Advisory Business

Advisory Firm

PlanMember Securities Corporation (“PSEC,” “we,” “our,” and/or “us”) is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) as both a broker-dealer and an investment adviser. PSEC has been providing investment advisory services since 1994. Jon M. Ziehl is the founder and President of PSEC and has been in the financial services industry since 1980. PSEC is a direct subsidiary of PlanMember Financial Corporation. More than 25% of a voting class of securities of PlanMember Financial are held by Mr. Ziehl and, indirectly, by Equitable Distribution Holdings. Equitable Distribution Holdings is a member of the Equitable.

As used in this Brochure, “Your PSEC Professional” or “Professional” refers to the PSEC financial professional who is responsible for your account. The terms “you,” “your,” and/or “client” refer to you as either a current or prospective client of PSEC. As used in this Brochure, the term “Associated Person” may refer to any or all of the following: PSEC officers, employees, and/or any individuals providing investment advice on behalf of PSEC.

Scarborough Alliance Group (“Scarborough”) is a division of PSEC. Scarborough continues the activities of Scarborough Capital Corporation, a former investment adviser, which was purchased by PlanMember Financial Corporation in 2010.

Advisory Services

Our brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ, and it is important for you to understand these differences. Free and simple tools are available for you to research firms and financial professionals at investor.gov/crs, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

Depending on your needs and your investment objectives, the Firm may assist you with brokerage services, investment advisory services, or both. There are important differences between brokerage and advisory services, including their costs, the services we provide, and the rules that govern them. You should carefully consider these differences when deciding which type, or combination of types, of services and accounts are right for you. Information regarding the differences between our brokerage and advisory services is also included in our Client Relationship Summary disclosure (Form CRS), which is available at planmember.com/disclosures.

In addition to the advisory programs and services described in this Brochure, PSEC also offers other advisory programs and services, which are described in separate Forms ADV, Part 2As. Detailed discussions of each of the advisory programs and services provided by PSEC, are available on our website at planmember.com/disclosures.

When you choose to purchase products and services through PSEC and work with a PSEC financial professional, you have the option of investing through a transaction-based account, such as a brokerage account, a fee-based investment advisory program, or both. It is important to understand the services you can expect to receive, and the costs associated with each of these different types of accounts and relationship with PSEC and your PSEC financial professional. Additional information on the types of accounts PSEC offers and the costs associated with each are available on our website at planmember.com/disclosures.

The advisory services described in this brochure apply to the PlanMember Elite and Scarborough Alliance Programs listed on the cover page. These Programs are marketed primarily to individual retirement plans for union members and their families. Other advisory programs and services are described in separate Investment Adviser Brochures, which are available upon request.

Services are based on the individual needs of the client. An initial interview and data gathering questionnaire is undertaken to determine the client's financial situation and investment objectives, and to give the client the opportunity to impose reasonable restrictions on the management of the account. The client will retain rights of ownership of all securities and funds in the account to the same extent as if the client held the securities and funds outside the program.

PlanMember Elite Program

For the PlanMember Elite Program, PSEC constructs a series of asset allocation portfolios with varying risk profiles that are invested in mutual funds. The PlanMember Elite Program employs a variety of investment strategies, which are described in the section of this Brochure captioned “Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss.”

A feature of PlanMember Elite Program is PSEC's asset allocation service utilizing mutual funds with no front-end or back-end sales charges from multiple mutual fund companies. Each client receives a prospectus for each mutual fund in which his or her account is invested.

As part of the advisory contract, each client gives PSEC a limited power of attorney to (i) allocate the assets in the accounts as indicated on the initial account application; (ii) periodically rebalance the account to adjust for changes resulting from fluctuations in the market price of the assets, by returning the account to the new quarterly asset allocation selections; (iii) reallocate the assets in the account within the portfolio(s) selected; (iv) increase, decrease or change the number of funds utilized in each allocation; and (v) add or delete new funds/fund families or other investment options within the mutual funds.

