Item 4 – Advisory Business

401K Generation, Inc. (“401KG”) was established in June of 2010 and is owned by partners Eddie Rojas and Kelli D. Rojas. Each partner owns a 50% share of the Firm. 401KG offers retirement plan consulting services to plan sponsors and other plan fiduciaries as well as individual managed accounts and investment advisory services. Retirement plan consulting services are tailored to the needs of the plan through analysis and discovery meetings. Individual managed account and investment advisory services are tailored to the specific needs of individuals, businesses, and trust account clients. Clients may restrict the range of investments used in their portfolios via notation on their Consulting or Investment Advisory Agreement. We do not offer a wrap fee program. As of 12/31/22, we managed approximately $21,921,956 in client assets on a non-discretionary basis and approximately $108,661,201 in client assets on a discretionary basis. In addition, we provide 3(21) pension consulting services to plans holding approximately $620,866,197 in plan assets.

Retirement Plan Consulting Services

Retirement plan consulting services primarily consist of evaluation of existing plans as well as assistance in implementing new plans for employer sponsored plans including some or all of the following: advising on plan fund offerings, cost and fee ratios, allocation strategies, maximization of plan value through employee education and participation. We currently model these consultative services to mutual funds and ETFs only.

401KG provides retirement plan advisory services to sponsors of participant account directed Plans covered by the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (“ERISA”). There is no plan size minimum. Open architecture retirement plan services are provided in conjunction with an administration and recordkeeping service provider and generally a broker-dealer or investment advisory firm. The plan sponsor enters into both (i) an Investment Advisory Agreement with 401KG and (ii) separate services agreement(s) with each service provider, e.g., administrative, recordkeeping, third-party money manager.

ERISA Section 3(16), 3(21) and 3(38) Services

401KG provides comprehensive qualified retirement plan consulting services which including fiduciary services that would otherwise be the responsibility of the employer under ERISA Section 3(16) as the sponsor of a retirement savings plan; and/or acting as a “fiduciary” to certain plan sponsor clients consistent with Section 3(21) and/or 3 (38) of ERISA. Specific services and the related fiduciary capacities of 401KG will be detailed in a written agreement to be executed by all clients. We provide investment advice and fiduciary due diligence services; employee plan and participant investment education; asset allocation services; and 401(k) proposal and vendor research and analysis to qualified retirement plan sponsors and business entities. These services may include the identifications and recommendation of a third-party money manager, monitoring investment manager performance and reporting of plan investment assets.

Plan sponsors authorize 401KG to recommend the selection, addition, removal and/or replacement of funds available for purchase by plan participants. Recommendations must be consistent with any written investment policy approved by the plan sponsor and provided to 401KG along with any requirements under ERISA. Based upon the evaluation of each fund’s performance the plan sponsor will determine the appropriateness and continued suitability of available investment options.

At least annually, 401KG will meet with plan sponsors and review the plan’s investment options to determine ongoing appropriateness. If an existing fund is no longer suitable as an investment option, we will assist in the transition to the replacement option if requested by the plan sponsor.

401KG will monitor the relevant data on the performance of each investment option and provide the plan sponsor, through the record keeper or administrator, with services described in the advisory agreement. In order to fulfill expanded transparency requirements as set forth under Section 408(b)(2) of ERISA, 401KG discloses detailed information regarding fees, services, and fiduciary status to plan sponsors within the Investment Advisory Agreement which is executed by all plan sponsors.

401KG will not be acting as the “plan administrator” or the “named plan fiduciary” as defined by ERISA. Unless 401k Generation and the plan sponsor agree to otherwise in writing, 401k Generation is only a fiduciary to the plan for purposes of the fiduciary services specified in the Investment Advisory Agreement executed by 401KG and the plan sponsor and is not a fiduciary to the plan when performing any other services for the Plan.

