Material Changes - Item 2

The purpose of this page is to inform you of any material changes since the previous version of this disclosure brochure.

On March 28, 2023, we submitted our annual updating amendment for fiscal year 2022 and completed the following material changes to our Form ADV Part 2:

- Item 1 was amended to change our office number to Suite 830 at the same location. Our complete address is now 301 N Lake Ave, Suite 830, Pasadena, CA 91101.
- Item 4 was amended to disclose Wealthtech Partners participation in Altruist LLC's Model Marketplace.
- Item 12 was amended to disclose the receipt of additional benefits from Altruist Financial LLC and associated conflicts of interest.
- Item 14 was amended to disclose Wealthtech Partners' participation in the Altruist Advisor Referral Program and the Altruist Match program of Altruist LLC, along with associated conflicts of interest. We also provided disclosures about our Lead Generation Partnership with Ladder Insurance.

We will review and update, as needed, our brochure at least annually to make sure that it remains current. If you would like to receive a complete copy of our current brochure free of charge at any time, please contact us at (866) 528-3660 or at admin@wealthtechpartners.com.

Advisory Business - Item 4

Wealthtech Partners, LLC (hereinafter "Wealthtech Partners" or the "firm") is a registered investment adviser based in Pasadena, California. We are a limited liability company, organized under the laws of the state of California. We have been providing investment advisory services since 2021. Alex Chalekian is the principal owner of Wealthtech Partners.

As used in this Brochure, the term "Associated Person" refers to anyone from our firm who is an officer, an employee, and all individuals providing investment advice on behalf of our firm. Where required, such persons are properly registered as investment adviser representatives.

Our Associated Persons are restricted to providing services and charging fees based on the disclosures detailed in this document and the agreement(s) signed by the client with the firm. However, the exact services and fees charged to a client are dependent upon each Associated Person's relationship with his or her client and may vary in scope and amount. Associated Persons are instructed to consider the individual needs of each client when recommending a service or a portfolio management platform. Investment strategies and recommendations are tailored to the individual needs of each client.

Currently, we offer the following investment advisory services, personalized for each individual client:

- Financial Planning Services
- Portfolio Management Services (Wrap, Non-Wrap and Web Based Programs)
- Referrals to Third Party Investment Advisers
- Financial Institution Consulting Services

Financial Planning Services

Wealthtech Partners offers various financial planning related services which assist clients in the management of their financial resources. Financial planning services are based upon an analysis of the client's individual needs beginning with one or more information gathering consultations. Once the firm has collected and analysed all documentation gathered during these consultations, Wealthtech Partners provides a written financial plan designed to achieve the client's financial goals and objectives. Wealthtech Partners then assists clients in developing a strategy for the successful management of income, assets, and liabilities. In general, financial planning services may include any one or all of the following:

- Cash Flow Analysis – Assessment of present financial situation by collecting information regarding net worth and cash flow statements, tax returns, insurance policies, investment portfolios, pension plans, employee benefit statements, etc. The firm advises on ways to reduce risk; and, to coordinate and organize records and estate information.
- Retirement Analysis – Identification of long-term financial and personal goals and objectives including advice for accumulating wealth for retirement income or appropriate distribution of assets following retirement. Tax consequences and implications are identified and evaluated.
- Insurance Analysis – Includes risk management associated with advisory recommendations based on a combination of insurance types to meet your needs, e.g., life, health, disability, and long-term care insurance. This will necessitate an analysis of cash needs of the client's family at death, income needs of surviving dependents, and potential disability income needs.
- Portfolio Analysis/Investment Planning – Presentation of investment alternatives, including asset allocation and its effect on the client's portfolio; evaluation of economic and tax characteristics of existing investments as well as their suitability for the client; and, identification and evaluation of tax consequences and their implications.

- Estate Planning – We offer estate planning coordination services to clients in need of basic estate planning assistance. In order to provide the estate planning coordination services, we have contracted with EncorEstate Plans. EncorEstate Plans provides an online platform to help coordinate the creation of estate planning documents based on information provided by the client. For clients engaging in financial planning services, there is no separate fee payable to EncorEstate Plans for estate planning services. However, the client's financial planning fees will be higher if estate planning services are included in the financial planning arrangement.

The recommendations and solutions are designed to achieve the client's desired goals, subject to periodic evaluation of the financial plan, which may require revision to meet changing circumstances. Financial plans are based on your financial situation and the information you provide to our firm. We should be notified promptly of any change to your financial situation, goals, objectives, or needs.

Wealthtech Partners offers ongoing planning and consulting services on an annual basis. The services include the following: Annual meetings with clients to review progress towards stated goals; updates to the client's existing financial plan; coordination with the client's accountant, attorney and other financial professionals; an electronic portal to access various financial planning tools and documents; ongoing telephone or email support; and access to events and workshops held by Wealthtech Partners and affiliates.

Clients can also request financial planning services that cover a specific area, such as retirement or estate planning, asset allocation analysis, manager due diligence, and 401(k) platform due diligence. Clients may choose to accept or reject our recommendations. If you decide to proceed with our recommendations, you may do so by engaging us for investment advisory services or by using any advisory, brokerage, or insurance provider you choose.

Portfolio Management Services

Non-Wrap Portfolio Management Services

Wealthtech Partners offers discretionary portfolio management services to clients. Discretionary portfolio management means we will make investment decisions and place buy or sell orders in your account without contacting you. These decisions would be made based upon your stated investment objectives. If you wish, you may limit our discretionary authority by, for example, setting a limit on the type of securities that can be purchased for your account. Simply provide us with your restrictions or guidelines in writing. In limited cases, and only in the firm's discretion, we may accept non-discretionary portfolio management engagements. Non-discretionary portfolio management service means that we must obtain your approval prior to placing any transactions in your account.

Our investment advice is tailored to meet our clients' needs and investment objectives. If you decide to hire our firm to manage your portfolio, we will meet with you to gather your financial information, determine your goals, and help you decide how much risk you should take in your investments. The information we gather will help us implement an asset allocation strategy that will be specific to your goals, whether we are actively investing for you or simply providing you with advice.

We do not recommend one particular type of security over other types of securities, but we do provide advice on various types of securities, such as exchange listed equities, over the counter equities, foreign issues, American depository receipts, corporate debt securities, commercial paper, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, investment company securities (including mutual funds and exchange traded funds), US Government securities, options contracts on securities, private equity instruments, return enhanced notes, and interests in partnership investing in real estate. Additionally, will provide advice on existing investments you may hold at the inception of the advisory relationship or on other types of investments for which you ask advice. Because some types of investments involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be implemented/recommended when consistent with the client's stated investment objectives, tolerance for risk, liquidity, and suitability.

Asset allocation models are diversified among investment styles and/or asset classes and are developed and managed by us based on research conducted by Wealthtech Partners. We also use portfolio models developed by third party investment advisers. Some of our Associated Persons may use their own customized portfolio models. Once the client portfolio is constructed, Wealthtech Partners provides continuous supervision of the portfolio as changes in the market conditions and client circumstances may require. Investments and allocations are determined based upon the clients' predefined objectives, risk tolerance, time horizons, financial horizons, financial information, and other various suitability factors. Further restrictions and guidelines imposed by clients may affect the composition and performance of a client's portfolio. As such, different clients of our firm may have significant differences in their asset allocation. For these reasons, performance of one client's portfolio might not be identical with another client's even if both clients have similar risk parameters. We review the clients' financial circumstances and investment objectives on a regular basis and make adjustments to clients' portfolios or allocation models as may be necessary to achieve the desired results. At all times, our firm requires each Associated Person to uphold their fiduciary duty by providing advice that in our judgement is in the client's best interest.

We will also contact clients at least annually or more often to review their financial situation and objectives. Please notify us of any changes in your financial situation, investment objectives, or account restrictions.

Portfolio Management Services - Wrap Fee Program

Wealthtech Partners is the portfolio manager and sponsor of the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program. A wrap fee program combines portfolio management, advisory services, and trade execution for a single fee. Wealthtech Partners, as portfolio manager is responsible for the research, security selection, and implementation of transaction orders in the client's account. The transactions in the client's account will be executed by and held at LPL Financial, LLC ("LPL"), a FINRA-registered broker-dealer, member SIPC. The client pays Wealthtech Partners a Wrap fee that includes portfolio management services and trade execution. Wealthtech Partners pays LPL a portion of this fee for trade execution expenses. Detailed information about the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program and program fees is provided in the Form ADV Part 2A, Appendix 1 (Wrap Brochure) that is attached to this Form ADV Part 2A Disclosure Brochure.

Web-Based Portfolio Management Services (Altruist Program)

Wealthtech Partners provides portfolio management services through an automated, online investment management platform sponsored by Altruist Financial LLC, an unaffiliated SEC-registered broker dealer and FINRA/SIPC member (Altruist Program). This service is designed to align client's investment objective and risk tolerance with model portfolios. A client is matched to a portfolio that is suggested by the outcome of an initial suitability review.

Under this program, trading and rebalancing is determined by algorithms based on model portfolios created by Wealthtech Partners. The Altruist Program provides Wealthtech Partners with the technology needed to automate the portfolio rebalancing process on a discretionary basis. Altruist Program accounts are custodied at Altruist Financial LLC.

A client does not have the ability to make trades in their Program account and restrictions on investments in specific securities may not be possible due to some inherent limitations of the Program.

Wealthtech Partners participates in the Model Marketplace of Altruist LLC, an SEC registered investment adviser and affiliate of Altruist Financial LLC. Wealthtech Partners may assign to client accounts any of the available Altruist LLC generated portfolios, Third-Party Portfolios, or other portfolios made available through Altruist LLC's Model Marketplace.

Recommendation of Third-Party Investment Advisers

We may also recommend other third-party investment advisers or programs to manage all or a portion of your account. All third-party investment advisers recommended by our firm must be registered as investment advisers or exempt from registration requirements. Factors that we take into consideration when making our recommendations include, but are not limited to, the following: the third-party investment adviser's performance, methods of analysis, fees, your financial needs, investment goals, risk tolerance, and investment objectives. We will periodically monitor the third-party investment adviser's performance to ensure its management and investment style remains aligned with your investment goals and objectives.

The third-party investment adviser may offer wrapped or non-wrapped pricing options. Wrap pricing structures allow the client to pay an all-inclusive fee for management, brokerage, clearance, custody, and administrative services. In a non-wrap pricing structure, the third-party investment adviser's fee may be separate from the advisory fee charged by Wealthtech Partners. Transaction costs may also be charged for the execution and clearance of advisory transactions directed by such third-party investment advisory services. A complete description of the programs and services provided, account minimums, the amount of total fees, the payment structure, termination provisions and other aspects of each program are detailed and disclosed in: i) the third party investment adviser's Form ADV Part 2A; ii) the program wrap brochure (if applicable) or other applicable disclosure documents; iii) the disclosure documents of the portfolio manager(s) selected; and/or, iv) the third party investment adviser's account opening documents. A copy of all relevant disclosure documents of the third-party investment adviser and of the individual portfolio manager(s) will be provided to anyone interested in these programs/managers.

Financial Institution Consulting Services

Wealthtech Partners provides investment consulting services to certain broker/dealers' customers ("Brokerage Customers") who provide written consent requesting to receive the firm's consulting services. Brokerage Customers have entered into a written advisory agreement with Wealthtech Partners.

Assets Under Management

As of February 28, 2023, we manage $96,417,630 in client assets on a discretionary basis, and $5,993,318 in client assets on a non-discretionary basis.

Fees and Compensation - Item 5

Financial Planning Services Fees

Wealthtech Partners provides its clients financial planning and consulting services. Prior to engaging Wealthtech Partners to provide consulting services, the client will be required to enter into a financial planning agreement with our firm. The Agreement will set forth the terms and conditions of the engagement and describe the scope of the services to be provided and the fee that is due from the client. Wealthtech Partners will charge a negotiable fixed fee of up to $20,000 or an hourly fee of up to $400 for these services.