Scarborough Investment Advisory Accounts

Scarborough primarily allocates investment management assets of its client accounts ("Scarborough Accounts") among various mutual funds on a limited discretionary basis, in accordance with the investment objectives of the client. In so doing, an asset management strategy is employed whereby Scarborough shall allocate such accounts owned by the client among different asset categories within the same or different mutual fund families. Clients may, in writing, place reasonable limitations upon Scarborough's limited discretionary authority.

The beneficial owners of certain retirement accounts whose assets are held by a trustee/custodian may be subject to special terms and conditions with respect to shareholder report, proxies, and other matters, depending on the terms and conditions of the plan documents under which such accounts are established. PSEC or its agent furnishes quarterly account statements to each client, confirming all transactions during the report period.

As of 12/31/2020, PSEC (including Scarborough) managed a total of $6.19 billion on a discretionary basis.

Fees and Compensation

PlanMember Elite Program

Clients participating in the PlanMember Elite Program are required to authorize PSEC to debit the Program fee from their account. Fees are liquidated from the client's largest mutual fund holding or, if there are insufficient assets in the largest holdings, from the client's remaining mutual fund holdings. On an annualized basis, the PlanMember Elite Program advisory fee offered through Scarborough (the "Advisory Fee") is 0.70% advisory fee and 0.20% administrative fee.

The annual fees for the PlanMember Elite Program are billed quarterly, in arrears, based on the average daily balance of the account during the preceding quarter.

Scarborough Investment Advisory Accounts

For investment management services, client is charged an annual investment advisory fee of 0.70% of the market value of the assets being managed. The annual investment advisory fee shall be prorated and paid quarterly, in arrears, based upon the market value of the assets on the last day of the previous quarter.

Other fees related to the custody and servicing of your account and not related to the advisory services may apply. See your account application for details. PlanMember Elite Program and Scarborough Accounts are invested in mutual funds that carry separate expenses as disclosed in each mutual fund prospectus.

Program Choice Conflicts of Interest

Clients should be aware that the compensation to PSEC and our financial professionals will differ according to the specific advisory programs or services provided. This compensation to PSEC and a financial professional generally are more than the amounts we would otherwise receive if a client participated in another program or paid for investment advice, brokerage, or other relevant services separately. Lower fees for comparable services may be available through PSEC or from other sources. PSEC and its financial professionals have a financial incentive to recommend advisory programs or services that provide higher compensation over other comparable programs or services available through PSEC or elsewhere that cost you less. For example, PSEC is registered both as a broker/dealer and an investment adviser, and a majority of PSEC's advisors offer both commission-based brokerage services and fee-based advisory services to their clients. It is important to understand all the associated costs and benefits of each option so clients can decide which types of accounts and services are best suited for their unique financial goals, investment objective, and time horizon. PSEC encourages clients to review its Form CRS available on the firm's website at <https://www.planmember.com/disclosures> and to discuss their options and the many differences between brokerage and advisory relationships with a PSEC financial professional.

In addition, PSEC offers its financial professionals one or more financial benefits based on the professional's total assets under management held at PSEC or in PSEC's own Program accounts, as well as financial assistance for transitioning from another firm to PSEC. The types of financial benefits that are available to PSEC financial professionals include, but are not limited to, forgivable or unforgivable loans, enhanced payouts, and discounts or waivers on transaction, platform, and account fees; technology fees; research package fees; administrative fees; brokerage account fees; account transfer fees; licensing and insurance costs; and the cost of attending conferences and events. The enhanced payouts, discounts, and other forms of financial benefits that financial professionals have the opportunity to receive from PSEC provide a financial incentive for a financial professional to select PSEC as broker/dealer for client accounts over other broker/dealers from which they may not receive similar financial benefits or to use certain PSEC Advisory programs over other programs available through PSEC.

