Item 4 – Advisory Business

Wise Wealth Management was founded in 2004 by Stephanie Meket, and is federally registered with the SEC (Securities and Exchange Commission) as a Registered Investment Adviser. Ms. Meket is sole owner of this firm, and the firm is privately held.

We are an independent, comprehensive wealth management firm that has offered a complete range of investment management and financial planning services since 2001. Prior to engaging us to provide any investment advisory services, Clients enter into a formal Investment Advisory Agreement which sets forth the terms and conditions under which we manage and invest assets. It also includes a separate agreement for clearing and custody of assets with any designated custodial firm.

We work with Clients to define their financial objectives, and to develop strategies for reaching those objectives, some of which may include but are not limited to: retirement planning, identification of financial problems, cash flow and budget management, mitigation of risk exposure, portfolio management, education funding, estate planning, charitable goals, special-needs planning, family business succession issues, insurance, and fringe employee benefits.

We allocate Clients' assets on a discretionary basis among mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, individual bonds or equity securities, and options in accordance with the investment objectives and stated risk-tolerance of the Client.

We tailor all investment recommendations to the individual needs, and especially the unique risk-tolerance and tax-situation of each Client. Goals, timelines, and objectives are reviewed and updated in meetings, emails and phone calls. Clients may always impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

As of December 31, 2022, Wise Wealth Management managed approximately $93,486,888 of Client assets on a discretionary basis and $170,591 of Client assets on a nondiscretionary basis.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Depending upon the engagement, we offer our services on a fee-basis charged against assets under management. We believe a fee-based, rather than commission-based engagement helps mitigate the conflicts of interest inherent when a firm receives compensation based on the sale of specific securities or investment products. In the event you determine to engage us to provide investment management services, we charge an annual fee based upon a percentage of the market value of the assets being managed.

No referral fees are paid, nor accepted - ever. Conflicts of interest will be disclosed to the Client, and managed in favor of the Client. Where we provide financial planning services in addition to investment-related consulting, we shall not receive additional compensation beyond the aforementioned annual fee.

Our annual fee is prorated and charged quarterly, in advance, based upon the market value of the assets on the last day of the previous quarter. In limited circumstances where Client assets are held in a self-directed retirement account, our fee is based on the most recent quarterly statement provided to us and will be adjusted, if necessary, in the following billing period. The annual fee shall vary (between 1.00% and 2.00%) depending upon the market value of the assets under management as follows:

PORTFOLIO VALUE ANNUAL FEE

First $400,000	2.00%
Next $300,000	1.50%
Next $300,000	1.25%
Amount above $1,000,000	1.00%

We generally recommend that Clients utilize the brokerage, clearing and custodial services of Charles Schwab & Co.’s institutional division and affiliates (collectively referred to as “Schwab”) for investment management accounts. Our annual fee is exclusive of, and in addition to brokerage fees, transaction costs, or other related expenses which shall be imposed by Schwab. However, we never receive any portion of any of Schwab’s trading charges, fees, and costs.

We may only implement our investment management recommendations after the Client has furnished us with all appropriate account information (example: monthly statements) from the financial institution(s) where their investments were previously custodied, and from where assets transfer. These financial institutions may include, but are not limited to Schwab, Fidelity’s 401(k) division, and any other broker-dealer or custodial firms that hold Client assets which we shall invest on your behalf.

Clients may incur certain charges imposed by Schwab and/or other third parties such as custodial fees, 12b-1 charges, expense ratios imposed directly by mutual funds, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, and wire transfer fees. Additionally, Clients will incur trading charges and transaction fees, which are exclusive of, and in addition to, our annual fee.

Our Client Agreement as well as the separate agreement with the custodial firm(s) authorizes us to debit the Client's account(s) for the amount of our annual fee and to directly remit this fee. The financial institutions we recommend will send a statement to the Client, at least quarterly but usually monthly, indicating all amounts disbursed from the account including the amount of management fees paid directly to us. Additionally, these financial institutions will provide year-end and tax reporting documents to Clients as required by law.

We may provide investment management services to Clients related to their individual employer-sponsored retirement plans. In so doing, we either direct or recommend the allocation of Client assets among the various mutual funds and/or ETFs that comprise their retirement plan offering. The Client's assets shall be maintained at the custodian designated by the sponsor of the Client's retirement plan. At no time may we deposit nor disburse funds, nor change a Client's designated beneficiaries.

