advice on behalf of our firm.

Investment Management Services

We offer discretionary and non-discretionary investment management services that are tailored to meet our clients' needs and investment objectives. Once you have retained our firm for investment management services, we will gather information about your financial situation and objectives, and assist you in determining your investment goals, objectives, risk tolerance, and retirement plan time horizon. We will initially provide you with recommendations as to how to allocate your investments among categories of assets and allocation programs offered through SagePoint Financial, Inc. ("SagePoint"). We will then monitor your account on an ongoing basis. Where appropriate, we may provide you with recommendations to change your investment management or allocation program in an effort to remain consistent with your stated financial objectives.

Direct Asset Allocation Services through SEI Advisor Program

The SEI Asset Management Program is a program where our Investment Adviser Representatives ("IARs") can make the SEI family of mutual funds available to our firm's client. SEI is not an investment adviser in this instance and does not have an investment adviser relationship with you. Although, SEI re-balances your portfolio to maintain the proper asset allocation to each asset class in the percentages you chose, SEI does not exercise discretion when providing these re-balancing services. SEI re-balances based on your written instructions.

Our firm charges an advisory fee. SEI charges an expense ratio to the funds. All expense ratios are disclosed in the prospectuses of the funds. SEI Trust Company, a subsidiary of SEI Investments Co., acts as the transfer agent and custodian for your account. Our advisory fee is debited from your account by SEI Trust Company on our behalf. SEI does not participate in our advisory fee. SEI Trust Company then forwards the fee to SagePoint as paying agent for our firm. SagePoint deducts its processing fee and forwards our advisory fee to us.

You will sign an advisory contract with our firm and account opening documentation with SEI. We provide you with our Form ADV Part 2A and SEI provides a prospectus for the mutual funds utilized in your fee-based account. As custodian, SEI Trust Company provides all reporting functions for your account, and supplies you with at least a quarterly statement. SEI does not act in the capacity of an investment adviser to you and therefore does not provide a solicitor's agreement, or their Form ADV Part 2. The fee schedule that our firm charges for our advisory services in connection with the SEI Asset Management Program is included in our ADV Part 2A and in the SEI Advisory Agreement.

Our firm's IARs also offer through SEI, the Mutual Fund Program ("SEI Funds") comprised exclusively of mutual funds and the Managed Account Program ("Managed Account Assets") comprised of individual securities to our clients. The SEI Funds and Managed Account Assets Programs are designed as follows:

1. We determine your risk profile and investment objectives. Your IAR determines your investment objectives, investment time horizon, and risk profile by means of an interview and the completion of a questionnaire.
2. We will establish an asset allocation policy for you and you choose one of many mutual fund asset allocation models. You may also purchase the individual mutual funds without choosing one of the asset allocation models.
3. The asset allocation models help you diversify among asset classes and styles. The investment managers of the underlying mutual funds are selected by SEI. SEI utilizes institutional investment management firms. The managers are monitored by SEI to ensure that their investment styles and performance remain consistent with the objectives of the mutual funds.
4. Your portfolio will be re-balanced. Re-balancing maintains the proper allocation to each asset class in the model. Re-balancing occurs automatically if the underlying mutual funds deviate from the prescribed quarterly allocation by greater than a 2% variance. For the tax-managed models, the variance is 3%. Re-balancing occurs monthly with no transaction fees.
5. SEI will have complete investment authority, with respect to the Managed Account Assets, in order to carry out the investment strategy chosen by your IAR on your behalf.
6. You will receive report results. SEI Trust Company (a subsidiary of SEI Investments Company) acts as the transfer agent and custodian for the investor's account. SEI Trust Company provides reporting services including consolidated monthly statements, quarterly performance reports, and year-end tax reports.