Additionally, some PSEC financial professionals own and operate locations known as PlanMember Financial Centers. These Financial Centers may be single advisor branches or may include two or more advisors. As these Financial Centers grow, their fee-based business within PSEC's suite of PSEC Programs, PSEC's economies of scale are shared with those Financial Centers by increasing the payout percentage to the Financial Center owner, making loans to the Financial Center owner that are forgivable when the Financial Center accumulates certain client asset levels in PSEC Programs, and accruing and paying a deferred growth participation bonus based on client assets accumulated in PSEC Programs. As the amount of the advisors' client assets in PSEC's programs grows above certain levels, the advisors receive more financial benefits than they would otherwise receive with fewer assets in PSEC's programs.

These increases in a financial professional or Financial Center's revenue translate into higher payouts for reaching various PSEC AUM levels which present a conflict of interest because they provide a financial incentive for financial professionals who receive the discounts to recommend PSEC's Programs over other available managed or wrap account programs that do not offer such discounts or higher payouts to the financial professionals.

Additional Compensation through Schwab Relationship

Through its clearing relationship with Schwab, PSEC is charged an asset-based fee by Schwab for all of the assets in the PSEC programs in which Schwab conducts omnibus trading. For certain mutual fund holdings within those programs, Schwab receives shareholder servicing payments from the fund companies directly. Any amount Schwab receives in the form of shareholder servicing fees from the fund in excess of a negotiated floor is paid to PSEC. While PSEC will always attempt to identify and use the lowest-expense share classes available, this scenario creates a conflict of interest as PSEC has a financial incentive to select or recommend mutual funds for its programs for which Schwab directly receives shareholder servicing fees which will result in additional revenue paid to PSEC. PSEC attempts to mitigate this conflict by disclosing it to you, by ensuring that your financial professional doesn't benefit himself or herself from this arrangement and by ensuring that the PSEC institutional money managers are not aware of which mutual funds pay such shareholder servicing fees.

Important Considerations Regarding Rollovers

If you are a participant in an employer-sponsored retirement plan such as a 401(k) plan, and decide to roll assets out of the plan into a PSEC account, PSEC and your financial professional have a financial incentive to recommend that you invest those assets in a PSEC Account, because PSEC and the financial professional will be paid on those assets, for example, through commissions, fees and third party payments. You should be aware that such fees likely will be higher than those a participant pays through a plan, and there can be maintenance and other miscellaneous fees. As securities held in a retirement plan are generally not transferred directly to a PSEC Account, commissions and sales charges may be charged when liquidating such securities prior to the transfer, in addition to the commissions and sales charges previously paid on transactions in the plan. Deciding what to do with assets saved in an employer-sponsored retirement plan is one of the most important financial decisions a worker will make. For more information about distribution options, including IRA rollovers, check out the resources available to you on sec.gov, irs.gov, and dol.gov. As with any important financial decision, an individual should consider seeking professional assistance. Financial Advisors with investment expertise, as well as tax and legal advisers, can provide valuable support to individuals who want to learn more about IRA rollovers.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

This item is not applicable because PSEC does not charge performance-based fees.

Types of Clients

PSEC provides advisory services to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans and other ERISA accounts, trusts, estates, and business entities.

Account Requirements

The minimum investment required to establish a Scarborough account is $2,000. Minimum investment requirements may be waived or reduced for group or affinity plans and individual plans on a case-by-case basis at the sole discretion of PSEC.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

PlanMember Elite Program

For the PlanMember Elite Program, PSEC utilizes strategic asset allocation, i.e. a top-down approach, in the management of client portfolios. Portfolios are primarily constructed using mutual funds, which are an investment vehicle that provides diversification in a cost-effective manner. Within each investment program, clients can generally pick from a series of five portfolios (labeled I through V) that graduate risk from conservative to aggressive. One typically finds higher equity allocations in the more aggressive portfolios, and higher fixed-income allocations in the more conservative portfolios.

PSEC's investment process can be divided into 3 main parts:

1. Economic Framework: PSEC develops a broad, intermediate to long-term view of the global economy and financial markets.
2. Portfolio Strategy: PSEC develops its strategy for each managed portfolio. Such strategy may increase or decrease expected portfolio risk or shift into or out of investments based on their perceived attractiveness.
3. Mutual Fund Selection and Weighting: PSEC's investment strategy is then translated into specific mutual fund weightings. Adjustments to the strategy can be made depending on strengths and weaknesses of the individual mutual funds being used. PSEC also implements a monitoring process to identify if and when another portfolio reallocation or rebalancing should occur.

