Item 4. Advisory Business

UNF provides financial planning, consulting, and investment management services. Prior to engaging UNF to provide any of the foregoing investment advisory services, the client is required to enter into one or more written agreements with UNF setting forth the terms and conditions under which UNF renders its services (collectively the “Agreement”).

UNF has been in business as a registered investment adviser since July 31, 2009. Mark D. Herman is the principal owner of UNF.

As of December 31, 2022, UNF had $128,507,098 assets under management, all of which are assets managed on a discretionary basis.

This Disclosure Brochure describes the business of UNF. Certain sections will also describe the activities of Supervised Persons. Supervised Persons are any of UNF’s officers, partners, directors (or other persons occupying a similar status or performing similar functions), employees, or any other person who provides investment advice on UNF’s behalf and is subject to UNF’s supervision or control.

Financial Planning and Consulting Services

UNF provides its clients with a broad range of comprehensive financial planning and consulting services. These services include retirement, education planning, and tax and cash flow needs of the client.

In performing its services, UNF is not required to verify any information received from the client or from the client’s other professionals (e.g., attorney, accountant, etc.) and is expressly authorized to rely on such information. UNF may recommend the services of itself and/or other professionals to implement its recommendations. Clients are advised that a conflict of interest exists if UNF recommends its own services. The client is under no obligation to act upon any of the recommendations made by UNF under a financial planning or consulting engagement or to engage the services of any such recommended professional, including UNF itself. The client retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any of UNF’s recommendations. Clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to promptly notify UNF if there is ever any change in their financial situation or investment objectives for the purpose of reviewing, evaluating, or revising UNF’s previous recommendations and/or services.

Investment Management Services

Clients can engage UNF to manage all or a portion of their assets on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis.

UNF primarily allocates clients’ investment management assets among mutual funds, exchange-traded funds (“ETFs”), individual debt and equity securities, and certificates of deposits, in accordance with the investment objectives of the client. UNF also provides advice about any type of investment already held in clients' portfolios, but clients should not assume that these assets are being continuously monitored or otherwise advised on by the Firm unless specifically agreed upon.

Clients may also engage UNF to advise on certain investment products that are not maintained at their primary custodian, such as variable life insurance and annuity contracts and assets held in employer sponsored retirement plans and qualified tuition plans (i.e., 529 plans). In these situations, UNF directs or recommends the allocation of client assets among the various investment options available with the product. These assets are maintained at the underwriting insurance company or the custodian designated by the product's provider.

UNF tailors its advisory services to the individual needs of clients. UNF consults with clients initially and on an ongoing basis to determine risk tolerance, time horizon, and other factors that may impact the clients' investment needs. UNF ensures that clients' investments are suitable for their investment needs, goals, objectives, and risk tolerance.

Clients are advised to promptly notify UNF if there are changes in their financial situation or investment objectives or if they wish to impose any reasonable restrictions upon UNF's management services. Clients may impose reasonable restrictions or mandates on the management of their account (e.g., require that a portion of their assets be invested in socially responsible funds) if, in UNF's sole discretion, the conditions will not materially impact the performance of a portfolio strategy or prove overly burdensome to its management efforts.

Item 5. Fees and Compensation

UNF offers its services on a fee basis, which include fixed fees as well as fees based upon assets under management.

Financial Planning and Consulting Fees

UNF charges a fixed fee for financial planning and consulting services. These fees are negotiable, but generally range up to $5,000, depending upon the level and scope of the services and the professional rendering the financial planning and/or the consulting services. If the client engages UNF for additional investment advisory services, UNF may offset all or a portion of its fees for those services based upon the amount paid for the financial planning and/or consulting services.

Prior to engaging UNF to provide financial planning and/or consulting services, the client is required to enter into a written agreement with UNF setting forth the terms and conditions of the engagement. Generally, UNF requires one-half of the financial planning and/or consulting fee (estimated fixed fee) payable upon entering the written agreement. The balance is generally due upon delivery of the financial plan or completion of the agreed upon services.