Market Value Breakpoints	Maximum Annual Advisory Fee
$0 - $500,000	2.00%
$500,001 - $1,000,000	1.75%
$1,000,001 - $2,000,000	1.50%
$2,000,001 - $3,000,000	1.25%
Over $3,000,001	1.00%

SEI Trust Company will debit your account on a quarterly basis for the above-mentioned fees and charges. The charges to the account will be on an arrears basis and will be remitted quarterly net of any applicable account and performance reporting charges not charged to you. Upon written notification, either your IAR or you may terminate the Agreement. Prorated fees will be charged based on market value of your account on the date notice is received.

You will receive statements from the SEI Trust Company indicating holdings. A quarterly report, indicating market value, cash flows, gains and losses, asset allocation, and performance as it relates to market indices, is also available if you select that option. Annually, you will receive a tax report for your account.

If you open a Tax Controlled Program Investment Account, SEI will remain as the investment adviser on the account, and your IAR on behalf of our firm will act in a solicitor capacity only and have you sign the appropriate documentation.

SEI Asset Allocation Program

We participate in The SEI Asset Allocation Program, which is offered to high net worth individuals, defined benefit plans, participant and non-participant directed defined contribution plans, institutions, endowments, and foundations.

With the SEI Asset Allocation Program, we serve as the investment adviser to the investor, and are responsible for analyzing the investor's current financial situation, return expectations, risk tolerance, time horizon, and asset class preference, pursuant to the Adviser's investment advisory agreement. Based upon the investor's information, our firm and the investor select an investment strategy and choose from one of many mutual fund asset allocation models, which may be provided by SEI Investments Management Corporation ("SIMC"), or purchase the individual mutual funds to include customized portfolios designed by our firm.

We will allocate the assets placed in the investor's account among the SEI Funds (a family of mutual funds advised by SIMC) in accordance with the investment strategy, goal or model selected by the investor or designed by our firm. The investor, through our firm, may adjust their asset allocation to help ensure that the mix reflects the objectives of the chosen strategy. The investor may, at any time, impose reasonable restrictions on the management of his/her account or choose a new investment strategy.

PC Models: In accordance with the investor's investment objectives, we may also allocate assets placed in the investor's account among the SEI Funds through SEI's Private Client Models, which reflect SIMC's institutional asset allocation models more aligned with individual investors' goals. SIMC expects to make changes to the Private Client Models periodically to incorporate changes to the mutual fund asset allocations underlying the models. Upon consent from us (on behalf of the investor), these asset allocation changes will be made to the investor's accounts invested in the Private Client Models.

Custom Models: Yeomans Consulting Group Portfolios (Yeomans TM Defensive, TM Conservative, TM Moderate TM Growth & Income and TM Growth Plus / Yeomans Defensive, Conservative, Moderate Growth & Income and Growth Plus / Yeomans Alternatives Strategies, Yeomans Dynamic 7): In accordance with the investor's investment objectives, we may also allocate assets placed in the investor's account among the SEI Funds and non-SEI Funds through Yeomans Custom Models which are aligned with individual investors' goals. We expect to make changes to the Custom Portfolios periodically to incorporate changes to the mutual fund asset allocations underlying the models on a discretionary basis. Upon consent from us (on behalf of the investor), these discretionary asset allocation changes will be made to the investor's accounts invested in the Yeomans Consulting Group, Inc. as Yeomans Custom Models.

The SEI Funds are administered, distributed, and in some cases advised by SIMC or its affiliates for which it is paid fees as disclosed in the SEI Funds' prospectuses. The prospectus(es) should be read carefully by all investors before investing in the SEI Funds.

The applicable fees are the same as set forth under the Direct Asset Allocation Services through SEI Advisor Program section above.

Selection of Other Advisers

As part of our investment advisory services, we may recommend that you use the services of a third party investment adviser ("TPA") to manage your entire, or a portion of your, investment portfolio. We may recommend TPAs who offer timing services, asset allocation services, and wrap free programs. After gathering information about your financial situation and objectives, we will recommend that you engage a specific TPA or investment program. Factors that we take into consideration when making our recommendation(s) include, but are not limited to, the following: the TPA's performance, methods of analysis, fees, your financial needs, investment goals, risk tolerance, and investment objectives. The TPA(s) will actively manage your portfolio and will assume discretionary investment authority over your account. We will periodically monitor the TPA(s)' performance to ensure its management and investment style remains aligned with your investment goals and objectives.

