Highland Consulting offers the following advisory services to our clients:

INVESTMENT ADVISORY SERVICES

Highland Consulting provides investment advisory services. We provide continuous advice to clients regarding investments based on the individual needs of each client. Through discussions in which goals and objectives based on each client's particular circumstances are established, we assist the client in developing an investment policy and base our services on that policy. During our data-gathering process, we help determine each client's individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs. As appropriate, we also review and discuss a client's prior investment history, and, if applicable, a client's family composition and background.

Highland Consulting has historically served its clients on a non-discretionary basis. This means that the firm had no discretion over the specific investments held in client portfolios. There are a few cases where Highland Consulting has discretion. Account supervision is guided by the client's stated objectives (i.e., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations.

Clients may place restrictions on investments related to certain securities, types of securities, or industry sectors.

Our investment recommendations are generally limited to mutual funds, ETFs, hedge funds, private equity funds, venture capital funds, private placements and other money managers. Highland Consulting may use other securities as well to help diversify a portfolio when applicable and may include advice regarding the types of investments held by the various products mentioned.

Because some types of investments involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be implemented/recommended when consistent with the client's stated investment objectives, tolerance for risk, liquidity and suitability.

As part of the process, we will assist the client in reviewing and monitoring fees associated with investments as well as other related costs (e.g. custody).

INSTITUTIONAL RETIREMENT PLAN CONSULTING SERVICES

Highland Consulting provides institutional retirement plan consulting services. The primary clients for these services will be the plan sponsors of defined benefit and defined contribution plans, however, we may also offer these services, where appropriate, to other entities. Highland Consulting has historically served its clients on a non-discretionary basis. This means that the firm had no discretion over the specific investments held in client portfolios. There are a few cases where Highland Consulting has discretion. Institutional Retirement Plan Consulting Services are comprised of four distinct services. Clients may choose to use any or all of these services.

Investment Policy Preparation:

We will meet with the client to determine an appropriate investment strategy that reflects the plan sponsor's stated investment objectives for management of the overall plan. Our firm then assists with the preparation of a written investment policy detailing those objectives, constraints, etc., including an encompassing policy under which these goals are to be achieved. The investment policy also lists the criteria for selection of investment vehicles as well as the procedures and timing interval for monitoring of investment performance.

Selection of Investments:

We will assist the client, where appropriate, in developing an asset allocation or asset allocation model. We will also review various investment managers and available investment vehicles, including mutual funds (both passive/index and active/managed) to determine which investments are appropriate to implement the client's investment policy. The number of investments to be recommended will be determined by the client, based on the investment policy.

Monitoring of Investments:

We monitor client investments continually, based on the procedures and timing intervals delineated in the investment policy. We monitor the client's portfolio, including individual managers, and will make recommendations as market factors and the client's needs dictate. As part of the process, we will assist the client in reviewing and monitoring fees associated with investments as well as other related costs (e.g. recordkeeping, custody, etc.).

Employee Communications:

For retirement plan clients with individual plan participants exercising control over assets in their own account ("self-directed plans"), we may also provide educational support and investment workshops designed for the plan participants. The nature of the topics to be covered will be determined by us and the client under the guidelines established in ERISA. The educational support and investment workshops will not provide plan participants with individualized, tailored investment advice or individualized, tailored asset allocation recommendations.

FAMILY WEALTH PLANNING

We provide family wealth planning services. The primary clients for these services will be individuals, families, family offices, and business owners. Highland Consulting will obtain information regarding a client's current situation from interviews and questionnaires as well as from a review of other documentation. Based upon information obtained from the client, we will prepare a written plan that summarizes the client's current situation and provides recommendations. Should the client choose to implement the recommendations contained in the plan, we assist them by working with their attorney, accountant, insurance agent, and/or other adviser(s). Implementation of financial plan recommendations is entirely at the client's discretion.

Depending on the client's situation, the plan may address any or all of the following areas:

Personal:

We review family records, budgeting, risk management, estate information, financial goals and family relationships.

Tax and Cash Flow Analysis:

We analyze the client's income and spending for past, current, and future years. We then illustrate the impact of various scenarios on the client's ability to meet future goals.

Investments:

We analyze investment alternatives and their effect on the client's portfolio.