401k Generation will distribute to plan participants, beneficiaries, and alternative payees, as applicable (collectively, “participants”), via a mailing or electronic delivery in accordance with electronic delivery methods permitted by the DOL and/or IRS, those notices, communication materials and Plan distribution forms/information (collectively, the “materials”), for which 401k Generation has responsibility as indicated below. To the extent 401k Generation distributes materials to a participant electronically but 401k Generation has actual knowledge that the delivery attempt to the participant failed, 401k Generation will redistribute the materials to such participants via a mailing.

Individual Managed Accounts

Our individual managed accounts and investment advisory services consist of investment advice and portfolio model allocations as well as financial planning when requested. We have registered a DBA in Florida, Winter Park Wealth Management, primarily for use with such individual asset management accounts. Our advisory is capable of transacting business in most types of securities; however, our business model generally utilizes equities, fixed income, mutual funds, and ETFs. 401KG will manage assets on either a discretionary or non-discretionary basis on behalf of our client's as specified in the Investment Advisory Agreement.

Third-Party Money Managers

We may also identify and monitor appropriate unaffiliated Third-Party Money Managers who will implement trading strategies for our clients. Any Third-Party Money Manager utilized will be party to an executed Agreement with 401K Generation; subject to a due diligence review; licensed as an investment advisor with the SEC and/or the appropriate state; and will provide its own ADV Part 2A disclosure document and client agreement to each client describing its services, compensation arrangements and any potential conflicts of interest.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Retirement and Pension Consulting Fees

The fee range for these services is negotiable and may vary according to facts and circumstances including the scope of services to be provided, the duration of services and the size of the client as measured by the number of employees, plan or individual assets, and other demographic factors. Retirement and pension consulting services for which a fee is charged based on the assets within the plan are generally determined based on the tiered fee schedule shown below.

Fees are negotiable by both 401KG and the client and are payable on either a monthly, quarterly, or annual basis in arrears or in advance. Fees are deducted from the plan assets by the custodian and paid to 401KG. Any such consulting fees collected in advance will be refunded to the client on a pro rata basis upon account termination as described in the Client Agreement. 401KG's fees are competitive with the fees charged by other investment advisors for comparable services. However, similar services may be available from other sources for lower fees.

Fee Calculation

401KG does not perform the calculations or actual fee deductions on 401(k) plan assets. The following fee billing information is believed to be valid and true with respect to fee billings as performed by the custodians utilized. For purposes of calculating Account Fees, we request plan custodians/TPA's to bill our advisory plans on either a monthly, quarterly, or annual basis.

Your first consulting fee deduction may include a prorated fee amount for the partial quarter or month if advisory services began prior to the quarter end date. Subsequent Account Fee payments are due and assessed at the beginning of each quarter or month based on the value of the assets under management as of the close of business on the last business day of the preceding quarter or month (billing period) and as valued by the third-party custodian of the account. Additional deposits and withdrawals will be added or subtracted from portfolio assets, as the case may be, which may lead to an adjustment of the advisory fee.

Our fee is deducted from the plan's account pursuant to the applicable authorization agreement on file with the named custodian. Unless otherwise negotiated, our fee is payable annually, quarterly, or monthly, in advance and is exclusive of fund expenses, third party administration and execution costs.

*It is imperative that plan administrators review and understand their plan documents and fee disclosure statements provided for each customized plan. These are provided by your 3rd party plan administrator via quarterly fee disclosure statements.

Individual Managed Account Fees

401KG will receive an asset based advisory fee from clients investing in individually managed accounts. The amount of the fee to be charged will be specifically disclosed in a written contract to be executed with each client. 401KG's fee is separate from and in addition to, any applicable fees including but not limited to third party manager advisory or platform fees, brokerage commissions, custodial charges, ticket fees and asset specific fees such as 12b-1 fees and other fees charged by funds for management, distribution, and administration.

Our asset based advisory fees are based on the grid noted below and are negotiable at our discretion. Employees and related family accounts are generally handled on a no fee basis.

401KG's investment management fees are competitive with the fees charged by other investment advisors in the area for comparable services. However, similar services may be available from other sources for lower fees.