Investment Management Fee

UNF provides investment management services for an annual fee based upon a percentage of the market value of the assets being managed by UNF. UNF's annual fee is exclusive of, and in addition to brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which are incurred by the client. UNF does not, however, receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs. UNF's annual fee is prorated and charged quarterly, in advance, based upon either the market value of the assets being managed by UNF on the last day of the previous quarter, or an agreed upon fixed fee. The annual fee varies (between 0.25% and 2.00% for asset-based fees and between $5,000 and $30,000 for fixed fees) depending upon the market value of the assets under management, net worth of the client and the type of investment management services to be rendered. Additionally, for asset management services the Firm provides with respect to certain client holdings (e.g., held-away assets, accommodation accounts, alternative investments, etc.), UNF can negotiate a fee rate that differs from the range set forth above. Clients are advised that a conflict of interest exists for the Firm to recommend that clients engage UNF for additional services for compensation, including rolling over retirement accounts or moving other assets to the Firm's management. Clients retain absolute discretion over all decisions regarding engaging the Firm and are under no obligation to act upon any of the recommendations.

Fee Discretion

UNF, in its sole discretion, may negotiate to charge a lesser management fee based upon certain criteria (i.e., anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client, account retention, pro bono activities, etc.).

Fees Charged by Financial Institutions

As further discussed in response to Item 12 (below), UNF recommends that clients utilize the brokerage and clearing services of Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services ("Fidelity") for investment management accounts.

UNF may only implement its investment management recommendations after the client has arranged for and furnished UNF with all information and authorization regarding accounts with appropriate financial institutions. Financial institutions include, but are not limited to, Fidelity, any other broker-dealer recommended by UNF, broker-dealer directed by the client, trust companies, banks etc. (collectively referred to herein as the "Financial Institutions").

Clients may incur certain charges imposed by the Financial Institutions and other third parties such as custodial fees, charges imposed directly by a mutual fund or ETF in the account, which are disclosed in the fund's prospectus (e.g., fund management fees and other fund expenses), deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Additionally, for assets outside of any wrap fee programs, clients may incur brokerage commissions and transaction fees. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to UNF's fee.

Fee Debit

UNF's Agreement and the separate agreement with any Financial Institution may authorize UNF to debit the client's account for the amount of UNF's fee and to directly remit that management fee to UNF. Any Financial Institution recommended by UNF have agreed to send a statement to the client, at least quarterly, indicating all amounts disbursed from the account including the amount of management fees paid directly to UNF.

Fees for Management During Partial Quarters of Service

For the initial period of investment management services, the fees are calculated on a pro rata basis.

The Agreement between UNF and the client will continue in effect until terminated by either party pursuant to the terms of the Agreement. UNF's investment management fees are prorated through the date of termination and any remaining balance is charged or refunded to the client, as appropriate. Where UNF's Financial Planning and Consulting services charged on a recurring basis and a client requests termination of UNF's services, UNF's fees are prorated through the date of termination. Where UNF's Financial Planning and Consulting Fees are charged on a fixed fee basis and UNF's services are terminated prior to delivery of the financial plan or completion of the agreed upon services, all fees collected in advance are refunded to the client.

Clients may make additions to and withdrawals from their account at any time, subject to UNF's right to terminate an account. Additions may be in cash or securities provided that UNF reserves the right to liquidate any transferred securities or decline to accept particular securities into a client's account. Clients may withdraw account assets on notice to UNF, subject to the usual and customary securities settlement procedures. However, UNF designs its portfolios as long-term investments and the withdrawal of assets may impair the achievement of a client's investment objectives. UNF may consult with its clients about the options and ramifications of transferring securities. However, clients are advised that when transferred securities are liquidated, they are subject to transaction fees, fees assessed at the mutual fund level (i.e., contingent deferred sales charge) and/or tax ramifications.

The Firm includes cash in a clients account in determining the valuation for billing purposes. The Firm may, in its sole discretion, not include cash in determining the fee, especially where a client has a high percentage of cash for reasons other than the Firm's investment management decision. If assets are deposited into or withdrawn from an account after the inception of a quarter, the fee payable with respect to such assets will not be adjusted or prorated based on the number of days remaining in the quarter.

Item 6. Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

UNF does not provide any services for performance-based fees. Performance-based fees are those based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client.

Item 7. Types of Clients

UNF provides its services to individuals, high net worth individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, corporations and business entities.

Item 8. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

UNF's primary methods of analysis are fundamental, technical, and cyclical analysis.