Insurance:

We review to ensure proper coverage for our client and identify areas that need to be addressed. Primarily we review life, health, disability, liability and long-term care.

Retirement:

We analyze current strategies and investment plans to help the client achieve his or her retirement goals.

Estate:

We assist the client in assessing and developing strategies to be effective and efficient in the accumulation and transition of their wealth, their business and their values.

Financial Planning recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker-dealer or insurance company. All recommendations are of a generic nature. We will provide an analysis to clarify options and choices for our clients.

WRITTEN ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF FIDUCIARY STATUS

When we provide investment advice to a client regarding a retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with a client's interests, so we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in a client's best interest and not put our interest ahead of a client. Under this special rule's provisions, we must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice);
- Never put our financial interests ahead of a client's interests when making recommendations (give loyal advice);
- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in a client's best interest;
- Charge no more than is reasonable for our services; and
- Give a client basic information about conflicts of interest.

AMOUNT OF ASSETS UNDER MANAGEMENT

As of 12/31/2022, we managed approximately $15,469,657,911.00 in client assets on a non-discretionary basis plus $227,566,193.00 in client assets on a discretionary basis.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

FEES FOR INVESTMENT ADVISORY SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONAL RETIREMENT PLAN CONSULTING

Our annual fees for Investment Advisory Services are generally based on a percentage of assets under management and vary based on the scope of the engagement. Fixed fee arrangements may be negotiated.

Clients are invoiced in advance at the beginning of each calendar quarter based upon the value of the client's account at the end of the previous quarter.

A minimum level of assets under management is generally required for this service. This account size may be negotiable depending on certain circumstances. Highland Consulting may group together certain related client accounts for the purposes of achieving the minimum account size and determining the annualized fee.

Limited Negotiability of Advisory Fees: Highland Consulting retains the discretion to negotiate fees on a client-by-client basis. Client facts, circumstances and needs are considered in determining the fee structure. These include the complexity of the client, assets to be placed under management, anticipated future additional assets, related accounts, portfolio style, account composition, and reports, among other factors. The specific annual fee schedule is identified in the contract between the adviser and each client.

Discounts, not generally available to our advisory clients, may be offered to family members and friends of associated persons of our firm.

FEES FOR FAMILY WEALTH PLANNING

Our annual fees for Family Wealth Planning Services are generally based upon a percentage of assets or a fixed fee. The fee will vary based upon the scope of the engagement. The specific annual fee schedule is identified in the contract between the Highland Consulting and each client.

Clients are invoiced in advance at the beginning of each calendar quarter based upon the fee schedule identified in the contract.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Termination of the Advisory Relationship: Generally, a client agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of 90 days written notice. As disclosed above, certain fees are paid in advance of services provided. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded. In calculating a client's reimbursement of fees, we will pro rate the reimbursement according to the number of days remaining in the billing period.

Mutual Fund Fees: All fees paid to Highland Consulting for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and/or ETFs. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could invest in a mutual fund directly, without our services. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by our firm which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objective. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and our fees to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

ERISA Accounts: Highland Consulting is deemed to be a fiduciary to advisory clients that are employee benefit plans or individual retirement accounts (IRAs) pursuant to the Employee Retirement Income and Securities Act ("ERISA"), and regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the "Code"), respectively. As such, our firm is subject to specific duties and obligations under ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code that include among other things, restrictions concerning certain forms of compensation. To avoid engaging in prohibited transactions, Highland Consulting may only charge fees for investment advice. As mentioned previously, Highland Consulting receives no commissions, 12b-1 fees, finder's fees or any other form of compensation from any mutual fund company.

Our revenues are derived entirely from fees paid directly to us from our clients.

Additional Fees and Expenses: In addition to our advisory fees, clients are also responsible for the fees and expenses charged by custodians and imposed by broker dealers, including, but not limited to, any transaction charges imposed by a broker dealer with which an independent investment manager effects transactions for the client's account(s).

Please refer to the "Brokerage Practices" section (Item 12) of the Form ADV for additional information.

Advisory Fees in General: Clients should note that similar advisory services may (or may not) be available from other registered (or unregistered) investment advisers for similar or lower fees.

Limited Prepayment of Fees: Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1200 more than six months in advance of services rendered.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Highland Consulting does not charge performance-based fees.