Compensation generally, consists of four elements: i) management and advisory fees shared by the TPA, our firm, and our IARs; ii) transaction costs, if applicable, which may be paid to purchase and sell such securities; iii) custody fees; and iv) an additional administrative fee paid to SagePoint for its supervisory services.

Such compensation is charged through one of the following pricing structures:

1. Wrap Pricing : Under these programs, the inclusive "wrap" fee covers account management, brokerage, clearance, custody and administrative services. In other programs, you may be charged separately for such services. The wrap fees may be higher or lower than if such services were obtained separately. Generally, wrap programs are relatively less expensive for actively traded accounts. However, they may result in higher overall costs to you in accounts that experience little trading activity. The same or similar services may be available elsewhere at a lower cost to you.
2. Unbundled Pricing : Other TPA services may be provided on an "unbundled" fee basis. In such cases, the TPA's fee may be separate from the advisory fee charged by our firm. Transaction costs may also be charged for the execution and clearance of advisory transactions directed by the TPA. Further, compensation to our firm's IARs may be in the form of commissions earned in the underlying securities portfolios, which are managed by the TPA. In addition to our firm's share of the TPA, SagePoint may charge an additional administrative fee for its administrative and supervisory services.

You will receive an account statement from the TPA at least quarterly, which includes the amount of any fees paid directly for the TPA's services, or any other adviser selected by you to manage the account. These fees are in addition to the internal advisory fees and expenses paid by the mutual funds or variable annuity companies to their separate investment advisers. In addition, variable annuity companies generally impose mortality charges on such accounts, of approximately 1.25% annually. SagePoint's administrative fees will either be bundled into the wrap fee or disclosed as a separate charge in unbundled programs.

The amount of total fees, the services provided, the payment structure, termination provisions and other aspects of each program are detailed and disclosed in: i) the TPA's Form ADV Part 2; ii) the program wrap brochure (if applicable) or other applicable disclosure documents; iii) the disclosure documents of the portfolio manager or managers selected; or, iv) the TPA's account opening documents.

SagePoint may also act as paying agent with respect to payments made by third-party advisers to Adviser under solicitor's agreements between them. SagePoint does not act as an investment adviser with respect to any accounts, which, are referred directly by our firm to third-party advisers. You do not have an investment advisory relationship with SagePoint unless you have signed a direct advisory contract with them and then it will only apply to the assets subject to that contract.

Our firm will not be paid fees directly by you, but will receive a portion of the advisory fee paid to the TPA as a solicitor. The same or similar services may be available elsewhere at a lower cost to you.

You will be required to sign an agreement directly with the recommended TPA(s). You may terminate your advisory relationship with the TPA according to the terms of your agreement with the TPA. You should review each TPA's brochure for specific information on how you may terminate your advisory relationship with the TPA and how you may receive a refund, if applicable. You should contact the TPA directly for questions regarding your advisory agreement with the TPA.

We offer broad-based and modular financial planning services. The RIA and IAR is free at all times to accept or reject any of our investment recommendations, and is solely responsible for implementing any of our recommended planning solutions or strategies. We make observations and recommendations believed to be compatible around the understanding of circumstances and data provided by the RIA or IAR's own data research and understanding of their individual client needs.