(all rates shown reflect the annual fee rate)

Third Party Asset Manager Program Fee

401KG will receive a portion of the asset based advisory fee paid by the clients it refers to other investment advisers. The amount of the fee to be charged will be specifically disclosed in a written contract to be executed with each client. 401KG's fee is separate from and in addition to, any program or asset management fees charged by the Third-Party Money Manager as disclosed in that Investment Adviser's ADV Part 2A Brochure and contract. Certain Third-Party Money Managers may also have a required minimum asset value for establishing an account. The total asset based advisory fees for such Third-Party Managed accounts are generally based on the grid noted below and are not negotiable by 401KG; however, such fees may be negotiable at the discretion of the Third-Party Manager utilized.

$3,000,000.00 +	15 bps

(all rates shown reflect the annual fee rate)

Fee Calculation

Fees are collected quarterly, in advance, based upon the aggregate market value of the assets in the client's account. The first payment is due upon receipt of initial assets and will be assessed pro rata in the event this Agreement is executed at any time other than the first day of the calendar quarter. Subsequent payments are due, and will be assessed, on the first day of each calendar quarter based on the value of assets under management in client's accounts as of the close of business on the last business day of the preceding calendar quarter. Advisory fees collected in advance will be refunded to the client on a pro rata basis upon account termination as described in the Client Advisory Agreement. Clients should review all fees noted on the invoice provided by the custodian and any fee discrepancies noted should be communicated to us immediately.

Our advisory fees are exclusive of and in addition to any applicable fees including but not limited to third party manager advisory or platform fees, brokerage commissions, custodial charges, ticket fees and asset specific fees such as 12b-1 fees and other fees charged by funds for management, distribution, and administration. At our discretion, client minimum account balances and assets under management used to determine advisory fee rates may include family and other related account balances held in accounts identified by the client. Advisory affiliates, employees, contractors, service providers and staff accounts may be charged a reduced fee or no advisory fee based solely on our discretion. Such fee reductions will not apply to those items noted in the "Other Fees" section below.

Other Fees

In addition to the Account Fee, Clients may also incur certain charges imposed by third parties in connection with investments made through program accounts. These may include, but are not limited to, the following: custodial annual account fees, mutual fund or money market 12b-1, sub transfer agent fees, omnibus processing fees and networking fees, mutual fund or money market management fees and administrative expenses, mutual fund transaction fees, certain deferred sales charges on previously purchased mutual funds transferred into the account, annuity expenses, other transaction charges and service fees, IRA and qualified retirement plan fees, administrative servicing fees, creation and development fees or similar fees imposed by unit investment trust sponsors, hedge fund investment management fees, managed futures investor servicing fees, participation fees from auction rate preferred securities, and other charges required by law. 401KG may receive a portion of these fees through soft dollar arrangements detailed below. Further information regarding charges and fees assessed by a mutual fund are available in the prospectus.

Fees paid in advance

Unless restricted by the third-party administrator, all account fees are paid in arrears or in advance. When fees have been paid in advance, and an advisory contract is terminated prior to the end of the billing period in which fees have been paid, a refund may be requested in writing to the Advisor, and a prorated refund will be issued, with the accounts last billing amount divided by 90 and multiplied by the number of days remaining unused in the period. A refund will be issued directly to the account. In no case are fees in excess of $1,200 collected over 6 months in advance.

A point system is utilized for grading the funds for more specific review and possible addition or deletion from our tracking. Performance returns, Financial Ratios, Quartile Rankings, and Ratings are some of the considerations when grading funds and ETFs. Growth, Moderate, and Income based portfolio models are offered.

The members of the Investment Policy Committee will be the registered advisory personnel of 401KG.

Different types of investments involve varying degrees of risk, including risk of loss. It should not be assumed that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy will be profitable or equal any specific or past performance level. Prospective clients should read and understand this statement and all firm disclosure documents prior to engaging our firm's services.

401KG will assist clients in determining investment objectives, general portfolio strategies and where appropriate, the selection of a third -party money manager. 401KG will continue to evaluate, manage, or supervise the overall strategy and performance of the investment advisers selected. We will review the performance of each money manager chosen including routine due diligence, a review of the client's asset allocation, style drift; performance comparisons to other similar management philosophies; and comparison to a comparable index. We cannot guarantee our analysis methods and recommendations will yield a return. Investing in securities and various investment or insurance products involve risk of loss, and any investment recommendations are subject to various market, currency, economic, political, and business risks.