Fundamental analysis involves the fundamental financial condition and competitive position of a company. UNF will analyze the financial condition, capabilities of management, earnings, new products and services, as well as the company's markets and position amongst its competitors in order to determine the recommendations made to clients. The primary risk in using fundamental analysis is that while the overall health and position of a company may be good, market conditions may negatively impact the security.

Technical analysis involves the analysis of past market data rather than specific company data in determining the recommendations made to clients. Technical analysis may involve the use of charts to identify market patterns and trends which may be based on investor sentiment rather than the fundamentals of the company. The primary risk in using technical analysis is that spotting historical trends may not help to predict such trends in the future. Even if the trend will eventually reoccur, there is no guarantee that UNF will be able to accurately predict such a reoccurrence.

Cyclical analysis is similar to technical analysis in that it involves the analysis of market conditions at a macro (entire market/economy) or micro (company specific) level, rather than the overall fundamental analysis of the health of the particular company that UNF is recommending. The risks with cyclical analysis are similar to those of technical analysis.

Investment Strategies

UNF first seeks to understand the client's goals, objectives, time horizon, and risk tolerance. UNF utilizes this information for each account, to provide the client with a targeted strategic asset allocation blend.

Clients can choose to invest in individual stocks or bonds, actively managed no-load or load-waived mutual funds, and/or indexed ETFs, based on their own unique preferences and taking into consideration available tax efficiencies.

UNF's goal is to select and adjust the client's blend of investments to offer the best combination of potential return and risk, in accordance with the client's expectations.

Risks of Loss

Mutual Funds and ETFs

An investment in a mutual fund or ETF involves risk, including the loss of principal. Mutual fund and ETF shareholders are necessarily subject to the risks stemming from the individual issuers of the fund's underlying portfolio securities. Such shareholders are also liable for taxes on any fund-level capital gains, as mutual funds and ETFs are required by law to distribute capital gains in the event they sell securities for a profit that cannot be offset by a corresponding loss.

Shares of mutual funds are generally distributed and redeemed on an ongoing basis by the fund itself or a broker acting on its behalf. The trading price at which a share is transacted is equal to a fund's stated daily per share net asset value ("NAV"), plus any shareholders fees (e.g., sales loads, purchase fees, redemption fees). The per share NAV of a mutual fund is calculated at the end of each business day, although the actual NAV fluctuates with intraday changes to the market value of the fund's holdings. The trading prices of a mutual fund's shares may differ significantly from the NAV during periods of market volatility, which may, among other factors, lead to the mutual fund's shares trading at a premium or discount to NAV.

Shares of ETFs are listed on securities exchanges and transacted at negotiated prices in the secondary market. Generally, ETF shares trade at or near their most recent NAV, which is generally calculated at least once daily for indexed-based ETFs and more frequently for actively managed ETFs. However, certain inefficiencies may cause the shares to trade at a premium or discount to their pro rata NAV. There is also no guarantee that an active secondary market for such shares will develop or continue to exist. Generally, an ETF only redeems shares when aggregated as creation units (usually 50,000 shares or more). Therefore, if a liquid secondary market ceases to exist for shares of a particular ETF, a shareholder may have no way to dispose of such shares.

Market Risks

The profitability of a significant portion of UNF's recommendations may depend to a great extent upon correctly assessing the future course of price movements of stocks and bonds. There can be no assurance that UNF will be able to predict those price movements accurately.

Management Through Similarly Managed Accounts

For certain clients, UNF may manage portfolios by allocating portfolio assets among various securities on a discretionary basis using one or more of its proprietary investment strategies (collectively referred to as "investment strategy"). In so doing, UNF buys, sells, exchanges and/or transfers securities based upon the investment strategy. UNF's management using the investment strategy complies with the requirements of Rule 3a-4 of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended. Rule 3a-4 provides similarly managed accounts, such as the investment strategy, with a safe harbor from the definition of an investment company. Securities in the investment strategy are usually exchanged and/or transferred without regard to a client's individual tax ramifications. Certain investment opportunities that become available to UNF's clients may be limited. UNF allocates investment opportunities among its clients on a fair and equitable basis.

General Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves the risk of loss. Clients should be prepared to bear such loss.