Fee payment arrangements may be negotiated with the client on a case-by-case basis. Fees are payable as invoiced and all such arrangements will be clearly set forth in the financial planning agreement signed by the client and the firm.

Either party may terminate the financial planning agreement by written notice to the other. In the event the client terminates Wealthtech Partners' financial planning services, the balance of any prepaid, unearned fees (if any) will be promptly refunded to the client. Wealthtech Partners does not require the prepayment of over $1,200, six or more months in advance.

Portfolio Management Services Fees

Wealthtech Partners charges a fee based on a percentage of assets under management. This fee is deducted from the client's account held at the custodian. The client authorizes Wealthtech Partners to debit the fee from the client's account. If requested by the client, we may also invoice the client directly for the payment of fees in lieu of a direct deduction from the client's account.

Wealthtech Partners charges an annual management fee of up to 1.75% of assets under management. The fee is negotiable and the exact fee paid by you will be stated in the client agreement signed by you and us.

The annual fee is billed monthly or quarterly, in advance or in arrears, depending on the payment arrangement negotiated with the client and set forth in the client Agreement. Fees will be assessed pro rata in the event the Agreement is executed at any time other than the first day of a billing period. We may deduct the fee from a single, client-designated account to facilitate billing.

We encourage you to carefully review the statements you receive from the qualified custodian. If you have questions about your statements, or if you did not receive a statement from the qualified custodian, please call our office number located on the cover page of this brochure.

At the inception of investment management services, the first pay period's fees will be calculated on a pro-rata basis. You may terminate the client Agreement upon 30-days' written notice to our firm. If your fee is payable in arrears, you will incur a pro rata charge for services rendered prior to the termination of the agreement, which means you will incur advisory fees only in proportion to the number of days in the pay period for which you are a client. Where fees are payable in advance, Wealthtech Partners will issue a pro-rated refund of any pre-paid unearned advisory fee based on the number of days remaining in the billing period after the termination date.

As paying agent for our firm, your custodian will deduct the investment advisory fee directly from your account. The fee is deducted only when you have given us written authorization permitting the fees to be paid directly from your account. If insufficient cash is available to pay such fees, securities in an amount equal to the balance of unpaid fees will be liquidated to pay for the unpaid balance. Further, the qualified custodian will deliver an account statement to you at least quarterly. These account statements will show all disbursements from your account. We encourage you to review the statement(s) you receive from the qualified custodian for accuracy. If you find any inconsistent information between our invoice and the statement(s) you receive from the qualified custodian please call our main office number located on the cover page of this brochure.

Portfolio Management Services - Wrap Fee Program

Detailed information about the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program, program fees and associated conflicts of interest is provided in the Form ADV Part 2A, Appendix 1 (Wrap Brochure) that is attached to this Form ADV Part 2A Disclosure Brochure.

Third Party Adviser Fees

Wealthtech Partners will either share in the fee charged by the third-party adviser or the third-party adviser will charge a separate fee in addition to the fee charged by Wealthtech Partners. Advisory fees that you pay to third party investment advisers are established and payable in accordance with the Form ADV Brochure provided by each third-party investment adviser to whom you are referred. These fees may or may not be negotiable. Depending on the third-party adviser, clients may or may not be able to negotiate the fee payable to the third-party adviser.

You will be required to sign an agreement directly with the third-party adviser(s). You may terminate your advisory relationship with the third-party adviser(s) according to the terms of your agreement with the third-party adviser(s). You should review each adviser's brochure for specific information on how you may terminate your advisory relationship with the adviser and how you may receive a refund, if applicable. You should contact the third-party adviser directly for questions regarding your advisory agreement with the third-party adviser.

Since our compensation may differ depending upon our individual agreement with each third-party adviser, we have an incentive to recommend one third party adviser over another third-party adviser with whom we have less favorable compensation arrangements or other advisory programs offered by third party advisers with which we have no compensation arrangements. At all times, Wealthtech Partners and its Associated Persons uphold their fiduciary duty of fair dealing with clients.

Financial Institution Consulting Services

Wealthtech Partners receives a consulting fee based on the Assets Under Management from Brokerage Customers who have provided written consent to a broker/dealer to receive the investment consulting service from Wealthtech Partners and have entered into a written advisory contract with Wealthtech Partners. The consulting fee is calculated from the Assets Under Management as of the end of a calendar quarter period multiplied by the annualized rate of 25 to 75 basis points. The initial fee is paid only after the completion of one full calendar quarter period following the date of the executed agreement with broker/dealers.

Important Note: Information related to tax and legal consequences that is provided as part of our services is for informative purposes only. Clients are instructed to contact their tax or legal advisers for personalized advice. In providing the contracted services, we are not required to verify any information we receive from you or from your other professionals (e.g., attorney, accountant, etc.) and we are expressly authorized to rely on the information you provide. You must promptly notify our firm of any changes in your financial circumstances or investment objectives that might affect the manner in which your accounts should be managed.

Additional Information About Fees and Expenses

The fees Wealthtech Partners charges are negotiable based on the amount of assets under management, complexity of client goals and objectives, and level of services rendered. Fees are charged as described above and are not based on a share of capital gains in the account of any advisory client.

Clients who choose to have Wealthtech Partners' fee deducted directly from their account must provide authorization. The qualified custodian holding client funds and securities will send an account statement on at least a quarterly basis. This statement will detail account activity. Clients are encouraged to review each statement for accuracy. If requested by the client, we may also invoice the client directly for the payment of fees in lieu of a direct deduction from the client's account.

All fees paid to Wealthtech Partners for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged to shareholders by investment companies, such as unit investment trusts, mutual funds or exchange traded funds. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, you may pay an initial or deferred sales charge.

You could invest in a mutual fund directly, without the services of Wealthtech Partners. In which case, you would not receive the advice provided by Wealthtech Partners, which is designed, among other things, to assist you in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to your financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, you should review both the fees charged by the funds and the fees charged by Wealthtech Partners to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by you to evaluate the advisory services being provided. Although Wealthtech Partners uses its best efforts to purchase lower cost mutual fund shares when available, some mutual fund companies do not offer institutional classes to us or they do not offer funds that do not pay 12b-1 distribution fees.

Limited Prepayment of Fees: Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1,200 more than six months in advance of services rendered.

Billing on Cash Positions: The firm treats cash and cash equivalents as an asset class. Accordingly, unless otherwise agreed in writing, all cash and cash equivalent positions (e.g., money market funds, etc.) are included as part of assets under management for purposes of calculating the firm's advisory fee. At any specific point in time, depending upon perceived or anticipated market conditions/events (there being no guarantee that such anticipated market conditions/events will occur), the firm may maintain cash and/or cash equivalent positions for defensive, liquidity, or other purposes. While assets are maintained in cash or cash equivalents, such amounts could miss market advances and, depending upon current yields, at any point in time, the firm's advisory fee could exceed the interest paid by the client's cash or cash equivalent positions.

Periods of Portfolio Inactivity: The firm has a fiduciary duty to provide services consistent with the client's best interest. As part of its investment advisory services, the firm will review client portfolios on an ongoing basis to determine if any changes are necessary based upon various factors, including but not limited to investment performance, fund manager tenure, style drift, account additions/withdrawals, the client's financial circumstances, and changes in the client's investment objectives. Based upon these and other factors, there may be extended periods of time when the firm determines that changes to a client's portfolio are neither necessary nor prudent. Notwithstanding, unless otherwise agreed in writing, the firm's annual investment advisory fee will continue to apply during these periods, and there can be no assurance that investment decisions made by the firm will be profitable or equal any specific performance level(s).

IRA Rollover Considerations

As a normal extension of financial advice, we provide education or recommendations related to the rollover of an employer-sponsored retirement plan. A plan participant leaving employment has several options. Each choice offers advantages and disadvantages, depending on desired investment options and services, fees and expenses, withdrawal options, required minimum distributions, tax treatment, and the investor's unique financial needs and retirement plans. The complexity of these choices may lead an investor to seek assistance from us.

An Associated Person who recommends an investor roll over plan assets into an Individual Retirement Account ("IRA") may earn an asset-based fee as a result, but no compensation if assets are retained in the plan. Thus, we have an economic incentive to encourage an investor to roll plan assets into an IRA. In most cases, fees and expenses will increase to the investor as a result because the above-described fees will apply to assets rolled over to an IRA and outlined ongoing services will be extended to these assets.

We are fiduciaries under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 and when we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are also fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. We have to act in your best interests and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management - Item 6

Performance-based fees are based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the client's assets. Side-by-side management refers to the practice of managing accounts that are charged performance-based fees while at the same time managing accounts that are not charged performance-based fees. We do not accept performance-based fees or participate in side-by-side management. Our fees are calculated as described in the Fees and Compensation section above, and are not charged on the basis of a share of capital gains upon, or capital appreciation of, the funds in your advisory account(s).

Types of Clients - Item 7

We generally offer investment advisory services to individuals, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, broker dealers, corporations, and other business entities.

We do not require an account minimum to establish advisory relationships with clients. However, some of the third-party advisers recommended by our firm may impose their own account minimums.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss - Item 8

Wealthtech Partners advisors may use various methods to determine an appropriate investment strategy for your portfolio with the goal of reducing risk and increasing performance in each customized portfolio. We seek to recommend investment strategies or products that will give you a diversified portfolio consistent with your investment objective. We do this by analyzing the various products, investment strategies, and money management firms to which we provide access. That analysis includes a review of the structure, cost, and investment performance history of each program.

Methods of Analysis

Wealthtech Partners uses Fundamental, Technical and Cyclical analysis along with Charting in formulating investment advice:

Fundamental analysis is a method of evaluating a company or security by attempting to measure its intrinsic value. In other words, trying to determine a company's or a security's true value by looking at all aspects of the business, including both tangible factors (e.g., machinery buildings, land, etc.) and intangible factors (e.g., patents, trademarks, "brand" names, etc.). Fundamental analysis also involves examining related economic factors (e.g., overall economy and industry conditions, etc.), financial factors (e.g., company debt, interest rates, management salaries and bonuses, etc.), qualitative factors (e.g., management expertise, industry cycles, labor relations, etc.), and quantitative factors (e.g., debt-to-equity and price-to-equity ratios). The end goal of performing fundamental analysis is to produce a value that an investor can compare with the security's current price in hopes of determining what sort of position to take with that security (underpriced = buy, overpriced = sell or short). This method of security analysis is considered the opposite of technical analysis. Fundamental analysis is about using real data to evaluate a security's value. Although most analysts use fundamental analysis to value stocks, this method of valuation can be used for just about any type of security.

Technical analysis is a technique that relies on the assumption that current market data (such as charts of price, volume, and open interest) can help predict future market trends, at least in the short term. It assumes that market psychology influences trading and can predict when stocks will rise or fall. Technical trading models are mathematically driven based upon historical data and trends of domestic and foreign market trading activity, including various industry and sector trading statistics within such markets. Technical trading models, through mathematical algorithms, attempt to identify when markets are likely to increase or decrease and identify appropriate entry and exit points. The primary risk of technical trading models is that historical trends and past performance cannot predict future trends, and there is no assurance that the mathematical algorithms employed are designed properly, updated with new data, and can accurately predict future market, industry, and sector performance.

Cyclical analysis is similar to technical analysis in that it involves the analysis of market conditions at a macro (entire market/economy) or micro (company specific) level, rather than the overall fundamental analysis of the health of the particular company. The primary risks with cyclical analysis are similar to those of technical analysis.

Charting analysis involves the gathering and processing of price and volume pattern information for a particular security, sector, broad index, or commodity. This price and volume pattern information is analyzed. The resulting pattern and correlation data is used to detect departures from expected performance and diversification and predict future price movements and trends. The primary risk of charting analysis is that it may not accurately detect anomalies or predict future price movements. Current prices of securities may reflect all information known about the security and day-to-day changes in market prices of securities may follow random patterns and may not be predictable with any reliable degree of accuracy.

Investment Strategies

We may use one or more of the following investment strategies when advising you on investments:

Long Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period, generally greater than one year. Using a long-term purchase strategy generally assumes the financial markets will go up in the long-term which may not be the case. There is also the risk that the segment of the market that you are invested in or perhaps just your particular investment will go down over time even if the overall financial markets advance. Purchasing investments long-term may create an opportunity cost - "locking-up" assets that may be better utilized in the short-term in other investments.

Short Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that they will be sold within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities' short-term price fluctuations. Using a short-term purchase strategy generally assumes that we can predict how financial markets will perform in the short-term which may be very difficult and will incur a disproportionately higher amount of transaction costs compared to long-term trading. There are many factors that can affect financial market performance in the short-term (such as short-term interest rate changes, cyclical earnings announcements, etc.), but they may have a smaller impact over longer periods.

Trading – securities are sold within 30 days. The principal type of risk associated with trading is market risk. There can be no assurance that a specific investment will achieve its investment objectives and past performance should not be seen as a guide to future returns. The value of investments and the income derived may fall as well as rise and investors may not recoup the original amount invested. Other factors, such as changes in exchange control regulation, tax laws, withholding taxes, international, political and economic developments, and government, economic or monetary policies, may affect investments as well. Additionally, trading is speculative. Market movements are difficult to predict and are influenced by, among other things, government trade, fiscal, monetary and exchange control programs and policies; changing supply and demand relationships; national and international political and economic events; changes in interest rates; and the inherent volatility of the marketplace. In addition, governments from time to time intervene, directly and by regulation, in certain markets, often with the intent to influence prices directly. The effects of governmental intervention may be particularly significant at certain times in the financial instrument markets and such intervention (as well as other factors) may cause these markets to move rapidly.

Margin Transactions – margin strategies allow an investor to purchase securities on credit and to borrow on securities already in their custodial account. Interest is charged on any borrowed funds for the period that the loan is outstanding. When you purchase securities, you may pay for the securities in full or you may borrow part of the purchase price from your broker-dealer. If you intend to borrow funds in connection with your account, you will be required to open a margin account, which will be carried by the broker-dealer of your account. The securities purchased in such an account are the broker-dealer's collateral for its loan to you. If the securities in a margin account decline in value, the value of the collateral supporting this loan also declines, and, as a result, a brokerage firm is required to take action, such as issue a margin call and/or sell securities or other assets in your accounts, in order to maintain necessary level of equity in the account. It is important that you fully understand the risks involved in trading securities on margin, which are applicable to any margin account that you may maintain, including any margin Account that may be established as a part of our advisory services and held by your broker-dealer. These risks include the following:

- You can lose more funds than you deposit in your margin account.
- The broker-dealer can force the sale of securities or other assets in your account.
- The broker-dealer can sell your securities or other assets without contacting you.

- You may not be able to choose which securities or other assets in your margin account are liquidated or sold to meet a margin call.
- The broker-dealer may move securities held in your cash account to your margin account and pledge the transferred securities.
- You may not be entitled to an extension of time on a margin call.

Option Writing – an option is the right either to buy or sell a specified amount or value of a particular underlying investment instrument at a fixed price (i.e., the “exercise price”) by exercising the option before its specified expiration date. Options giving you the right to buy are called “call” options. Options giving you the right to sell are called “put” options. When trading options on behalf of a client, we generally use covered options. Covered options involve options trading when you own the underlying instrument on which the option is based. Investments in options contracts have the risk of losing value in a relatively short period. Option contracts are leveraged instruments that allow the holder of a single contract to control many shares of an underlying stock. This leverage can compound gains or losses.

Risk of Loss

Clients should be aware that investing in securities involves a risk of loss that they should be prepared to bear. Past performance is not indicative of future results. Therefore, you should never assume that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy would be profitable. Investing in securities (including stocks, mutual funds, and bonds, etc.) involves risk of loss. Further, depending on the different types of investments there may be varying degrees of risk. You should be prepared to bear investment loss including loss of original principal. Because of the inherent risk of loss associated with investing, our firm is unable to represent, guarantee, or even imply that our services and methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate you from losses due to market corrections or declines.

There are certain additional risks associated with investing in securities, as described below:

Recommendation of Particular Types of Securities

As disclosed under the “Advisory Business” section in this Brochure, we provide advice on various types of securities and we do not necessarily recommend one particular type of security over another since each client has different needs and different tolerance for risk. Each type of security has its own unique set of risks associated with it and it would not be possible to list here all of the specific risks of every type of investment. Even within the same type of investment, risks can vary widely. However, in very general terms, the higher the anticipated return of an investment, the higher the risk of loss associated with it.

General Investment Risk: All investments come with the risk of losing money. Investing involves substantial risks, including complete possible loss of principal plus other losses and may not be suitable for many members of the public. Investments, unlike savings and checking accounts at a bank, are not insured by the government to protect against market losses. Different market instruments carry different types and degrees of risk and you should familiarize yourself with the risks involved in the particular market instruments in which you intend to invest.

Loss of Value: There can be no assurance that a specific investment will achieve its investment objectives and past performance should not be seen as a guide to future returns. The value of investments and the income derived may fall as well as rise and investors may not recoup the original amount invested. Investments may also be affected by any changes in exchange control regulation, tax laws, withholding taxes, international, political and economic developments, and governmental economic or monetary policies.

Interest Rate Risk: Fixed income securities and funds that invest in bonds and other fixed income securities may fall in value if interest rates change. Generally, the prices of debt securities rise when interest rates fall, and their prices fall when interest rates rise. Longer-term debt securities are usually more sensitive to interest rate changes.

Credit Risk: Investments in bonds and other fixed income securities are subject to the risk that the issuer(s) may not make required interest payments. An issuer suffering an adverse change in its financial condition could lower the credit quality of a security, leading to greater price volatility of the security. A lowering of the credit rating of a security may also offset the security's liquidity, making it more difficult to sell. Funds investing in lower quality debt securities are more susceptible to these problems and their value may be more volatile.

Foreign Exchange Risk: Foreign investments may be affected favorably or unfavorably by exchange control regulations or changes in the exchange rates. Changes in currency exchange rates may influence the share value, the dividends or interest earned and the gains and losses realized. Exchange rates between currencies are determined by supply and demand in the currency exchange markets, the international balance of payments, governmental intervention, speculation, and other economic and political conditions. If the currency in which a security is denominated appreciates against the US Dollar, the value of the security will increase. Conversely, a decline in the exchange rate of the currency would adversely affect the value of the security.

Equity (stock) Market Risk: Common stocks are susceptible to general stock market fluctuations and to volatile increases and decreases in value as market confidence in and perceptions of their issuers change. If you held common stock, or common stock equivalents, of any given issuer, you would generally be exposed to greater risk than if you held preferred stocks and debt obligations of the issuer.

Company Risk: When investing in stock positions, there is always a certain level of company or industry specific risk that is inherent in each investment. This is also referred to as unsystematic risk and can be reduced through appropriate diversification. There is the risk that the company will perform poorly or have its value reduced based on factors specific to the company or its industry. For example, if a company's employees go on strike or the company receives unfavorable media attention for its actions, the value of the company may be reduced.

Fixed Income Risk: When investing in bonds, there is the risk that the issuer will default on the bond and be unable to make payments. Further, individuals who depend on set amounts of periodically paid income face the risk that inflation will erode their spending power. Fixed-income investors receive set, regular payments that face the same inflation risk.

Preferred Securities Risk: Preferred Securities have similar characteristics to bonds in that preferred securities are designed to make fixed payments based on a percentage of their par value and are senior to common stock. Like bonds, the market value of preferred securities is sensitive to changes in interest rates as well as changes in issuer credit quality. Preferred securities, however, are junior to bonds with regard to the distribution of corporate earnings and liquidation in the event of bankruptcy. Preferred securities that are in the form of preferred stock also differ from bonds in that dividends on preferred stock must be declared by the issuer's board of directors, whereas interest payments on bonds generally do not require action by the issuer's board of directors, and bondholders generally have protections that preferred stockholders do not have, such as indentures that are designed to guarantee payments – subject to the credit quality of the issuer – with terms and conditions for the benefit of bondholders. In contrast preferred stocks generally pay dividends, not interest payments, which can be deferred or stopped in the event of credit stress without triggering bankruptcy or default. Another difference is that preferred dividends are paid from the issuer's after-tax profits, while bond interest is paid before taxes.

Risks Associated with Investing in Mutual Funds: Mutual funds are professionally managed collective investment systems that pool money from many investors and invest in stocks, bonds, short-term money market instruments, other mutual funds, other securities, or any combination thereof. The fund will have a manager that trades the fund's investments in accordance with the fund's investment objective. While mutual funds generally provide diversification, risks can be significantly increased if the fund is concentrated in a particular sector of the market, primarily invests in small cap or speculative companies, uses leverage (i.e., borrows money) to a significant degree, or concentrates in a particular type of security (i.e., equities) rather than balancing the fund with different types of securities. The returns on mutual funds can be reduced by the costs to manage the funds. In addition, while some mutual funds are “no load” and charge no fee to buy into, or sell out of, other types of mutual funds do charge such fees which can also reduce returns.

Risks Associated with Investing in Exchange Traded Funds (ETF): Investing in stocks & ETF's carries the risk of capital loss (sometimes up to a 100% loss in the case of a stock holding bankruptcy). Investments in these securities are not guaranteed or insured by the FDIC or any other government agency.

Management Risk: Your investment with our firm varies with the success and failure of our investment strategies, research, analysis and determination of portfolio securities. If our investment strategies do not produce the expected returns, the value of the investment will decrease.

Municipal Securities Risk: The value of municipal obligations can fluctuate over time. Value may be affected by adverse political, legislative and tax changes. Financial developments affecting the municipal issuers affect the value as well. Because many municipal obligations are issued to finance similar projects by municipalities (e.g., housing, healthcare, water and sewer projects, etc.), conditions in the sector related to the project can affect the overall municipal market. Payment of municipal obligations may depend on an issuer's general unrestricted revenues; revenue generated by a specific project, the operator of the project, or government appropriation or aid. There is a greater risk if investors can look only to the revenue generated by the project. In addition, municipal bonds generally are traded in the “over-the-counter” market among dealers and other large institutional investors. From time to time, liquidity in the municipal bond market (the ability to buy and sell bonds readily) may be reduced in response to overall economic conditions and credit tightening.

Alternatives Risk: Non-traded REITs, business development companies, limited partnerships, and direct alternatives are subject to various risks such as liquidity and property devaluation based on adverse economic and real estate market conditions and may not be suitable for all investors. A prospectus that discloses all risks, fees, and expenses may be obtained from your investment adviser representative. Read the prospectus carefully before investing. This is not a solicitation or offering which can only be made in conjunction with a copy of the prospectus. Investors considering an investment strategy utilizing alternative investments should understand that alternative investments are generally considered speculative in nature; and, such investments involve a high degree of risk, particularly if concentrating investments in one or few alternatives investments.

Foreign Securities Risk: Foreign securities are subject to additional risks not typically associated with investments in domestic securities. These risks may include, among others, currency risk, country risks (political, diplomatic, regional conflicts, terrorism, war, social and economic instability, currency devaluations and policies that have the effect of limiting or restricting foreign investment or the movement of assets), different trading practices, less government supervision, less publicly available information, limited trading markets and greater volatility. To the extent that underlying funds invest in issuers located in emerging markets, the risk may be heightened by political changes, changes in taxation, or currency controls that could adversely affect the values of these investments. Emerging markets have been more volatile than the markets of developed countries with more mature economies.

Risks Associated with Investing in Private Funds: Private investment funds are not registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission and may not be registered with any other regulatory authority. Accordingly, they are not subject to certain regulatory restrictions and oversight to which other issuers are subject. There may be little public information available about their investments and performance. Moreover, as sales of shares of private investment companies are generally restricted to certain qualified purchasers, it could be difficult for a client to sell its shares of a private investment company at an advantageous price and time. Since shares of private investment companies are not publicly traded, from time to time it may be difficult to establish a fair value for the client's investment in these companies.

Risks Associated with Investing in Options: Transactions in options carry a high degree of risk. A relatively small market movement will have a proportionately larger impact, which may work for or against the investor. The placing of certain orders, which are intended to limit losses to certain amounts, may not be effective because market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders. Selling ("writing" or "granting") an option generally entails considerably greater risk than purchasing options. Although the premium received by the seller is fixed, the seller may sustain a loss well in excess of that amount. The seller will also be exposed to the risk of the purchaser exercising the option and the seller will be obliged either to settle the option in cash or to acquire or deliver the underlying investment. If the option is "covered" by the seller holding a corresponding position in the underlying investment or a future on another option, the risk may be reduced.

Illiquid securities: Illiquid securities involve the risk that investments may not be readily sold at the desired time or price. Securities that are illiquid, that are not publicly traded, and/or for which no market is currently available may be difficult to purchase or sell, which may impact the price or timing of a transaction. An inability to sell securities can adversely affect an account's value or prevent an account from taking advantage of other investment opportunities. Lack of liquidity may cause the value of investments to decline and illiquid investments may also be difficult to value. A client may not be able to liquidate investment in the event of an emergency or any other reason.

Certain investment strategies used by our firm may invest in illiquid asset vehicles, such as private equity and real estate. Investment in an illiquid asset vehicle poses similar risks as direct investments in illiquid securities. In addition, investment in an illiquid asset vehicle will be subject to the terms and conditions of the illiquid asset vehicle's investment policy and governing documents that often include provisions that may involve investor lock-in periods, mandatory capital calls, redemption restrictions, infrequent valuation of assets, etc. In addition, investments in illiquid securities or vehicle may normally involve investment in non-marketable securities where there is limited transparency. If obligated to sell an illiquid security prior to an expected maturity date, particularly with an infrastructure investment, they may not be able to realize fair value. Investments in illiquid securities or vehicles may include restrictions on withdrawal rights and shares may not be freely transferable.

Cybersecurity Risks – Wealthtech Partners and its service providers are subject to risks associated with a breach in cybersecurity. Cybersecurity is a generic term used to describe the technology, processes and practices designed to protect networks, systems, computers, programs and data from cyber-attacks and hacking by other computer users, and to avoid the resulting damage and disruption of hardware and software systems, loss or corruption of data, and/or misappropriation of confidential information. In general, cyber-attacks are deliberate, however, unintentional events may have similar effects. Cyber-attacks may cause losses to clients by interfering with the processing of transactions, affecting the ability to calculate net asset value or impeding or sabotaging trading. Clients may also incur substantial costs as the result of a cybersecurity breach, including those associated with forensic analysis of the origin and scope of the breach, increased and upgraded cybersecurity, identity theft, unauthorized use of proprietary information, litigation, and the dissemination of confidential and proprietary information. Any such breach could expose our firm to civil liability as well as regulatory inquiry and/or action. In addition, clients could be exposed to additional losses as a result of unauthorized use of their personal information. While our firm has established business continuity plans, incident response plans and systems designed to prevent cyber-attacks, there are inherent limitations in such plans and systems, including the possibility that certain risks have not been identified. Similar types of cyber security risks also are present for issuers of securities in which we invest, which could result in material adverse consequences for such issuers and may cause a client's investment in such securities to lose value.

Pandemic Risk: Large-scale outbreaks of infectious disease can greatly increase morbidity and mortality over a wide geographic area, crossing international boundaries, and causing significant economic, social, and political disruption. It is difficult to predict the long-term impact of such events because they are dependent on a variety of factors including the global response of regulators and governments to address and mitigate the worldwide effects of such events. Workforce reductions, travel restrictions, governmental responses and policies and macroeconomic factors will negatively impact investment returns.

Cryptocurrency Risk: Cryptocurrency (e.g., bitcoin and ether), often referred to as “virtual currency”, “digital currency,” or “digital assets,” is designed to act as a medium of exchange. Cryptocurrency is an emerging asset class. There are thousands of cryptocurrencies, the most well-known of which is bitcoin. Certain of the firm’s clients may have exposure to bitcoin or another cryptocurrency, directly or indirectly through an investment such as an ETF or other investment vehicles. Cryptocurrency operates without central authority or banks and is not backed by any government. Cryptocurrencies may experience very high volatility and related investment vehicles may be affected by such volatility. As a result of holding cryptocurrency, certain of the firm’s clients may also trade at a significant premium or discount to NAV. Cryptocurrency is also not legal tender. Federal, state or foreign governments may restrict the use and exchange of cryptocurrency, and regulation in the U.S. is still developing. The market price of many cryptocurrencies, including bitcoin, has been subject to extreme fluctuations. If cryptocurrency markets continue to be subject to sharp fluctuations, investors may experience losses if the value of the client’s investments decline. Similar to fiat currencies (i.e., a currency that is backed by a central bank or a national, supra-national or quasi-national organization), cryptocurrencies are susceptible to theft, loss and destruction. Cryptocurrency exchanges and other trading venues on which cryptocurrencies trade are relatively new and, in most cases, largely unregulated and may therefore be more exposed to fraud and failure than established, regulated exchanges for securities, derivatives and other currencies. The SEC has issued a public report stating U.S. federal securities laws require treating some digital assets as securities.

Cryptocurrency exchanges may stop operating or permanently shut down due to fraud, technical glitches, hackers or malware. Due to relatively recent launches, most cryptocurrencies have a limited trading history, making it difficult for investors to evaluate investments. Generally, cryptocurrency transactions are irreversible such that an improper transfer can only be undone by the receiver of the cryptocurrency agreeing to return the cryptocurrency to the original sender. Digital assets are highly dependent on their developers and there is no guarantee that development will continue or that developers will not abandon a project with little or no notice. Third parties may assert intellectual property claims relating to the holding and transfer of digital assets, including cryptocurrencies, and their source code. Any threatened action that reduces confidence in a network’s long-term ability to hold and transfer cryptocurrency may affect investments in cryptocurrencies.

Many significant aspects of the U.S. federal income tax treatment of investments in cryptocurrency are uncertain and an investment in cryptocurrency may produce income that is not treated as qualifying income for purposes of the income test applicable to regulated investment companies. Certain cryptocurrency investments may be treated as a grantor trust for U.S. federal income tax purposes, and an investment by the firm’s clients in such a vehicle will generally be treated as a direct investment in cryptocurrency for tax purposes and “flow-through” to the underlying investors.

Environmental, Social, and Governance Investment Criteria Risk: If a portfolio is subject to certain environmental, social and governance (ESG) investment criteria it may avoid purchasing certain securities for ESG reasons when it is otherwise economically advantageous to purchase those securities, or may sell certain securities for ESG reasons when it is otherwise economically advantageous to hold those securities. In general, the application of the portfolio’s ESG investment criteria may affect the portfolio’s exposure to certain issuers, industries, sectors and geographic areas, which may affect the financial performance of the portfolio, positively or negatively, depending on whether these issuers, industries, sectors or geographic areas are in or out of favor. An adviser can vary materially from other advisers with respect to its methodology for constructing ESG portfolios or screens, including with respect to the factors and data that it collects and evaluates as part of its process. As a result, an adviser’s ESG portfolio or screen may materially differ from or contradict the conclusions reached by other ESG advisers concerning the same issuers. Further, ESG criteria are dependent on data and are subject to the risk that such data reported by issuers or received from third-party sources may be subjective, or it may be objective in principle but not verified or reliable.

Risks Associated with Investing in Inverse and Leveraged Funds: Leveraged mutual funds and ETFs generally seek to deliver multiples of the daily performance of the index or benchmark that they track. Inverse mutual funds and ETFs generally seek to deliver the opposite of the daily performance of the index or benchmark that they track.

Inverse funds often are marketed as a way for investors to profit from, or at least hedge their exposure to, downward-moving markets. Some Inverse funds are both inverse and leveraged, meaning that they seek a return that is a multiple of the inverse performance of the underlying index. To accomplish their objectives, leveraged and inverse funds use a range of investment strategies, including swaps, futures contracts, and other derivative instruments. Leveraged, inverse, and leveraged inverse funds are more volatile and riskier than traditional funds due to their exposure to leverage and derivatives, particularly total return swaps and futures. At times, we will recommend leveraged and/or inversed funds, which may amplify gains and losses.

Most leveraged funds are typically designed to achieve their desired exposure on a daily (in a few cases, monthly) basis, and reset their leverage daily. A "single day" is measured from the time the leveraged fund calculates its net asset value ("NAV") to the time of the leveraged fund's next NAV calculation. The return of the leveraged fund for periods longer than a single day will be the result of each day's returns compounded over the period. Due to the effect of this mathematical compounding, their performance over longer periods of time can differ significantly from the performance (or inverse performance) of their underlying index or benchmark during the same period of time. For periods longer than a single day, the leveraged fund will lose money when the level of the Index is flat, and the leveraged fund may lose money even if the level of the Index rises. Longer holding periods, higher index volatility, and greater leverage all exacerbate the impact of compounding on an investor's returns. During periods of higher Index volatility, the volatility of the Index may affect the leveraged fund's return as much as or more than the return of the Index itself. Therefore, holding leveraged, inverse, and leveraged inverse funds for longer periods of time increases their risk due to the effects of compounding and the inherent difficulty in market timing. Leveraged funds are riskier than similarly benchmarked funds that do not use leverage. Non-traditional funds are highly volatile and not suitable for all investors. They provide the potential for significant losses.

Risks Associated with Investing in Buffer ETFs: Buffer ETFs are also known as defined-outcome ETFs since the ETF is designed to offer downside protection for a specified period of time. These ETFs are modeled after options-based structured notes, but are generally cheaper, and offer more liquidity. Buffer ETFs are designed to safeguard against market downturns by employing complex options strategies. Buffer ETFs typically charge higher management fees that are considerably more than the index funds whose performance they attempt to track. Additionally, because buffer funds own options, they do not receive dividends from their equity holdings. Both factors result in the underperformance of the Buffer ETF compared to the index they attempt to track. Clients should carefully read the prospectus for a buffer ETF to fully understand the cost structures, risks, and features of these complex products.

Structured Notes: Below are some specific risks related to the structured notes recommended by our firm:

- Complexity: Structured notes are complex financial instruments. Clients should understand the reference asset(s) or index(es) and determine how the note's payoff structure incorporates such reference asset(s) or index(es) in calculating the note's performance. This payoff calculation may include leverage multiplied by the performance of the reference asset or index, protection from losses should the reference asset or index produce negative returns, and/or fees. Structured notes may have complicated payoff structures that can make it difficult for clients to accurately assess their value, risk and potential for growth through the term of the structured note. Determining the performance of each note can be complex and this calculation can vary significantly from note to note depending on the structure. Notes can be structured in a wide variety of ways. Payoff structures can be leveraged, inverse, or inverse-leveraged, which may result in larger returns or losses. Clients should carefully read the prospectus for a structured note to fully understand how the payoff on a note will be calculated and discuss these issues with our firm.
- Market risk: Some structured notes provide for the repayment of principal at maturity, which is often referred to as "principal protection." This principal protection is subject to the credit risk of the issuing financial institution. Many structured notes do not offer this feature. For structured notes that do not offer principal protection, the performance of the linked asset or index may cause clients to lose some, or all, of their principal. Depending on the nature of the linked asset or index, the market risk of the structured note may include changes in equity or commodity prices, changes in interest rates or foreign exchange rates, and/or market volatility.

- Issuance price and note value: The price of a structured note at issuance will likely be higher than the fair value of the structured note on the date of issuance. Issuers now generally disclose an estimated value of the structured note on the cover page of the offering prospectus, allowing investors to gauge the difference between the issuer's estimated value of the note and the issuance price. The estimated value of the notes is likely lower than the issuance price of the note to investors because issuers include the costs for selling, structuring, and/or hedging the exposure on the note in the initial price of their notes. After issuance, structured notes may not be re-sold on a daily basis and thus may be difficult to value given their complexity.
- Liquidity: The ability to trade or sell structured notes in a secondary market is often very limited, as structured notes (other than exchange-traded notes known as ETNs) are not listed for trading on securities exchanges. As a result, the only potential buyer for a structured note may be the issuing financial institution's broker-dealer affiliate or the broker-dealer distributor of the structured note. In addition, issuers often specifically disclaim their intention to repurchase or make markets in the notes they issue. Clients should, therefore, be prepared to hold a structured note to its maturity date or risk selling the note at a discount to its value at the time of sale.
- Credit risk: Structured notes are unsecured debt obligations of the issuer, meaning that the issuer is obligated to make payments on the notes as promised. These promises, including any principal protection, are only as good as the financial health of the structured note issuer. If the structured note issuer defaults on these obligations, investors may lose some, or all, of the principal amount they invested in the structured notes as well as any other payments that may be due on the structured notes.

Disciplinary Information - Item 9

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of us or of the integrity of our management. Neither we nor our management persons have a history of reportable material legal or disciplinary events.

Other Financial Industry Activities or Affiliations - Item 10

Neither Wealthtech Partners nor any of its management persons is registered as a futures commission merchant, a commodity trading adviser, or a commodity pool operator, nor do either parties have an application pending or otherwise in process for the purpose of seeking registration as any of these types of firms. Further, none of our management persons are registered as or currently seeking registration as associated persons of any of these types of firms.

Financial Institution Consulting Services

Wealthtech Partners has agreement(s) with broker/dealers to provide investment consulting services to Brokerage Customers. Broker/dealers pay compensation to Wealthtech Partners for providing investment consulting services to Customers. This consulting arrangement does not include assuming discretionary authority over Brokerage Customers' brokerage accounts or the monitoring of securities. These consulting services offered to Brokerage Customers may include a general review of Brokerage Customers' investment holdings, which may or may not result in Wealthtech Partners' investment adviser representative making specific securities recommendations or offering general investment advice. Brokerage Customers will execute a written advisory agreement directly with Wealthtech Partners.

This relationship presents conflicts of interest. Potential conflicts are mitigated by Brokerage Customers consenting to receive investment consulting services from Wealthtech Partners; by Wealthtech Partners not accepting or billing for additional compensation on broker/dealers' Assets Under Management beyond the consulting fees disclosed in Item 5 in connection with the investment consulting services; and by Wealthtech Partners not engaging as, or holding itself out to the public as, a securities broker/dealer. Wealthtech Partners is not affiliated with any broker/dealer.

Recommendation of Other Advisors

We may recommend that you use a third-party investment adviser or program as part of our asset allocation and investment strategy. In cases where Wealthtech Partners shares in the compensation received by the third-party investment adviser, we are incentivized to recommend investment advisers from whom we receive solicitor/referral fees as opposed to other investment advisers from whom we do not receive such fees. We conduct ongoing due diligence on investment advisers we recommend. In the event that a recommended investment adviser is not meeting the standards that we believe meet your needs, we will seek other investment advisers that we believe will better fit your specific management needs.

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading - Item 11Description of Our Code of Ethics

Wealthtech Partners has adopted a Code of Ethics (the "Code") to address investment advisory conduct. The Code focuses primarily on fiduciary duty, personal securities transactions, insider trading, gifts, and conflicts of interest. The Code includes Wealthtech Partners' policies and procedures developed to protect client's interests in relation to the following topics:

- The duty at all times to place the interests of clients first;
- The requirement that all personal securities transactions be conducted in such a manner as to be consistent with the Code;
- The responsibility to avoid any actual or potential conflict of interest or misuse of an employee's position of trust and responsibility;
- The fiduciary principle that information concerning the identity of security holdings and financial circumstances of clients is confidential; and
- The principle that independence in the investment decision-making process is paramount.

A copy of Wealthtech Partners' Code of Ethics is available upon request to our firm at (866) 528-3660 or at admin@wealthtechpartners.com.

Personal Trading Practices

At times, Wealthtech Partners and/or its related persons may take positions in the same securities as clients, which may pose a conflict of interest with clients. In an effort to uphold our fiduciary duties to clients, Wealthtech Partners and its related persons will generally be "last in" and "last out" for the trading day when trading occurs in close proximity to client trades. Front running (trading shortly ahead of clients) is prohibited. Should a conflict occur because of materiality (e.g., a thinly traded stock), disclosure will be made to the client(s) at the time of trading. Incidental trading not deemed to be a conflict (e.g., a purchase or sale that is minimal in relation to the total outstanding value, and as such would have negligible effect on the market price) would not be deemed a material conflict requiring disclosure at the time of trading.

Brokerage Practices - Item 12

We recommend the brokerage and custodial services of several securities broker-dealers. All recommended companies are unaffiliated, qualified custodians and are registered securities broker-dealers and members of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation. We believe that recommended broker-dealers/custodians provide quality execution services for you at competitive prices. Price is not the sole factor we consider in evaluating best execution. We also consider the quality of the brokerage services provided by recommended broker-dealers/custodians, including the value of research provided, the company's reputation, execution capabilities, commission rates, and responsiveness to our clients and our firm. In recognition of the value of research services and additional brokerage products and services recommended broker-dealers/custodians provide, you may pay higher commissions and/or trading costs than those that may be available elsewhere. Additionally, recommended third party advisers may routinely recommend or require client to utilize a particular broker-dealer/custodian in order to participate in such third party programs as described in the relevant third party adviser's disclosure document(s) and/or advisory agreement(s).

LPL Financial LLC

For the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program, Wealthtech Partners recommends that you establish brokerage accounts with LPL Financial LLC ("LPL"), a registered broker-dealer and member SIPC, to maintain custody of assets and to effect trades. Factors that Wealthtech Partners considers in recommending LPL to clients include their respective financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, research, and service. LPL enables Wealthtech Partners to obtain many mutual funds without transaction charges and other securities at nominal transaction charges. The commissions and/or transaction fees charged by LPL may be higher or lower than those other Financial Institutions charge.

Wealthtech Partners receives support services and/or products from LPL Financial, many of which assist the Wealthtech Partners to better monitor and service program accounts maintained at LPL Financial. These support services and/or products may be received without cost, at a discount, and/or at a negotiated rate, and may include the following:

- investment-related research
- pricing information and market data
- software and other technology that provide access to client account data
- compliance and/or practice management-related publications
- consulting services
- attendance at conferences, meetings, and other educational and/or social events
- marketing support
- computer hardware and/or software
- other products and services used by Wealthtech Partners in furtherance of its investment advisory business operations

These support services are provided to Wealthtech Partners based on the overall relationship between Wealthtech Partners and LPL Financial. These services are not paid with 'soft dollars' nor through any other arrangements with LPL Financial that involves the execution of a specific number of client transactions as a condition to the receipt of services. Wealthtech Partners will continue to receive the services regardless of the volume of client transactions executed with LPL Financial. Clients do not pay more for services because of this arrangement. There is no corresponding commitment made by Wealthtech Partners to LPL Financial or any other entity to invest any specific amount or percentage of client assets in any specific securities because of the arrangement.

LPL Financial provides advisory platforms to independent investment advisers. Through our arrangement with LPL Financial we receive certain benefits which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance, and settlement of transactions.

LPL Financial makes certain research and brokerage services available at no additional cost to our firm. We may receive these services directly from independent research companies, as selected by our firm (within specific parameters). Research products and services provided by LPL Financial may include research reports on recommendations or other information about particular companies or industries; economic surveys, data and analyses; financial publications; portfolio evaluation services; financial database software and services; computerized news and pricing services; quotation equipment for use in running software used in investment decision-making; and other products or services that provide lawful and appropriate assistance by LPL Financial to our firm in the performance of our investment decision-making responsibilities. The receipt of these research services are not paid through any soft dollar arrangement between Wealthtech Partners and LPL Financial.

Because it receives such services, Wealthtech Partners may have an incentive to continue to use or expand the use of LPL Financial services. Our firm examined this potential conflict of interest when we chose to enter into the relationship with LPL and we have determined that the relationship is in the best interest of our firm's clients and satisfies our fiduciary obligations, including our duty to seek best execution.

LPL Financial charges Wealthtech Partners brokerage commissions and transaction fees for effecting certain securities transactions (i.e., transaction fees are charged for certain no-load mutual funds, commissions are charged for individual equity and debt securities transactions). LPL Financial enables us to obtain many no-load mutual funds without transaction charges and other no-load funds at nominal transaction charges. LPL Financial commission rates are generally discounted from customary retail commission rates. However, the commission and transaction fees charged by LPL Financial may be higher or lower than other custodians and broker-dealers may charge.

Since the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program is offered for an all-inclusive fee that covers the cost of transactions placed at LPL, clients will not be charged separate transaction fees by LPL. Wealthtech Partners' clients will be responsible for additional costs such as mark-ups and mark-downs, dealer spreads or other costs associated with the purchase or sale of securities, interest, taxes, or other costs, such as national securities exchange fees, costs associated with exchanging currencies, wire transfer fees, or other fees required by law or imposed by third parties. The Account will be responsible for these additional fees and expenses. Wealthtech Partners has a duty to obtain "best execution." Clients may pay additional fees that are higher than another qualified Financial Institution might charge for the same service. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a Financial Institution's services, including among others, the value of research provided, execution capability, additional expenses, and responsiveness. Wealthtech Partners seeks competitive rates but may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client transactions.

Fidelity Institutional

We also recommend the services of Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services and/or its affiliate, National Financial Services LLC (collectively "Fidelity"). Fidelity is an independent and unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC"). Fidelity offers us services that include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance, and settlement of transactions.

Although not considered "soft dollar" compensation, we may receive some economic benefits from Fidelity in the form of access to its institutional brokerage, trading, custody, reporting and related services, some of which are not typically available to Fidelity retail customers. Fidelity also makes available various support services. Some of those services help us manage or administer our clients' accounts while others help us manage and grow our business. Fidelity's support services are generally available on an unsolicited basis (we don't have to request them) and at no charge to us.

Services that Benefit You: Fidelity's services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of client assets. The investment products available through Fidelity include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients. Fidelity's services described in this paragraph generally benefit you and your account.

Services that May Not Directly Benefit You: Fidelity also makes available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients' accounts. They include limited scope investment research. We may use this research to service all or some substantial number of our clients' accounts, including accounts not maintained at Fidelity. In addition to investment research, Fidelity also makes available software and other technology that:

- provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements);
- facilitate trade execution;
- provide pricing and other market data;
- facilitate payment of our fees from our clients' accounts; and
- assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting.

Altruist Financial LLC

For Web-Based Portfolio Management Services, Wealthtech Partners recommends the services of Altruist Financial LLC, ("Altruist") an unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer and FINRA/SIPC member. Altruist Financial LLC charges no commissions or transaction fees, provides a fully digital account opening process, offers a large variety of securities options, makes available complete integration with software tools and accepts low account minimums.

Wealthtech Partners receives certain economic benefits from Altruist in the form of access to its institutional brokerage, trading, custody, reporting and related services. Altruist also makes available various support services. Some of those services help us manage or administer our clients' accounts while others help us manage and grow our business. Below is a detailed description of these support services:

Services that Benefit You: Altruist' provides us with access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of client assets. The investment products available through Altruist include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients. Altruist' services described in this paragraph generally benefit you and your account.

Services that May Not Directly Benefit You: Altruist also makes available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients' accounts. They include investment research, both Altruist' own and that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or some substantial number of our clients' accounts, including accounts not maintained at Altruist. In addition to investment research, Altruist also makes available software and other technology that:

- provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements);
- facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts;
- provide pricing and other market data;
- facilitate payment of our fees from our clients' accounts; and
- assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting.

Services that Generally Benefit Only Us: Altruist's support services include payments to or reimbursement for the cost of certain technology solutions to help facilitate Wealthtech Partners' practices and to streamline our operations. The payments may be substantial and are based on Wealthtech Partners clients adding, transferring to, and maintaining a certain amount (As of March 2023, $5,000,000) of assets on Altruist's platform. These benefits provided to Wealthtech Partners will not directly benefit client accounts. The fees Wealthtech Partners charges will not be reduced by the value of support services provided by Altruist. The benefits provided to or on behalf of Wealthtech Partners are considered compensation to Wealthtech Partners in connection of providing services to clients, and therefore should be considered in assessing the reasonableness of the compensation arrangement between Wealthtech Partners and clients. Access to such economic benefits creates and a financial incentive for Wealthtech Partners to maintain client accounts through Altruist as introducing broker and custodian.

Altruist may provide some of these services itself. In other cases, it will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to us. Altruist may also discount or waive its fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party's fees. Altruist may also provide us with other benefits such as occasional business entertainment of our personnel.

The receipt of additional benefits from Altruist gives us an incentive to require that you maintain your account with Altruist based on our interest in receiving additional services from Altruist rather than your interest in receiving the best value and the most favorable execution of your transactions. This is a conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of Altruist as broker-dealer/custodian is in the best interests of our clients. Our belief is primarily supported by the scope and quality of services Altruist provides to our clients and not services that benefit only us. To address the existence of this conflict, on a periodic basis, we conduct a best execution review considering the full range and quality of Altruist's services, including execution quality, the value of research provided, financial strength, and responsiveness to our requests for trade data and other information. Our obligation is not necessarily to get the lowest price but to obtain the best qualitative execution.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

We do not receive client referrals from broker-dealers and custodians with which we have an institutional advisory arrangement. In addition, we do not receive other benefits from a broker-dealer in exchange for client referrals.

Directed Brokerage

Wealthtech Partners allows clients to direct brokerage. Wealthtech Partners will be unable to achieve most favorable execution of client transactions if clients choose to direct brokerage to a broker dealer that does not have an existing relationship with our firm. Directed brokerage arrangements may result in higher overall costs because, without the ability to direct brokerage, Wealthtech Partners will not be able to aggregate orders to reduce transactions costs. This may result in higher brokerage commissions and less favorable prices. Not all investment advisers allow their clients to direct brokerage.

Trade Aggregation/Block Trading

Wealthtech Partners may aggregate transactions in equity and fixed income securities for a client with other clients to improve the quality and cost of execution. When transactions are aggregated, the actual prices applicable to the aggregated transactions will be averaged, and the client account will be deemed to have purchased or sold its proportionate share of the securities involved at the average price obtained. Wealthtech Partners may determine not to aggregate transactions, for example, based on the size of the trades, the number of client accounts, the timing of the trades, and the liquidity of the securities. If the firm does not aggregate orders, some clients purchasing securities around the same time may receive a less favorable price than other clients may receive. This means that this practice of not aggregating may cost clients more money. Wealthtech Partners and/or its Associated Persons may participate in block trades with clients; however, Wealthtech Partners and/or its Associated Persons will not participate on a pro rata basis for partial fills.

Review of Accounts - Item 13

Portfolio Management Account Reviews

Wealthtech Partners monitors client account holdings on a continuous basis. Portfolio management accounts receive a formal review of investment allocations at least annually. Accounts are reviewed by the Associated Person assigned to the account.

Additional reviews may be offered in certain circumstances. Triggering factors that may stimulate additional reviews include, but are not limited to, changes in economic conditions, changes in the client's financial situation or investment objectives, or upon client request.

Clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to advise Wealthtech Partners of any changes in their investment objectives and/or financial situation. All clients are encouraged to review financial planning goals, investment objectives, and account performance with their Associated Person on at least an annual basis.

Clients will receive statements directly from their account custodian(s) at least quarterly. Wealthtech Partners may also provide a written report summarizing account activity and performance to use during client meetings.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation - Item 14

Other Compensation Received

Wealthtech Partners has brokerage and clearing arrangements with LPL, Fidelity and Altruist and the firm may receive additional benefits from these firms in the form of electronic delivery of client information, electronic trading platforms, institutional trading support, proprietary and/or third-party research, continuing education, practice management advice, and other services provided by custodians for the benefit of investment advisory clients. Please refer to item 12 above for more information about the receipt of additional benefits from broker-dealers/account custodians.

Wealthtech Partners and employees may receive additional compensation from product sponsors. However, such compensation will not be tied to the sales of any products. Compensation could include such items as gifts valued at less than $100 annually; an occasional dinner or ticket to a sporting event; reimbursement in connection with educational meetings with an Associated Person, client workshops, or events; or marketing events or advertising initiatives, including services for identifying prospective clients. Product sponsors may also pay for or reimburse Wealthtech Partners for the costs associated with Wealthtech Partners employees and investment adviser representatives attending various education or training events, as well as Wealthtech Partners sponsored conferences and events.

Altruist Advisor Referral Program

Wealthtech Partners participates in the Altruist Advisor Referral Program. Through this program, Wealthtech Partners will receive compensation from Altruist for referring registered investment advisers to Altruist. When a registered investment adviser signs up on Altruist using our firm's unique referral link, Altruist pays Wealthtech Partners a reward equivalent to five (5) basis points of the total assets the referred advisor manages on Altruist's platform 180 days after they join the platform. Although this arrangement has no direct impact on Wealthtech Partners' clients and, in our opinion, does not create a material conflict of interest, we have opted to disclose the arrangement because of the scope of overall relationship we have established with Altruist and its affiliated investment adviser, Altruist LLC.

Client Referrals

We may recommend that you use a third party investment adviser or program as part of our asset allocation and investment strategy. In cases where Wealthtech Partners shares in the compensation received by the third party investment adviser we have a conflict of interest because we are incentivized to recommend investment advisers from whom we receive solicitor/referral fees as opposed to other investment advisers from whom we do not receive such fees. We conduct ongoing due diligence on investment advisers we recommend. In the event that a recommended investment adviser is not meeting the standards that we believe meet your needs, we will seek other investment advisers that we believe will better fit your specific management needs. At all times, Wealthtech Partners and its Associated Persons strive to uphold their fiduciary duty of fair dealing with clients. You are not required to use the services of any recommended third-party investment adviser.

Altruist Match Program

Wealthtech Partners participates in the Altruist Match program of Altruist LLC, an SEC registered investment adviser and affiliate of Altruist. The Altruist Match program allows prospective clients to screen and identify participating investment advisers based on criteria specified by the prospective client. Wealthtech Partners pays Altruist LLC compensation equal to the greater of twenty percent (20%) of any revenue received by the firm from a matched client's household and one hundred dollars ($100) annually. Altruist also receives revenue on brokerage accounts opened through the Altruist platform.

In addition to meeting the minimum eligibility criteria for participation in Altruist Match program, Wealthtech Partners may have been selected to participate in Altruist Match program based on the amount and profitability to Altruist of the assets in, and trades placed for, client accounts maintained with Altruist. Altruist is independent of and unaffiliated with Wealthtech Partners and there is no employee or agency relationship between them. Altruist has established the Altruist Match program as a means of referring its brokerage customers and other investors seeking fee-based personal investment management services or financial planning services to independent investment advisors. Wealthtech Partners will not charge clients referred through the Altruist Match program any fees or costs higher than its standard fee schedule offered to its clients or otherwise pass referral fees paid to Altruist to its clients.

Wealthtech Partners' participation in the Altruist Match program raises certain conflicts of interest. Altruist will most likely refer clients through the Altruist Match program to investment advisors that encourage their clients to custody their assets at Altruist and whose client accounts are profitable to Altruist. Consequently, in order to obtain client referrals from Altruist, Wealthtech Partners has an incentive to recommend to clients that the assets under management by Wealthtech Partners be held in custody with Altruist and to place transactions for client accounts with Altruist. In addition, Wealthtech Partners has agreed to pay Altruist a termination fee if Wealthtech Partners transfers client assets off the Altruist platform. This creates a further conflict of interest because it incentivizes Wealthtech Partners to keep client assets at Altruist in situations where other custodial broker dealers provide better quality of execution. Wealthtech Partners' participation in the Altruist Match program does not diminish its duty to seek best execution of trades for client accounts. On a periodic basis, we conduct a best execution review considering the full range and quality of Altruist's services, including execution quality, the value of research provided, financial strength, and responsiveness to our requests for trade data and other information. Our obligation is not necessarily to get the lowest price but to obtain the best qualitative execution.

Ladder Insurance Lead Generation Partnership

Wealthtech Partners and Ladder Insurance Services, LLC ("Ladder") have entered into a lead generation arrangement whereby Wealthtech Partners is compensated by Ladder for each Referral who completes an application through any online portals distributed by Wealthtech Partners or its affiliates, and receives an offer for term life insurance coverage. This compensation is not contingent upon the Referral purchasing insurance products from Ladder. Compensation is paid for the completion of the application regardless of outcome. Ladder and Wealthtech Partners are unaffiliated and Wealthtech Partners has no involvement in the insurance underwriting process.

Custody - Item 15

Wealthtech Partners is deemed to have custody of client funds because of the fee deduction authority granted by the client in the Advisory Agreement. You will receive account statements at least quarterly from the broker-dealer or other qualified custodian. The custodian will not verify the calculation of the advisory fees. You are urged to review custodial account statements for accuracy.

With respect to third party standing letters of authorization ("SLOA") where a client grants us authority to direct custodians to disburse funds to one or more third party accounts, we are deemed to have custody pursuant to Rule 206(4)-2 (the "Custody Rule"). We have taken steps to have controls and oversight in place to comply with the no-action letter issued by the SEC on February 21, 2017 (the "SEC no-action letter"). We are not required to comply with the surprise examination requirements of the Custody Rule if we comply with the representations noted in the SEC no-action letter. Where our firm acts pursuant to a SLOA, we believe we are making a good faith effort to comply with the representations noted in the SEC no-action letter. Additionally, since many of the representations noted in the SEC no-action letter involve the qualified custodian's operations, we will collaborate closely with our custodian(s) to ensure that the representations are met.

Investment Discretion - Item 16

Wealthtech Partners offers Portfolio Management Services on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. For discretionary services, clients must grant discretionary authority in the management agreement. Discretionary authority extends to the types and amounts of securities to be bought and sold in client accounts. However, our firm does not retain discretionary authority to select the broker/dealer used for transactions, or commission rates paid.

Apart from the ability to withdraw management fees, Wealthtech Partners does not have the ability to withdraw funds or securities from the client's account. The client provides Wealthtech Partners discretionary authority via a limited power of attorney in the management agreement and in the contract between the client and the custodian.

If you wish, you may limit our discretionary authority, for example, by setting a limit on the type of securities that can be purchased for your account. Simply provide us with your restrictions or guidelines in writing. Please refer to the "Advisory Business" section in this Brochure for more information on our discretionary management services.

If you have engaged us for non-discretionary portfolio management services, Wealthtech Partners will obtain your approval prior to executing any transactions in your account(s).

Voting Client Securities - Item 17

Wealthtech Partners does not vote proxies. It is the client's responsibility to vote proxies. Clients will receive proxy materials directly from the custodian. Questions about proxies may be made via the contact information on the cover page.

Financial Information - Item 18

In this section, we are required to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about Wealthtech Partners', financial condition. Wealthtech Partners does not require the prepayment of over $1,200, six or more months in advance. Additionally, Wealthtech Partners has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and it has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

Requirements of State-Registered Advisers - Item 19

This section is not applicable because our firm is SEC registered.

Wealthtech Partners LLC is a registered investment adviser. An "investment adviser" means any person who, for compensation, engages in the business of advising others, either directly or through publications or writings, as to the value of securities or as to the advisability of investing in, purchasing, or selling securities, or who, for compensation and as part of a regular business, issues or promulgates analyses or reports concerning securities. Registration with the SEC or any state securities authority does not imply a certain level of skill or training.

This wrap fee program brochure provides information about the qualifications and business practices of Wealthtech Partners. If you have any questions about the contents of this brochure, please contact us at (866) 528-3660. Services Fees and Compensation - Item 4

Services

Wealthtech Partners (hereinafter "Wealthtech Partners") offers a wrap fee program, the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program, whereby Wealthtech Partners manages client accounts for a single, bundled fee that includes portfolio management services, custodial services, and transaction/commission costs. Under the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program, Wealthtech Partners offers discretionary investment advice designed to assist clients in obtaining professional portfolio management for an inclusive "wrap fee."

As used in this Brochure, the term "Associated Person" refers to anyone from our firm who is an officer, employee, and all individuals providing investment advice on behalf of our firm. Where required, such persons are properly registered as investment adviser representatives.

As primary portfolio manager, Wealthtech Partners and its Associated Persons are responsible for the research, security selection, and implementation of transaction orders in the client's account. The transactions in the client's account will be executed by LPL Financial LLC ("LPL"), a registered broker-dealer and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC").

Wealthtech Partners receives a portion of the Wrap Fee for portfolio management services and LPL will receive a portion of the fee for trade execution and custodial services. The terms and conditions under which a client participates in the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program are set forth in the written agreement between the client and Wealthtech Partners. The overall cost incurred from participation in the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program may be higher or lower than if the services were purchased separately.

The portfolio management services for the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program are offered on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. Our investment advice is tailored to meet our clients' needs and investment objectives. Subject to any written guidelines that you may provide, we will be granted discretionary authority to manage your account. Once the portfolio allocation has been agreed upon, the ongoing supervision and management of the portfolio will be our responsibility. Discretionary authorization is granted to us by you in a written agreement. This allows our firm to decide on specific securities, the quantity of the securities and placing buy or sell orders for your account without obtaining your approval for each transaction. This type of authorization is granted using either the investment advisory agreement the client signs with our firm, a limited power of attorney agreement, or trading authorization forms. You may limit our discretionary authority (for example, limiting the types of securities that can be purchased for your account) by providing our firm with restrictions and guidelines in writing. Non-discretionary portfolio management service means that we must obtain your approval prior to making any transactions in your account.

Wrap accounts are managed to diversify clients' investments and may include various types of securities, such as exchange listed equities, over the counter equities, foreign issues, American depository receipts, corporate debt securities, commercial paper, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, investment company securities (including mutual funds and exchange traded funds), US Government securities, options contracts on securities, private equity instruments, return enhanced notes, and interests in partnership investing in real estate. Additionally, will provide advice on existing investments you may hold at the inception of the advisory relationship or on other types of investments for which you ask advice. Because some types of investments involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be implemented/recommended when consistent with the client's stated investment objectives, tolerance for risk, liquidity, and suitability.

Asset allocation models diversified among investment styles and/or asset classes are developed and managed by us based on research conducted by Wealthtech Partners. We also use portfolio models developed by third party investment advisers. Some of our Associated Persons may also use customized portfolio models developed by them. Once the client portfolio is constructed, Wealthtech Partners provides continuous supervision of the portfolio as changes in the market conditions and client circumstances may require. Investments and allocations are determined based upon the clients' predefined objectives, risk tolerance, time horizons, financial horizons, financial information, and other various suitability factors. Further restrictions and guidelines imposed by clients may affect the composition and performance of a client's portfolio. As such, different clients of our firm may have significant differences in their asset allocation. For these reasons, performance of one client's portfolio might not be identical with another client's even if both clients have similar risk parameters. We review the clients' financial circumstances and investment objectives on a regular basis and make adjustments to clients' portfolios or allocation models as may be necessary to achieve the desired results. At all times, our firm requires each Associated Person to uphold their fiduciary duty by providing advice that in our judgement is in the client's best interest.

Fees

Wealthtech Partners charges a single negotiable asset-based fee for its management services, which includes the cost of portfolio management services, custodial services and the execution of securities transactions. This fee is deducted from the client's account held at the custodian. The client authorizes Wealthtech Partners to debit the fee from the client's account. If insufficient cash is available to pay such fees, securities in an amount equal to the balance of unpaid fees will be liquidated to pay for the unpaid balance. If requested by the client, we may also invoice the client directly for the payment of fees in lieu of a direct deduction from the client's account.

Wealthtech Partners charges an annual management fee of up to 1.75% of assets under management. The fee is negotiable and the exact fee paid by you will be stated in the client agreement signed by you and us.

The annual fee is billed monthly or quarterly, in advance or in arrears, depending on the payment arrangement negotiated with the client and set forth in the client Agreement. Fees will be assessed pro rata in the event the Agreement is executed at any time other than the first day of a billing period. We may deduct the fee from a single, client-designated account to facilitate billing.

We encourage you to carefully review the statements you receive from the qualified custodian. If you have questions about your statements, or if you did not receive a statement from the qualified custodian, please call our office number located on the cover page of this brochure.

Termination

At the inception of investment management services, the first pay period's fees will be calculated on a pro-rata basis. You may terminate the client Agreement upon 30-days' written notice to our firm. If your fee is payable in arrears, you will incur a pro rata charge for services rendered prior to the termination of the agreement, which means you will incur advisory fees only in proportion to the number of days in the pay period for which you are a client. Where fees are payable in advance, Wealthtech Partners will issue a pro-rated refund of any pre-paid unearned advisory fee based on the number of days remaining in the billing period after the termination date.

Additional Fees and Expenses

The fees are charged as described above and are not based on a share of capital gains of the funds of an advisory client.

The Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program fees do not include mark-ups and mark-downs, dealer spreads or other costs associated with the purchase or sale of securities, interest, taxes, or other costs, such as national securities exchange fees, charges for transactions not executed through LPL, costs associated with exchanging currencies, wire transfer fees, or other fees required by law or imposed by third parties. The Account will be responsible for these additional fees and expenses.

All fees paid to Wealthtech Partners for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds or exchange traded funds to their shareholders. Each mutual fund, ETF, or variable annuity in which the Account may be invested will also charge a management fee, other internal expenses, and a possible distribution fee. Certain mutual funds offered through the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program may impose short-term trading charges (typically 1% - 2% of the amount originally invested) for redemptions made within short periods. In the rare event an early redemption charge is assessed, the charge would be offset by the advisory fee or paid by Wealthtech Partners. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. Most of the mutual funds available in the program may be purchased directly. Therefore, clients could generally avoid the second layer of fees by not using the management services of Wealthtech Partners and by making their own investment decisions.

Although only no-load and load-waived mutual funds can be purchased in a program account, clients should understand that some mutual funds pay asset-based sales charges or service fees (e.g., 12b-1 fees) to the custodian with respect to account holdings.

Although clients do not pay transaction charges for transactions in a wrap account, clients should be aware that Wealthtech Partners pays the broker-dealer (i.e., LPL) transaction charges for those transactions. The transaction charges paid by Wealthtech Partners vary based on the type of transaction (e.g., mutual fund, equity or ETF) and for mutual funds based on whether or not the mutual fund pays 12b-1 fees and/or recordkeeping fees to LPL. Transaction charges paid by Wealthtech Partners for equities and ETFs are $9. For mutual funds, the transaction charges range from $0 to $26.50. Because Wealthtech Partners pays the transaction charges in wrap accounts, there is a conflict of interest in cases where the mutual fund is offered at both $0 and $26.50. Clients should understand that the cost to Wealthtech Partners of transaction charges may be a factor that Wealthtech Partners considers when deciding which securities to select and how frequently to place transactions in a wrap account.

In many instances, LPL makes available mutual funds in a wrap account that offer various classes of shares, including shares designated as Class A Shares and shares designed for advisory programs, which can be titled, for example, as "Class I," "institutional," "investor," "retail," "service," "administrative" or "platform" share classes ("Platform Shares"). The Platform Share class offered for a particular mutual fund in the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program in many cases will not be the least expensive share class that the mutual fund makes available, and was selected by LPL in certain cases because the share class pays LPL compensation for the administrative and recordkeeping services LPL provides to the mutual fund. Client should understand that another financial services firm may offer the same mutual fund at a lower overall cost to the investor than is available through the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program. In other instances, a mutual fund may offer only Class A Shares, but another similar mutual fund may be available that offers Platform Shares. Class A Shares typically pay LPL a 12b-1 fee for providing shareholder services, distribution, and marketing expenses ("brokerage-related services") to the mutual funds. Platform Shares generally are not subject to 12b-1 fees. As a result of the different expenses of the mutual fund share classes, it is generally more expensive for a client to own Class A Shares than Platform Shares. An investor in Platform Shares will pay lower fees over time, and keep more of his or her investment returns than an investor who holds Class A Shares of the same fund.

Wealthtech Partners has a financial incentive to recommend Class A Shares in cases where both Class A and Platform Shares are available. This is a conflict of interest that might incline Wealthtech Partners, consciously or unconsciously, to render advice that is not disinterested. Although the client will not be charged a transaction charge for transactions, Wealthtech Partners pays LPL a per transaction charge for mutual fund purchases and sales in the account. Wealthtech Partners generally does not pay transaction charges for Class A Share mutual fund transactions accounts, but generally does pay transaction charges for Platform Share mutual fund transactions. The cost to Wealthtech Partners of transaction charges generally may be a factor that Wealthtech Partners considers when deciding which securities to select and whether or not to place transactions in the account.

The lack of transaction charges to Wealthtech Partners for Class A Share purchases and sales, together with the fact that Platform Shares generally are less expensive for a client to own, presents a significant conflict of interest between Wealthtech Partners and the client. In short, it costs Wealthtech Partners less to recommend and select Class A share mutual funds than Platform shares, but Platform shares will generally outperform Class A mutual fund shares on the basis of internal cost structure alone. Clients should understand this conflict and consider the additional indirect expenses borne as a result of the mutual fund fees when negotiating and discussing with Wealthtech Partners the advisory fee for management of an account.

If a client holds a variable annuity as part of an account, there are mortality, expense and administrative charges, fees for additional riders on the contract and charges for excessive transfers within a calendar year imposed by the variable annuity sponsor.

All of the fees and expenses discussed above will be indirect expenses borne by the Account, and will be in addition to the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program fee. You should consider all of these fees and expenses (including the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program fee) to fully understand the total amount of fees and expenses to be paid by the Account and to evaluate the advisory services being provided. The fees and expense related to mutual funds, ETFs, or variable annuities are disclosed in their respective prospectus or summary disclosure document.

Other Important Considerations

- Although the overall fee charged by Wealthtech Partners for the management of wrap and non-wrap accounts is similar, wrap fee programs may not be suitable for all investment needs, and any decision to participate in a wrap fee program should be based on your financial situation, investment objectives, tolerance for risk, and investment time horizon, among other considerations. The benefits under a wrap fee program depend, in part, upon the size of the account and the number of transactions likely to be generated in the account. For example, a wrap fee program may not be suitable for accounts with little or no trading activity. In order to evaluate whether a wrap fee program is suitable for you, you should compare the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program Fee and any other costs associated with the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program with the amounts that would be charged by other advisers, broker-dealers, and custodians, for advisory fees, brokerage and other execution costs, and custodial services comparable to those provided under the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program. If the client plans to follow a buy and hold strategy for the account or does not wish to use Wealthtech Partners for ongoing investment advice or management services, the client should consider opening a non-wrap portfolio management account or a brokerage account rather than a wrap fee program account.
- The advisory fee is an ongoing wrap fee for investment advisory services, the execution of transactions and other administrative and custodial services. The advisory fee may cost the client more than purchasing the program services separately, for example, paying an advisory fee plus commissions for each transaction in the account. Factors that bear upon the cost of the account in relation to the cost of the same services purchased separately include the type and size of the account, historical and/or expected size or number of trades for the account, and number and range of supplementary advisory and client-related services provided to the client.
- The investment products available to be purchased in the wrap fee program can be purchased by clients outside of a wrap fee program account, through broker-dealers or other investment firms not affiliated with Wealthtech Partners. In such cases, our firm would not provide ongoing supervisory and management services for the account.
- Our firm and our advisory representatives will receive compensation because of your participation in the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program. In certain cases, this compensation will be more than the amount our firm or the representative would receive if you paid separately for investment advice, brokerage, and other services. Accordingly, a conflict of interest exists because our firm and our representatives have a financial incentive to recommend the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program, and may recommend the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program over other programs or services for which the compensation arrangements are not as beneficial.
- Due to the single fee charged to a Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program account, we are regarded as having a conflict of interest in that we can realize a greater profit on a Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program account with a relatively low rate of portfolio turnover compared to other types of accounts, assuming the same level of fees. As a fiduciary, we are required to act in our clients' best interest and we strive to recommend the account option that, in our opinion, is the best fit for our clients.

Account Requirements and Types of Clients - Item 5

We generally offer investment advisory services to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans and participants, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations, and other business entities.

We do not require an account minimum to establish advisory relationships with clients. However, some of the third party advisers recommended by our firm may impose their own account minimums.

Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation - Item 6

Portfolio Managers

Wealthtech Partners is the sole sponsor and portfolio manager of the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program. Each account is managed by the Associated Person assigned to the client relationship. We have chosen not to utilize outside portfolio managers. Therefore, there is no selection and review of outside portfolio managers. Neither us, nor any third party reviews performance information to determine or verify its accuracy.

Where required, Associated Persons responsible for the management of the account are registered as investment adviser representatives. Clients should refer to each Associated Person's Form ADV Part 2B Supplement, provided to you along with the copy of our disclosure brochure, for more information about their disciplinary, business, and educational backgrounds. Please contact us at (866) 528-3660 or at admin@wealthtechpartners.com with any questions you may have.

Clients will receive statements directly from their account custodian(s) at least quarterly. Wealthtech Partners may also provide performance reports during client meetings.

Other Advisory Services

Please refer to Item 4 of the firm's Form ADV Part 2A Disclosure Brochure above for information about other advisory services offered by Wealthtech Partners.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Performance-based fees are based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the client's assets. Side-by-side management refers to the practice of managing accounts that are charged performance-based fees while at the same time managing accounts that are not charged performance-based fees. We do not accept performance-based fees or participate in side-by-side management. Our fees are calculated as described in the Advisory Business section above, and are not charged on the basis of a share of capital gains upon, or capital appreciation of, the funds in your advisory account(s).

Investment Strategies

Please refer to Item 8 of the firm's Form ADV Part 2A Disclosure Brochure above for information about Wealthtech Partners' investment strategies.

Methods of Analysis

Please refer to Item 8 of the firm's Form ADV Part 2A Disclosure Brochure above for information about the methods of analysis used by Wealthtech Partners.

Risk of Loss

Clients should be aware that investing in securities involves a risk of loss that they should be prepared to bear. Past performance is not indicative of future results. Therefore, you should never assume that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy would be profitable. Investing in securities (including stocks, mutual funds, and bonds, etc.) involves risk of loss. Further, depending on the different types of investments there may be varying degrees of risk. You should be prepared to bear investment loss including loss of original principal. Because of the inherent risk of loss associated with investing, our firm is unable to represent, guarantee, or even imply that our services and methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate you from losses due to market corrections or declines. Please refer to Item 8 of our Form ADV Part 2A Brochure above for a detailed discussion of the various risks associated with investing in securities.

Proxy Voting

Wealthtech Partners does not vote proxies. It is the client's responsibility to vote proxies. Clients will receive proxy materials directly from the custodian. Questions about proxies may be made via the contact information on the cover page.

Client Information Provided to Portfolio Managers - Item 7

Wealthtech Partners is the sole sponsor of the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program and together with its portfolio managers has access to and is responsible for maintaining all information provided by clients. Client information will be updated in our firm's records upon notification of changes provided by clients and during client meetings.

Client Contact with Portfolio Managers - Item 8

Wealthtech Partners is the sole sponsor and portfolio manager to the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program. Clients are free to contact Wealthtech Partners or their designated investment adviser representative at any time with questions regarding the Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program. We can be reached at (866) 528-3660 or at admin@wealthtechpartners.com.

Additional Information - Item 9Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of us or of the integrity of our management. Neither we nor our management persons have a history of material legal or disciplinary events.

Other Financial Industry Activities or Affiliations

Please refer to Item 10 of our Form ADV Part 2A Brochure above for information about our other financial industry activities and/or affiliations.

Description of Our Code of Ethics

Wealthtech Partners has adopted a Code of Ethics (the "Code") to address investment advisory conduct. The Code focuses primarily on fiduciary duty, personal securities transactions, insider trading, gifts, and conflicts of interest.

The Code includes Wealthtech Partners' policies and procedures developed to protect client's interests in relation to the following topics:

- The duty at all times to place the interests of clients first;
- The requirement that all personal securities transactions be conducted in such a manner as to be consistent with the Code;
- The responsibility to avoid any actual or potential conflict of interest or misuse of an employee's position of trust and responsibility;
- The fiduciary principle that information concerning the identity of security holdings and financial circumstances of clients is confidential; and
- The principle that independence in the investment decision-making process is paramount.

A copy of Wealthtech Partners' Code of Ethics is available upon request to our firm at (866) 528-3660 or at admin@wealthtechpartners.com.

Personal Trading Practices

At times, Wealthtech Partners and/or its related persons may take positions in the same securities as clients, which may pose a conflict of interest with clients. In an effort to uphold our fiduciary duties to clients, Wealthtech Partners and its related persons will generally be "last in" and "last out" for the trading day when trading occurs in close proximity to client trades. Front running (trading shortly ahead of clients) is prohibited. Should a conflict occur because of materiality (e.g., a thinly traded stock), disclosure will be made to the client(s) at the time of trading. Incidental trading not deemed to be a conflict (e.g., a purchase or sale that is minimal in relation to the total outstanding value, and as such would have negligible effect on the market price) would not be deemed a material conflict requiring disclosure at the time of trading.

Account Reviews, Statements and Reports

Please refer to Item 13 of our Form ADV Part 2A Brochure above for information about Account Reviews, Statements, and Reports.

Brokerage Practices

Wealthtech Partners executes all transactions for Wealthtech Partners Wrap Fee Program accounts through LPL. LPL is an unaffiliated broker-dealer, and a member of FINRA and the SIPC. Wealthtech Partners has chosen LPL based on a number of factors, including quality of service, fees, reputation, accountability, and security of assets. The fees and commissions charged by LPL may be higher or lower than other broker-dealers or custodians, depending on the type of transaction. Wealthtech Partners considers the services provided by LPL to be high quality and the fees charged to be comparable or favorable to those charged by other broker-dealers or custodians.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Wealthtech Partners receives additional benefits from LPL such as electronic delivery of client information, electronic trading platforms, institutional trading support, proprietary and/or third-party research, continuing education, practice management advice, and other services provided by custodians for the benefit of investment advisory clients.

The receipt of additional benefits gives us an incentive to require that you maintain your account with LPL based on our interest in receiving additional services from LPL rather than your interest in receiving the best value and the most favorable execution of your transactions. This is a conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of LPL as broker-dealer/custodian is in the best interests of our clients. Our belief is primarily supported by the scope and quality of services LPL provides to our clients and not services that benefit only us. Please refer to Item 12 of our Form ADV Part 2A Brochure above for more information about the receipt of additional benefits from broker-dealers.

To address the existence of this conflict, on a periodic basis, we conduct a best execution review considering the full range and quality of LPL's services, including execution quality, commission rate, the value of research provided, financial strength, and responsiveness to our requests for trade data and other information. Our obligation is not necessarily to get the lowest price but to obtain the best qualitative execution.

Wealthtech Partners has brokerage and clearing arrangements with LPL and the firm may receive additional benefits from LPL in the form of electronic delivery of client information, electronic trading platforms, institutional trading support, proprietary and/or third-party research, continuing education, practice management advice, and other services provided by custodians for the benefit of investment advisory clients. Please refer to item 12 above for more information about the receipt of additional benefits from broker-dealers.

Wealthtech Partners and employees may receive additional compensation from product sponsors. However, such compensation may not be tied to the sales of any products. Compensation could include such items as gifts valued at less than $100 annually; an occasional dinner or ticket to a sporting event; reimbursement in connection with educational meetings with an Associated Person, client workshops, or events; or marketing events or advertising initiatives, including services for identifying prospective clients. Product sponsors may also pay for or reimburse Wealthtech Partners for the costs associated with Wealthtech Partners employees and investment adviser representatives attending various education or training events, as well as Wealthtech Partners sponsored conferences and events.

Recommendation of Other Advisors

We may recommend that you use a third-party investment adviser or program as part of our asset allocation and investment strategy. Wealthtech Partners typically shares in the compensation received by the third-party investment adviser. The compensation arrangement presents a conflict of interest due to a financial incentive to recommend the services of a third-party investment adviser. You are not required to use the services of any recommended third-party investment adviser.

Financial Information

In this section, we are required to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about Wealthtech Partners' financial condition. Wealthtech Partners does not require the prepayment of over $1,200, six or more months in advance. Additionally, Wealthtech Partners has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and it has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

Requirements for State-Registered Advisors - Item 10

Wealthtech Partners LLC Privacy Notice

This notice is being provided to you in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Commission's rule regarding the privacy of consumer financial information ("Regulation S-P") and/or comparable state laws. Please take the time to read and understand the privacy policies and procedures that we have implemented to safeguard your nonpublic personal information.

INFORMATION WE COLLECT

Wealthtech Partners LLC must collect certain personally identifiable financial information about its customers to provide financial services and products. The personally identifiable financial information that we gather during the normal course of doing business with you may include:

- information we receive from you on applications or other forms;
- information about your transactions with us, our affiliates, or others;
- information we receive from a consumer reporting agency.

INFORMATION WE DISCLOSE

We do not disclose any nonpublic personal information about our customers or former customers to anyone, except as permitted or required by law, or as necessary to provide services to you. In accordance with applicable federal and/or state laws, we may disclose all of the information we collect, as described above, to certain nonaffiliated third parties such as our attorneys, accountants, auditors, broker-dealer firms having regulatory requirements to supervise certain of Wealthtech Partners LLC's activities, and persons or entities that are assessing our compliance with industry standards. We enter into contractual agreements with all nonaffiliated third parties that prohibit such third parties from disclosing or using the information other than to carry out the purposes for which we disclose the information.

CONFIDENTIALITY AND SECURITY

We restrict access to nonpublic personal information about you to those employees who need to know that information to provide financial products or services to you. We maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards that comply with federal standards to guard your nonpublic personal information.

ACCURACY

Wealthtech Partners LLC strives to maintain accurate personal information in our client files at all times. However, as personal situations, facts and data change over time; we urge our clients to provide feedback and updated information to help us meet our goals.