The Client may make deposits to and withdrawals from the account at any time. If assets are transferred in or out of an account after the inception of a quarter, the fee payable with respect to such assets will not be prorated based on the number of days remaining in the quarter. Clients may withdraw account assets with notice to us, subject to the usual and customary securities settlement procedures and timeframes. Since we design our portfolios as long-term investments, asset withdrawals may impair the achievement of a Client's stated investment objectives.

For the initial quarter of investment management services, the first quarter's fees shall be calculated on a pro-rata basis. The Agreement between Wise and the Client will be in effect until terminated by either party pursuant to the terms of the Client Agreement. Our annual fee shall be prorated through the date of termination, and any remaining balance shall be charged or refunded to the Client, as appropriate, in a timely manner.

Additions may be in cash or securities provided that we reserve the right to liquidate any transferred securities, or decline to accept particular securities into a Client's account. We may consult with our Clients about the options and ramifications of transferring certain securities. However, Clients are advised that when transferred securities are liquidated, they are subject to transaction fees, as well as fees assessed at the mutual fund level (i.e., contingent deferred sales charges) and/or tax ramifications of realizing gains or losses.

Our Clients are advised to promptly notify us if there are ever meaningful changes in their financial situation, investment objectives, or risk tolerance; or if they wish to impose any limitations on how we invest their assets.

Rollover Recommendations

As part of our investment advisory services to you, we may recommend that you roll assets from your employer's retirement plan, such as a 401(k), 457, or ERISA 403(b) account (collectively, a "Plan Account"), to an individual retirement account, such as a SIMPLE IRA, SEP IRA, Traditional IRA, or Roth IRA (collectively, an "IRA Account") that we will manage on your behalf. We may also recommend rollovers from IRA Accounts to Plan Accounts, from Plan Accounts to Plan Accounts, and from IRA Accounts to IRA Accounts. When we provide any of the foregoing rollover recommendations we are acting as fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act ("ERISA") and/or the Internal Revenue Code ("IRC"), as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts.

If you elect to roll the assets to an IRA that is subject to our management, we will charge you an asset-based fee as set forth in the advisory agreement you executed with our firm. This creates a conflict of interest because it creates a financial incentive for our firm to recommend the rollover to you (i.e., receipt of additional fee-based compensation). You are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to complete the rollover. Moreover, if you do complete the rollover, you are under no obligation to have the assets in an IRA managed by our firm. Due to the foregoing conflict of interest, when we make rollover recommendations, we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interests and not put our interests ahead of yours.

Under this special rule's provisions, we must:

- meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice);
- never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice);
- avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in your best interests;
- charge no more than a reasonable fee for our services; and
- give you basic information about conflicts of interest.

Many employers permit former employees to keep their retirement assets in their company plan. Also, current employees can sometimes move assets out of their company plan before they retire or change jobs. In determining whether to complete the rollover to an IRA, and to the extent the following options are available, you should consider the costs and benefits of a rollover.

Note that an employee will typically have four options in this situation:

1. leaving the funds in your employer's (former employer's) plan;
2. moving the funds to a new employer's retirement plan;
3. cashing out and taking a taxable distribution from the plan; or
4. rolling the funds into an IRA rollover account.

Each of these options has positives and negatives. Because of that, along with the importance of understanding the differences between these types of accounts, we will provide you with a written explanation of the advantages and disadvantages of both account types and the basis for our belief that the rollover transaction we recommend is in your best interests.

As an alternative to providing a rollover recommendation, we may instead take an entirely educational approach in accordance with the U.S. Department of Labor's Interpretive Bulletin 96-1. Under this approach, our role will be limited to only providing general educational materials regarding the pros and cons of rollover transactions. We will make no recommendation concerning the prospective rollover of your assets and you are advised to speak with your trusted tax and legal advisors with respect to rollover decisions. As part of this educational approach, we may provide materials discussing some or all of the following topics: the general pros and cons of rollover transactions; the benefits of retirement plan participation; the impact of pre-retirement withdrawals on retirement income; the investment options available inside your Plan Account; and high level discussion of general investment concepts (e.g., risk versus return, the benefits of diversification and asset allocation, historical returns of certain asset classes, etc.). We may also provide questionnaires and/or interactive investment materials that provide a means to independently determine your future retirement income needs and to assess the impact of different asset allocations on your retirement income. As with all other investments in our care, you will make the final rollover decision.