Item 9. Disciplinary Information

UNF is required to disclose the facts of any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's evaluation of its advisory business or the integrity of management. UNF does not have any required disclosures to this Item. For the avoidance of doubt, UNF has not been involved in (1) any criminal or civil actions in domestic, foreign or military courts of competent jurisdiction requiring disclosure pursuant to this Item, (2) any administrative proceedings before the SEC, any other federal regulatory agency, any state regulatory agency, or any foreign financial regulatory authority requiring disclosure pursuant to this Item, or (3) any actions brought by self-regulatory organizations requiring disclosure pursuant to this Item.

Item 10. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

UNF is required to disclose any relationship or arrangement that is material to its advisory business or to its clients with certain related persons. UNF does not have any such disclosures.

Item 11. Code of Ethics

UNF and persons associated with UNF (“Associated Persons”) are permitted to buy or sell securities that it also recommends to clients consistent with UNF’s policies and procedures.

UNF has adopted a code of ethics that sets forth the standards of conduct expected of its associated persons and requires compliance with applicable securities laws (“Code of Ethics”). UNF’s Code of Ethics contains written policies reasonably designed to prevent the unlawful use of material non-public information by UNF or any of its associated persons. The Code of Ethics also requires that certain of UNF’s personnel (called “Access Persons”) report their personal securities holdings and transactions and obtain pre-approval of certain investments such as initial public offerings and limited offerings.

When UNF is engaging in or considering a transaction in any security on behalf of a client, no Access Person may effect for themselves or for their immediate family (i.e., spouse, minor children, and adults living in the same household as the Access Person) a transaction in that security unless:

- the transaction has been completed;
- the transaction for the Access Person is completed as part of a batch trade (as defined below in Item 12) with clients; or
- a decision has been made not to engage in the transaction for the client.

These requirements are not applicable to: (i) direct obligations of the Government of the United States; (ii) money market instruments, bankers’ acceptances, bank certificates of deposit, commercial paper, repurchase agreements and other high quality short-term debt instruments, including repurchase agreements; (iii) shares issued by mutual funds or money market funds; and (iv) shares issued by unit investment trusts that are invested exclusively in one or more mutual funds.

This Code of Ethics has been established recognizing that some securities trade in sufficiently broad markets to permit transactions by Access Persons to be completed without any appreciable impact on the markets of such securities. Therefore, under certain limited circumstances, exceptions may be made to the policies stated above.

Clients and prospective clients may contact UNF to request a copy of its Code of Ethics.

Item 12. Brokerage Practices

As discussed above, in Item 5, UNF recommends that clients utilize the brokerage and clearing services of Fidelity.

Factors which UNF considers in recommending Fidelity or any other broker-dealer to clients include their respective financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, research and service. Fidelity enables UNF to obtain many mutual funds without transaction charges and other securities at nominal transaction charges. The commissions and/or transaction fees charged by Fidelity may be higher or lower than those charged by other Financial Institutions.

The commissions paid by UNF's clients comply with UNF's duty to obtain "best execution." Clients may pay commissions that are higher than another qualified Financial Institution might charge to effect the same transaction where UNF determines that the commissions are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a Financial Institution's services, including among others, the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. UNF seeks competitive rates but may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client transactions.

UNF periodically and systematically reviews its policies and procedures regarding its recommendation of Financial Institutions in light of its duty to obtain best execution.

The client may direct UNF in writing to use a particular Financial Institution to execute some or all transactions for the client. In that case, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with that Financial Institution, and UNF will not seek better execution services or prices from other Financial Institutions or be able to "batch" client transactions for execution through other Financial Institutions with orders for other accounts managed by UNF (as described below). As a result, the client may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case. Subject to its duty of best execution, UNF may decline a client's request to direct brokerage if, in UNF's sole discretion, such directed brokerage arrangements would result in additional operational difficulties or violate restrictions imposed by other broker-dealers (as further discussed below).