Decisions to change portfolio weightings rely on Strategic Rebalancing Events (SREs). These events can be classified into the following categories (but are not exclusive).

- Changes in economic circumstances
- Financial market disparities
- Drift-based repositioning
- Repositioning based on the characteristics of individual mutual funds

Scarborough Investment Advisory Accounts

Scarborough primarily allocates investment management assets of its client accounts among various mutual funds on a limited discretionary basis, in accordance with the investment objectives of the client. In so doing, Scarborough employs its asset management strategy, whereby Scarborough shall allocate such accounts owned by the client among different asset categories within the same or different mutual fund families. Clients may, in writing, place reasonable limitations upon Scarborough's limited discretionary authority. All Scarborough Investment Advisor Representatives that give investment advice on behalf of the client must have earned a college degree and/or have substantive investment-related experience. In addition, all such individuals shall have attained all required investment-related licenses and/or designations. Additionally, the ADV part 2b is provided for to the clients that contain additional information on the Scarborough Investment Advisor Representatives.

Mutual funds are selected based on an analysis of several criteria. While one criterion may hold more importance over another, it is not Scarborough's intent to have an individual criterion act as the sole basis of the selection decision. Within a specific asset class, each fund will be compared to its peer group and appropriate benchmarks.

When choosing the individual investments, each fund is evaluated for risk, return, and reliability parameters. In addition, Scarborough considers the following:

- No-load or load-waived mutual funds
- Expense ratios that are reasonable in comparison to Morningstar category average
- Above median performance based on three-year rolling averages relative to peer groups
- Above median performance in terms of value-added and risk statistics
- Clearly stated investment policy and objective
- Minimum of three years of performance history for either the fund manager or the fund

Mutual funds are monitored at regular intervals or more frequently as circumstances warrant. Scarborough has identified the relevant index and peer group benchmark for each fund to help properly assess investment performance. Decisions to replace funds are only done after careful analysis and deliberation. A detailed analysis of both absolute and relative performance is performed regularly on our funds and if there is a sustained period of poor performance, we may recommend replacing the fund.

Risk of Loss

Investing involves risk. The investment return and principal value will fluctuate and, when redeemed, the investment may be worth more or less than the original purchase price.

By its nature, asset allocation looks to the long-term. After the client's short-term cash needs and emergency fund is evaluated, investment strategies are designed to help the client achieve his or her financial goals.

While there is risk in all investments, some carry a greater degree of risk or higher costs. There is no guarantee that the investment strategy selected for the client will result in the client's goals being met, nor is there any guarantee of profit or protection from loss. For those investments sold by prospectus, clients should read the prospectus in full.

PSEC is disclosing those risks and opportunities for our investment strategy or for particular types of securities used.

- High yield, high risk bonds generally involve more credit risk. These securities may also be subject to greater market price fluctuations than lower yielding higher rated debt securities. Fixed income investments are subject to interest rate risk and values may decline in an increasing interest rate environment.
- The return of principal for the bond holdings is not guaranteed. Fund shares are subject to the same interest rate, inflation and credit risks associated with the underlying bond holdings.
- Investing outside the United States entails additional risks, such as currency fluctuations, as more fully described in the prospectus.
- Small cap and Mid-cap investments may have additional risk, including greater price volatility.
- Money market funds have relatively low risks, compared to other mutual funds (and most other investments). By law, they can invest in only certain high-quality, short-term investments issued by the U.S. Government, U.S. corporations, and state and local governments. Money market funds try to keep their net asset value (NAV), which represents the value of one share in a fund, at a stable $1.00 per share. However, the NAV may fall below $1.00 if the fund's investments perform poorly. Investor losses have been rare, but they are possible.
- There may be tax consequences for short-term trading wherein capital gains are taxed as ordinary income. Additionally, some Funds charge short-term trading fees that are more fully disclosed in the Fund families' prospectus.
- While diversification through an asset allocation strategy is a useful technique that can help to manage overall portfolio risk and volatility, there is no certainty or assurance that a diversified portfolio will enhance overall return or outperform one that is not diversified. An investment made according to one of these asset allocation models neither guarantees a profit nor prevents the possibility of loss.
- Investment portfolio rebalancing is subject to market risk primarily that the value of redeemed and purchased shares may vary during the rebalancing process, resulting in gains or losses to your account.