Associated persons of the 401KG may recommend securities, or other products as well as broker dealers or custodians; however, they will receive no direct commissions if products are purchased through any such recommended firm. The advisor may however receive indirect compensation and economic benefits from such recommendations as discussed in item 14 below. Clients are under no obligation to act upon any recommendations of the associated persons or effect any transactions through the recommended firm if they decide to follow the recommendations, nor are they obligated to transact brokerage business through our firm if they choose to follow our recommendations. In no case will we receive fees on a holding from which a brokerage commission was derived. Advisory clients of 401KG are not required to effect transactions through these entities and are under no obligation to act upon any recommendations.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

401kG has in place Ethics Rules (the “Rules”), which are comprised of its Code of Ethics and its Insider Trading policies and procedures. The Rules are designed to ensure that personnel (i) observe applicable legal (including compliance with applicable state and federal securities laws) and ethical standards in the performance of their duties; (ii) at all times place the interests of clients and the execution of the client’s transactions first; (iii) disclose all actual or potential conflicts; (iv) adhere to the highest standards of loyalty, candor and care in all matters relating to its clients; (v) conduct all personal trading consistent with the Rules, including executing all client transactions prior to personal or Firm transactions, and in such a manner as to avoid any actual or potential conflict of interest or any abuse of their position of trust and responsibility; and (vi) not use any material non-public information in securities trading.

The Rules also establish policies regarding other matters such as outside employment, the giving or receiving of gifts, and safeguarding portfolio holdings information. Under the general prohibitions of the Rules, personnel may not: 1) effect securities transactions while in possession of material nonpublic information; 2) disclose such information to others; 3) participate in fraudulent conduct involving securities held or to be acquired by any client; 4) engage in frequent trading activities that create or may create a conflict of interest, limit their ability to perform their job duties, or violate any provision of the Rules.

Members of 401KG staff are required to conduct their personal investment activities in a manner that is not detrimental to its advisory clients. Personnel are not permitted to personally trade securities except under circumstances specified in the Code of Ethics. All reportable transactions shall be reviewed for compliance with the Code of Ethics. The Rules and the Code of Ethics are available to clients and prospective clients of 401KG upon request.

401KG is committed to safeguarding your confidential information and holding all personal information provided to it in the strictest confidence. These records include all personal information that we collect from you or receive from other firms in connection with any of the financial services they provide. We also require other firms with whom we deal with to restrict the use of your information.

401KG has a duty to disclose all potential and actual conflicts of interest. We also have a duty to report potential and actual conflicts of interest to the Company. Gifts of other than a nominal value (generally defined as under $100) should not be accepted from persons or entities doing business with us.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Selecting brokerage firms

Brokerage services for plans on which 401k Generation is a consultant are determined in part by the selection of third-party administrators as well as by the plan sponsor directly. We are not limited as to what brokerage firm can be utilized along with our consulting services.

Brokerage services for managed accounts are effected through Mid-Atlantic Capital Group, Schwab, or SEI, with no transactional commissions being paid to 401KG. While 401KG has made every attempt to obtain the best custodial arrangements possible, there is no assurance that execution will be obtained at best rates. Clients should consider and discuss with their IAR the selection of the custodian and whether certain costs or disadvantages may arise as a result of the use of either of the custodians. Through our pre-established affiliations with these custodians, we are able to provide our clients with access to institutional trading and custody services, which are typically not available to retail investors. Clients are under no obligation to implement a plan or its recommendations through our custodian choices.

Research and Soft Dollar

Soft Dollars include but are not limited to research and other products which are provided to us due to our affiliation with a custodian. When selecting custodians for use in our program we have made choices based on our needs for servicing the accounts as well as client needs in account features and services. Our selection of your custodian is not based on soft dollar benefits but will be based on net assets as well as service level required.