These fees will generally include a management fee and other fund expenses. You will also incur transaction charges and/or brokerage fees when purchasing or selling securities. These charges and fees are typically imposed by the broker-dealer or custodian through whom your account transactions are executed. We do not share in any portion of the brokerage fees/transaction charges imposed by the broker-dealer or custodian. To fully understand the total cost you will incur, you should review all the fees charged by mutual funds, exchange traded funds, our firm, and others. You may also be subject to an additional, per-trade transaction charge on the selling of certain securities as disclosed on your trade confirmation (generally less than $1.00 on trades of $50,000 or less). Compensation for the Sale of Securities or Other Investment Products

Persons providing investment advice on behalf of our firm are registered representatives with SagePoint Financial, Inc. ("SagePoint"), an unaffiliated securities broker-dealer, member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation. In addition to providing advisory services, these persons will likely also sell you securities products and other investment and insurance products in their capacity as registered representatives of SagePoint and as licensed insurance agents. We will receive additional compensation in connection with this activity and the amount of compensation will depend on the type of product purchased. We will have a greater financial incentive to sell certain products as opposed to others (for example, in the case of mutual funds those that have a higher 12b-1 fee than others). While our security sales are reviewed for suitability by an appointed supervisor, you should be aware of the incentives we have to sell certain securities products and are encouraged to ask us about any conflict presented.

Please be aware that you are under no obligation to purchase products or services recommended by us or members of our firm in connection with providing you with any advisory service that we offer.

At our discretion, we may offset our advisory fees to the extent our associated persons earn commissions in their separate capacities as registered representatives and/or insurance agents.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not accept performance-based fees or participate in side-by-side management. Side-by-side management refers to the practice of managing accounts that are charged performance-based fees while at the same time managing accounts that are not charged performance-based fees. Performance-based fees are fees that are based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of a client's account. Our fees are calculated as described in the "Advisory Business" section above, and are not charged on the basis of a share of capital gains upon, or capital appreciation of, the funds in your advisory account.

Item 7 Types of Clients

We offer investment advisory services to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations, and other business entities.

Our advisory programs may require a minimum account size to open and maintain an account, depending on the program.

Each Third Party Advisory Service that we offer has their own account minimum. Their account minimums are disclosed to you through their own Form ADV and associated paperwork that will be presented to you.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Our Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

We may use one or more of the following methods of analysis or investment strategies when providing investment advice to you:

- Charting Analysis - involves the gathering and processing of price and volume information for a particular security. This price and volume information is analyzed using mathematical equations. The resulting data is then applied to graphing charts, which is used to predict future price movements based on price patterns and trends.
- Technical Analysis - involves studying past price patterns and trends in the financial markets to predict the direction of both the overall market and specific stocks. The risk of market timing based on technical analysis is that charts may not accurately predict future price movements. Current prices of securities may reflect all information known about the security and day to day changes in market prices of securities may follow random patterns and may not be predictable with any reliable degree of accuracy.
- Fundamental Analysis - involves analyzing individual companies and their industry groups, such as a company's financial statements, details regarding the company's product line, the experience and expertise of the company's management, and the outlook for the company's industry. The resulting data is used to measure the true value of the company's stock compared to the current market value. The risk of fundamental analysis is that information obtained may be incorrect and the analysis may not provide an accurate estimate of earnings, which may be the basis for a stock's value. If securities prices adjust rapidly to new information, utilizing fundamental analysis may not result in favorable performance.
- Long Term Purchases - securities purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period of time, generally greater than one year.
- Short Term Purchases - securities purchased with the expectation that they will be sold within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities' short-term price fluctuations.

We also use trend analysis, which in investment terms, refers to investment methodology that is related to historical price movements, irrespective of economic fundamentals. Technicians believe patterns will emerge within the price action and trading volume of an asset, which indicate particular trends and reversals. Trend, in investment terms, refers to the regular tendency of securities to increase or decrease in value over a set period of time. Analysts work to identify trends and time their buying and selling activity to profit from particular chart patterns. Bullish trends indicate that the investment will continue to increase in value. Higher highs and higher lows signal bullish trends. The higher lows are benchmarked against, or compared with, a level of support, which identify short-term low price points for the security that have not been breached over set periods of time. "Breakouts," refer to strong price appreciation above a point of resistance, or short-term high points for the investments that have not been overtaken during a specific time frame. Bearish trends indicate that the investment is set to lose value. Lower highs and lower lows are associated with bearish trends. Securities are unable to move beyond a high point of resistance and break down past support levels. Reversals: a security will not approach infinity or collapse to zero without interruptions. Reversals are inflection points at which trends switch from bullish to bearish or vice versa. The head and shoulders pattern is typically associated with reversals. Conversely, the inverted head and shoulders is "a reversal pattern in a downtrend," which is bullish.