Disciplinary Information

An investment advisor must disclose material facts about any legal or disciplinary event that is material to a client's evaluation of the advisory business or of the integrity of its management personnel.

2010. NASD Rules 2110, 3010-PlanMember outsourced its mutual fund breakpoint determinations to a third party vendor. Due to software programming error PlanMember's vendor failed to take certain B shares into consideration when determining PlanMember's customers' breakpoints. As a result, the Firm's customers (39 accounts) were overcharged for their mutual fund purchases. During this period, the firm did not have in place a system or procedures for supervising the vendor's breakpoint determinations. The Firm's decision to outsource breakpoint determinations to a third party did not relieve the Firm of its ultimate responsibility for the outsourced activity. During the relevant period, PlanMember failed to have in place adequate policies and procedures to monitor the outside vendor's compliance with the terms of its agreement with the Firm, and to assess the outside vendor's continued fitness and ability to perform the outside activities. The Firm failed to properly supervise its outside vendor to ensure that it was adequately carrying out the outsourced functions.

Without admitting or denying the findings, PlanMember Securities Corporation consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of the findings; therefore, it was censured and fined $20,000.

2018. MSRB Rules G-17, G-27, and G-30 – During the period from October 1, 2015, through December 31, 2015, PlanMember was found by the FINRA to have committed municipal securities fair pricing and related supervision violations with respect to 8 transactions in 3 accounts, in violation of Municipal Securities Rulemaking Board regulations.

Without admitting or denying the findings, PlanMember consented to the described sanctions and to the entry of the finding; it was fined $18,500 and paid restitution in the amount of $5,808, plus interest.

2019. Investment Advisers Act Sections 206(2) and 207. During the period from January 2014 to June 2018, PlanMember purchased, recommended, or held for advisory clients mutual fund share classes that charged 12b-1 fees instead of lower-cost share classes of the same funds for which the clients were eligible. PlanMember and its associated persons received 12b-1 fees in connection with these investments. PlanMember failed to adequately disclose in its Form ADV or otherwise the conflicts of interest related to (a) its receipt of 12b-1 fees, and/or (b) its selection of mutual fund share classes that pay such fees.

Without admitting or denying the findings, PlanMember Securities Corporation entered into a settlement with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), agreeing to disgorge the 12b-1 fees it had received, plus interest, in the total amount of $3,550,660.48 and be censured, but the firm was not assessed any fines.

2019. FINRA Rules 3010, 3110, 2330(d)(1), 2210, and 2010. During the period July 2012 to June 2016, PlanMember is alleged to have failed to establish, maintain, and enforce a supervisory system reasonably designed to achieve compliance with respect to four aspects of its business: the review of variable annuity exchanges; the review, approval, and retention of consolidated reports; the review of e-mail and customer correspondence; and the review of its registered representatives' business-related websites and social media.

On July 3, 2019, PlanMember, without admitting or denying the findings of FINRA, entered into a letter of Acceptance, Waiver, and Consent ("AWC") to settle the alleged violations. As conditions of its settlement, PlanMember consented to a censure and a monetary fine of $90,000.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

PSEC is not, but Investment Advisor Representatives and Registered Representatives of the firm are licensed as securities salespersons ("Registered Representatives") and insurance agents and are in the business of selling securities and insurance products. The sale of these products account for approximately 50% of time allocated.