Benefits received which may benefit the advisor and not the client accounts may include regional or specific educational events organized and/or sponsored by Mid Atlantic Capital Group, Schwab Institutional or SEI. Other potential benefits may include occasional business entertainment of personnel of Adviser by Mid Atlantic Capital Group, Schwab, or SEI, including meals, invitations to sporting events, including golf tournaments, and other forms of entertainment, some of which may accompany educational opportunities.

Benefits received which assist the Adviser in managing and administering clients' accounts: software and training on technology that provides access to client account data, research, pricing information and other market data; back-office training and support functions; recordkeeping and client reporting. These services may be used to service Adviser's accounts, including accounts not maintained with the custodian who is providing the service. When client brokerage commissions are used to obtain these soft dollar benefits, the Adviser is in a position to benefit without having to pay for the products and services provided. This may create an incentive to recommend a custodian based on the Adviser's interest in receiving these benefits, rather than in receiving best execution for our clients. Advisor's clients do not pay more for investment transactions effected or assets maintained at either custodian as a result of these benefits. There is no corresponding commitment made by the Adviser or any other entity to invest in any specific mutual funds, investment securities, or other investment products as a result of the benefits. Soft dollar benefits are used without regard to which accounts cause the benefits to be derived, including use of the benefits on accounts that may be held with a different custodian altogether.

Brokerage for client referrals

We make and receive client referrals to and from broker dealers, custodians and third- party administrative providers. Acceptance of these referrals may limit us in our ability to provide competing recommendations to other more cost-effective service providers. Directing clients back to referral sources will only be effected when such is in the best interest of the client.

Directed Brokerage

Consultant plan clients may specify brokerages for use in effecting their administration and plan transactions. In doing so, this may limit our ability to provide best execution or best cost evaluation to the plan. Clients utilizing Managed Accounts are not permitted to direct transactions or to specify a b/d to be used. All such clients are directed to Mid Atlantic Capital Group, Charles Schwab or SEI for brokerage and custodian services.

Order Aggregation

Order aggregation is not applicable for plan clients as orders are managed by the third-party administrator on behalf of the plan and its participants. For Individual Managed Accounts, if circumstances allowed, we would certainly aggregate orders in order to obtain best execution for our accounts, however, because our client Advisory accounts are non-discretionary, purchases and sales of securities are generally not aggregated, as they will be initiated by our clients directly and on an individual basis. These individual transactions by clients will likely result in higher execution for our client accounts.

Custodian and Brokerage Fees

Clients incur certain charges imposed by their custodians and other third parties such as custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Additionally, clients will incur charges by the executing broker-dealers in the form of brokerage commissions and transaction fees on the investment transactions entered into for their account(s). All of these charges, fees and commissions are in addition to our investment advisory fee.

Fund Disclosures

Mutual funds, closed-end funds, exchange traded funds and alternative investment funds are investment vehicles and the investment strategies, objectives and types of securities held by such funds vary widely. In addition to the advisory fee charged by 401KG, clients indirectly pay for the expenses and advisory fees charged by the funds in which their assets are invested.

All such funds incur operating expenses in connection with the management of the fund.

Investment funds pass some or all of these expenses through to their shareholders (the individual investors in the funds) in the form of management fees. The management fees charged vary from fund to fund. In addition, funds charge shareholders (individual investors in the funds) other types of fees such as early redemption or transaction fees. These charges also vary widely among funds. As a result, clients will still pay management fees and other, “indirect” fees and expenses as charged by each mutual fund (or other fund) in which they are invested.

Clients are provided a copy of a fund prospectus for each fund in which they invest by their custodian, by the fund sponsor or the third-party money manager. As required by law, a prospectus represents the fund’s complete disclosure of its management and fee structure. In addition, a fund’s prospectus can be obtained directly from the fund.

Item 13 – Review of Client Accounts

Periodic Reviews

Because we use model portfolios, we are constantly evaluating the portfolio holdings and will make changes to model portfolios and proactively distribute market commentary and pertinent information to our client database via email. Plans are reviewed at a minimum annually for fund offering updates as well as for enrollment and educational meeting opportunities.