The risks of using trend analysis is that trends may not be long-sustaining, resulting in insufficient gain or a loss if followed. Also, the securities selected may not trend in which case an increase or decrease in their value may not be estimated.

The risk of market timing based on technical analysis is that charts may not accurately predict future price movements. Current prices of securities may reflect all information known about the security and day to day changes in market prices of securities may follow random patterns and may not be predictable with any reliable degree of accuracy. The risk of fundamental analysis is that information obtained may be incorrect and the analysis may not provide an accurate estimate of earnings, which may be the basis for a stock's value. If securities prices adjust rapidly to new information, utilizing fundamental analysis may not result in favorable performance. The risk of cyclical analysis is that economic/business cycles may not be predictable and may have many fluctuations between long term expansions and contractions. The lengths of economic cycles may be difficult to predict with accuracy and therefore the risk of cyclical analysis is the difficulty in predicting economic trends and consequently the changing value of securities that would be affected by these changing trends.

Long term purchases may also be affected by unforeseen long term changes in the company in which you are invested or in the overall market. Short term trading generally involves a greater degree of risk than long term trading due to market volatility over a short period of time.

Our strategies and investments may have unique and significant tax implications. However, unless we specifically agree otherwise, and in writing, tax efficiency is not our primary consideration in the management of your assets. Regardless of your account size or any other factors, we strongly recommend that you continuously consult with a tax professional prior to and throughout the investing of your assets.

Moreover, as a result of revised IRS regulations, custodians and broker-dealers will begin reporting the cost basis of equities acquired in client accounts on or after January 1, 2011. Your custodian will default to the FIFO (First-In First-Out) accounting method for calculating the cost basis of your investments. You are responsible for contacting your tax advisor to determine if this accounting method is the right choice for you. If your tax advisor believes another accounting method is more advantageous, please provide written notice to our firm immediately and we will alert your account custodian of your individually selected accounting method. Please note that decisions about cost basis accounting methods will need to be made before trades settle, as the cost basis method cannot be changed after settlement.

In instances where we recommend that a third party manage your assets, please refer to the third party's ADV and associated disclosure documents for details on their investment strategies, methods of analysis and associated risks.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. We do not represent or guarantee that our services or methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate clients from losses due to market corrections or declines. We cannot offer any guarantees or promises that your financial goals and objectives will be met. Past performance is in no way an indication of future performance.

Recommendation of Particular Types of Securities

As disclosed under the "Advisory Business" section in this Brochure, we offer advice on all types of securities, however, we primarily recommend mutual funds; however, since each client has different needs and different tolerance for risk, we may recommend other types of investments as appropriate for your situation.

Each type of security has its own unique set of risks associated with it and it would not be possible to list here all of the specific risks of every type of investment. Even within the same type of investment, risks can vary widely. However, in very general terms, the higher the anticipated return of an investment, the higher the risk of loss associated with it.

Mutual funds are professionally managed collective investment systems that pool money from many investors and invest in stocks, bonds, short-term money market instruments, other mutual funds, other securities or any combination thereof. The fund will have a manager that trades the fund's investments in accordance with the fund's investment objective. While mutual funds generally provide diversification, risks can be significantly increased if the fund is concentrated in a particular sector of the market, primarily invests in small cap or speculative companies, uses leverage (i.e., borrows money) to a significant degree, or concentrates in a particular type of security (i.e., equities) rather than balancing the fund with different types of securities. The returns on mutual funds can be reduced by the costs to manage the funds. Also, while some mutual funds are "no load" and charge no fee to buy into, or sell out of, other types of mutual funds do charge such fees which can also reduce returns. Mutual funds can also be "closed end" or "open end". So-called "open end" mutual funds continue to allow in new investors indefinitely which can dilute other investors' interests.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