Item 7 Types of Clients

Highland Consulting provides advisory services to the following types of clients:

- Defined benefit and defined contribution plans
- Charitable organizations
- Foundations and endowments
- Corporations or other businesses not listed above
- High net worth individuals

As previously disclosed in Item 5, our firm has established certain initial minimum account requirements based on the nature of the service(s) being provided. For a more detailed understanding of those requirements, please review the disclosures provided in each applicable service.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

We use the following methods of analysis in formulating our investment advice:

Asset Allocation. When applicable, we assist each client with attempting to identify an appropriate ratio of equities, fixed income, cash, alternatives, and other investments suitable to the client's investment goals and risk tolerance. Highland Consulting has developed an in-house asset allocation software and uses proprietary forward looking return, risk and correlation estimates to assist in this process.

A risk of asset allocation is that the client may not participate in sharp increases in a particular security, industry or market sector. Another risk is that the ratio of equities, fixed income, cash, alternatives, and other investments will change over time due to stock and market movements and, if not corrected, will no longer be appropriate for the client's goals.

Investment Manager Analysis. Our analysis also focuses on the evaluation of money managers including those who manage mutual funds, separate accounts, commingled trust, stable value funds, hedge funds, fund of funds, private equity funds and other investments. One of our primary roles is to identify money managers whose strategies complement the investment objectives of our clients. Our evaluation of these managers includes analyzing a number of quantitative (position level data, performance attribution, etc.) and qualitative factors (investment philosophy, team structure, engagement of portfolio managers, etc.) to gain a better understanding of the manager's credentials, process of investing, historical performance relative to appropriate benchmarks, pricing and other measures. To help accomplish this, Highland Consulting uses a number of proprietary tools, models and purchased datasets, and also participates in numerous conversations and onsite visits with investment managers.

Highland Consulting assists its clients by helping them to formulate an investment strategy appropriate to the needs of the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives, risk tolerance, and time horizons, among other considerations.

Risks for all forms of analysis. Our analysis methods rely on the assumption that data, including data provided by managers, is accurate and unbiased. We also purchase manager data and other information that allows us to corroborate manager provided data. While we are alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

RISKS OF INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

Selection of Other Advisers: Although Highland Consulting will seek to select only money managers who will invest clients' assets with the highest level of integrity, Highland Consulting's selection process cannot ensure that money managers will perform as desired and Highland Consulting will have no control over the day-to-day operations of any of its selected money managers. Highland Consulting would not necessarily be aware of certain activities at the underlying money manager level, including without limitation a money manager's engaging in unreported risks, investment "style drift" or even regulator breach or fraud. In monitoring and analyzing the third-party advisers, Highland Consulting uses benchmarking analysis, assessing whether the adviser's performance has met, exceeded, or fallen short of comparable benchmarks (e.g., Russell 2000, S&P 500, etc.), together with comparison against any stated benchmarks the adviser has set for itself.

Long-term trading is designed to capture market rates of both return and risk. Due to its nature, the long-term investment strategy can expose clients to various types of risk that will typically surface at various intervals during the time the client owns the investments. These risks include but are not limited to inflation (purchasing power) risk, interest rate risk, economic risk, market risk, and political/regulatory risk.

RISKS OF SPECIFIC SECURITIES UTILIZED

Clients should be aware that there is a material risk of loss using any investment strategy. The investment types listed below are not guaranteed or insured by the FDIC or any other government agency.

Mutual Funds: Investing in mutual funds carries the risk of capital loss and thus you may lose money investing in mutual funds. All mutual funds have costs that lower investment returns. The funds can be of bond (fixed income) nature or stock (equity) nature, or a mix of multiple underlying security types.

