Fee Billing

SEI fees are charged in arrears at the end of the calendar quarter based on account values at the end of each calendar quarter charging one-fourth of the annualized basis points each quarter.

AFS fees charged are calculated by AFS for each quarterly period ending the last business day of February, May, August and November using the average daily net asset value of assets invested in the Funds through the Program during quarter divided by the number of days in the year multiplied by the number of days in the quarter.

Trust/Trustee are usually prorated and charged to the plan participants by the Trust. Should the Trust or Trustee(s) terminate these services during the quarter, the Trust/Trustee is charged a pro-rated fee for the quarter.

Other Fees

Our management fees are separate from charges assessed by third parties such as broker dealers, custodians and mutual fund companies. Brokerage and other transaction costs charged by broker dealers executing transactions and custodians maintaining your assets are in addition to the management fees and are not negotiable. Investment advisor clients that hold mutual funds in their portfolio(s) will also pay investment management fees and/or administrative fees. These fees are paid to the managers of the fund for their role in managing the fund(s) on a daily basis. Mutual funds, variable annuities and or other platforms may assess other fees and expenses such as 12B-1 fees or commissions in connection with the placement of those funds.

Fees Paid in Advance and Termination of Advisory Services

We do not require any prepayment of fees.

Clients may terminate their advisory contract with Beard Investment Services, Inc. in writing at any time. We recommend you use a mail service where a signed receipt is required. Beard Investment Services, Inc. has no account minimums.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

We generally work with our clients to develop a proper allocation and diversification among various asset classes – stocks, bonds, alternative investments, and cash, etc. Depending on the client's individual goals, objectives, and risk tolerance we may recommend an active or passive approach to manage their investments. Our portfolio construction process is designed to maximize the rate of return and minimize volatility by identifying the proper level of diversification between asset classes.

Depending on the client's objectives, we may employ various sub asset classes to any particular investment strategy. For instance, the U.S. equity market has four distinct sub-asset classes: large cap value, large cap growth, small cap value and small cap growth. We typically utilize all of these asset classes in a recommended investment strategy since no one can consistently predict where the next source of returns will come from in the U.S. equities market.

Market movements may cause a shift in portfolio allocation from their original design as different sectors of the market appreciate or depreciate over time. Also, our client's objectives may shift as their personal situations change. Typically, our firm will rebalance the investment mix to original allocation percentages which helps maintain a level exposure to risk.

Investment Strategies

Beard Investment Services, Inc. undertakes to provide each client with objective setting and asset allocation services and assistance as follows:

1) We determine the investor's risk profile and investment objectives by obtaining your investment objectives, investment time horizon and risk profile through an interview process and additional collected information if necessary.

2) We set a relevant asset allocation policy for each investor, diversifying your portfolio among asset classes and investment styles. You may choose one of many mutual fund asset allocation models. You may also purchase mutual funds and/or individual stocks without choosing one of the asset allocation models. If you so choose to invest without a model, automatic rebalancing will not be available.

3) If you choose an asset allocation model, automatic rebalancing of your portfolio will occur. Rebalancing maintains the proper allocation to each asset class in the model. Rebalancing occurs automatically if the underlying mutual funds deviate from the prescribed asset allocation by greater than a predetermined variance percentage. Rebalancing occurs quarterly

4) All accounts will receive regular reports including year-end tax reports. Periodic performance reporting will be provided as specifically agreed upon.

401(k) Investment Management Services for Daily Value Plans

Beard Investment Services, Inc. provides the Trust or Trustee(s) of 401(k) Plans or 401(k) Plan Sponsors investment advisory services related to selecting investment alternatives and managing employee 401(k) participation through an investment management/accounting platform.

Beard Investments Services, Inc. working with the Trust/Trustees of the 401(k) Plan in its capacity as an investment advisor will select a group of mutual funds as the investment alternatives available for 401(k) plan participants to choose from. Beard Investment Services, Inc. will prepare benefit enrollment packages and Beard Investments Services, Inc. representatives will conduct employee meetings introducing and discussing the investment alternatives available to the eligible employees in the 401(k) plan.