Transactions for each client will be effected independently, unless UNF decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. UNF may (but is not obligated to) combine or "batch" such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among UNF's clients differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might not have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will be averaged as to price and allocated among UNF's clients pro rata to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client on any given day. To the extent that UNF determines to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which UNF's

Supervised Persons may invest, UNF does so in accordance with applicable rules promulgated under the Advisers Act and no-action guidance provided by the staff of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. UNF does not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of the aggregation. In the event that UNF determines that a prorated allocation is not appropriate under the particular circumstances, the allocation will be made based upon other relevant factors, which may include: (i) when only a small percentage of the order is executed, shares may be allocated to the account with the smallest order or the smallest position or to an account that is out of line with respect to security or sector weightings relative to other portfolios, with similar mandates; (ii) allocations may be given to one account when one account has limitations in its investment guidelines which prohibit it from purchasing other securities which are expected to produce similar investment results and can be purchased by other accounts; (iii) if an account reaches an investment guideline limit and cannot participate in an allocation, shares may be reallocated to other accounts (this may be due to unforeseen changes in an account's assets after an order is placed); (iv) with respect to sale allocations, allocations may be given to accounts low in cash; (v) in cases when a pro rata allocation of a potential execution would result in a de minimis allocation in one or more accounts, UNF may exclude the account(s) from the allocation; the transactions may be executed on a pro rata basis among the remaining accounts; or (vi) in cases where a small proportion of an order is executed in all accounts, shares may be allocated to one or more accounts on a random basis.

Consistent with obtaining best execution, brokerage transactions may be directed to certain broker-dealers in return for investment research products and/or services which assist UNF in its investment decision-making process. Such research generally will be used to service all of UNF's clients, but brokerage commissions paid by one client may be used to pay for research that is not used in managing that client's portfolio. The receipt of investment research products and/or services as well as the allocation of the benefit of such investment research products and/or services poses a conflict of interest because UNF does not have to produce or pay for the products or services.

Software and Support Provided by Financial Institutions

UNF may receive from Fidelity, without cost to UNF, computer software and related systems support, which allow UNF to better monitor client accounts maintained at Fidelity. UNF may receive the software and related support without cost because UNF renders investment management services to clients that maintain assets at Fidelity. The software and support is not provided in connection with securities transactions of clients (i.e., not "soft dollars"). The software and related systems support may benefit UNF, but not its clients directly. In fulfilling its duties to its clients, UNF endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware; however, that UNF's receipt of economic benefits from a broker-dealer creates a conflict of interest since these benefits may influence UNF's choice of broker-dealer over another broker-dealer that does not furnish similar software, systems support, or services.

Up North Financial, LLC Disclosure Brochure

Additionally, UNF may receive the following benefits from Fidelity through the Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services Group: receipt of duplicate client confirmations and bundled duplicate statements; access to a trading desk that exclusively services its Institutional Wealth Services Group participants; access to block trading which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts; and access to an electronic communication network for client order entry and account information.

Fidelity also makes available to the Firm, at no additional charge, certain research and brokerage services, including research services obtained by Fidelity directly from independent research companies, as selected by UNF (within specified parameters). These research and brokerage services are used by the Firm to manage accounts for which it has investment discretion.

These services generally are available to independent investment advisors on an unsolicited basis, at no charge to them so long as a certain amount of the advisor's clients' assets are maintained in accounts at Fidelity. Fidelity's services include brokerage services that are related to the execution of securities transactions, custody, research, including that in the form of advice, analyses and reports, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment.

For client accounts maintained in its custody, Fidelity generally does not charge separately for custody services but is compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related or asset-based fees for securities trades that are executed through Fidelity or that settle into Fidelity accounts.

Fidelity also makes available to the Firm other products and services that benefit the Firm but may not benefit its clients' accounts. These benefits may include national, regional or Firm specific educational events organized and/or sponsored by Fidelity. Other potential benefits may include occasional business entertainment of personnel of UNF by Fidelity personnel, including meals, invitations to sporting events, including golf tournaments, and other forms of entertainment, some of which may accompany educational opportunities. Other of these products and services assist UNF in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technology (and related technological training) that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts), provide research, pricing information and other market data, facilitate payment of the Firm's fees from its clients' accounts, and assist with back-office training and support functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or some substantial number of the Firm's accounts, including accounts not maintained at Fidelity. Fidelity also makes available to UNF other services intended to help the Firm manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include professional compliance, legal and business consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance, employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, insurance and marketing. In addition, Fidelity may make available, arrange and/or pay vendors for these types of services rendered to the Firm by independent third parties. Fidelity may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to the Firm. While, as a fiduciary, UNF endeavors to act in its clients' best interests, the Firm's recommendation that clients maintain their assets in accounts at Fidelity may be based in part on the benefits received and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by Fidelity, which creates a potential conflict of interest.