Neither our firm nor any of our Associated Persons has any reportable disciplinary information.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Registrations with Unaffiliated Broker-Dealer

All representatives of our firm that provide advice to you ("Advisory Representatives") are associated with SagePoint Financial, Inc. ("SagePoint") as Registered Representatives. SagePoint is a diversified financial services company registered with the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") as a broker-dealer engaged in the offer and sale of securities products. Our Advisory Representatives may recommend the purchase of securities offered by SagePoint. If you purchase these products through them, they will receive normal commissions which may be in addition to customary advisory fees. As such, Advisory Representatives may have an incentive to sell you commissionable products in addition to providing you with advisory services when such commissionable products may not be suitable. Alternatively, they may have an incentive to forego providing you with advisory services when appropriate, and instead recommend the purchase of commissionable investments, if they deem that the payout for recommending the purchase of these investments would be higher than providing management advice on these products for an advisory fee. Therefore, a conflict of interest may exist between their interests and your best interests.

While our security sales are reviewed for suitability by an appointed supervisor, you should be aware of the incentives we have to sell certain securities products and are encouraged to ask us about any conflict presented.

Please be aware that you are under no obligation to purchase products or services recommended by us or members of our Firm in connection with providing you with any advisory service that we offer.

Arrangements with Affiliated Persons or Entities

Persons providing investment advice on behalf of our firm are also licensed as insurance agents. These persons will earn commission-based compensation for selling insurance products, including insurance products they sell to you. Insurance commissions earned by these persons are separate from our advisory fees. Please see the "Fees and Compensation" section in this brochure for more information on the compensation received by insurance agents who are affiliated with our firm.

Recommendation of Other Advisers

We may recommend that you use a third party adviser ("TPA") based on your needs and suitability.

We will receive compensation from the TPA for recommending that you use their services. These compensation arrangements present a conflict of interest because we have a financial incentive to recommend the services of the third party adviser. You are not obligated, contractually or otherwise, to use the services of any TPA we recommend.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Description of Our Code of Ethics

We strive to comply with applicable laws and regulations governing our practices. Therefore, our Code of Ethics includes guidelines for professional standards of conduct for our Associated Persons. Our goal is to protect your interests at all times and to demonstrate our commitment to our fiduciary duties of honesty, good faith, and fair dealing with you. All of our Associated Persons are expected to adhere strictly to these guidelines. Our Code of Ethics also requires that certain persons associated with our firm submit reports of their personal account holdings and transactions to a qualified representative of our firm who will review these reports on a periodic basis. Persons associated with our firm are also required to report any violations of our Code of Ethics. Additionally, we maintain and enforce written policies reasonably designed to prevent the misuse or dissemination of material, non-public information about you or your account holdings by persons associated with our firm.

Clients or prospective clients may obtain a copy of our Code of Ethics by contacting us at the telephone number on the cover page of this brochure.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

Neither our firm nor any of our associated persons has any material financial interest in client transactions beyond the provision of investment advisory services as disclosed in this brochure.

Personal Trading Practices

Our firm or persons associated with our firm may buy or sell the same securities that we recommend to you or securities in which you are already invested. A conflict of interest exists in such cases because we have the ability to trade ahead of you and potentially receive more favorable prices than you will receive. To eliminate this conflict of interest, it is our policy that neither our Associated Persons nor we shall have priority over your account in the purchase or sale of securities.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

As described in the "Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations " section of this brochure, our Advisory Representatives are also Registered Representatives of SagePoint, a FINRA registered broker-dealer. In order to meet its FINRA supervisory obligations, SagePoint requires that all investment advisory activities that we conduct be processed through SagePoint's clearing relationships with Pershing LLC ("Pershing"). As a result, we do not have the discretion to choose the broker-dealer or commission rates to be paid. However, we do believe that Pershing's blend of execution services, commission and transaction costs as well as professionalism will allow us to seek best execution and competitive prices.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

We do not receive client referrals from broker-dealers in exchange for cash or other compensation, such as brokerage services or research.