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs): An ETF is an investment fund traded on stock exchanges, similar to stocks. Investing in ETFs carries the risk of capital loss (sometimes up to a 100% loss in the case of a stock holding bankruptcy). Areas of concern include the lack of transparency in products and increasing complexity, conflicts of interest and the possibility of inadequate regulatory compliance. Because ETFs use "authorized participants" (APs) as agents to facilitate creations or redemptions (primary market), there is a risk that an AP decides to no longer participate for a particular ETF; however, that risk is mitigated by the fact that other APs can step in to fill the vacancy of the withdrawing AP [an ETF typically has multiple APs] and ETF transactions predominantly take place in the secondary market without need for an AP. Like other liquid securities, ETF pricing changes throughout the trading day and there can be no guarantee that an ETF is purchased at the optimal time in terms of market movements. Moreover, due to market fluctuations, ETF brokerage costs, differing demand and characteristics of underlying securities, and other factors, the price of an ETF can be lower than the aggregate market price of its cash and component individual securities (net asset value – NAV). An ETF is subject to the same market risks as those of its underlying individual securities, and also has internal expenses that can lower investment returns.

Hedge Funds often engage in leveraging and other speculative investment practices that may increase the risk of investment loss; can be highly illiquid; are not required to provide periodic pricing or valuation information to investors; may involve complex tax structures and delays in distributing important tax information; are not subject to the same regulatory requirements as mutual funds; and often charge high fees. In addition, hedge funds may invest in risky securities and engage in risky strategies.

Private Equity Funds: In addition to the risks associated with hedge funds, there are risks specifically associated with investing in private equity. Capital calls can be made on short notice, and the failure to meet capital calls can result in significant adverse consequences, including but not limited to a total loss of investment.

Venture Capital Funds invest in start-up companies at an early stage of development in the interest of generating a return through an eventual realization event; the risk is high as a result of the uncertainty involved at that stage of development.

Private Placements carry a substantial risk as they are subject to less regulation than are publicly offered securities, the market to resell these assets under applicable securities laws may be illiquid, due to restrictions, and liquidation may be taken at a substantial discount to the underlying value or result in the entire loss of the value of such assets.

Index Funds employ a strategy that aims to replicate the movements of an index of a specific financial market (which may include debt securities), or a set of rules of ownership that are held constant, regardless of market conditions. Products that utilize an index tracking strategy may suffer a risk of loss, including as a result of tracking error. Imperfect correlation between a portfolio of securities and those in the underlying index, rounding of prices, changes to the underlying index and regulatory requirements may cause tracking error, which is the divergence of the portfolio's performance from that of the underlying index. This risk may be heightened during times of increased market volatility or other unusual market conditions. Tracking error also may result because a portfolio incurs fees and expenses while the underlying index does not.

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

We are required to disclose any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management.

Our firm and our management personnel have no reportable disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Our firm has adopted a Code of Ethics which sets forth high ethical standards of business conduct that we require of our employees, including compliance with applicable federal securities laws.

Highland Consulting and our personnel owe a duty of loyalty, fairness and good faith towards our clients, and have an obligation to adhere not only to the specific provisions of the Code of Ethics but to the general principles that guide the Code.

Our Code of Ethics includes policies and procedures for the review of quarterly securities transactions reports as well as initial and annual securities holdings reports that must be submitted by the firm's access persons. Among other things, our Code of Ethics also requires the prior approval of any acquisition of securities in a limited offering (e.g., private placement) or an initial public offering. Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Highland Consulting does not have any soft-dollar arrangements and does not receive any soft-dollar benefits.

Highland Consulting is an independent investment adviser and is not affiliated with any brokerage firm. Clients may enter into arrangements with third parties for custodial and brokerage services.

Highland Consulting may advise a client, upon request, with regard to Client's selection of broker-dealers to provide additional services. Highland Consulting's primary consideration in making a recommendation will be the broker's ability to provide best execution of trades. In making a determination about best execution (and subject to section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended), Highland Consulting may consider a number of factors including, but not limited to, trade price, speed of execution, certainty of execution, overall transaction costs and the quality of research or brokerage services the broker may provide. Highland Consulting is not obligated to solicit competitive bids for any transaction and commission rates are only one of many factors considered by Highland Consulting.

Highland Consulting receives no research, product, or services other than execution from a broker-dealer or third-party in connection with client securities transactions ("soft dollar benefits").

1. Brokerage for Client Referrals

Highland Consulting receives no referrals from a broker-dealer or third party in exchange for using that broker-dealer or third party.