Up North Financial, LLC Disclosure Brochure

Item 13. Review of Accounts

Account Reviews

For those clients to whom UNF provides investment management services, UNF monitors those portfolios as part of an ongoing process while regular account reviews are conducted on at least a quarterly basis. For those clients to whom UNF provides financial planning and/or consulting services, reviews are conducted on an “as needed” basis. Such reviews are conducted by one of UNF’s investment adviser representatives. All investment advisory clients are encouraged to discuss their needs, goals, and objectives with UNF and to keep UNF informed of any changes thereto. UNF contacts ongoing investment advisory clients at least annually to review its previous services and/or recommendations and to discuss the impact resulting from any changes in the client’s financial situation and/or investment objectives.

Account Statements and Reports

Unless otherwise agreed upon, clients are provided with transaction confirmation notices and regular summary account statements directly from the broker-dealer or custodian for the client accounts. Those clients to whom UNF provides investment advisory services will also receive a report from UNF that may include such relevant account and/or market-related information such as an inventory of account holdings and account performance as clients may request from time to time. Clients should compare the account statements they receive from their custodian with those they receive from UNF.

Those clients to whom UNF provides financial planning and/or consulting services will receive reports from UNF summarizing its analysis and conclusions as requested by the client or otherwise agreed to in writing by UNF.

Item 14. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Client Referrals

The Firm does not currently provide compensation to any third-party solicitors for client referrals.

Other Economic Benefits

UNF receives economic benefits from Fidelity. The benefits, conflicts of interest and how they are addressed are discussed above in response to Item 12.

Item 15. Custody

UNF's Agreement and/or the separate agreement with any Financial Institution may authorize UNF through such Financial Institution to debit the client's account for the amount of UNF's fee and to directly remit that management fee to UNF in accordance with applicable custody rules.

The Financial Institutions recommended by UNF have agreed to send a statement to the client, at least quarterly, indicating all amounts disbursed from the account including the amount of management fees paid directly to UNF. In addition, as discussed in Item 13, UNF also sends periodic supplemental reports to clients. Clients should carefully review the statements sent directly by the Financial Institutions and compare them to those received from UNF.

Standing Letters of Authorization

UNF also has custody due to clients giving the Firm limited power of attorney in a standing letter of authorization ("SLOA") to disburse funds to one or more third parties as specifically designated by the client. In such circumstances, the Firm will implement the steps in the SEC's no-action letter on February 21, 2017 which includes (in summary): i) client will provide instruction for the SLOA to the custodian; ii) client will authorize the Firm to direct transfers to the specific third party; iii) the custodian will perform appropriate verification of the instruction and provide a transfer of funds notice to the client promptly after each transfer; iv) the client will have the ability to terminate or change the instruction; v) the Firm will have no authority or ability to designate or change the identity or any information about the third party; vi) the Firm will keep records showing that the third party is not a related party of the Firm or located at the same address as the Firm; and vii) the custodian will send the client an initial and annual notice confirming the SLOA instructions.

Item 16. Investment Discretion

UNF may be given the authority to exercise discretion on behalf of clients. UNF is considered to exercise investment discretion over a client's account if it can effect transactions for the client without first having to seek the client's consent. UNF is given this authority through a power-of-attorney included in the agreement between UNF and the client. Clients may request a limitation on this authority (such as certain securities not to be bought or sold). UNF takes discretion over the following activities:

- The securities to be purchased or sold;
- The amount of securities to be purchased or sold; and
- When transactions are made.

Item 17. Voting Client Securities

UNF is required to disclose if it accepts authority to vote client securities. UNF does not vote client securities on behalf of its clients. Clients receive proxies directly from the Financial Institutions. UNF Firm does not advise clients related to questions about such issuer solicitations.

Item 18. Financial Information

UNF is not required to disclose any financial information pursuant to this Item due to the following:

- UNF does not require or solicit the prepayment of more than $500 in fees six months or more in advance of services rendered;
- UNF does not have a financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet contractual commitments to clients; and
- UNF has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.