Item 6 – Performance Fees and Side-by-Side Management

We do not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the assets of a Client). This compensation structure could potentially create an incentive for the adviser to recommend an investment that might carry an unacceptable degree of risk for the Client.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

We provide investment advice and supervision to individuals, families, trusts, estates, privately-held businesses, corporations, and corporate pension- and profit-sharing plans. We do not formally impose a minimum on amount of assets invested, nor other conditions for opening or maintaining an account. However, it is solely up to our discretion whether or not to accept a new Client.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Our security analysis includes both fundamental and technical analysis. The main sources of research may include, but are not limited to: Morningstar reports, fund prospectuses, S&P reports and ratings, financial newspapers, business magazines, and annual reports. Employees also attend training meetings and webinars, as well as industry compliance, trading, and educational conferences.

Our primary investment strategy is asset-allocation and proper diversification across various asset classes so that, ideally, the investments that comprise any given portfolio(s) are as uncorrelated as possible. Portfolios are generally globally-diversified and include alternate asset classes in order to control the risks derived from over-concentration in any one (or too few) security (-ies), or types of securities. Each portfolio is customized to the Client's specific objectives, income needs, risk tolerance, timeframe, and tax situation. We do not use 'model portfolios,' and we do not use composite numbers to illustrate results.

All investing poses many different types of risk-of-loss to the investor. We enumerate and explain the following list of factors that could impact the value of Clients' investments: interest-rate fluctuations, inflation growth, currency devaluation, concentration risk triggered by company-specific problems, credit-ratings risk, geopolitical turmoil, and precipitous drops in trading liquidity.

These aforementioned factors are by no means a comprehensive listing of the reasons why a Client might lose money. We ask that all Clients review the historical volatility and performance record of their portfolios (quarterly, yearly, and annualized), and communicate if the historical volatility is acceptable.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose certain disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of us, and the integrity of our management. We have no disciplinary information to report.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

We do not have any arrangements or relationships with any organizations that are material to our advisory business. We reserve the right to recommend unrelated, third-party portfolio managers who have greater expertise in certain disciplines when appropriate to the Client; however, we do not receive any compensation for these recommendations.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

We have adopted a code of ethics that sets forth the standards of conduct expected of associated persons and requires compliance with applicable securities laws ("Code of Ethics"). In accordance with Section 204A-1 of the Advisers Act, our Code of Ethics contains written policies reasonably designed to prevent the unlawful use of material non-public information by us or any of our associated persons. The Code of Ethics also requires that certain of our personnel (called "Access Persons") report their personal securities holdings and transactions and obtain pre-approval for certain investments such as initial public offerings and limited offerings.

Unless specifically permitted in our Code of Ethics, none of our Access Persons may effect for themselves or for their immediate family (i.e., spouse, minor children, domestic partners, and adults living in the same household as the Access Person) any transactions in a security which is being actively purchased or sold, or is being considered for purchase or sale, on behalf of any of our Clients.

When we are purchasing or considering for purchase any security on behalf of a Client, no Access Person may effect a transaction in that security prior to the completion of the purchase or until a decision has been made not to purchase such security. Similarly, when we are selling or considering the sale of any security on behalf of a Client, no Access Person may execute a transaction in that security prior to the completion of the sale or until a decision has been made not to sell such security. These requirements are not applicable to: (i) direct obligations of the Government of the United States; (ii) money market instruments, bankers' acceptances, bank certificates of deposit, commercial paper, repurchase agreements and other high quality short-term debt instruments, including repurchase agreements; (iii) shares issued by mutual funds or money market funds; and (iv) shares issued by unit investment trusts.

Our Clients or prospective Clients may request a copy of our Code of Ethics by contacting Stephanie Meket at 212-567-1416 or smeket@wisewealthmanagement.com.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Factors which we consider in recommending Schwab or any other custodial firm to Clients include their respective financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, research, and service. Schwab enables us to obtain many mutual funds without transaction charges, and other securities at nominal transaction charges. The commissions and/or transaction fees charged by Schwab may be higher or lower than those charged by other custodial firms.

The commissions paid by our Clients shall comply with our duty to obtain "best execution." However, a Client may pay a commission that is higher than another qualified broker-dealer might charge to execute the same transaction where we determine, in good faith, that the commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer's services, including among others, the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Consistent with the foregoing, while we will seek competitive rates, we may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for Client transactions.