Assets placed in this program are held by an independent custodian. The independent custodian places trades with the funds to purchase and sell shares daily as required by the 401(k) plan participants through contributions and withdrawals to/from 401(k) plan accounts. Plan participants have the ability to independently access their account and make changes to their asset allocation at any time. Fund shares to be purchased and sold by the plan participants are aggregated each day using a mutual fund record keeping platform. Mutual funds shares are purchased and sold daily as needed. The mutual fund record keeping system tracks the ownership of shares for each 401(k) participant. The designated recordkeeper mails out statements to 401(k) plan participants quarterly.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. Investment values will fluctuate both up and down, are subject to market volatility, and may be worth more or less than the original cost. All securities involve the loss of principal. In addition, while we believe our methodology and strategies will be profitable, there is no assurance this will always be the case.

While your account may allow margin transactions, we generally do not recommend the use of margin. We want you to understand the risks of margin transactions and recommend that you read your broker dealer's written disclosure document describing margin trading and its related risks.

Recommend Securities with Material Financial Interest

Beard Investment Services, Inc. and its investment advisor representatives do not have any material financial interest in any public companies.

Invest in Same Securities Recommended to Clients

Most of our client recommendations are mutual fund shares. It is possible that our employees and officers could invest in the same mutual funds that we recommend to clients. Because mutual fund transactions are priced at the end of the day or a designated cut-off time, both the employee and our client will receive the same price.

Personal Trading Policies

Our firm has “Personal Securities Transaction Policy” that as a general rule states that in a situation where an investment conflict of interest occurs between a client and one of our associates or affiliates, the conflict of interest will be resolved in the best interests of the client. Officers and employees are required to report existing personal investments they own so the firm can properly manage any conflicts of interest. Our employees and officers are required to submit quarterly personal securities transaction reports to the compliance officer.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Selecting Brokerage Firms

We recommend brokers or dealers to effect portfolio transactions. In doing so, consideration is given to the proven integrity and financial responsibility of the various firms as well as to their demonstrated execution experience and capability generally and in regard to particular markets or securities and to the competitiveness of the commission rates they charge.

With respect to any brokerage commissions charged by executing broker-dealers, we will regularly and continuously review such charges within the forgoing criteria and such other comparative standards which it may regard as pertinent for the purpose of evaluating reasonableness of commissions charged to our clients. As permitted by law, (specifically by the provisions of Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934), we may cause clients to pay a broker-dealer an amount of commission for executing a portfolio transaction order on behalf of its clients which is in excess of the commissions other broker-dealers would have charged for effecting such a transaction. In order to do so, we must determine in good faith that the higher commissions are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services provided by the executing broker-dealer viewed in terms of either a particular transaction or our overall responsibilities to our other clients.

Research and Soft Dollars

We receive information and research including economic and financial market commentaries from third party entities.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

We do not engage in the practice of directing brokerage trades to outside broker dealers for client referrals.

Directed Brokerage

In almost every case we direct trades based on each client's direction. Typically, our trades are placed directly with the client's custodian. In a very rare circumstance, a trade may be done with one broker dealer and settled with the client's account at another broker dealer as part of a COD transaction. This is always per the client's instruction.

Order Aggregation

Most transactions for each client account are entered on a transaction-by-transaction basis. The broker dealer with which we direct trades to may decide to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time and might combine (otherwise known as aggregating or batching transactions) for these orders. This process occurs through the use of an average price account. By aggregating orders of the same securities, the broker dealer may be able to obtain a better overall execution price. In addition, you may be able to obtain lower transaction costs that might or might not have been obtained had multiple orders been placed independently. When aggregating trades in the average price account the brokerage firm generally averages the price and charges one commission per client per security. We receive no additional compensation, fees or remuneration from the aggregation of client trades in an average price account.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

Our review process typically includes a discussion with the client regarding any changes to his/her financial goals and purpose for the invested assets. Next, we review the performance of the account and discuss any recommendations for changing the investment strategy. Account reviews are typically scheduled in advance with a client, however, our clients are always welcome to call and schedule an appointment at any time. In addition, we review any asset allocation models recommended to our clients and the underlying funds included in the models.

Review Triggers

Review meetings with clients are typically scheduled for a variety of reasons including the following:

1. The advisor has scheduled a regular quarterly, semi-annual, or annual meeting with the client.
2. We have proposed changes to the client's investment strategy and would like to discuss it with them.
3. The client's needs or purpose for the investment account have changed and they would like to discuss it with the advisor.

Regular Reports

The broker dealer or custodian handling your account sends you account statements at least quarterly. These account statements show money balances, securities held in the account, investment values and transactions made.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation
