4b: Types of Advisory Services

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. offers a variety of investment advisory services to our clients. We work with our clients to identify their investment goals and objectives as well as risk tolerance in order to create a portfolio allocation designed to reflect their financial goals and objectives.

Wealth Management and Financial Planning Retainer Services

These programs are the core of the Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. asset management system. This combines our investment management and financial planning services. It is designed for individuals, families, trusts, corporations and Qualified and ERISA plans with only owner participants. For ERISA plans, this includes serving as a 3(21) fiduciary providing investment recommendations to the plan sponsor and/or trustee. Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. serves to advise the client on the selection and subsequent performance of investments. We may provide aspects of financial planning, sometimes culminating in a written plan.

Philosophy

We believe that your wealth management deserves the most diligent and disciplined process possible. Our core methodology is to construct and manage efficient diversified portfolios based upon rigorous proven academic and institutional research that match your financial objectives.

Investment Management Services

Our investment management services are typically offered as part of our wealth management and financial planning retainer services, but in certain cases, can be offered as a standalone service. It is designed for individuals, families, trusts, corporations and Qualified and ERISA plans with only owner participants. Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. serves to advise the client on the selection and subsequent performance of investments.

The investment options within an account may include stocks, bonds, closed end funds, exchange traded funds, exchange traded notes, no-load mutual funds, load-waived mutual funds, separate accounts, LP/LLC interests, money market accounts, and bank deposits. Other investments may be added or removed over time. There may be other legacy assets (previously purchased, such as corporate stock options, real estate, previously purchased investments, etc.) which may not be considered part of the account. Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. may elect not to render investment advice or provide other services with respect to these assets.

As part of our investment advisory services, Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. may recommend that the client use the services of a third-party investment adviser to manage a portion or all of your investment portfolio. Factors that we take into consideration when making our recommendation(s) include, but are not limited to, the following: performance, methods of analysis, fees, your financial needs, investment goals, risk tolerance, and investment objectives. We will monitor performance to ensure its management and investment style remains aligned with your investment goals and objectives.

Philosophy

The primary benefit of a modeled portfolio is the disciplined investment approach that it brings to a client. The client can select one investment or several investment models ranging from conservative to growth or optionally create a custom model with the Advisor.

Financial Planning Services

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. offers financial planning services for clients. Wade may utilize outside consultants to provide a financial plan that considers all of your assets, liabilities, goals and objectives and includes gathering all information necessary to provide you with appropriate and agreed upon services, which may include one or more of the following:

- Investment Planning
- Investment Policy Statements
- Financial Independence
- Retirement Planning
- Capital Needs Analysis (Goal Funding)
- Income Tax Planning
- Estate Plan Advising
- Education Planning
- Risk Management, Employee Benefits and Insurance Reviews
- Employee Equity Compensation (Stock Option) Planning
- Other Projects (Provided under separate agreements)

Financial Planning includes, in all or part, but is not limited to: the preparation of a financial plan by an Investment Advisor or an associated person of an Investment Advisor for an investment advisory client which may include estate or tax planning recommendations, an annual or periodic review of financial plans, the management and/or monitoring of a client's investments under financial plans, a provision of information and/or advice to a client regarding the purchase and/or sale of securities, real estate, insurance contracts, annuities contracts, or any types of real or personal property under financial plans.

Qualified and ERISA Plans (Retirement Plans with Non-Owner Participants)

This program is an asset management system designed for qualified plans, individuals and organizations in which client or plan participants self-direct the investment of their funds among specified investment options. Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. advises the client on the selection and reports subsequent performance of investments offered to participants.

Participants in this program may choose four or more investment asset classes that will go into the design of three or more uniquely tailored portfolios. The portfolios are determined by asset allocation.

The investment options within a Program account may include no-load mutual funds, load-waived mutual funds, exchange traded funds, exchange traded notes, collective trusts, separate accounts, money market accounts, guaranteed investment contracts and stable funds. There may be other assets within the Plan previously purchased (e.g., Plan Sponsor's corporate stock, previously purchased investments, etc.) which are not considered to be part of the Program account. Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. does not render investment advice or provide other services with respect to these assets.

At the request of the client, Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. may provide general investment educational assistance to participants. This may include suggested portfolio allocations based on investment options and participant general investment objectives. Normally, these would be unique suggestions since the program has carefully predetermined Lifestyle Portfolio Models based on answers to risk tolerance and investment needs profile questionnaires. Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. may also discuss the plan at enrollment meetings for Participants.

In certain instances, Wade's services will include or be limited to the monitoring and reporting of the performance of certain investments in the client's account(s). Wade, in this capacity, may recommend changes, provide the client with reports or other information, and periodically review the suitability of the investment(s) for the client.

The client is free to accept or reject the broker or dealer recommendations provided by Wade. In recommending brokers and dealers, Wade will generally seek best execution.

Wade may, on occasion, recommend that all or a portion of the assets in the client's account(s) be managed by an outside investment manager or sub-advisor. Fees charged by a sub-advisor will be fully disclosed to the client. In all discretionary client's account(s), except to the extent the client directs otherwise, Wade is authorized to use its discretion in selecting or changing a sub-advisor and/or outside money manager to the client's accounts without prior approval from the client.

Wade has adopted policies and procedures to comply with the ERISA fiduciary standards when advising retirement asset rollovers, as set forth in the Department of Labor Fiduciary Rule. Clients will receive an investment and fee comparison analysis for approval prior to the investment rollover of retirement assets.

Wade will respond to a written request by the client to obtain information required to comply with reporting and disclosure requirements of ERISA within 30 days. Wade will, within 30 days of discovering, correct and disclose to the client any unintentional error or omission made by it. Wade will disclose to the client any change to the information in Wade's ERISA Plan Clients Agreement within 60 days of learning of the change.

Philosophy

The primary benefit of a modeled portfolio is the disciplined investment approach that it brings to a client. The client can select one or more of seven investments ranging from very conservative to aggressive growth or optionally direct the fund choices.

4c: Client Tailored Relationships and Restrictions

Similarly, you are under no obligation to act upon Wade Financial Advisory, Inc.'s or associated person's recommendations. If you elect to act on any of the recommendations, you are under no obligation to affect the transaction through Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. or its associated person when the person is an agent with a licensed broker-dealer or through any associate or affiliate of such person.

4d: Wrap Fee Program

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. does not sponsor nor provide portfolio management services to a wrap fee program.

ITEM 5 – FEES AND COMPENSATION

5a, b & d: Fee Schedules, Payments & Options

Wealth Management and Financial Planning Retainers

In addition to fees for asset management, annual retainer fees for planning services are based on the complexity of a client's situation and the specific services rendered. Ongoing annual retainers are generally priced at four levels: $1,200 $2,000, $4,000, or $8,000, depending on the complexity of a client's financial situation and the specific services rendered. The fee is payable quarterly in advance and due within ten days of invoice. The fee is typically deducted from custodial accounts in conjunction with client's investment management fees.

The fee includes the time and activities necessary to work with your attorney and/or accountant in reaching agreement on solutions, as well as assisting them in implementation of all appropriate documents. We are not responsible for attorney or accountant fees charged to you directly as a result of the above activities.

Financial Planning

One-off financial planning consultation fees are billed either at the time of service or as arranged monthly or quarterly, according to the contract and are due within ten days from the date of the invoice.

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc.'s annual asset management fees will not exceed 1.0% of the client's account value. For purposes of determining value, cash, securities, and other instruments are generally traded on a market for which actual transaction prices are publicly reported and are valued at the last reported sale price on the principal market in which they are traded. In certain circumstances, fees may be negotiable.

Compensation for our services will be calculated in accordance with what is set in the client's agreement. We may modify the terms of any agreement by written changes submitted to the client for signature. Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. investment management fees are generally paid from your account and are debited by the custodian. Client Fees are calculated internally using the Firm's portfolio management system. The fees are then exported to the custodian and deducted from your account. If there is insufficient cash in your account to pay your fees, an equal balance of securities in your portfolio may be sold to pay our fee. In the event there is insufficient cash or positions in the account to pay our fee Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. may send the client a bill for services rendered. In addition to Wade Financial Advisory, Inc.'s management fees, clients bear trading costs and custodial fees.

The Firm's custodians will generally send reports to clients on a monthly basis. The Firm sends quarterly reports to clients. We strongly urge you to compare both statements for accuracy.

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. fees are paid quarterly in advance based on quarter end value, and when not billed to the custodian, are due within ten days from the date of the invoice. All advisory fees are calculated on a calendar basis or 360-day count. The fee will be equal to the agreed upon rate per annum, based on the balance of the account(s) at the beginning of each quarter, i.e., Q1 management fees would be based on the account(s)' value on December 31st. The market value will be construed to equal the sum of the values of all assets in the account, including cash and money market funds, not adjusted by any margin balance/debit.

For California Residents: Subsection (j) of Rule 260.238, California Code of Regulations requires that all Investment Advisors disclose to their clients that lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources. Pursuant to California Rule 260.235.2, if a conflict exists between the interests of the Advisor or its associated persons and the interest of the client; the client is under no obligation to act upon this Advisor's or associated person's recommendations. If the client elects to act on any of the recommendations, the client is under no obligation to affect the transaction through the Advisor or its associated person when the person is an agent with a licensed broker-dealer or through any associate or affiliate of such person.

5.a.II: ERISA PROGRAM FEE SCHEDULE – FEE SCHEDULE IS RELATED TO ERISA PLANS ONLY

ERISA Program Fee Schedule

Amount	Quarterly Fee %
First $1,000,000	0.30%
Next $4,000,000	0.15%
Next $5,000,000	0.10%
Amounts over $10,000,000	0.0625%

Fees are billed quarterly, with payment due within 10 days from the date of the invoice. A late charge of 1% per month will be charged upon any balance unpaid within one month of the invoice date. Fees for partial quarters at the commence or termination of the client agreement will be prorated based on the number of days the client's account(s) were under advisement during the quarter.

5b: Termination

Either Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. or our clients can terminate our agreement upon receipt of written notice to the other party. Agreements may be terminated at the end of a calendar quarter by either party with 30 days written notice to the other party.

When an agreement is terminated, all assets may need to be transferred from the current custodian. You will be responsible for paying all fees including full quarter custodial administrative fees, account closure fees, mutual fund fees and all trading costs due to the termination to the custodian. The custodian may assess additional fees for transfer of illiquid investments. If there is insufficient cash in the account, the liquidation of some securities may be used to pay the fees. Prior to termination of an agreement, we can provide a good faith estimate of these fees.

5c: Third Party Fees

You are responsible for the payment of all third-party fees (i.e., custodian fees, mutual fund fees, separate account management fees, transaction fees, etc.). Those fees are separate and distinct from the fees we charge. All brokerage commissions, stock transfer fees, mutual fund fees, and other similar charges incurred in connection with transactions for the account will be paid out of the assets in the account and are in addition to the investment management fees paid to us. Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. reviews the client fees for accuracy prior to assessment and encourages clients to review their statements and contact us in the event of any discrepancies. In addition to statements sent by us, you will receive statements directly from these brokers, custodians or mutual funds or other investments you hold. We strongly urge you to compare these statements for accuracy.

5d: Other Investment Compensation

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. does not accept commission for the sale of securities or other investment products, including asset-based sales charges or service fees from the sale of mutual funds.

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. generally provides wealth management, ERISA, and financial planning services to the following types of clients:

- Individuals
- High-Net-Worth Individuals
- Pension and Profit-Sharing Plans
- Trusts

- Estates
- Charitable Organizations

Minimum Account Size

Wade Financial Advisory does not have an account minimum. However, we may decline to accept clients under certain fee levels.

ITEM 8 – METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

8a: Analysis

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. uses multiple sources of information to obtain analysis and strategies. They include sources such as financial newspapers, financial magazines, research prepared by others, prospectuses, annual reports, and filings with the SEC, as well as research materials prepared by others, company press releases and corporate rating services.

8b: Investment Strategies

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. utilizes multiple investment strategies to meet our clients' goals. These methodologies are formulated based on a comprehensive review and assessment of the client's expectations, investment time horizon, risk tolerance level, present investment allocation, and current and projected financial requirements.

Ultimately, each strategy must maximize return within reasonable and prudent levels of risk. Also, the approach taken must provide exposure to a wide range of investment opportunities in various markets while limiting risk exposure through prudent diversification.

8c: Risk of Loss

All investments include a risk of loss. In addition, as recent global and domestic economic events have indicated, performance of any investment is not guaranteed. As a result, there is a risk of loss of the assets we manage that may be out of our control. We use our best efforts and expertise to manage your assets. However, we cannot guarantee any level of performance or that you will not experience financial loss.

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. will use our best judgment and good faith efforts in rendering services to you. We cannot warrant or guarantee any particular level of account performance, or that the account will be profitable over time. Not every investment decision or recommendation made by us will be profitable. You assume all market risk involved in the investment of account assets under the Investment Advisory Agreement and understand that investment decisions made for this account are subject to various market, currency, economic, political, and business risks. Except as may otherwise be provided by law, we will not be liable to you for (a) any loss that you may suffer by reason of any investment decision made or other action taken or omitted in good faith by Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. with that degree of care, skill, prudence and diligence under the circumstances that a prudent person acting in a fiduciary capacity would use; (b) any loss arising from our adherence to your instructions; or (c) any unauthorized act or failure to act by a custodian of your account. Nothing in this document shall relieve us from any responsibility or liability we may have under state or federal statutes.

When Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. makes a decision to invest in or sell out of a particular investment, the Firm will generally communicate to its non-discretionary clients and explain the recommendation. Transactions will be effected only for discretionary clients and those non-discretionary clients that have approved a purchase or sale. Non-discretionary clients who delay communicating their approval for a purchase or sale to the Firm will have their transaction executed later and possibly at a less favorable price than other clients if the market conditions for the recommended security deteriorate.

Additional risk factors clients should consider include but are not limited to:

Equity Securities

Common stocks and other equity securities generally increase or decrease in value based on the earnings of a company and on general industry and market conditions. The value of a company's share price could decline as a result of poor decisions made by management, lower demand for the company's services or products or if the company's revenues fall short of expectations. There are also risks associated with the stock market overall; in particular, the stock market may experience periods of turbulence and instability.

Options

Options can be highly volatile investments and involve special risks. Successful investment strategies using options require the ability to predict future movements in securities prices, interest rates and other economic factors. The Firm's, or an investment manager's efforts to use options (even for hedging purposes) may not be successful. The Firm or an investment manager can invest in options based on any type of security, index, or currency, including options traded on foreign exchanges and options not traded on exchanges. If the Firm or an investment manager applies a hedge at an inappropriate time or judges market conditions incorrectly, options strategies will reduce a client's return. A client will also experience losses if the prices of option positions were to be poorly correlated with its other investments, or if it could not close its positions because of an illiquid secondary market.

Fixed Income Securities

Fixed income or debt securities have varying levels of sensitivity to changes in interest rates. In general, the price of a debt security can fall when interest rates rise and can rise when interest rates fall. Securities with longer maturities and mortgage-backed securities can be more sensitive to interest rate changes. In addition, short-term securities tend to react to changes in short-term interest rates, and long-term securities tend to react to changes in long term interest rates. Many types of fixed income securities are also subject to prepayment risk. Securities subject to prepayment can offer less potential for gains during a declining interest rate environment and similar or greater potential for loss in a rising interest rate environment. Below-investment grade fixed income securities are generally subject to greater credit risk than investment-grade securities and will be issued by companies whose financial condition is troubled or uncertain and that may be involved in bankruptcy proceedings, reorganizations, or financial restructurings. Many below-investment grade fixed income securities are also less liquid than investment-grade securities and could be subject to greater volatility.

Exchange Traded Funds

Exchange Traded Funds ("ETFs") are designed to represent a fixed portfolio of securities that is intended to track a particular market index. The risks associated with investing in ETFs generally reflect the risks of owning the underlying securities in which they are designed to track, although lack of liquidity in an ETF could result in an ETF being more volatile than the particular market index it intends to track. ETFs also have separate management fees and expenses, which a client will bear through its investment in the underlying ETF.

Business Continuity Risks

The Firm's business operations may be vulnerable to disruption in the case of catastrophic events such as fires, natural disaster, terrorist attacks or other circumstances resulting in property damage, network interruption and/or prolong power outages. Although the Firm has implemented, or expects to implement, measures to manage risks relating to these types of events, there can be no assurances that all contingencies can be planned for. These risks of loss can be substantial and could have a material adverse effect on the Firm and investments therein.

Operational Risk

Operational risk is the potential for loss caused by a deficiency in information, communication, transaction processing and settlement and accounting systems. The Firm maintains controls that include systems and procedures to record and reconcile transactions and positions and obtains necessary documentation for trading activities.

Regulatory/Legislative Developments Risk

Regulators and/or legislators may promulgate rules or pass legislation that places restrictions on, adds procedural hurdles to, affects the liquidity of, and/or alters the risks associated with certain investment transactions or the securities underlying such investment transactions. Such rules/legislation could adversely affect the value associated with such investment transactions or underlying securities.

Future legal, tax and regulatory changes could occur that may adversely affect business and require additional reporting for registered investment advisors. The SEC, other regulators and self-regulatory organizations and exchanges have taken various extraordinary actions in connection with market events and may take additional actions. Registered Investment Advisors may also be adversely affected by changes in the enforcement or interpretation of existing laws, rules and regulations, including tax laws, by federal, state and non-U.S. agencies, courts, authorities or regulators.

Exposure to Material, Non-Public Information

From time to time, Wade Financial Advisory, Inc.'s employees receive material, non-public information with respect to an issuer of publicly traded securities resulting from professional and/or personal channels. In such circumstances, clients may be prohibited, by law, and policies and procedures for a period of time from (i) unwinding a position in such issuer, (ii) establishing an initial position or taking any greater position in such issuer, and (iii) pursuing other investment opportunities related to such issuer.

Epidemic Outbreak

An epidemic outbreak and reactions to such an outbreak could cause uncertainty in markets and businesses, including Wade's business, and may adversely affect the performance of the global economy, including causing market volatility, market and business uncertainty and closures, supply chain and travel interruptions, the need for employees and vendors to work at external locations, and extensive medical absences. Wade has policies and procedures to address known situations, but because a large epidemic may create significant market and business uncertainties and disruptions, not all events that could affect the Firm's business and/or the markets can be determined and addressed in advance. During the recent COVID-19 outbreak, The Firm's Business Continuity Plan allows its personnel to work remotely without interruption to its investment management or client service. This incident response may not be representative of future incident conditions.

Economic Conditions

Changes in economic conditions, including, for example, interest rates, inflation rates, currency and exchange rates, industry conditions, competition, technological developments, trade relationships, political and diplomatic events and trends, tax laws and innumerable other factors, can affect substantially and adversely the investment performance of a client's account. Economic, political and financial conditions, or industry or economic trends and developments, may, from time to time, and for varying periods of time, cause volatility, illiquidity or other potentially adverse effects in the financial markets. Economic or political turmoil, a deterioration of diplomatic relations or a natural or man-made disaster in a region or country where the Firm's client assets are invested may result in adverse consequences to such clients' portfolios. None of these conditions is or will be within the control of the Firm, and no assurances can be given that the Firm will anticipate these developments.

As of the beginning of 2023, there is an especially high degree of economic uncertainty given elevated inflation, a rapid increase in interest rates by Central Banks, and a high level of geopolitical uncertainty in Europe and Asia. The likelihood of a recession, and the magnitude of any such recession, is highly uncertain and would have significant implications across asset classes, particularly if a recession occurs and is of significant magnitude or duration.

Cybersecurity Risks

The Firm's information and technology systems could be vulnerable to damage or interruption from computer viruses, network failures, computer and telecommunication failures, infiltrations by unauthorized persons and security breaches, usage errors by its professionals, power outages and catastrophic events such as fires, tornadoes, floods, hurricanes and earthquakes. Although the Firm implemented and will continue to implement various measures to manage risks relating to these types of events, if these systems are compromised, become inoperable for extended periods of time or cease to function properly, the Firm will have to make a significant investment to fix or replace them. The failure of these systems and/or disaster recovery plans for any reason could cause significant interruptions in the Firm's operations and result in a failure to maintain the security, confidentiality or privacy or sensitive data, including personal information relating to clients. Such a failure could harm the Firm's reputation or subject it or its affiliates to legal claims and otherwise affect their business and financial performance. Additionally, any failure of the Firm's information, technology or security systems could have an adverse impact on its ability to manage the separately managed client accounts and private investment fund vehicles referred to herein.

THIS LIST OF RISK FACTORS DOES NOT PURPORT TO BE A COMPLETE ENUMERATION OR EXPLANATION OF THE RISKS INVOLVED IN CONNECTION WITH THE ADVISOR'S INVESTMENT OR THE MANAGEMENT OF CLIENTS. IN ADDITION, PROSPECTIVE CLIENTS SHOULD BE AWARE THAT, AS THE MARKET DEVELOPS AND CHANGES OVER TIME, INVESTMENTS ON BEHALF OF CLIENTS MAY BE SUBJECT TO ADDITIONAL AND DIFFERENT RISKS. PROSPECTIVE CLIENTS CONSIDERING THE FIRMS SERVICES SHOULD CAREFULLY REVIEW THE RISK DISCLOSURES SET FORTH IN THIS DISCLOSURE BROCHURE.

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc., or its employees, may buy and sell some of the same securities for our own accounts that we buy and sell for our clients. The Firm or its employees routinely buy and own for themselves the same securities that they recommend to their clients. The Firm believes this demonstrates the Firm and its employees' faith in the securities they purchase for clients. The Firm recognizes, however, that this overlap can create potential conflicts of interest, particularly because the Firm encourages its employees to use subjective allocations to satisfy individual client needs. Although the Firm and its employees believe they do not engage in personal trading to their clients' detriment and that all clients are treated fairly and equitably over time, some disparities in allocation and price across accounts may result. The Firm has developed procedures to mitigate some of the effects of such conflicts. The Firm or its employees may not buy or sell a security that is being purchased, sold or considered for the client accounts they manage until they have reviewed all their client accounts and determined that the trades, they are entering for themselves (or for their related accounts) have already been entered for the advisory clients for whom they intend to trade at that time. Further, when the Firm or its employees trade in their own accounts on the same day as the client accounts over which they exercise primary management responsibility, they are not permitted to receive better executions than their advisory client trades executed on the same day.

Aggregated or "batched" trades may be used to facilitate best execution, including negotiating more favorable prices, obtaining more timely or equitable execution or reducing overall commission charges. As specified in the Firm's policies and procedures, employees are permitted to participate in client batch trades and may trade alongside clients. However, employees will never receive a more favorable price than the clients. All employee participation in block trades is documented by the CCO. The SEC indicated that aggregation of client orders would not violate the anti-fraud provisions of Section 206 of the Advisers Act if the practice of allocating orders is fully disclosed in the adviser's Form ADV and separately disclosed to existing clients and no advisory account is favored over any other account. All clients participating in the aggregated order shall receive an average share price with all other transaction costs shared on a pro-rata basis.

Notwithstanding these procedures, changes in market conditions, fluctuations in cash balances (due to, among other things, new deposits, accumulation of dividends and interest, sales of other securities, maturity dates of bonds) and other idiosyncratic factors may drive the Firm's allocation decisions. Accordingly, unlike firms with rigid asset allocation and rebalancing programs, not all the clients of an advisor who buys (or sells) a security will do so on the same day, and some may buy or sell after the advisor has bought (or sold) for himself and for his family accounts. Depending on the availability of the security, subsequent price movements, the frequency with which the security trades, and other subjective factors considered by the Advisor, clients may not all receive allocations at or about the same time as other clients, or as the Firm or its employees themselves. As part of the quarterly review, the CCO will review The Firm's and its employees' trades.

The Firm and its employees are also permitted to trade securities after clients have participated in a block trade as long as they do not receive a better price than the clients and as long as all suitable accounts have participated in the trade prior to the employee executing the trade in their own account. In some cases, Wade Financial Advisory Inc., or its employees, may buy or sell securities for our own accounts and not for clients' accounts, as it may not meet the objectives or plans for the client, or employees require liquidity.

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. will always maintain full disclosure with our clients so that you can make informed decisions. We will always evaluate our activity from the view of our clients to ensure that any and all required disclosures are made. For example, we will disclose anything that would cause you to be unfairly influenced to make any decision regarding actions or inactions in your account.

ITEM 12 – BROKERAGE PRACTICES

12a: Selecting Brokerage Firms

How We Select Our Brokers

As part of our services, Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. will recommend a broker-dealer. We have selected our broker-dealers based on price, reliability, speed of processing, tools and “best execution” in addition to other considerations. And while you are not required to effect transactions through any broker-dealer recommended by us, we feel we have made our selections based on a totality of benefits they offer.

To avoid creating a possible conflict of interest in recommending broker-dealers, we have established the following restrictions in order to ensure its fiduciary responsibilities:

- We adhere to our Code of Ethics as outlined in Item 11 above,
- We emphasize the unrestricted right of you to select and choose your own broker or dealer, and
- We will always act in accordance with all applicable federal and state regulations governing registered investment advisory practices.

Common Brokers We Recommend

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. may recommend that clients establish brokerage accounts with Charles Schwab Institutional (“CSI”) or TD Ameritrade Institutional (“TDA”) to maintain custody of clients' assets and to effect trades for their accounts. clients may also designate a custodian of their choice in the event that they do not wish to move their accounts to one of the Firm's preferred custodians. The Advisor is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with CSI or TDA. CSI and TDA provide Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. with access to their trading and custody services, which are typically not available to CSI or TDA retail investors. Brokerage services are generally available to independent investment advisors on an unsolicited basis, at no charge to them, so long as a minimum asset level of the Advisor's clients' assets are maintained in accounts at CSI or TDA, and are not otherwise contingent upon Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. committing to CSI or TDA for any specific amount of business (assets in custody or trading). CSI and TDA services include brokerage, custody, research, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment.

For Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. client's accounts, CSI and TDA generally do not charge separately for custody but are compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related fees for securities trades that are executed through CSI or TDA or that settle into CSI or TDA accounts. CSI and TDA also makes available to Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. other services intended to help us manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance, and marketing.

In addition, CSI and TDA may make available, arrange and/or pay for these types of services rendered to Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. by independent third parties. CSI or TDA may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to the Advisor. While as a fiduciary, the Advisor endeavors to act in its clients' best interests, and the Advisor's recommendation that clients maintain their assets in accounts at CSI or TDA may be based in part on the benefit to the Advisor of the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by CSI or TDA, which may create a potential conflict of interest as discussed in Items 11 and 12a in this document.

TD Ameritrade

The Advisor also participates in the institutional advisor program (the "Program") offered by TD Ameritrade Institutional. TD Ameritrade Institutional is a division of TD Ameritrade Inc., member FINRA/SIPC ("TD Ameritrade"), an unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer and FINRA member. TD Ameritrade offers to independent investment advisors services which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance, and settlement of transactions. The Advisor receives some benefits from TD Ameritrade through its participation in the Program.

As disclosed above, The Advisor participates in TD Ameritrade's institutional customer program and may recommend TD Ameritrade to clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between the Advisor's participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its clients, although the Advisor receives economic benefits through its participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors. These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving the Advisor participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to the Advisor by third party vendors. TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by Advisor's related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit the Advisor but may not benefit its client accounts. These products or services may assist Advisor in managing and administering client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help the Advisor manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by the Advisor or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, the Advisor endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by Advisor or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the Advisor's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

12b: Sales Aggregation

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. is authorized to aggregate purchases, sales and other transactions made for your account with purchases, sales and other transactions in the same or similar securities or instruments for other clients of ours. When we aggregate transactions, the actual prices applicable to the aggregated transactions will be averaged, and the account will be deemed to have purchased or sold its proportionate share of the securities or instruments involved at the average price obtained. Stock exchange regulations may, in certain instances, prevent the executing broker-dealer from delivering to the account a confirmation slip with respect to its participation in the aggregated transaction and, in such event, we will advise you, in writing, of any purchase or disposition of instruments for the account with respect to any such aggregated transaction. We will direct that confirmations of any transactions effected for the account will be sent, in conformity with applicable law, to you.

12c: Software and Support Provided by Financial Institutions

Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. receives without cost from CSI or TDA administrative support, computer software, related systems support, as well as other third-party support as further described below (together "Support") which allow Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. to better monitor client accounts maintained at CSI or TDA and otherwise conduct its business. Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. receives the Support without cost because the Firm renders investment management services to clients that maintain assets at CSI or TDA. The Support is not provided in connection with securities transactions of clients (i.e., not "soft dollars"). The Support benefits Wade Financial Advisory, Inc., but not its clients directly. Clients should be aware that Wade Financial Advisory, Inc.'s receipt of economic benefits such as the Support from a broker-dealer creates a conflict of interest since these benefits may influence the Firm's choice of broker-dealer over another that does not furnish similar software, systems support or services, especially because the support is contingent upon the Firm's clients' use of CSI's or TDA's services. In fulfilling its duties to its clients, Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first and has determined that the recommendation of Schwab is in the best interest of clients and satisfies the Firm's duty to seek best execution.

Specifically, Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. receives the following benefits from CSI and TDA : i) receipt of duplicate client confirmations and bundled duplicate statements; ii) access to a trading desk that exclusively services its institutional traders; iii) access to block trading which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts; and iv) access to an electronic communication network for client order entry and account information.

CSI's and TDA's services include brokerage services that are related to the execution of securities transactions, custody, research, including that in the form of advice, analyses and reports, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment.

For client accounts maintained in its custody, CSI and TDA generally do not charge separately for custody services but is compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related or asset-based fees for securities trades that are executed through CSI or TDA that settle into CSI or TDA accounts.

CSI and TDA also makes available to the Firm other products and services that benefit the Firm but may not benefit its clients' accounts. These benefits may include national, regional, or Firm specific educational events organized and/or sponsored by CSI or TDA. Other potential benefits may include occasional business entertainment of personnel of Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. by CSI or TDA personnel, including meals, invitations to sporting events, including golf tournaments, and other forms of entertainment, some of which may accompany educational opportunities. Other of these products and services assist Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technology (and related technological training) that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts), provide research, pricing information and other market data, facilitate payment of the Firm's fees from its clients' accounts, and assist with back-office training and support functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or some substantial number of the Firm's accounts, including accounts not maintained at CSI or TDA. CSI and TDA also makes available to Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. other services intended to help the Firm manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include professional compliance, legal and business consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance, employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, insurance, and marketing. In addition, CSI or TDA may make available, arrange and/or pay vendors for these types of services rendered to the Firm by independent third parties. CSI or TDA may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to the Firm. While, as a fiduciary, Wade Financial Advisory, Inc. endeavors to act in its clients' best interests, the Firm's recommendation that clients maintain their assets in accounts at CSI or TDA may be based in part on the benefits received and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by CSI or TDA, which creates a potential conflict of interest.