Investment Advisor Representatives of PSEC are associated with PlanMember Securities Corporation, a dual registrant, as Registered Representatives. PSEC is a general securities broker/dealer having membership in the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority. PSEC is a wholly owned subsidiary of PlanMember Financial Corporation, a diversified financial services company engaged in the design and sale of investment products. We may recommend securities, asset management, or insurance products. If clients purchase these products through us, we will receive the normal fees. Thus, a conflict may exist between our interests and those of advisory clients. The client is under no obligation to purchase products recommended, or to purchase products either through PSEC.

Investment Advisor Representatives and Registered Representatives of the firm may be licensed with several life, disability, and other insurance companies. Insurance products offered by these companies may be recommended. If clients purchase these products through us, we receive the normal compensation. Thus a conflict of interest may exist between our interests and those of advisory clients. The client is under no obligation to purchase products recommended, or to purchase products either through us or through these insurance companies.

PSEC also acts as a clearing and carrying broker-dealer for other registered broker-dealers ("Introducing Brokers"). In this relationship, customers of an Introducing Broker establish a carrying account with PSEC. The Introducing Broker places transactions on its client's behalf; these transactions are executed by PSEC. The client's account and records are maintained by PSEC on its recordkeeping system. PSEC is a member of SIPC, and the client's accounts are covered by SIPC.

PSEC may exercise agreements with other Registered Investment Advisors and recommend other Advisors to clients. In such instances, PSEC may receive a portion of the account fee or commissions. In these instances, we will make available to the client a "Compensation Disclosure Statement" and the Investment Advisor Brochure for the other Advisor. The client is under no obligation to use the services of the other Advisor(s) recommended.

PSEC is affiliated by common ownership with PlanMember Services Corporation ("PSC"), a pension administration and recordkeeping company, registered with the SEC as a transfer agent. PSC will perform client level recordkeeping and plan administration for PSEC clients enrolled in the PlanMember Advisor and PlanMember Preference Programs and may receive fees for such services from the Fund Companies.

Fiduciary Duty with Respect to Retirement Plan Accounts and IRAs

When we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests, so we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours.

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions, and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

PSEC maintains a Code of Ethics. The Code of Ethics sets forth standards of conduct expected of advisory personnel; requires compliance with federal securities laws; and, addresses conflicts that arise from personal trading by advisory personnel.

Personal Trading

At times PSEC and/or its IA Reps may take positions in the same securities as clients, and we will try to avoid conflicts with clients. The firm and its IA Reps will generally be "last in" and "last out" for the trading day when trading occurs in close proximity to client trades. We will not violate our fiduciary responsibilities to our clients. Scalping (trading shortly ahead of clients) is prohibited. Should a conflict occur because of materiality (i.e. a thinly traded stock), disclosure will be made to the client(s) at the time of trading. Incidental trading not deemed to be a conflict (i.e. a purchase or sale which is minimal in relation to the total outstanding value, and as such would have negligible effect on the market price), would not be disclosed at the time of trading.

Brokerage Practices

Selection or Recommendation of Broker/Dealers

Because the principal and IA Reps of PSEC are also registered representatives, if clients freely choose to implement advice through us, the broker/dealer is one in the same. PSEC performs "due diligence" on mutual funds, limited partnerships, and insurance products. Only those investments that meet firm requirements will be on the PSEC "approved product list" and be offered for sale to clients.

Soft Dollar Practices

PSEC may receive compensation from a brokerage firm in the form of products or services ("soft dollars"). When a firm uses client brokerage commissions to obtain soft dollars, the firm receives a benefit by not having to produce or pay for such items. A firm may have an incentive to select or recommend a broker/dealer based on soft dollars received, rather than best execution for the client.

PSEC understands its duty for best execution and considers all factors in making recommendations to clients. These research services may be useful in servicing all PSEC clients and may not be used in connection with any particular account that may have paid compensation to the firm providing such services. While PSEC may not always obtain the lowest commission rate, PSEC believes the rate is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage services provided.

Review of Accounts

Quarterly, PSEC will notify the client in writing to contact PSEC or their Scarborough Representative if there have been any changes in the client's financial situation or investment objectives, or to impose or modify account restrictions. Clients may call in at any time during normal business hours to discuss directly with PSEC or their Scarborough Representative about the client's account, financial situation, or investment needs.