Block Trades

The aggregation and allocation practices of mutual funds and third party managers that we recommend to you are disclosed in the respective mutual fund prospectuses and third party manager disclosure documents which will be provided to you.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

Randall Yeomans, CEO; Nicholas Yeomans, President; and Theodore Sanders, Investment Adviser Representative, will monitor your accounts on an ongoing basis and will conduct account reviews at least quarterly in an effort to ensure the advisory services provided to you are consistent with your stated investment needs and objectives. Additional reviews may be conducted based on various circumstances, including, but not limited to:

- contributions and withdrawals,
- year-end tax planning,
- market moving events,
- security specific events, and/or,
- changes in your risk/return objectives.

We will not provide you with regular written reports in conjunction with account reviews. You will receive trade confirmations, monthly or quarterly statements, and year-end tax statements from your account custodian(s).

If you are a financial planning client, you may receive annual updates from our firm upon request for an additional fee.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As discussed previously, all our Advisory Representatives are Registered Representatives of SagePoint. This arrangement requires us to offer you advisory services and programs sponsored or approved by SagePoint. SagePoint sets limits on how much we can charge you for these advisory services. Some advisory programs have higher fee limits than others. As such, there may be an incentive for us to recommend to you advisory services or programs with higher limits. In addition, SagePoint may charge us certain usage fees and expenses to use their advisory programs which may decrease the amount of money we make when offering investment advice to you. Therefore, there may be an incentive to provide you with advisory programs and services that may be cheaper for us to use but not as suitable to your needs as other advisory programs that SagePoint sponsors which may be more expensive for us to use.

In addition, SagePoint offers our Advisory Representatives educational, training and incentive programs for those Advisory Representatives that meet certain sales production goals. There may be an incentive for us to manage your account in ways that assist us in meeting these production goals even if such strategies may not always be suitable for your account.

We receive economic benefits from SagePoint for providing investment advice or other advisory services to you. Through our use of SagePoint, we are entitled to receive economic benefits. As part of our fiduciary duty, we endeavor at all times to put the interests of our clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by our firm from a non-client in and of themselves creates a potential conflict of interest and may influence our choice in providing services to your account. This arrangement does not cause our clients to pay any additional transaction fees beyond those that are traditionally charged by our firm and/or other service providers.

Refer to the Brokerage Practices section above for disclosures on research and other benefits we may receive resulting from our relationship with your account custodian.

Certain Third Party Advisory Service programs may provide our Advisory Representatives with the opportunity to attend training or education conferences. Such conferences include the payment or reimbursement of travel, meals and lodging expenses for attendees. Payment/reimbursement of expenses is not contingent upon sales targets or contests, but rather on total assets managed on their respective Third Party Advisory Service platforms. We may have an incentive to recommend Third Party Advisory Service programs that provide us with the above referenced opportunities over those that do not.

While our security sales are reviewed for suitability by an appointed supervisor, you should be aware of the incentives we have to sell certain securities products and are encouraged to ask us about any conflict presented.

We do not compensate any individual or firm for client referrals.

Item 15 Custody

As paying agent for our firm, your independent custodian will directly debit your account(s) for the payment of our advisory fees. This ability to deduct our advisory fees from your accounts causes our firm to exercise limited custody over your funds or securities. We do not have physical custody of any of your funds and/or securities. Your funds and securities will be held with a bank, broker-dealer, or other independent, qualified custodian. You will receive account statements from the independent, qualified custodian(s) holding your funds and securities at least quarterly. The account statements from your custodian(s) will indicate the amount of our advisory fees deducted from your account(s) each billing period. You should carefully review account statements for accuracy.