2. Clients Directing Which Broker/Dealer/Custodian to Use

Highland Consulting may permit clients to direct it to execute transactions through a specified broker-dealer. Clients must refer to their advisory agreements for a complete understanding of how they may be permitted to direct brokerage.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

INVESTMENT ADVISORY SERVICES

REVIEWS: While the underlying securities within an Investment Advisory Service accounts are continually monitored, these accounts are reviewed, unless otherwise agreed, at least quarterly by a consultant or team of consultants assigned to the account. Accounts are reviewed in the context of each client's stated investment objectives and guidelines. More frequent reviews may be triggered by material changes in variables such as the client's individual circumstances, or the market, political or economic environment.

REPORTS: In addition to the monthly statements and confirmations of transactions that clients receive from their custodian or broker-dealer, we provide quarterly reports summarizing account performance, balances and holdings.

INSTITUTIONAL RETIREMENT PLAN CONSULTING SERVICES

REVIEWS: Highland Consulting will review the client's investment policy with the client on at least an annual basis and whenever the client advises us of a change in circumstances regarding the needs of the plan or their institution. Highland Consulting will also review the asset allocation, if applicable, and the investments or investment options of the plan according to the agreed upon time intervals established in the investment policy. Such reviews will generally occur quarterly.

REPORTS: These client accounts will receive reports as contracted for at the inception of the advisory relationship.

FAMILY WEALTH PLANNING SERVICES

REVIEWS: While reviews may occur at different stages depending on the nature and terms of the specific engagement, typically no formal reviews will be conducted for Wealth Planning clients unless otherwise contracted for.

REPORTS: Wealth Planning clients will receive a completed financial plan. Additional reports will not typically be provided unless otherwise contracted for.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

It is Highland Consulting's policy not to engage solicitors or to pay related or non-related persons for referring potential clients to our firm.

It is Highland Consulting's policy not to accept or allow our related persons to accept any material form of compensation, including cash, sales awards or other prizes, from a non-client in conjunction with the advisory services we provide to our clients.

Item 15 Custody

Our firm does not have actual custody of client accounts.

In some situations, a client may direct that an advisory fee be deducted directly from the client's accounts. This occurs only after a client has provided the requisite direction and authorization to the appropriate parties.

The custodian is required, on at least a quarterly basis, to send to the client a statement showing all transactions, including any payments of advisory fees, within the account during the reporting period. It is important for clients to carefully review their custodial statements to verify its accuracy, among other things. Clients should contact Highland Consulting or their custodian if they believe that there may be an error in their statement.

In addition to the periodic statements that clients receive directly from their custodians, we also provide a detailed portfolio summary directly to our clients on a quarterly basis, unless Highland Consulting and the client otherwise agree. We encourage our clients to carefully compare the information contained in their custodial statements with that presented in the quarterly portfolio summary, to ensure that all account transactions, holdings and values are correct and current.

Custody is disclosed in Form ADV because we have authority to transfer money from certain client account(s), which constitutes a standing letter of authorization (SLOA). Accordingly, we will follow the safeguards specified by the SEC rather than undergo an annual audit.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Highland Consulting has historically served its clients on a non-discretionary basis. This means that the firm had no discretion over the specific investments held in client portfolios. There are a few cases where Highland Consulting has investment discretion. The Client Advisory Agreement established with each client outlines the discretionary authority for trading. Where investment discretion has been granted, Highland Consulting may manage the client's account and makes investment decisions without consultation with the client as to what securities to buy or sell, when the securities are to be bought or sold for the account, the total amount of the securities to be bought/sold, or the price per share. In some instances, Highland Consulting's discretionary authority in making these determinations may be limited by conditions imposed by a client (in investment guidelines or objectives, or client instructions otherwise provided to Highland Consulting).

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy, we do not vote proxies on behalf of clients. Therefore, although our firm may provide investment advisory services relative to client investment assets, clients maintain exclusive responsibility for: (1) directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by the client shall be voted, and (2) making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other types of events pertaining to the client's investment assets. Clients are responsible for instructing each custodian of the assets, to forward to the client copies of all proxies and shareholder communications relating to the client's investment assets.

We may provide clients with consulting assistance regarding proxy issues if they contact us with questions at our principal place of business.

Item 18 Financial Information

As an advisory firm we are also required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet our contractual obligations. Highland Consulting has no additional financial circumstances to report.

Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1200 per client more than six months in advance of services rendered. Therefore, we are not required to include a financial statement with this brochure.

Highland Consulting has never been the subject of a bankruptcy petition.