Clients will be contacted in writing and/or via telephone on an annual basis to determine whether there have been any material changes to their financial situation or investment objectives that may affect their asset allocation recommendation. Any clients who feel they may have such a change will be directed to consult with PSEC or their Scarborough Representative. It is the client's responsibility to notify the Scarborough Representative at any time there are changes.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Referral Fees Paid

Generally, Scarborough does not pay for client referrals, although PSEC may do so. All promoters' agreements comply with the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 and the SEC Marketing Rule of 2022. In addition, all applicable federal and state laws will also be observed. All clients procured by promoters will be given full written disclosures describing the terms and fee arrangements between the advisor and the promotor prior to or at the time of entering into the advisory agreement.

Custody

Clients will receive from the custodian/brokerage firm or its agent timely confirmations and at least quarterly statements containing a description of all transactions and all account activity. The client will retain rights of ownership of all securities and funds in the account to the same extent as if the client held the securities and funds outside the program. PSEC may send quarterly reports to the client in addition to the custodial statements. All statements should be carefully reviewed by the client to ensure accuracy.

Investment Discretion

PlanMember Elite Program

As part of the advisory contract, each client gives PSEC a limited power of attorney to (i) allocate the assets in the accounts as indicated on the initial account application; (ii) periodically rebalance the account to adjust for changes resulting from fluctuations in the market price of the assets, by returning the account to the new quarterly asset allocation selections; (iii) reallocate the assets in the account within the portfolio(s) selected; (iv) increase, decrease or change the number of funds utilized in each allocation; and (v) add or delete new funds/fund families or other investment options within the mutual funds.

Scarborough Investment Advisory Account

Scarborough shall allocate such accounts owned by the client among different asset categories within the same or different mutual fund families. Scarborough limits discretion to replacing underperforming funds with funds in the same asset category. For clients who have elected to receive systematic monthly distributions from their accounts, Scarborough will use discretion to select which investment(s) shall be liquidated to provide the cash needed for such distributions.

Voting of Client Securities

With respect to Scarborough Accounts, PSEC has adopted proxy voting policies and procedures. Under these policies, PSEC's general policy is to promote the alignment of the interests of corporate management with the interests of its shareholders, to improve the accountability of corporate management to its shareholders, to reward good performance by management, and to approve proposals that Adviser believes will result in financial rewards for its clients. Clients may obtain a copy of the voting policies upon request.

The proxy voting policies and procedures have been designed so that proxies are voted in the best interests of PSEC's clients and to resolve potential conflicts of interest. PSEC votes shares in a manner consistent with the voting policies and without regard to any other relationship, business or otherwise, that PSEC may have with companies in which PSEC invests client assets.

If clients would like to obtain information about how their securities have been voted or about how they can direct their votes in a particular matter, they should contact Scarborough Alliance at the address on the cover of this brochure.

Privacy Policy

We view protecting your private information as a top priority. Pursuant to applicable privacy requirements, we have instituted policies and procedures to ensure that we keep your personal information private and secure.

We do not disclose any nonpublic personal information about you to any nonaffiliated third parties, except as permitted by law. In the course of servicing your account, we may share some information with our service providers, such as transfer agents, custodians, broker-dealers, accountants, consultants, and attorneys.

We restrict internal access to nonpublic personal information about you to employees who need that information in order to provide products or services to you. We maintain physical and procedural safeguards that comply with regulatory standards to guard your nonpublic personal information and to ensure our integrity and confidentiality. We will not sell information about you or your accounts to anyone. We do not share your information unless it is required to process a transaction, at your request, or required by law.

You will receive a copy of our privacy notice prior to or at the time you sign an advisory agreement with our firm. Thereafter, we will deliver a copy of the current privacy policy notice to you on an annual basis. Please contact Sean Haley, Chief Compliance Officer, at 805-684-1199 if you have any questions regarding this policy.

Financial Information

Investment advisors who have discretionary authority or custody of client funds or securities are required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet its contractual obligations to clients. PSEC has no such conditions to disclose.