If you have a question regarding your account statement or if you did not receive a statement from your custodian, please contact us directly at the telephone number on the cover page of this brochure.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Before we can buy or sell securities on your behalf, you must first sign our discretionary management agreement and/or trading authorization forms.

You may grant our firm discretion over the selection and amount of securities to be purchased or sold for your account(s) without obtaining your consent or approval prior to each transaction. You may specify investment objectives, guidelines, and/or impose certain conditions or investment parameters for your account(s). For example, you may specify that the investment in any particular stock or industry should not exceed specified percentages of the value of the portfolio and/or restrictions or prohibitions of transactions in the securities of a specific industry or security. Your consent is typically granted and evidenced in the client agreement that you sign with us. Please refer to the "Advisory Business" section in this brochure for more information on our discretionary management services.

In order to meet its FINRA supervisory obligations, SagePoint requires that all investment advisory activities be conducted through SagePoint's clearing relationships with Pershing. As a result, our firm does not have the discretion to choose the broker dealer or commission rates to be paid. However, we believe that Pershing's blend of execution services, commission and transaction costs as well as professionalism will allow us to seek best execution and competitive prices. However, you should be aware that best execution and lower commissions may not necessarily be achieved if recommended transactions are placed through our firm's associated persons in their separate capacities as registered representatives of SagePoint or as independent insurance agents.

If you enter into non-discretionary arrangements with our firm, we will obtain your approval prior to the execution of any transactions for your account(s). You have an unrestricted right to decline to implement any advice provided by our firm on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

We will not vote proxies on behalf of your advisory accounts. At your request, we may offer you advice regarding corporate actions and the exercise of your proxy voting rights. If you own shares of common stock or mutual funds, you are responsible for exercising your right to vote as a shareholder.

In most cases, you will receive proxy materials directly from the account custodian. However, in the event we were to receive any written or electronic proxy materials, we would forward them directly to you by mail, unless you have authorized our firm to contact you by electronic mail, in which case, we would forward any electronic solicitation to vote proxies.

Item 18 Financial Information

We are not required to provide financial information to our clients because we do not:

- require the prepayment of more than $1200 in fees and six or more months in advance, or
- take custody of client funds or securities, or
- have a financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet our commitments to you.

Item 19 Requirements for State Registered Investment Advisers

We are a federally registered investment adviser; therefore, we are not required to respond to this item.

Item 20 Additional Information

Your Privacy

We view protecting your private information as a top priority. Pursuant to applicable privacy requirements, we have instituted policies and procedures to ensure that we keep your personal information private and secure.

We do not disclose any non-public personal information about you to any non-affiliated third parties, except as permitted by law. In the course of servicing your account, we may share some information with our service providers, such as transfer agents, custodians, broker-dealers, accountants, consultants, and attorneys.

We restrict internal access to non-public personal information about you to employees, who need that information in order to provide products or services to you. We maintain physical and procedural safeguards that comply with regulatory standards to guard your non-public personal information and to ensure our integrity and confidentiality. We will not sell information about you or your accounts to anyone. We do not share your information unless it is required to process a transaction, at your request, or required by law.

You will receive a copy of our privacy notice prior to or at the time you sign an advisory agreement with our firm. Thereafter, we will deliver a copy of the current privacy policy notice to you on an annual basis. Please contact our main office at the telephone number on the cover page of this brochure if you have any questions regarding this policy.

Trade Errors

In the event a trading error occurs in your account, our policy is to restore your account to the position it should have been in had the trading error not occurred. Depending on the circumstances, corrective actions may include canceling the trade, adjusting an allocation, and/or reimbursing the account.

Generally, If a trade error results in a profit, the trade error will be corrected in the trade error account of the executing broker-dealer and you will not keep the profit.

Class Action Lawsuits

We do not determine if securities held by you are the subject of a class action lawsuit or whether you are eligible to participate in class action settlements or litigation nor do we initiate or participate in litigation to recover damages on your behalf for injuries as a result of actions, misconduct, or negligence by issuers of securities held by you.