Individual Managed Accounts are reviewed by the managing advisor no less than quarterly to ensure client's needs are addressed and any updates subsequent to the last review are made. However, account review consultations may be requested by the client on an as-needed basis. Reviews of investment accounts typically look at performance and portfolio consistency with regard to client's risk tolerance, tax situation, investment time horizon, performance objectives, and asset allocation instructions. Accounts will be reviewed by your assigned investment advisory representative with oversight by the Firm's Chief Compliance Officer, Marlene Nitsch.

Review Triggers

Although they will be scheduled with a certain frequency, a review may be requested at any time by a client and is recommended when significant changes occur (i.e., death, marriage, divorce, sale of business, etc.) These reviews will be conducted by an Investment Advisor Representative of our firm.

Regular Reports

You will always receive statements from the administrator of the assets, as well as the custodian of the funds. Reports should be verified against the custodian statements you receive directly. At a client review, written asset reports may be provided for the asset holdings we manage. You will always receive statements from the custodian of the assets, and the values we give you on 401KG reports should be verified against the custodian statements you receive directly.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and other Compensation

401KG receives the benefits of certain products and services, such as fundamental research reports, technical and portfolio analyses, pricing services, economic forecasting and general marketing information, historical database information and computer software either directly from third party money managers, custodial or other service providers. We are approached by fund companies and service providers to partake in hosted educational events. Conflict may arise when an Advisor also benefits from these events however every investment decision is made through our investment committee and standardized process, without regard to any benefits derived.

Third Party Solicitors

Advisor may receive client referrals from both affiliated and unaffiliated individuals who are not its supervised persons. Any such referral fee shall be paid solely from the Advisors investment management fee and shall not result in any additional charges to the client. If the client is introduced to the Advisor by an unaffiliated solicitor, the nature of the solicitor relationship will be disclosed and the prospective client will receive a copy of the Advisors disclosure documents, Investment Advisory Agreement, and ADV Part 2A.

Item 15 – Custody

We do not generally hold custody of client funds and utilize relationships with independent custodians in order to safeguard our client's assets. Clients will always receive account valuation statements from the custodian of their assets directly. Any values given on reports received from this Adviser should be verified against the custodian statements you receive directly. Our fee may be debited from our client's account by a third-party money manager or custodian. That entity would then pay our portion of any such fee directly to us. These arrangements, if applicable, will be detailed in the custody agreement or ADV Part 2A disclosure document provided to each client by the third-party money manager.

We have executed Standing Letters of Authorization giving us the ability to transfer assets from certain identified accounts to accounts or locations held outside that custodian for the benefit of the client. This practice has been deemed by the SEC to constitute limited custody of those client assets. In order to avoid the related examination requirements pursuant to SEC Rule 206(4)-2, 401KG and its custodian have adopted procedures necessary to comply with the SEC No Action Letter of 2017 which include initial and annual written notifications to you identifying accounts covered by the SLOA and instructions on how you can amend or revoke such authorization.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Investment management may be provided on either a discretionary or non-discretionary basis for our clients. Discretionary authority means that we would have power to execute transactions without obtaining specific consent prior to every transaction. Discretionary authority will be specified in the 401KG advisory agreement executed with each client. If you elect to implement recommendations by an unrelated investment adviser recommended by us, a separate advisory agreement must be entered into governing that relationship. Any such agreement must also be accompanied by that Advisor's Form ADV Part 2A disclosure brochure.

Item 17 – Proxy Policy

We do not have authority, nor do we accept authority to vote client securities in the portfolio we manage. Upon account set up, custodians are directed to forward this information to you directly. Should you have any questions with regard to voting proxies, we remain available to assist, however we will not proactively contact you with regards to any voting issues.

Item 18 – Financial Information

401KG does not collect Fees in excess of $1200 more than 6 Months in advance; does not have discretionary authority of any client accounts; does not have any financial commitment that would impair its ability to meet any contractual or fiduciary obligations to its clients; nor has the Firm been the subject of any bankruptcy proceeding.