If the Client requests that we arrange for the execution of securities brokerage transactions for the Client's account, we shall direct such transactions through broker-dealers that we reasonably believe will provide best execution. We shall periodically and systematically review policies and procedures regarding recommending broker-dealers to Clients in light of our duty to obtain "best execution."

Generally speaking, we will recommend that Clients establish brokerage accounts with the Schwab Institutional division of Charles Schwab & Co. Inc. (“Schwab”) so long as Schwab continues to meet the above criteria. We work primarily with Schwab for administrative convenience and also because Schwab offers a good value for the transaction costs and other costs incurred.

Schwab is a registered broker-dealer and SIPC member. Schwab provides Advisor with access to its institutional trading and operations services, along with institutional share classes of mutual funds, all of which are typically not available to Schwab retail investors.

Schwab’s services include research, brokerage, custody, access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment. Schwab Institutional also makes available to Advisor other products and services that benefit Advisor but may not directly benefit its Clients’ accounts. Some of these other products and services assist Advisor in managing and administering Clients’ accounts. These include software and other technology that provide access to Client account data (such as trade confirmation and account statements), facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple Client accounts), provide research, pricing information and other market data, facilitate payment of Advisor’s fees from its Clients’ accounts and assist with back-office support, recordkeeping and Client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or a substantial number of Advisor’s accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab Institutional.

We generally do not direct brokerage for specific client transactions; however, the Client may direct us, in writing, to use a particular broker-dealer to execute some or all transactions. In that case, the Client will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with that broker-dealer, and we will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to “batch” Client transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts managed by us (as described below). As a result, the Client may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case. Subject to its duty of best execution, we may decline a Client’s request to direct brokerage if, in our sole discretion, such directed brokerage arrangements would result in additional operational difficulties or violate restrictions imposed by other broker-dealers (as further discussed below).

Transactions for each Client generally will be placed independently, unless we decide to purchase or sell the same securities for several Clients at approximately the same time. We may (but are not obligated to) combine or “batch” such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among our Clients differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will generally be averaged as to price and allocated among our Clients pro rata to the purchase and sale orders placed for each Client on any given day. To the extent that we determine to aggregate Client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which our Advisory Affiliate(s) may invest, we shall generally do so in accordance with applicable rules promulgated under the Advisers Act and no-action guidance provided by the staff of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. We shall not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of the aggregation.

In the event that we determine that a prorated allocation is not appropriate under the particular circumstances, the allocation will be made based upon other relevant factors, which may include: (i) when only a small percentage of the order is executed, shares may be allocated to the account with the smallest order or the smallest position or to an account that is out of line with respect to security or sector weightings relative to other portfolios, with similar mandates; (ii) allocations may be given to one account when one account has limitations in its investment guidelines which prohibit it from purchasing other securities which are expected to produce similar investment results and can be purchased by other accounts; (iii) if an account reaches an investment guideline limit and cannot participate in an allocation, shares may be reallocated to other accounts (this may be due to unforeseen changes in an account's assets after an order is placed); (iv) with respect to sale allocations, allocations may be given to accounts low in cash; (v) in cases when a pro rata allocation of a potential execution would result in a de minimis allocation in one or more accounts, we may exclude the account(s) from the allocation; the transactions may be executed on a pro rata basis among the remaining accounts; or (vi) in cases where a small proportion of an order is executed in all accounts, shares may be allocated to one or more accounts on a random basis.

Schwab does not charge its advisor clients separately for custody services but is compensated by account holders through trading commissions and other transaction-related or asset-based fees for securities trades that are executed through Schwab or that settle into Schwab accounts. Schwab provides access to many no-load mutual funds, and its ETF, stock, and bond trading charges are considered to be low when compared to industry standard ranges.

Wise Wealth Management is independently owned and operated, and not affiliated with Schwab.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

For those Clients to whom we provide investment management services, we continually monitor their portfolios as part of an ongoing investment process. Regular account reviews are conducted on at least a semi-annual basis. Such reviews are conducted by the Client's primary Investment Adviser Representative. All investment advisory Clients are encouraged to discuss their needs, goals, and objectives with us and to keep us informed of any changes thereto. We shall contact ongoing investment advisory Clients at least annually to review previous recommendations and to discuss the impact resulting from any changes in the Client's timeframe, financial situation and/or investment objectives.

Unless otherwise agreed upon, Clients are provided with trade confirmation notices, monthly account statements, year-end, and tax documents directly from the custodian of their accounts. Those Clients to whom we provide investment advisory services can also, if requested, receive a written report from us that includes (but is not limited to) such relevant account and/or market-related information such as: aggregate composition overviews, current income and yield information, and account performance reports on a quarterly or semi-annual basis from Morningstar Office professional edition.

Item 14 – Client referrals and other compensation

We have been fortunate to receive many client referrals over the years, and are most grateful for them. The firm does not, nor has it ever paid for referrals. Similarly, we do not accept referral fees when we recommend other professionals who provide ancillary expertise or services to Clients. Examples include: accountants, estate lawyers, and bookkeepers.

Item 15 – Custody

With the exception of our ability to debit fees, and disburse or transfer funds pursuant to a Standing Letter of Authorization signed by the Client, we do not otherwise have custody of the assets in any account.

We shall have no liability to the Client for any loss or other harm to any property in the account, including any harm to any property in the account resulting from the insolvency of the custodian or any acts of the agents or employees of the custodian and whether or not the full amount or such loss is covered by the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (“SIPC”) or any other insurance which may be carried by the custodian. The Client understands that SIPC provides only limited protection for the loss of property held by a custodian. Federal securities laws impose liabilities under certain circumstances on persons who act in good faith, and therefore nothing herein shall in any way constitute a waiver of limitation of any rights which the undersigned may have under any federal securities law.

Clients will receive at least quarterly statements and trade confirmations from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains Clients’ investment assets. Additionally, we provide composition, yield and income, performance, and MPT (modern portfolio theory) reports from Morningstar Office professional edition upon request.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

We receive discretionary authority from the Client at the outset of an advisory relationship to choose which securities to invest in, in what amounts, and in which accounts. In all cases, however, such discretion is exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives, risk tolerance, and unique circumstances of the particular Client. This discretion will only be in place after the Client has signed a Limited Power of Attorney for Investment Services which is found within the account agreement offered by the custodian used to hold the Client’s investments. When selecting securities and determining amounts, we adhere to the investment objectives, limitations and preferences articulated by the Client(s) in question. For registered investment companies such as Wise Wealth Management LLC, the authority to trade securities may also be limited by certain federal securities and tax laws that require diversification of investments and favor the long-term holding of investments once they are made. Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided in writing by the Client to Wise Wealth Management LLC.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

By default, Clients receive and vote their proxies themselves. However, they also have the option to delegate this task. If they wish to have us receive and vote their proxies, they must provide their written authorization for us to do so. When we accept such responsibility, we will only cast proxy votes in a manner consistent with the best interest of our Clients. Absent special circumstances, which are fully-described, all proxies will be voted consistent with guidelines established and described in our Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures. At any time, Clients may request information about how we voted their proxies or to request a copy of our Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures. A brief summary of our Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures is as follows:

We monitor corporate actions, make voting decisions in the best interest of Clients, and ensure that proxies are submitted in a timely manner.

We generally vote proxies according to our then current Proxy Voting Guidelines. The Proxy Voting Guidelines include many specific examples of voting decisions for the types of proposals that are most frequently presented, including: composition of the board of directors; approval of independent auditors; management and director compensation; anti-takeover mechanisms and related issues; changes to capital structure; corporate and social policy issues; and issues involving mutual funds.

Although the Proxy Voting Guidelines are to be followed as a general policy, certain issues will be considered on a case-by-case basis based on the relevant facts and circumstances. Since corporate governance issues are diverse and continually evolving, we shall devote an appropriate amount of time and resources to monitor these changes.

In situations where there may be a conflict of interest in the voting of proxies due to business or personal relationships that we maintain with persons having an interest in the outcome of certain votes, our proxy voting decisions are always made in the best interest of our Clients.

Item 18 – Financial Information

We do not have any financial impairment that would prevent us from meeting our contractual or fiduciary commitments to Clients. We are not required to provide a balance sheet because we do not serve as custodian for Clients' funds or securities (other than for the purpose of withdrawing fees), nor do we require any prepayment of fees more than six months in advance. The firm has never been the subject of any bankruptcy proceeding.
